PREFACE

THE first volume of this work was published in 1913, and the editors then believed that the second and third volumes would follow in quick succession. But the four years of war, which so soon followed, interrupted the task. Professor Davis was absorbed in the duties of the War Trade Intelligence Department, and his interests thenceforward were diverted to the problems of modern history. At his death, in 1928, the materials for the later volumes were substantially as he had left them in 1914. In 1930 the Delegates of the Clarendon Press, with the concurrence of Mrs. Davis, entrusted the task of continuing the Regesta to the elder of the present editors, who made haste to secure the help of a younger scholar, lest the work should again be interrupted by death. The slowness with which we executed our task is due in part to the necessity of learning by actual examination what sources had been exhausted and what remained unused: in part to the unevenness in the abstracts and descriptions inevitable in the co-operation of a number of voluntary helpers. A second war involved another period of delay in which research was impossible; and we are conscious that we have not entirely overcome either of our initial difficulties. We are, however, persuaded that even an imperfect catalogue is a step to a more perfect presentation of the acts of the Norman period, in which the full texts can be printed, and original charters reproduced in facsimile.

In preparing the present volume we have had the advantage of the late William Farrer's Itinerary of Henry I, printed in the English Historical Review in 1919, and issued separately with a valuable index. We cannot adequately express our obligations to Farrer's work; and though we have not always adopted his conjectural dates, we have rarely had to dissent from the limits of date which he fixed. We have followed his example in stating these, even when the documents are arranged according to the dates which we have thought probable. When a definite year is not assigned the charters are ranged under the later limiting date. We have included a number of charters which Farrer either did not know of or thought of no value for the construction of his Itinerary.

Our thanks are due to all who contributed to the first volume as well as to this. Many, alas, are dead. We can only remember with gratitude Canon Foster, of Lincoln; Mr. Herbert Chitty, bursar of Winchester College; and Mr. L. C. Loyd; and many of those already mentioned in Vol. I. Among our living fellow-workers we must especially thank Mr. G. H. White, editor of the Complete Peerage, and Mr. Charles Clay, who continues Farrer's work on Early Yorkshire Charters, on whose genealogical knowledge we have frequently drawn. The Dean of Gloucester has helped us in dealing with the Ely charters, and Mr. C. H. Hunter Blair with those of Durham. Miss Marion Gibbs kindly communicated to us the typescript of her Early Charters of St. Paul's Cathedral before publication, and saved us much transcription. Mr. Ralph Davis, who is already engaged, with the younger of the present editors, on the final volume of the work which his father began, has read the proofs of this, and has made some valuable suggestions. We are also indebted to Mr. G. E. Morey for assistance in preparing the typescript for press. To all these, and to many other friends who have helped us from time to time, we tender our hearty thanks.

We must also record our gratitude to the late Dukes of Bedford and Rutland for permission to make use of the Tavistock and Belvoir chartularies, and to the latter for a photograph of a page of the Belvoir chartulary. We must also thank the authorities of the Huntington and Pierpont Morgan libraries, as well as those of the Lambeth Library, of the British Museum, and of the Public Record Office, and the Deans and Chapters of Canterbury, Westminster, St. Paul's, Durham, and Norwich, and the custodians of their records, who have given us all the assistance in their power. One of us is especially obliged to the Very Rev. D. H. S. Cranage, whose hospitality enabled him to examine the Norwich registers in exceptionally favourable conditions. The 'eternal vigilance' of the readers of the Press has earned our admiring gratitude.

To Mrs. Davis and to the Delegates of the Clarendon Press we owe the opportunity of continuing a valuable work; and we hope that, despite our shortcomings, we have justified their trust.

INTRODUCTION

CHANCERY OF HENRY I

PROFESSOR DAVIS has described the evolution of the Chancery from its pre-Conquest to its post-Conquest form in his introduction to the previous volume of the Regesta. Since it appeared his conjecture that Osmund remained chancellor after 1078 has been abandoned, on the realization that the writs of 'William', one of which is attested by the Bishop of Salisbury and the chancellor (not—as he took it—[Osmundo] Episcopo Sarum et Cancellario), are really writs of William 'the young king' in his father's absence (c. 1116–19).¹ Professor V. H. Galbraith has also shown² that Gerard, afterwards Bishop of Hereford and Archbishop of York, was the last chancellor of William I and the first of William II (c. 1086–91), just as William Giffard bridges the gap between William II and Henry I.

The list of chancellors of Henry I presents little difficulty.³ William Giffard, as has been said, remained chancellor till Easter (21 Apr.,) 1101 or thereabouts, when he was succeeded by Roger. The latest dated charter attested by him⁴ is of 12 Mar. 1101. His successor, Roger le Poer, attests two (or possibly three)⁵ charters as chaplain. His earliest dated charter as chancellor is of 3 Sept. 1101,⁶ though he attested a charter at Cambridge⁷ which may be of the previous May. His nomination to the see of Salisbury in Sept. 1102 (or possibly his election on 13 Apr. 1103)⁸ probably set a term to his activities as chancellor. The two charters on which Davis relied for his assertion that Roger remained chancellor after his acceptance of the bishopric,⁹ neither of them an original, do not imply that the bishop and the chancellor were the same person. There is therefore no need to wrest the explicit date of the agreement between the Abbot of Fécamp and Philip de Braose, 13 Jan. 1103 (assuming that the year, as usual at this period, begins at Christmas), which contains the first mention of Waldric as chancellor, to 13 Jan. 1104.¹⁰

We may, then, assume that Waldric, who attests several charters as 'chaplain' from 1100 to 1102,¹¹ became chancellor soon after either Michaelmas or Christmas 1102.¹² He accompanied Henry to Normandy in 1106, and captured Duke Robert at the battle of Tinchebrai. He became Bishop of Laon by a somewhat scandalous negotiation towards the end of the year, and never returned to England as chancellor.¹³

His successor, Ranulf, whose earliest attestations¹⁴ can be dated approximately to the spring of 1107, only attests once as chaplain, viz. in a somewhat dubious charter to Montacute,¹⁵ a house of which he was, as chancellor, a considerable benefactor. In Leland's account of the house he is combined with Ranulf, Henry's physician, founder of Malpas Priory and afterwards a monk of Montacute, under the title of 'Reginaldus Cancellarius, so namyd, by lykelyhode, of his offyce, . . . and he felle to religion, and was Prior of Montegue'. Ranulf was killed by a fall from his horse, at his castle of Berkhamstead, about New Year 1123.

The last chancellor known to us by name was Geoffrey rufus, who was given the bishopric of Durham by Henry I on 28 May 1133. He was presumably one of the chapel staff, and seems likely to have been the same as Geoffrey, chaplain of the chancellor.¹ His successor is unknown, nor is it certain that any was appointed. If not, it is likely that the keeper of the seal replaced him, without acquiring his status as one of the great officers.²

We know something of the chapel staff, both from the Constitutio and from the charters. After the chancellor, who like the other 'great officers' received five shillings a day, with other allowances in kind, came the keeper of the seal, or Magister Scriptorii, whose responsibilities are known to us from the account of his office in the Dialogus de Scaccario. His wages, originally ten pence a day, were raised for the special benefit of Robert de Sigillo to two shillings. This at least suggests that after 1133 Robert, without the title of chancellor, did, like later keepers and lord-keepers, do the chancellor's work. We know of three keepers: Drew the chaplain (1105);³ Richard the chaplain (c. 1107–21) afterwards Bishop of Hereford;⁴ and Robert de Sigillo,⁵ who became Bishop of London in 1141.

Besides the keeper of the seal the Constitutio mentions only one chaplain custos capelle et reliquiarum, and it may be that only the chaplain on duty to say mass came on the household establishment; but the attestations of charters granted on important occasions show that there might be as many as eight⁶ in attendance at a time. The chaplains whose names occur in the charters of Henry I are:

ARNULF,⁷ who attests the charter to Bath in 1101.

AUDIN (i.e. Owen or Ouen,⁸ in 1105 and 1107. He was the brother of Thurstan Archbishop of York (1119–40), and became Bishop of Évreux in 1113.

EVERARD, son of Roger de Montgomery, Earl of Shrewsbury⁹ (1100–21). He became Bishop of Norwich in 1121.

GEOFFREY OF DIVES (1111 and 1113)¹⁰ may be the same as GEOFFREY the chaplain who occurs in 1113 and 1118;¹¹ or the latter may be GEOFFREY rufus, already named.

GILBERT, who occurs in 1111¹² and in another charter of uncertain date, is not otherwise known.

HERBERT (1101)¹³ is probably the same as a witness to William II's charter (No. 315), which is also for the Bishop of Bath.

HUMPHREY BIGOD (1101–13)¹⁴ was presumably a nephew of Roger Bigod, since Roger's son William does not mention him with his brother Hugh.¹⁵

JOHN OF BAYEUX (c. 1104–31)¹⁶ was son of a Bishop of Bayeux¹⁷ (probably Richard, A.D. 1107–33).

NIGEL OF CALNE (c. 1112–20)¹⁸. He was prebendary of Calne in Salisbury Cathedral.¹⁹

OSBERN (1101)²⁰ is otherwise unknown.

RALPH,²¹ who seems to have had the custody of the vacant abbey of St. Edmund's in 1103, and RANULF²² may possibly both be Ranulf the chancellor.

ROBERT [of Rouen] (1100–1),¹ and ROBERT PECCHE (1101–20),² who became Bishop of Lichfield in 1221, occur together in some of the early charters.

ROGER has already been mentioned as chancellor and Bishop of Salisbury.

THEOWULF (1102–10)³ was nominated to the see of Worcester 28 Dec. 1113.

THOMAS (1101–8)⁴ was chosen Archbishop of York in May 1108.

THURSTAN (1103–14)⁵ succeeded him as Archbishop 15 Aug. 1114.

WALDRIC (1100–2), chancellor in 1103, has already been mentioned.

WALTER⁶ (1101) named with Waldric, is not otherwise known.

WILLIAM (1101–2)⁷ may possibly be the same as WILLIAM THE ALMONER (c. 1103–30),⁸ who is also described as ‘chaplain’ and is mentioned in two of the charters in favour of Bernard the scribe.

WILLIAM DE WARELWAST (1100–7),⁹ formerly a chaplain of William II, was consecrated as Bishop of Exeter 11 Aug. 1107.

W. of Oxford (1107–21)¹⁰ who appears as an intermediary (per) in a grant to St. Swithun’s, Winchester, attested by Ranulf as chancellor, may possibly be Wimund, Prior of St. Frideswide’s in 1122, but is not otherwise known.

It seems probable that the persons described as ‘King’s Scribes’ or ‘Scribes of the Court’ also formed part of the chapel staff, though there is no mention of them in the Constitutio. They seem to have held land in virtue of their office, like the serjeants. The lands held by LEVING¹¹ were assigned (1107–16) to constitute a prebend in Lincoln Cathedral.

HUGH,¹² who attests a charter to Savigny about 1113, may or may not have been his successor. GISULF, who held property in London,¹³ was succeeded by BERNARD¹⁴ about 1121–2. Bernard seems to have died about 1148. ROBERT appears as a colleague of his in 1121–2.¹⁵ About the end of the reign we hear of RALPH the scribe,¹⁶ who appears jointly with Peter, son of William Brown, the King’s clerk, as the holder of William’s property in Rouen. In the Pipe Roll of 1130¹⁷ we find William Brown receiving quittance of Danegeld in Suffolk, and Ralph the clerk (who may be the scribe) in Dorset and Wilts.¹⁸

BUISTARD and CURTEIS, serjeants of the chapel, appear in 1121–2,¹⁹ as do David and Roger, Bernard’s esquires.²⁰

Queen Matilda also had her chancellor, Reinhelm²¹, consecrated Bishop of Hereford 11 Aug. 1107. His successor, Bernard,²² became Bishop of St. David’s 19 Sept. 1115. Geoffrey, her chaplain,²³ became Dean of Waltham. Odo Moire²⁴ was also probably one of the Queen’s chancery staff.

HOUSEHOLD OF HENRY I

Of the departments which we find in the Constitutio we have already dealt with the Chapel.

Stewards

The number of Dapiferi (or seneschals) is not certain. They probably served in turn, like the dispensers; which suggests that there were four. At the beginning of the reign we find four stewards who had served William II; viz. EUDO (or Éon), son of Hubert de Ria. He is said to have died in Jan. 1120 at the castle of Préaux, and his estates escheated to the King, in whose hands they were in 1130. Geoffrey de Mandeville had a grant of the lands *with the stewardship*¹ from the Empress Maud. But it is not likely that the office was left vacant in the mean time.

HAMO, grandson of Hamo Dentatus and Sheriff of Kent. He died in or before 1130.² His successor appears to have been Humphrey de Bohun.³

ROGER BIGOD survived until 1107 and was succeeded by his son William, who was drowned in the White Ship in 1120. His half-brother Hugh⁴ then served as dapifer to the end of the reign.

RALPH Dapifer, who attests a charter⁵ between 1103 and 1106, is presumably Ralph de Montpinchon, who appears in Domesday Book under that title.

Of the stewards first found under Henry I, the earliest are:

WILLIAM DE BARBA, who attests the charter to the Bishop of Bath dated 3 Sept. 1101⁶ as dapifer and another to Bermondsey [1102–8] of doubtful authenticity in which he is not so described, and

WILLIAM DE COURCY, who also attests the Bath charter and is mentioned in one other⁷ as dapifer, though he continues to be a witness until about 1110. ROBERT DE COURCY occurs as dapifer in 1132 and earlier,⁸ and another William de Courcy was dapifer to Henry II. So the Courcy stewardship was probably hereditary.

WILLIAM DE PIROU attests as dapifer in 1115 and 1123.⁹ If only four dapiferi (for England) acted at once, he must be regarded as the successor of Ralph de Montpinchon.

ROBERT DELAHAY (seigneur of La-Haie-du-Puits in the Cotentin) attests as dapifer in three charters of 1131¹⁰ with Hugh Bigod and Humphrey de Bohun. He does not attest as dapifer at any other time, though he had been justiciar of Normandy.

ROGER DE NEUFBOURG (probably the second Earl of Warwick) was also styled dapifer totius Normanniae.¹¹

At the accession of Stephen there were four dapiferi: William Martel, Hugh Bigod, Humphrey de Bohun, and Simon de Beauchamp¹² in the grant to Winchester; Robert fitz Richard, Robert Malet, William Martel, and Simon de Beauchamp, in the Oxford charter of liberties.

It seems impossible to reconcile the inclusion of William de Barba with the assumption that there were only four dapiferi in the early years of Henry I. But Stephen's two early charters seem to imply that the rule holds for Henry's later years. It may also be suggested the post was regarded as hereditary, since we see in the Oxford charter that Bigod and Bohun resumed their offices after the adhesion of Robert of Gloucester and others of the Empress's party to Stephen in 1136.

The principal officer of the steward's department was the Clerk of the Spence of Bread and Wine. ROBERT PECCHE, who held this post, has already been mentioned as a chaplain.

There were also Master-Dispensers of Bread, and Wine, of the Larder, and of the Buttery. It seems probable that Robert, brother of Urse d'Abitôt, was Dispenser of Bread and Wine, since Walter de Beauchamp (who inherited his estate) was 'Pantler' in 1236.¹³

ROGER the larderer, whose wages were on the same scale, was nominated Bishop of Hereford in 1102, but died before consecration.¹⁴ HUGH the larderer is named as a benefactor of St. Swithun's, Winchester.¹⁵ There were also local larderers.¹⁶

To the steward's department belong also the Dispensers, though the buttery too had dispensers of its own. The charters make no distinction between them.

In the previous volume (as J. H. Round pointed out¹) Robert the dispenser, brother of Urse d'Abitôt, was confused with Robert son of Thurstan, the Domesday tenant of Great Rollright. Both these offices can be traced under Henry I.

WALTER DE BEAUCHAMP succeeded to the first Robert's office when he received the lands and duties of Roger d'Abitôt² and was succeeded (probably in 1131)³ by his son WILLIAM.

THURSTAN SON OF ROBERT, who held King's Stanley (Glos.), died before 1105⁴ and was succeeded by his son HUGH. Their holding was still called the 'fee of Thurstan Dispenser' in 1235-6.⁵

WILLIAM⁶ the King's dispenser held land at Ellington (Hunts.).

Butlers

WILLIAM D'AUBIGNY (commonly called de Albini), who appears as holding land in Norfolk under William II, was butler to Henry I throughout his reign, and retained the office till his death in 1139. His successors, earls of Arundel, inherited the office, which has followed the descent of the title.⁷

Chamberlains

There is no definite evidence that there was a Master-Chamberlain in England before ROBERT MALET,⁸ who appears to have deserted Henry I before the battle of Tinchebrai in 1106, though he is so described in Vol. I.⁹ Henry's grant of the office to Aubrey de Vere in 1133¹⁰ *sicut Robertus Malet uel aliquis alius ante eum uel post eum unquam . . . tenuit*¹¹ is hardly enough to prove that there were English Master-Chamberlains before Robert, since there is no evidence of any after him and before 1133.

The Treasurer was the equal in rank and salary of the Master-Chamberlain.¹² If we may judge by the analogy of the Exchequer of Henry II, he was the chamberlain's clerical colleague; the chamberlain being ex officio deemed incapable of writing, though he could keep accounts by notches on sticks. HERBERT¹³ attests a number of charters of Henry I,¹⁴ though of neither of his predecessors, with the title of Herbert the chamberlain. He seems to have died in or shortly before 1130,¹⁵ and was succeeded by his son, Herbert, who did not, however, inherit his office.

It seems probable that GEOFFREY DE CLINTON purchased the succession to Herbert's office,¹⁶ called in the Pipe Roll ministerium thesauri Wintonie. He is described as thesaurarius meus et camerarius meus in Henry's foundation charter for Kenilworth Priory.¹⁷ This agrees with Herbert's title, regis cubicularius et thesaurarius.¹⁸

It has, however, been suggested elsewhere¹⁹ that Herbert's office might have been the chamberlainship of the Exchequer which was afterwards attached to the manor of Highworth in Wiltshire; and if the treasurership was, as seems probable, a clerical office, that guess may be correct.

NIGEL, nephew of Roger Bishop of Salisbury, is mentioned as treasurer in Normandy in 1131,¹ and the Dialogus definitely describes him as treasurer of Henry I.² There is no sign of his being so in the Pipe Roll of 1130; though we find him as the colleague of Osbert de Pont de l'Arche in the treasury of Normandy.³ It seems possible that Roger of Salisbury may have been treasurer and have secured the succession to the appointment for his nephew, as that nephew afterwards obtained the same post for Richard of Ely.⁴ This suggestion is supported by the fact that writs dealing with financial matters, such as assessment for geld, are usually attested by Roger,⁵ and by an entry on the Pipe Roll of 1130, which shows the Abbot of Westminster offering a fine of 1,000 marks for the recovery of lands of the abbey wrongly alienated, of which 800 marks are remitted in perdonis per episcopum Sarisberiensem et G. cancellarium.⁶ In all these cases, however, he might have been acting as justiciar.

ROBERT MAUDUIT, who was drowned in the White Ship in 1120, was chamberlain of the Exchequer as tenant of Porchester Castle.⁷ He and Geoffrey de Clinton were jointly receivers of money in Normandy at some time before his death in 1120,⁸ but whether as chamberlains of the Exchequer or of the camera curie does not appear. If the former, Geoffrey may have been acting as Herbert's deputy.

WILLIAM DE PONT DE L'ARCHE seems to have married Robert Mauduit's daughter and to have succeeded him as chamberlain of the Exchequer.⁹ He was in charge of the treasury at Stephen's accession.¹⁰ He attests a doubtful charter to Lincoln Cathedral in 1132¹¹ as 'Camerarius' and is named as 'the King's chamberlain' in a grant of Farringdon (Hants) to his clerk, Thurstan,¹² of approximately the same date. He also purchased the ministerium camere curie for himself, and also for his brother OSBERT (possibly as his deputy)¹³. We find Osbert as Nigel's colleague in Normandy, and as one of the official company at Winchester.¹⁴

WILLIAM MAUDUIT, the younger, succeeded to his brother Robert's property about 1121,¹⁵ but does not attest as chamberlain, so far as is known, before 1131.¹⁶ It seems as though William de Pont de l'Arche was still in control of Robert Mauduit's estate in 1130.¹⁷ William Mauduit appears in the Constitutio with a rank and salary equivalent to that of the marshal (i.e. second to that of the head of the department);¹⁸ and was receiver of the payments in the camera curie.¹⁹ Here again, as with the stewards, it is difficult to decide whether the lay offices were hereditary or not, and whether or not the chamberlains acting in the camera curie were deputies of the chamberlains of the Exchequer.

Other chamberlains mentioned are: AIULF Sheriff of Somerset and Dorset in the earlier years of the reign, as he had been under William I and William II.²⁰ He appears as a rule in charters relating to his own counties.²¹

ALDWIN²² was clearly chamberlain of Queen Matilda, whose charters he attests.

EDWARD²³ who attests a charter to Ely of 13 Feb. 1105, was identified by Dr. Salter as Edward of Salisbury, but does not elsewhere attest as chamberlain.

FULK,¹ who held Chalk at farm, is not otherwise known.

GEOFFREY,² who held Moulsoford under William II, attests both early and late in this reign.

WILLIAM DE HOUGHTON is described as chamberlain of Henry I in several charters between 1110 and 1135,³ all relating to Huntingdonshire, where he held Bury by an exchange with the Abbot of Ramsey.

HUBERT,⁴ 'the King's chamberlain', in a charter of 1130-2, is presumably a misreading for Herbert.

RALPH,⁵ in a doubtful Glastonbury charter [1115-27], is otherwise unknown.

RICHARD, one of the court staff at Winchester, is mentioned in the Pipe Roll of 1130 as quit of Danegeld in Middlesex.⁶

WILLIAM, who attests or is named in a number of writs⁷ in the first ten years of the reign, is probably the Domesday tenant of that name who held lands in Beds., Bucks., and Glos.⁸ He may, however, be William de Houghton. In a writ of 1120-2⁹ a William is named who is clearly the chamberlain of London.¹⁰

The chamberlain of Normandy was WILLIAM DE TANCARVILLE, who died in 1129,¹¹ and was succeeded by his son RABEL DE TANCARVILLE.

Constables

The succession to the office of Constable has been best discussed by Mr. G. H. White.¹² The Constitutio does not give a definite number, but, as they served in turn, it seems likely that there were four, and that they held the castles of Dover, Oxford, Gloucester, and Worcester.

It is generally believed that ROBERT DE MONTFORT, holding the estate later known as the Honor Constabularie, or honour of Haughley, was hereditary constable of Normandy and also constable of Dover under William II, and until his banishment for treason in 1107. He died a year or so later. Dr. David Douglas has shown¹³ that there was a Hugh de Montfort holding the Kentish lands at a later date than 1086, who, he suggests, was a younger brother of the hereditary constable of Normandy, and father of another Robert and the Alice or Adeliza who married Simon de Moullins and subsequently Robert de Vere, both of whom held the honour of Haughley in her right. Neither Robert (if there are two) attests any charter of Henry I as constable; nor does Simon de Moullins. Simon was alive in 1119 and perhaps later,¹⁴ and Alice's marriage to Robert de Vere took place not long before 1130.¹⁵

ROBERT DE VERE attests as constable in a number of charters,¹⁶ the earliest of which cannot be later than 1128, and was constable in 1136.¹⁷

NIGEL D'OILLI is supposed to have succeeded his brother Robert as constable of Oxford before the death of William II.¹⁸ He attests as constable in two early charters,¹⁹ and is addressed in one not later than 1115 jointly with the 'huntsmen and marshals of the Court',²⁰ who were, as the Constitutio shows, his official staff when on duty at court. He was alive in 1115,²¹ but does not seem to attest much later.

ROGER D'OILLI attests a charter of 1105²² as constable, and other charters in his private capacity from that date to about 1111. This seems inconsistent with Nigel's tenure of the office, unless he were acting as deputy to his kinsman.

ROBERT D'OILLI appears to have been Nigel's heir.¹ He witnesses charters from 1105² to the end of the reign, but is not described as constable. He was one, however, in 1136.³

BRIAN FITZ COUNT purchased, in 1130 or earlier,⁴ the office and part of the land of Nigel d'Oilli, and attests as constable in 1131.⁵ His claim to this was probably in right of his wife Maud of Wallingford, who is said to have been the daughter (or possibly the granddaughter)⁶ of Robert d'Oilli, Nigel's elder brother. Brian also attested as constable in 1136. This suggests that Brian was the successful claimant, and that Stephen compromised by recognizing both.

URSE D'ABITÔT was probably a constable of William I and William II, holding Worcester Castle⁷ till his death in 1108. He does not attest as constable, however, in the charters of Henry I.

ROGER D'ABITÔT, his son, was hereditary sheriff of Worcestershire,⁸ and probably also constable, till his exile (c. 1110) for the murder of one of the royal household.

OSBERT D'ABITÔT, probably a brother, obtained the sheriffdom⁹ after Roger, and may also have been constable until about 1114.

WALTER DE BEAUCHAMP was granted 'all the land of Roger of Worcester' in 1114.¹⁰ The charter of Maud to his son William in 1141 asserts that Walter held the constablenesship of Urse and the dispensership of his brother Robert.¹¹ He does not, however, attest as constable (though he undoubtedly held Robert's dispensership)¹² nor does he appear as constable in 1136.¹³ The matter is further complicated by the fact that Stephen is said to have given to William de Beauchamp, son of Walter, the constablenesship which he took from Miles of Gloucester, who deserted him in 1139.¹⁴ Mr. White suggests, with reason, that Stephen did not do this, but revived the constablenesship of Urse D'Abitôt in favour of his descendant, William. It is also possible, as Mr. White suggests, that Maud's bestowal of the earldom of Hereford on Miles was a compensation for what appeared as the loss of his constablenesship.

Miles was not, in fact, so divested, since the title of 'constable of England' descended to the family of Bohun¹⁵ from one of his co-heirs; nor did his constablenesship necessarily derive from that of Urse d'Abitôt. Gloucester, like Worcester, was an hereditary sheriffdom, held by ROGER DE PITRES, and after him by DURAND, his brother. Roger's son, Walter,¹⁶ also known as Walter of Gloucester, succeeded Durand in the sheriffdom in or before 1097;¹⁷ but there is no evidence that any of them was constable under William I or William II, except as constable of Gloucester Castle, in virtue of the sheriffdom. The case seems exactly parallel to that of the d'Abitôts at Worcester, but for Maud's charter of 1141.

WALTER OF GLOUCESTER, however, first attests as constable on 13 Sept. 1114;¹⁸ and the coincidence of this date with the probable date of Henry's grant to Walter de Beauchamp of the lands of Roger of Worcester¹⁹ has led Mr. White to conclude that Henry I had granted him the d'Abitôt constablenesship.²⁰ He continued to attest as constable until his death in or before 1130.²¹

MILES OF GLOUCESTER succeeded to his father's office, and appears to be acting as constable in 1130.²² He was still constable in 1136.

As may be seen from the Index, the attestations of the persons named which specify their rank as constables are too few to make it possible to establish whether Mr. White's view is correct, and whether there were three hereditary constabships or four.¹

Marshals

The marshal was subordinate to the constable, but had by the time of Henry I acquired a department of his own, embracing everything connected with horses, hounds, and hawks. Moreover, he had the duty of keeping tallies and other vouchers of household expenditure.²

GILBERT is the earliest known holder of the office under Henry I. He, with his son John, recovered the right to it in the court of Henry I against Robert de Venoiz and William de Hastings.³ He died in or before 1130.⁴

JOHN THE MARSHAL fined for the succession to his father's office in 1130,⁵ and also for the 'mastership in the King's court of the livery of fodder', an office not mentioned in the Constitutio, but presumably equivalent to the later one of 'avenar'. John does not appear in the lists of witnesses of 1136, but played a considerable part, on both sides, in the wars of Stephen's reign.

Among other household officers may be found ROBERT ACHARD,⁶ Henry's former tutor (magister); ODBERT, GEOFFREY PURCELL, and JOHN,⁷ ushers; and RICHARD OF BAYEUX⁸ is once named as the 'King's Champion'. A careful examination of the Pipe Roll of 1130 will give the names of minor officers who do not appear in the surviving charters. It must be remembered that the Queen and many magnates had households similar to the King's though smaller.

It is not clear to what extent the description in the Constitutio applies to Normandy. Stapleton concluded that it had been written there because of the reference to the muid of Rouen in the account of the bakery.⁹ But it seems to be rather a general description of the King's household, wherever he might be, without specific reference to either country. The officers proper to Normandy will be discussed in the next section.

JUSTICE AND ADMINISTRATION IN THE CHARTERS

Regency

During the King's absence from the realm, in Normandy or elsewhere, the affairs of England were administered by a regent. Queen MATILDA¹⁰ appears usually to have acted as regent until her death (1118) unless she accompanied her husband abroad.

WILLIAM,¹¹ son of the King, acted as regent after his mother's death until he joined his father in Normandy in May 1119.

ROGER Bishop of Salisbury, the justiciar, issued writs in his own name, either ex officio,¹² as regent or on the warrant of brevia de ultra mare.¹³

Justiciars

ROGER Bishop of Salisbury, besides acting as regent in the absence of Henry I, is mentioned as presiding over the Exchequer (presumably as justiciar)¹⁴ while the King was in ¹ William FitzOdo and Henry de la Pommeraie, named in the Constitutio, were constables of Normandy (see Haskins in E.H.R. xxiv. 209). Roger d'Oilli, who is also named, is clearly not the same as the 'constable' of 1105.

England. It seems uncertain whether any other person was appointed as chief justice during the reign, though a writ was addressed (1115–16) to RALPH BASSET ‘and all the King’s justiciars’, amongst others,¹ in favour of St. Benet’s, Holme; and he is also found hearing a case in the county court of Huntingdon in 1116.²

But there were also, at least in the earlier years of the reign, local justiciars, such as the unnamed ‘justiciar of Devon and Cornwall’ (1114):³ and Ralf Basset’s jurisdiction may have been limited to the eastern counties. It is not always easy to identify these local justiciars; but when a writ is addressed to the bishop of the diocese and to a layman, not the earl, as well as to the sheriff, it may reasonably be conjectured that he was the local justiciar, though he is not directly addressed as such. We may instance Ranulf Meschin in Lincolnshire,⁴ William Peverel in Nottinghamshire,⁵ Robert de Ferrers in Derbyshire,⁶ Robert de Lasci in Yorkshire,⁷ Guy de Balliol in Northumberland,⁸ Richard de Redvers in the Isle of Wight⁹ and in Devon,¹⁰ Gilbert de Clare in Kent,¹¹ and Aubrey de Vere in Berkshire.¹² Alfred of Lincoln seems to be specifically mentioned as justiciar in Dorset.¹³ The position of Richard de Belmeis in Sussex¹⁴ and Shropshire¹⁵ seems more likely to have been due to his acting as steward of the estates of Robert de Bellême. We may assume that this system of local justices had continued from the previous reign.¹⁶ It is noticeable that the bishop of Durham, who presumably had quasi-sovereign rights in the Palatinate, did not venture to create new knight’s fees without the sanction of his chapter and of the King.¹⁷

Judges of the Curia Regis

A number of charters or writs originate in the Curia Regis, but in only one case are the judges named.¹⁸ In 1119 Abingdon Abbey established its right to prove its exemption from geld on 120 hides held in demesne, by the oath of one of its men in the shire-court. The judges were Roger Bishop of Salisbury, Robert Bishop of Lincoln, Ranulf the Chancellor, and Ralph Basset. As the required proof was offered at Martinmas in the shire-court, it seems most probable that the Curia was sitting at the Michaelmas Exchequer. An examination of the lists of witnesses in other cases is inconclusive. In some of them it is clear that a council was in progress at the time, since the number of witnesses is so large. In those less numerously attested it is not easy to assume that the witnesses were all, or any of them, members of the court. But we find among them the Archbishops of Canterbury and York; the Bishops of Chester, Exeter, Lincoln, Salisbury, and Winchester; the Chancellor; the Count of Meulan; the Earls of Gloucester and Warwick; William Bigod, Geoffrey de Clinton, Ralph Basset, Alfred of Lincoln, William de Pont de l’Arche, Geoffrey Ridel, and others.¹⁹ We may probably conclude that the composition of the court was as variable as that of the House of Lords before the exclusion of lay peers from legal business, whether it was sitting for judicial or for financial purposes. But there was, no doubt, a professional element which formed its nucleus, consisting mainly of household officers. As to its procedure, we know that a ‘jury of recognitors’ was used both by the *Curia*²⁰ and in the county and hundred-courts.²¹ The description given in the Dialogus probably embodies the traditional view of the Curia of Henry I, and to that extent is not strictly applicable to its successor under Henry II.

The Curia Regis in Normandy has been fully dealt with by C. H. Haskins.¹ It appears to have resembled the English Curia Regis in composition, if we may judge by three cases which give a complete list of the court.² One case, however,³ discriminates between the justiciars, John Bishop of Lisieux, Robert de la Haie, and Geoffrey de Sablé, and the barons, Ralph Tesson, Roger Marmion, William Patric, and Robert Carbonel. Like the English court, it sat at the 'Exchequer',⁴ though there is nothing to show whether such sittings took place earlier in one territory or in the other.

Missi Dominici

The charters do not indicate many commissions of inquiry, such as those to Ralph Basset on behalf of Abingdon Abbey,⁵ or to Walter Espec and Eustace fitzJohn to determine the right to fisheries in the Tyne.⁶ In other cases such inquests might be held in the shire-court, or by the sheriff before a special jury,⁷ or in the hundred-court or the wardmote.⁸ But there is strong evidence in the Pipe Roll of 1130 that the system of eyres attributed to Henry II was already in its early stage.

The entries of amercements credited to the 'Pleas' of such-and-such a justice give no indication of the dates at which they were imposed; but it is clear that Walter Espec and Eustace fitzJohn were on eyre in the six northern counties in 1130. William de Albin Brito and Richard Basset were, or had recently been, on eyre in Lincolnshire, and Miles of Gloucester and Payn fitzJohn in the west midlands and Pembrokeshire. FitzJohn had already succeeded to the position in Shropshire held by Richard de Belmeis. Ralph Basset, who had been dead for a year or more at Michaelmas 1130, had held pleas in the home counties, East Anglia, and Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire. Geoffrey de Clinton had acted in most parts of northern and eastern England. Henry de Port in Kent, and William de Houghton in Suffolk, may have been acting as local justiciars. Robert Arundel and Walkelin held pleas of the forest, in Devon and Cornwall and in Surrey and Berkshire respectively. Since there are no amercements in charge on the roll credited to Geoffrey Ridel, who died about 1120, whom we know to have acted as a justiciar both in Northamptonshire⁹ and as a special commissioner,¹⁰ we may conclude that the eyres mentioned all took place between 1120 and 1130.

Local Administration

The shire-court appears to have retained the character it had under William I; indeed Henry I expressly enjoined (in 1108) that it, and the hundred-courts, should be held as in the reign of Edward the Confessor.¹¹ In most cases the questions remitted to it were tried before the sheriff,¹² but in one case¹³ (1115-16) the trial was before the justiciar, Ralph Basset. It is not stated whether he was acting as justiciar of all England or as justiciar of the county of Huntingdon. Pain fitzJohn, the successor of Richard de Belmeis, is found trying a case in Shropshire about 1121,¹⁴ possibly in the capacity of sheriff. We also find the Bishop of Salisbury and Alfred of Lincoln¹⁵ acting as joint justiciars in Wiltshire. Joint sessions of two or more counties continued to be held in cases relating to land on the borders of both,¹⁶ or where the rights of a religious house, which might extend over more than one county, were in question.¹ The normal business of the court clearly included both criminal² and financial³ matters. As in previous reigns exemption from suit of the shire-court is almost exclusively limited to religious houses and their tenants. The only exception is the King's tutor, Robert Achard.⁴ This exemption is almost invariably accompanied by exemption from suit of hundred- or wapentake-courts.

As in previous reigns, the hundred-courts appear chiefly in connexion with claims to land and liberties.⁵ An interesting account of procedure before the sheriff, in a case in which the reeve of the hundred had been abusing his powers,⁶ occurs in a charter to Andover Priory. There are not many new grants of hundreds to religious houses. Reading, a new foundation, was given those of Reading and Leominster;⁷ Rouen Cathedral received that of Kingsclere;⁸ the Bishop of Norwich had those of Blofield, Hoxne, and Walsham;⁹ the Bishop of Ely had that of Witchford;¹⁰ Rochester Cathedral a quarter of the profits of Rochester hundred;¹¹ Ramsey Abbey got Hurstingstone hundred;¹² and Well wapentake, formerly the property of Stow Abbey, came by exchange to Lincoln Cathedral.¹³ Montacute was confirmed in its possessions of Tintinhull and other hundreds,¹⁴ though the charter is only of very doubtful authenticity.

A joint session of seven hundreds to determine the rights of St. Stephen's, Caen, to land in Burton Bradstock,¹⁵ which had been repeatedly deferred, is probably an instance of the application of the provision of the *Leges Henrici Primi*¹⁶ that the verdict of a group of hundreds should be taken when the jurors of one hundred were insufficient.

The sheriffs and their functions have been described by W. A. Morris,¹⁷ who made good use of the charter evidence. In the early years of the reign the old sheriffs continued in a number of counties, or were succeeded by their sons; but some counties were grouped, Lincolnshire and Yorkshire under Osbert, and as many as eight under Hugh of Buckland. From 1106 onward other new men are introduced, and after Buckland's death (c. 1115) no similar concentration occurs till 1130, when we find a number of counties under Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere as joint-sheriffs.

The sheriff's staff is usually referred to by the colourless term ministri, sometimes translated 'officials'. Andover hundred had, as we have seen, a reeve, as had also the boroughs. 'Bailiffs' are only named in two charters,¹⁸ and, if Stapleton was right,¹⁹ this casts some doubt on their authenticity.

As might be expected, the charters give little information about forest administration, but we find some support for Davis's view that 'forest law was administered by the shire-court'²⁰ in the writs to Osbert d'Abitôt, sheriff of Worcestershire, in favour of Walter de Beauchamp,²¹ who succeeded him as sheriff, and presumably as chief forester. In the New Forest²² and in Berkshire²³ Croc the huntsman, as in the previous reign,²⁴ is concerned in forest matters jointly with the sheriff or with the keeper of Windsor Forest. We have also the appointment of Eustace de Barenton in succession to a certain Adam as a forester,¹ but his successors are only called woodwards or park-keepers.²

The charters themselves relate either to hunting rights or, as is more usually the case, to assarts and the rent (or penalty) assessed on the religious houses or others who cultivated forest land without the royal licence.³ There are also grants that new land should not be afforested,⁴ though this was implied in Henry's coronation charter; and he did, in fact, extend his forest in Yorkshire,⁵ and probably also in Cumberland, where we read of a perambulation⁶ having been made.

The grants of sporting rights, however, were usually limited by a reservation to the King of all 'harts, hinds, and swine';⁷ to this list a charter to St. Mary's, York, adds hawks.⁸ Roes were regarded as beasts of the warren, and are specially mentioned in a grant to Abingdon of hunting-rights in Bagley Wood,⁹ and so bear out the judgement quoted by Coke.¹⁰ A charter to Chertsey Abbey specifies the vermin which the monks might hunt with hounds¹¹ as 'hares, foxes, and wild cats'. The King had a household establishment of wolf-hunters,¹² but we also find that Richard Engayne, who appears to have been forester in Northants.,¹³ belonged to the family which held Laxton and Pytchley by the service of wolf-hunting.¹⁴ Probably all keepers of forests, like Walter de Beauchamp in Worcestershire, owed the same service.¹⁵ Walter might also shoot pheasants, as might the Abbot of Chertsey.¹⁶ The monks of Colchester might hunt hares in the forest of Essex as diet for their sick,¹⁷ and a clerk had leave to keep greyhounds and braches to hunt hares and foxes in Hampshire.¹⁸ A park is also mentioned at Thame,¹⁹ and exemption is granted from compulsory work on royal parks.²⁰ The duty of acting as beaters for the King's hunting ('stable-stand' as it was called) was excused to the Abbot of Eynsham's men.²¹

The grants of woodcutting rights vary from vague allowances of necessaria,²² which we may suppose covered wood for fuel and fencing, or house repairs, to a grant of timber for building houses or ships.²³ Another important privilege was the right to feed pigs on the beech-mast of the King's forest, or to share in the 'pannage' which was exacted by the King for such food from private tenants.²⁴ Tithes were paid by the King, on the game which he killed,²⁵ to various churches and religious houses. Thus Abingdon had the tithe of Windsor Forest,²⁶ Gloucester of the Forest of Dean and Herefordshire,²⁷ St. Paul's Cathedral of that of Essex,²⁸ Salisbury of the New Forest,²⁹ and St. Mary's, York, of the Yorkshire forests.³⁰ Among the charters authorizing the 'assarting' or taking into cultivation of forest land is one in favour of Tewkesbury³¹ which speaks of the King's placitatores, which suggests that there were local officials with the duty of protecting the royal rights, distinct from foresters or verderers.

We find similar conditions in Normandy. The abbeys of Bec,¹ Fécamp,² Marmoutier,³ among others, had corresponding rights of vert and venison in the forests of Aliermont,⁴ Brix,⁵ Fécamp,⁶ Montebourg,⁷ Roumare,⁸ and Rouvray.⁹ A specially interesting charter¹⁰ specifies the rights of one of the King's serjeants in the last-mentioned forest in both respects. Another¹¹ prescribes the limits of the privilege of woodcutting and the check to be made of the quantity taken.

As in the preceding reigns the charters include many grants or confirmations of franchises and immunities, almost invariably to religious houses. The only exception is a grant to Aubrey de Vere of sac and soc over certain sokemen in Wold who had previously been tenants of the royal manor of Faxton,¹² and might therefore have challenged the right of their new lord. The jurisdiction of the religious houses, as of lay lords, might extend to the control of one or more hundreds, as at Bury or Ely, or merely to their own manor courts. In most cases murder and theft were reserved for the Crown.¹³ But the Abbot of Abingdon might do justice on any other thieves as well as on a priest who was in his custody;¹⁴ and the Archbishop of York might judge moneyers and robbers.¹⁵ The less privileged houses, such as Andover Priory,¹⁶ had jurisdiction and the profits of justice over all malefactors on their lands excepta corporali vindicta latronum quae ad Regem respicit; while greater houses, such as Westminster,¹⁷ Winchester,¹⁸ Christ Church¹⁹ and St. Augustine's,²⁰ Canterbury, Battle,²¹ Bath,²² St. John's, Colchester,²³ and Ramsey,²⁴ had more extensive rights, defined either as 'Grithbryce, Hamsocn, Forsteal, etc.', or generally, as the King's demesne rights.²⁵ In some cases these extended rights were limited to the demesne²⁶ or to the 'lowy' (leugata)²⁷ of the monastery. Battle²⁸ and Thetford²⁹ were privileged to hear complaints against their tenants in their own courts; while Waltham³⁰ and Holy Trinity, London,³¹ might only be impleaded in the court of Queen Matilda (or, after her death, in their own courts).³² This corresponds with the privilege de non evocando usually allowed to boroughs, and obviously exceeds the ordinary rights of a holder of sac, soc, &c.

The grant of omnes redditus meos et iustitias meas que ad me pertinent in Wintonia civitate to St. Swithun's during the eight days of St. Giles's fair³³ may be compared with the grant to Norwich Cathedral³⁴ of sac, soc, &c., and all other customs que pertinent ad jus feriarum during the Whitsuntide fair. The latter grant appears less full.³⁵

The charters tell us less about immunities in Normandy. It is clear that, as in England, claims to advowsons were tried in the appropriate lay court.³⁶ The most comprehensive grant seems to be that made to Saint-Pierre-sur-Dive³⁷ (as an act of reparation); which provides

1. That the abbot may not be summoned to plead before any court but his own except before the King or his chief justice.
2. No proceedings may be taken against him or his men unless they have first been brought in his own court and justice has not been done there.

3. All pleas arising from complaints against him or his men shall be tried and concluded in his own court, including murder and rape, but not desertion on active service, or offences against the coinage, which must be concluded at the mint.
4. He shall have the right to try thieves taken on his land and those taken outside who are his men.
5. Trial by battle may be awarded and executed in his court.
6. He and his monks shall have all oaks or beeches on their lands, and all waifs, strays, and treasure trove except gold, which is reserved to the king.

Fécamp had the profits of pleas of homicide or arson tried in its court.¹ The rights of Bec were almost as extensive as those of Saint-Pierre-sur-Dive,² though cognizance of rape was excepted as unbecoming religious, and there had been clearly differences with the townsmen of Bec resulting in a prohibition of the abbot's men entering the town armed.

Among the judicial immunities not mentioned in Vol. I are *assaltus*³ (which may be a translation of Foresteal);⁴ and an immunity from distraint⁵ for a hospital in York. Exemptions from the shire and hundred courts were somewhat freely given, but exemption from view of frankpledge⁶ (Frithsocne,⁷ Frithwite,⁸ Tenmantale,⁹ or Tithing)¹⁰ are, in most cases, only to be found (like Utfangtheof)¹¹ in spurious or interpolated documents. The same is true of *Bloodwite*¹² (sanguinis effusio)¹³ and Leirwite.¹⁴ Citizens of London¹⁵ and burgesses of Newcastle-upon-Tyne¹⁶ were exempted from trial by battle (except, in Newcastle, for treason). The custom known as 'Fageref',¹⁷ claimed by Bury at Thetford, is unexplained.

Fiscal immunities, besides those mentioned in Vol. I, include exemption from Cornage,¹⁸ Scutage,¹⁹ Tallage,²⁰ Gavel,²¹ Passage,²² and Pontage.²³ Landing-dues (navium applicatio)²⁴ are mentioned at Lynn and Westminster; but Ship-service²⁵ (navigium), like Pack-horse service²⁶ (summagium), seems characteristic of dubious charters.

Equally suspect are exemptions from Sheriff's Aid²⁷ (including aid of reeves or other officials), Averpenny,²⁸ Superassisa,²⁹ Tithingpenny,³⁰ and the somewhat vague exactions described as Tributa, Vectigalia, or Xenia.³¹ Grants of Treasure Trove,³² and of Royal Fish,³³ though rare, are probably genuine.

A writ of 1103 (No. 650) empowering the Abbot of Ramsey to regulate the services of his vassals to the best advantage suggests that the subdivision of knights' fees and the substitution of a money payment for personal service was already begun. The necessity of maintaining a number of idle knights was a heavy burden on a religious house (see Round, Feudal Aids, 300). The charters give no information about the payment of scutage by lay lords, though that is no proof that it did not occur.

Markets and Fairs

Grants of markets and fairs are fairly common, though some of them are merely confirmations or extensions of existing rights. The markets mentioned were at Abingdon,¹ Battle,² Binham,³ Bury St. Edmunds,⁴ Downham Market,⁵ Dunstable,⁶ Eye,⁷ Greenwich,⁸ Hadstock,⁹ Kingsclere,¹⁰ King's Lynn,¹¹ London (Smithfield),¹² Malling,¹³ Montacute,¹⁴ Norton (near Stockton-on-Tees),¹⁵ Romsey,¹⁶ Saint Neot's,¹⁷ Salisbury,¹⁸ Tavistock,¹⁹ the Isle of Thanet,²⁰ and Yaxley.²¹

The grants of fairs are not necessarily the origin of the fairs named. Apart from the confirmations of existing fairs, such as those of Chichester²² and Hamdon (in Montacute),²³ and the extensions of those at Beverley,²⁴ Eye,²⁵ Malmesbury,²⁶ Norwich,²⁷ Whitby,²⁸ and St. Giles's fair at Winchester,²⁹ we find that the fair granted to St. Frideswide's, Oxford,³⁰ had previously belonged to Roger Bishop of Salisbury just as that at Waltham Abbey³¹ had belonged to Queen Matilda. Indeed a grant to Chertsey³² alludes to existing fairs as the property of the King or any of his barons. Among those which may possibly be ascribed to Henry I are Battle,³³ Bath,³⁴ Belvoir,³⁵ Binham,³⁶ Bury St. Edmunds,³⁷ Canterbury,³⁸ Chertsey,³⁹ Elstow,⁴⁰ Ely,⁴¹ Glastonbury,⁴² Hadstock,⁴³ Hereford,⁴⁴ King's Lynn,⁴⁵ Lenton,⁴⁶ Newark,⁴⁷ Nostell,⁴⁸ Reading,⁴⁹ Ripon,⁵⁰ Rochester,⁵¹ Romsey,⁵² St. Albans,⁵³ St. Ives,⁵⁴ St. Neots,⁵⁵ Selsey,⁵⁶ and Tavistock.⁵⁷ The Bishop of Lincoln was given the tolls of the four annual fairs already existing at Stow (Lincs.).⁵⁸ And this suggests that both markets and fairs were more widely distributed than appears from the surviving charters.

In Normandy we hear of the removal of the market of Saint-Wandrille to Caudebec,⁵⁹ of Count Robert's grant of a market at Cheux⁶⁰ to St. Stephen's, Caen; and of the rules as to the use of the market of Montebourg.⁶¹ Fairs are mentioned at Cheux and Montebourg, at Envermeu,⁶² Rouen (Saint-Sever),⁶³ Nonancourt,⁶⁴ Montfarville,⁶⁵ Pont-Audemer,⁶⁶ and Bosgouet.⁶⁷

Boroughs

With the exception of the charter to London⁶⁸ (in or very shortly after 1130) the most important are those creating the royal borough of Dunstable,⁶⁹ and confirming the Archbishop of York's new borough of Beverley⁷⁰ and the abbot's borough (probably already existing) of Bury St. Edmunds.⁷¹ Beverley was given the customs of York, but Wilton⁷² (which, with its dependence of Salisbury,⁷³ seems to have belonged to Queen Matilda) received those of London and Winchester. There are several exemptions from scot and lot, tolls, aids, &c., which have been noted by Ballard in British Borough Charters, 1042-1216, and there is an interesting grant to Cambridge¹ of toll on goods transported by water to any part of Cambridgeshire. Two questions as to local rights in Winchester are also referred to the borough court.²

Coinage

Closely connected with the subject of boroughs is that of coinage, since so many of the boroughs had moneyers, and the ordinance of Christmas, 1100, for the reform of the coinage³ is particularly directed to the burgesses. The evidence of the surviving coins⁴ shows that at least forty local mints were at work, including one at Pembroke. That of York, which seems to have been the only one in the six northern counties, was under the supervision of the archbishop.⁵ Bury St. Edmunds⁶ and Reading⁷ are the only private mints named in the charters. The confirmation of the Bury mint⁸ seems to be connected with the coinage reform of 1125. The moneyer of the Abbot of Reading, Edgar by name, is only known to have coined in London. The other moneyer mentioned, Wulfric,⁹ is known to have coined at Sudbury. The reference to monetarium in the coronation charter of Henry I¹⁰ has been variously explained.¹¹ If, as Sir Henry Ellis thought, it was a levy on all boroughs which had moneyers, it may have been the same as the cuneus de Romenel,¹² from which the men of Dunge Marsh were exempt, and with the entries on the Pipe Roll¹³ pro placito ij. cuneorum and de placito monete. In that case the King's promise was not to abolish the tax, but to limit it to the boroughs which had paid it in the Confessor's reign.

The dies were distributed from London, where there is reason to think they were cut. The office of Cutter of the Dies was, in all probability, already an hereditary serjeanty in the family of Otto the goldsmith. Otto, the Domesday tenant of Hawstead,¹⁴ was probably dead in 1098, and was succeeded by his son Otto the younger.¹⁵ He received land in Childerditch and Benfleet (in Essex).¹⁶ On his death, near the middle of the reign, his son William succeeded him in the lands mentioned, and also at Lisson Green,¹⁷ the manor to which the serjeanty was afterwards attached.¹⁸

It is tempting, if perhaps fanciful, to associate the progressive devices to secure payment at the Exchequer in standard coin—payment ad scalam,¹⁹ ad pensum, and 'blanch'²⁰—with the three attempts at coinage reform of 1100, 1108, and 1125. But it is difficult to reconcile this hypothesis with the surviving writs, which appear to regard ad scalam and 'blanch' as synonymous. It should be noticed, however, that both writs relate to a payment by the sheriff, and therefore 'blanch' may go back to a date when 6*d.* in the pound was a sufficient allowance for wear, and may not be valid for the date of the writ.

In Normandy, where coinage was limited to Rouen and Bayeux, it was still possible to give the Abbot of Saint-Pierre-sur-Dive²¹ jurisdiction in coinage cases, with the proviso that the case should be concluded in one of the mint towns.

Church Affairs

The dispute with Rome on the subject of investitures is reflected in the King's letters to Pope Paschal II,²² and in the letters referring to the missions of William de Warelwast.²³

There are also a number of letters from the King to Anselm¹ which show that differences of policy did not interfere with their friendly relations. It will be noticed that, although no consecrations of bishops were possible till the close of the investiture dispute in 1107, the chancery very rarely distinguishes between 'elect' and 'bishop'; a negligence which occasionally adds to the difficulties of dating charters.

Generally speaking the secular courts had jurisdiction in cases relating to ecclesiastical property.² But the line between ecclesiastical and civil jurisdiction cannot have been definite; since a question as to the respective rights of the Abbot of Peterborough and the Bishop of Lincoln in the parish church of Peterborough³ appears to have been settled in the Curia Regis and remitted for formal judgement to the bishop's consistory court. The rule as to claims to advowsons appears to have been the same in Normandy as in England.⁴

A charter of the earlier half of the reign⁵ recognizes the descent of a church from father to son; and it is probable that the clerical celibacy enjoined by Lanfranc and Anselm was only gradually enforced.⁶

Burial rights seem also to have come under the King's cognizance. Thus Roger Bigod's gift of his body to Norwich⁷ (as against the claims of Thetford) and the right of the citizens of London (as of the king's principal barons)⁸ to be buried where they will, are protected by charters. Among other matters alluded to are Peter's Pence,⁹ the 'hermits' of Goathland¹⁰ and of Savigny,¹¹ the Palm Sunday procession,¹² pilgrimage to Jerusalem,¹³ and even a miracle.¹⁴

Other Matters

Historical events mentioned or alluded to include the coronation,¹⁵ the treaty with Flanders in 1101¹⁶ (doubtless contracted to meet the impending struggle with Robert), the confirmation of the coronation charter in June or July of the same year,¹⁷ the reconciliation with Robert,¹⁸ Henry's expedition against Tickhill¹⁹ in 1102, the redemption by Henry of the regalia of William the Conqueror which he had left to St. Stephen's, Caen,²⁰ the campaign of Tinchebrai,²¹ and the siege of Arques²² (probably both in the same year), the marriages of Henry's children, Maud to the emperor Henry V²³ and to Geoffrey of Anjou,²⁴ William to the daughter of Fulk of Anjou,²⁵ and the battle of Brémule²⁶ in 1119.

The most important legal points (apart from the coronation charter) are the ordinance for the reform of the coinage in 1100²⁷ and the amendment of the law of wreck.²⁸ In Normandy regulations were made for the trial of breakers of the Treuga Dei.²⁹ There are, however, a number of cases in which the familiar forms of action of a later date can be seen to be taking shape. For instance, there are a number of confirmations, both in England and Normandy of 'final concords' arising from real or fictitious suits in the King's court,³⁰ though the earliest instrument known is of 1161.³¹ In one case the king confirms an exchange,³² but an instance occurs in Normandy which looks very like a fictitious suit followed by a 'recovery'.³³ Early forms of the writ of right will also be found.³⁴ Livery of seisin might be made by the delivery of a chattel, e.g. three pearmain¹ or a knife.² One case, resting only on the authority of Orderic,³ implies a contradiction of Glanvill's statement that criminal proceedings were not taken against living usurers. But the probability is that Glanvill's view is correct for the reign of Henry I.

The charters mention the bridges of London,⁴ Durham,⁵ and Rochester,⁶ for the former of which contributions might be levied as far away as Sussex. A new bridge was built at Newark.⁷ Diversions of the highway were sanctioned at Wymondham⁸ and at Oxford.⁹ The Bishop of Lincoln was also allowed to divert the Foss Way¹⁰ at Newark. Salt was sent from Droithwich to Abingdon,¹¹ possibly coming by water from Oxford, as herrings¹² no doubt did from London. Schools are mentioned at Warwick,¹³ Huntingdon,¹⁴ Dunstable,¹⁵ and Gloucester,¹⁶ and the terms of the charters granting them seem to imply that they already existed in their own right. There are allusions to the building of the castles of Newcastle-upon-Tyne¹⁷ and Rochester¹⁸ and to castle-ward services at Durham,¹⁹ Ely and Norwich,²⁰ Rochester,²¹ Rockingham,²² and Windsor.²³ Two charters to Abingdon²⁴ attest the inconvenience caused by the billeting of the royal household,²⁵ and a charter to St. Peter's, Ghent²⁶ (probably spurious), speaks of a control over weights and measures exercised by the royal almonry.

The treasury is mentioned as being at Winchester²⁷ in connexion with Domesday Book (to which there are other references),²⁸ as also are tallies²⁹ and (it seems) the Pipe Rolls.³⁰ A writ addressed to Abbot Ernulf of Peterborough³¹ provides a new limiting date for the 'Peterborough Survey.'³²

Something remains to be said about the practice of the chancery. It cannot be supposed that long and complicated charters were not based on written petitions or drafts. Warrants might, however, be given for simpler writs by word of mouth,³³ or by a confidential messenger (per . . .).³⁴ When the King was abroad he might warrant the issue of a writ by the justiciar by a breve de ultra mare (as already described), or might issue it under his own seal from abroad. A charter of Eustace Count of Boulogne³⁵ gives the name of the scribe, Simon, who wrote it; and a notitia of a charter to Andover Priory¹ mentions that Waldric the chancellor received a palfrey for his pains in drafting it.² It will be noticed that writs in English³ are now very rare. Of the five, three are writs confirming the privileges of Canterbury Cathedral in the traditional bilingual form. The other two are personal grants to Anselm and Maurice Bishop of London, respectively.

³⁴ The messengers do not seem to be of any special class. Thus we have the Queen (Nos. 568-9), magnates such as Geoffrey Ridel (No. 1161), Otuel FitzCount (Nos. 1174-6), Reginald de Berkeley (No. 594), Robert de Brus (No. 905), and Aubrey de Vere, the chamberlain (No. 929), and a number of chaplains, who may be regarded as the chancery staff, John of Bayeux (No. 762), Bernard (No. 698), Humphrey Bigod (No. 957), Gilbert (No. 762), John of Sées (No. 807), Roger, afterwards chancellor (No. 507), Everard, son of earl Roger (Nos. 669, 946), Thurstan, afterwards archbishop of York (No. 681), and William de Warelwast. There are Robert de la Haie, seneschal (No. 1951), and William of Glastonbury, treasurer (Nos. 1684, 1969) of Normandy; household officers such as Ared the falconer (Nos. 623, 854, 856), Carbonel the staller (Nos. 704-5), William de Houghton, the chamberlain (No. 780), William the almoner (No. 643); sheriffs like William of Oxford (No. 527), Walter Huse (No. 695), and Walter of Gloucester (No. 1519); and some without specified employment such as W. de la Rochelle (No. 553), William Martel (No. 1822), or Robert Doisel (No. 584). Others seem to have no clear connexion with the household, though they may possibly be interested in the subject of the grant, e.g. W. chaplain of Oxford (No. 1380), Payn (?) Basset (No. 528), Ralph Fraunc[is] (No. 770), Reiner of Carisbrooke (or Cherbourg) (No. 722), Lewin brother of Colgrim (No. 924), Richard de la Mare (No. 849), Geoffrey Pecche (No. 699), Thomas de Pont l'Evêque (No. 1952), or William of Calne (No. 1612). It will be noticed that very few messengers appear on more than one occasion, and that most are in the earlier years of the reign.

A curious example of the procedure of issuing charters occurs in a charter confirming the estates of Norwich Cathedral.⁴ Here the manor of Eaton, being of royal demesne, has been given to the monks by Alan fitz Flaald. The King promises to confirm this gift by another charter when Alan next comes to court. This seems to imply either that the monks had no charter from Alan, or that the King did not rely on the genuineness of the charter which they produced. This caution may have some bearing on the choice of witnesses to charters. The long lists of these appended to the more solemn instruments may, as already suggested, reflect the membership of the King's court or council at the date of the grants in question; and the conjectural dates assigned to such charters, when undated, rest on that assumption. It may, however, be a little doubtful whether a given witness was necessarily at the place where the charter purports to have been issued on the actual day of issue. It will be noticed that particular witnesses habitually occur in charters with which they have a local or family connexion. Thus Nigel de Albini or Robert de Brus will be found attesting charters relating to Northumberland or Yorkshire; Geoffrey de Mandeville or Richard de Redvers those for Devon or Cornwall, and similar coincidences will be seen in other counties. This suggests that, in some cases at all events, the witnesses chosen were not the persons casually present at the time of the grant, but such as might subsequently be likely to contest it.

Charters were sometimes issued in duplicate, as for instance two in favour of Fontevrault.⁵ Something of the same sort may be observed in the practice of religious houses which had shortened versions of their charters of liberties (whether genuine or not) for production when such rights as freedom from toll were claimed.⁶ The bilingual charters issued for successive archbishops of Canterbury seem to have been in quadruplicate.⁷ This is expressly stated in the case of Anselm, and two originals have survived; while three are known for William of Corbeil.⁸

These bilingual charters have a peculiar method of sealing. The seal is not as usual attached at the foot of the document, but is on a tongue protruding from the left-hand margin. This suggests that the seal was so placed in order to validate both English and Latin versions. It does, however, occur in charters where there is only one version.⁹

Some changes will be observed in the forms of instruments issuing from the chancery. The diploma form, appropriate to solemn grants of land or privileges and subscribed with the signa of the King and the other witnesses,¹⁰ becomes infrequent towards the end of the reign, and is replaced mainly by notifications addressed generally, to which the witnesses do not append their signa. The form of address also varies. In the earlier precepts and notifications the bishop, and sheriff, or bishop, justiciar, and sheriff, of the county concerned, were addressed, even when the charter, like the ordinance about coinage,¹¹ was of general application. Later on more charters were addressed generally, or if purely local, to the sheriff alone. Precepts might, of course, be addressed to individuals as well.

Seals

Four seals of Henry I can be distinguished. The first and second, of which examples are few, were used before the conquest of Normandy in 1106. The third, of which there are rather more, may have been used as early as 1103-4,¹ and probably as late as 1109.² The fourth, which has on its reverse dux Normannorum, may have been in use from 1106 to the end of the reign. If so, the third and fourth, like the first and second, must have been used concurrently. If we may trust the Dialogus de Scaccario, and if the Exchequer of Henry II exactly imitated the practice of that of Henry I, we may believe that the chancery and the Exchequer had each its own seal. But although the first and second might pass as duplicates, the third and fourth could not possibly do so.

ITINERARY OF HENRY I

A detailed itinerary of Henry I appeared in the English Historical Review for 1919 (vol. xxxiv, pp. 303-82, 505-79). It was also issued separately, with an index, by its author, the late William Farrer. From it (and from the calendar) we have prepared a skeleton consisting only of those dates which are attested by chroniclers or by dated charters. Other dates are more or less conjectural, and are printed in brackets ([]). Farrer's serial numbers are added to the abstracts of the charters which he used, and indicate the comparatively rare occasions on which we have differed from his dating.

Innes), ii. 591 (with facsimile).] Farrer, Itin. 1.

'Apud Westmonasterium. Quando coronatus fui.'

The best critical text of this charter in its various forms is in Liebermann's Gesetze der Angelsachsen, i. 521, which supersedes that in Trans. Royal Hist. Soc. N.S. viii. 40. The earlier text, however, includes the Paris MS. (which the later edition omits as being a mere variant of the Quadripartitus text), and gives a more complete collation of the others. The Rylands MS. is partly collated in Gesetze, iii. 296-9.

The two Lambeth texts have not hitherto been used, but belong to the 'Westminster' group (f), though with some agreement with Richard of Hexham. Both purport to have been copied from an original. That on p. 187 is of the earlier half of the 13th c., that on p. 17 about 1300.

Ludwig Riess (E.H.R. xli. 321) argues from the charter of 1101 (No. 527; E.H.R. xxi. 506) and from the discrepancies in the Quadripartitus group of MSS., that a second version of this charter was issued in June or July 1101, and prints a reconstructed text of this reissue. It seems impossible to believe that the witnessing clause of this group was ever used in an actual charter, but it is not impossible that a revised version may have been issued reciting the contents of the coronation charter, and that this may be the source of a number of our texts.

489.* [1100, Aug. 5. Westminster]

Notification (spurious) generally addressed: Confirming the privileges of Westminster Abbey, in which church he has been anointed king, and making a supplementary grant of the following: mundbriche, miskenninge, sceawinge, hlastinge, fridhsocne, flemenefirmth, westgelthef (i.e. wergildtheof), uthleap, forlfeng (i.e. forfang), ferdwite, blodwite, fihtwite, wardwite, hengwite, hamsocne, foresteal, infangenethef, sace, socne, toll and team, and all other laws and customs which pertain to the crown.

Witnesses: Maurice Bp. of London; William Elect of Winchester; G[erard] Bp. of Hereford; Earls Henry [of Warwick], Simon [of Northampton], W[alter] Giffard [of Bucks.].

[B.M. Cotton Charter VII. 8 (pretended original). Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 57; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 65.] Farrer, Itin. 2.

Faust. A. III omits the attestation of Gerard Bp. of Hereford, and adds 'wihpheang' after 'forpheang'. The language of the charter is suspicious, but might perhaps be excused if it were considered to have been drawn up by the recipients. Stephen's charter repeats it almost exactly. The witnesses named suggest the coronation as the occasion of the grant.

490. [1100, Aug. 5?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Eudo Dapifer and Herbert the chamberlain: That the convents of Westminster, Winchester, and Gloucester are to have their full allowance at all feasts when the King wears his crown in their churches; and their precentors (cantores) are to have an ounce of gold, since Maurice Bp. of London has testified that they had this in the time of the King's predecessors.

Witness: William Elect of Winchester.

495. [1100, c. Sept. 29?] Salisbury 'in concilio'

Notification by Henry I to Gerard (sic) Abp. of York, Bertram de Verdun, and the barons of Yorkshire: Of a grant to Abbot Hugh of Selby of the churches of Snaith and their appurtenances as in the times of King Edward and King William.

[Copies in Selby Cartulary (Brooke), fo. 14b; Pat. R. 35 Ed. 1, m. 42. J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 25-26; Cal. Pat. R. 1301-7, p. 487; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 473.] Farrer, Itin. 61.

Bertram de Verdun appears as Sheriff of Yorks. in a writ of William II in favour of Durham dated Salisbury, 9 Feb. 1100. (Reg. i, No. 427.) Osbert had succeeded him by Christmas 1100 (No. 505 below). It seems easier to assume an exchange of G. for the T. of the original and a subsequent expansion to 'Gerardo' by the compiler of a cartulary, than to assign a second term of office to Bertram without further evidence.

496. [1100, c. Sept. 29?] Salisbury

Notification by Henry I to Robert de Lasci and the barons of Yorkshire: That the land of St. Albans in Yorkshire is to be free of all customs, castle-work, and scot.

[Pat. R. 35 Ed. 1, m. 40 (copy); Cal. Pat. R. 1301-7, 489; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 943.]

Miles Crispin attests a charter at Marlborough in this year (No. 497). He died in 1107. As there was no Earl of Yorkshire, Robert de Lacy is presumably addressed as the most prominent baron (see Farrer, E.Y.C. i. 361, n.).

William was chancellor, though bp. elect, until some time in 1101. Henry was at Salisbury in September or October (Eadmer, 55). Nigel de Monville married Emma daughter of William of Arques, afterwards Countess of Guines.

Two writs of even date, similarly attested, directed to all sheriffs where the abbey has lands, the second with the clause 'sicuti frater meus per breve suum praecepit', are given on the following page.

500. 1100, Dec. 2. Neweham [Newnham-on-Severn?]

501. [1100], Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Bp. Samson and Urse d'Abitôt and all Worcestershire: That all burgesses and dwellers in boroughs, both French and English, shall swear that they will not be parties to falsifying the King's money. If any man be found with false money and accuse his warrantor, let him lose his right hand and his manhood if he cannot prove the charge against the warrantor. If he cannot name a warrantor, let him go to the ordeal. No moneyer is to change (mutet) money outside his own shire, and this before two lawful witnesses of the shire. If he be found changing money outside his own shire, let him be treated as a false coiner. No one is to coin (cambire) money, except he be a moneyer.

502. [1100], Dec. 25. [Westminster]

Notification by Henry I to R[ichard son of Gotse] the sheriff and all of Notts.: That he has confirmed to St. Cuthbert [of Durham] and his monks all the lands, mills, &c., which they held in Notts. on the day when William II was alive and dead; with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief and all customs. William Peverel is to see to it, as he loves the King, that the monks of St. Cuthbert lose nothing of which they were seised at the aforesaid date.

Witness: William the chancellor.

Notification by Henry I to R[obert de Lascei] the sheriff and all of Yorkshire: That he has granted to St. Cuthbert [of Durham] and his monks one carucate of land in Drewton (Drowetona) (Yorks. E.R.) and a mill; to hold with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, as freely and quietly as they held on the day when William II was alive and dead. They are not to answer to any man concerning this grant.

Witness: W[illiam] Peverel'.

First seal of Henry I (Greenwell and Blair, No. 3014).

[Dur. Cath. Treas. II. i, Reg. No. 11 (original?). Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. 29, p. 236; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1893.]

Farrer rejects this charter as a forgery on the ground that in all the years from 1100 to 1110 in which Christmas was kept at Westminster Osbert was certainly the Sheriff of York. It is conceivable that it should have been addressed to Robert de Lacy and Osbert the sheriff and that some words were inadvertently omitted. But a careful comparison of the writing and wording of the writ with that of No. 502 makes it more probable that this writ has been carefully imitated from the other, by some one who did not know that the sheriffs of Yorks. and Notts. (1100-10) had different initials. If so, the seal was probably a cast from that of No. 502.

504. [1100?], Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to O[sbert] the sheriff and all of Lincolnshire: That he has granted to St. Cuthbert of Durham and his monks the house and land of Ulfget, to hold as well and peaceably as it was ever held by William Bp. of Durham, in the time of William II and on the day when the said bp. was alive and dead.

Witness: W[illiam] Peverel.

First seal of Henry I (Greenwell and Blair, No. 3014).

[Durham Cath. Treas. II. i, Reg. No. 14 (original). Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. 29, p. 237.] Farrer, Itin. 16.

Apparently of the same date as the preceding. The writing is very similar in both, but this is not suspected by Farrer.

505. [1100], Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to G[erard] Abp. [of York] and O[sbert] the sheriff and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to St. Cuthbert [of Durham] and his monks the land which Robert d'Estouteville (de Stutavilla) gave the aforesaid saint in Hunsley (Hundeslai) (Yorks. E.R.); and one carucate of land in Drewton; and one mill which Norman gave to St. Cuthbert when he became a monk. These possessions are to be held with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, and all customs, as well and peaceably as the saint holds his other lands.

Witness: William the chancellor.

Second seal of Henry I (Greenwell and Blair, No. 3015).

506. [1100], Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification (in English) by Henry I to his sheriffs and thegns of London, Essex, Herts., and Middlesex: That he has confirmed to Bp. Maurice the bishopric of London, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and grithbrice, and all rights of ecclesiastical jurisdiction on the King's land and on all other men's lands; as fully as any of his predecessors had these rights, and as William I and William II commanded by their writs.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln.

507. [1100, Dec. 25?] Westminster in concilio

Notification by Henry I to all his chief men (primatibus) and lieges of England: That the canons of St. Paul's, London, are in his protection; as freely as ever under any of his ancestors. They may lease and dispose of their prebends and all their property as in the time of Bp. William and other bishops.

Witnesses: Robert Earl of Shrewsbury; Henry Earl of Warwick; Per Roger the chaplain.

[St. Paul's Cath. A. 69 (Roll of Charters of Liberties), No. 28 (copy). Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 21.] Robert of Bellême succeeded to the county of Ponthieu in right of his wife Agnes daughter of Count Guy I (13 Oct. 1100) and used that title instead of 'Shrewsbury' in 1101, but transferred it afterwards to his son William Talvas.

508. [1100?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bigod, Robert the chaplain, and O[dbert] the usher (hostiario): That he has restored to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] the land of the church which Bp. Ranulf held of him and pardoned the King's claim on the land as pledged.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln. [1100-3 or 1105.]

[Copies in Norwich Cath. Reg. ii, fo. 28v^o (bis); iii, fo. 227.]
'In Natali Domini.'

The circumstances seem to point to a date very soon after Ranulf's imprisonment, possibly 1100. O. the usher may be Odbert (see Vol. I, No. 385).

509. [1100], Dec. 25. London

Notification by Henry I to Earl S[imon de Senlis], Roger Bigod, the Sheriff and all of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has given to Bp. Herbert [de Losinga] in the church which is building in honour of Holy Trinity and All Saints at Norwich 25s. rent reserved by William II: the land and all customs, viz. sac, soc, tol and team and infangthief: also that Herbert may place monks there who shall be irremovable, as at Canterbury or Winchester.

510. [1100], c. Sept.–Dec. 25

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That on the request of William Earl of Surrey the King has given to St. Pancras and the monks of Lewes every immunity, quittance, and liberty that the royal power may give to any monastery; in particular with freedom from danegelds and other gelds, and aids and shire- and hundred-service, and scutage and tallage and hidage, carrying service, ship-service, bridge-building, castle-building, transport of treasure (conductu thesauri). Their fees and manors are to be as free and exempt as the King's own demesne. And they are to have full jurisdiction over their tenants and their lands.

Signa: King Henry; William Count of Mortain; William the chancellor; William de Albini; Gerard Bp. [of Hereford]; Earl Walter Giffard; Hugh Earl of Chester; Roger Bigod; Earl Henry of Beaumont [i.e. Henry Earl of Warwick].

Before July 1101; and (as Gerard is styled Bp.) probably before the end of 1100. The witnesses suggest Oct. 1100, where Farrer places it. The mention of scutage is discussed by W. A. Morris in E.H.R. xxxvi. 45. He accepts the charter as genuine.

511. [c. 1100.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Abbot of St. Edmunds and the lords (dominis) of the monastery and Peter de Valognes: That Wulward of Wangford (Suffolk) has become the King's man and he has restored him all his land as he had it at Abbot Baldwin's death.

Witness: Roger Bigod. [1100–7.]

[Copy on flyleaf to B.M. Add. MS. 7097 (Saxham Cartulary). Gage, History of Suffolk, p. 275; Douglas, Feudal Docs. 65.]

This is presumably very shortly after the King's accession. If (as the address to the domini of the monastery suggests) the abbey was in fact vacant, this writ must be before 5 Aug. 1100. Possibly No. 655 is to be dated Christmas 1100, shortly after Abbot Robert's appointment.

512. [1100] Westminster

Notification by Henry I (dei gratia rex Anglorum) to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriffs and barons of England: That he has granted to Abbot Richard his abbey of St. Albans with all customs (specified) as held by Abbot Paul.

Witnesses: Gerard Bp. [of Hereford]; John Bp. [of Bath]; Henry Earl of Warwick; Roger Bigod; W[illiam] de Albini.

513. [c. 1100]

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich that he has given to the church of Guist (Geiste) 1 acre of land, where there are houses. Alfric the priest is to have it as freely as under William II, and also his son. (Witnesses omitted.) [1100–19.]

514. [1101, c. Jan.]

Letter by Henry I to Pope Paschal: Congratulating him on his election, and hoping that their relations may be as friendly as those between Paschal's predecessors and William I. He sends the Pope the offering (beneficium) which St. Peter had from previous kings, and promises the same obedience to the Pope as was rendered in his father's time; provided that he is allowed to have the same customs which his father had. But he will not let the dignities and customs of the realm of England be impaired. Even if he consented to such a humiliation, the nobles and the whole people of England would interfere to prevent it. He begs the Pope to deliberate more prudently, and to exercise such self-restraint as will spare Henry the pain of being obliged to withdraw from his obedience.

An account of the MSS. is given by Liebermann, op. cit., pp. 58–72. The Pope's reply to this letter (Eadmer, Hist. Nov., pp. 128–31) was received after Robert's reconciliation with the King in Aug. 1101.

The Foedera date of 1103 must be wrong, as William Giffard had ceased to be chancellor by 3 Sept., and probably retired at Easter (21 Apr.). Ernulf de Montgomery was exiled in 1102.

The difficulty of accepting Richard's tenure of the sheriffdom after the succession of Helgot (presumably in 1105) makes it necessary to suppose the mint ordinance was that of Christmas 1100 and not that recorded by the chroniclers (e.g. Eadmer, Hist. Nov., p. 193) in 1108.

Bp. Maurice d. 26 Sept. 1107. Stubbs dates both this and the following charter as c. 1100.

526. [1100–1, Apr. 21 ?]

Notification by Queen Matilda (without address) that she has pardoned the canons of Waltham the money which William Bp. of Durham had from them yearly for the work of Durham Castle.

Witness: William Giffard.

527. [1101 ? Apr. 21 ?] 'Easter'. Winchester

Precept¹ by Henry to Hugh de Bocland, William Sheriff of Oxford, and all his lieges of Berkshire: Granting that the church and monks of Abingdon have and hold in their demesne their land of Wytham (Witteham) [co. Berks.], which Ranulf Bp. of Durham held, as heretofore, to whomsoever the King may give the land of Stanton Harcourt (Estantona) [co. Oxon.]; so that no injury may result to them.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln. Per William of Oxford himself (ipsam).

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142; C. IX, fo. 149v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 84.] Farrer, Itin. 87.

528. [1101, May ?] Cambridge

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Berkshire, and William Sheriff of Oxfordshire: That they order the men of their shires to declare the truth concerning the three virgates of land which Rualon (Rualucus) of Avranches claims; and if they pertain to the manor of Stanton Harcourt (Estantona) which the King has given him, let him have them. If not, Abingdon Abbey is to have them.

Witness: Roger the chancellor. Per . . . agen Basset. [Easter, 1101–Michaelmas, 1102.]

After the grant of Bp. Ranulf's holding at Wytham to Abingdon (No. 527).

528a. [1101, May ?] Cambridge

Precept by Henry I to Roger Sheriff of Huntingdon, Richard Engaine, and all of Huntingdonshire: That Abbot Aldwin of Ramsey hold his woods in Huntingdonshire as well as his predecessor held them in the time of William I. No one is to interfere with him or his men.

Witness: Grimbald the leech (medico). [1100–2.]

529. [1101, c. June 24.] Wartling (Wercling)¹

Notification by Henry I to all his barons, sheriffs, and officials: That he has granted St. Martin of Battle to have his court in all matters. Wherever the abbot shall be present in the abbey's manors or lands, or another in his place, let him have the royal privilege that if anyone have a plea against his tenant the plea shall be heard in his court. If the plea cannot be determined in the abbot's court, let it be transferred by the abbot to the royal court in order that it may be settled in the presence of the abbot and the justiciar.

[P.R.O. Ancient Deeds, B (E. 326) 8917 (original); Battle, penes Mrs. Harbord (duplicate with seal); copies in Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, fos. 29v° and 86; Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 29v° (olim 17); Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 12 (omitting witnesses). Chart. R. 6 Ed. II, No. 56; Monast. iii. 247 (xvii) from Battle Register, MS. Hayley Sussex A, p. 109.] Farrer, Itin. 256.

The P.R.O. original is in book-hand, much defaced. Seal (missing) on tongue. Endorsed: De Curia habenda Henrici primi xix. The itinerary suggests that this and the following charter were granted on the occasion of Henry's march towards Hastings to meet Robert's expected invasion.

530. [1101, c. June 24.] Wartling

Precept by Henry I to Robert Goiz: To restore to the Abbot of Battle, by sureties (per plegios) his swineherd (porcarium). If Robert wishes to implead the abbot he is to come to the court of St. Martin of Battle and have right. The King wishes all his barons and earls to know that he has confirmed to the church of St. Martin of Battle its court, &c.

[Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 12v° (copy, without witnesses).]

Presumably of the same date as the preceding.

531. [1101, June–July]

Letter by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Ranulf Meschin, Osbert the sheriff, Picot son of Colsuen, and all of Lincolnshire: That he confirms them in the laws and rights and customs which he granted at his coronation. They are to bind themselves by oath to hold and defend his land of England against all men, and especially against the King's brother, Robert Duke of Normandy, until Christmas Day. The persons addressed are to take this oath from all the King's demesne tenants, both French and English, and the barons are to cause them to have the same oath from their tenants, as agreed with the King.

[Lincoln Cath. Treas. A. I. 1, No. 5 (original); A. 1 6, No. 24 (copy). E.H.R. xxi. (1906), pp. 505–9; Bibl. de l'École des Chartes, lxi, p. 573. Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 73.] Farrer, Itin. 24.

532. [1100, Sept.–1, July.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, W. Baignard, and all the King's ministers of London: That all the men of Abp. Anselm in London shall be as free of custom as the men of Lanfranc in the time of William I.

Witness: Hugh Earl of Chester.

[Lambeth Palace MS. 1212, p. 25 (copy). Foedera, i. 12.]

'Idem in Anglico ibidem.'

Anselm returned in Sept. 1100. Earl Hugh was with the King at Westminster in Oct. 1100. He died 27 July 1101.

533. [1100–1, July.]

Charter by Henry I to St. Evroul: Confirming the charter of William I (No. 140). (The portion relating to Pillerton Priors (Parua Pilardington) [co. Warwick] alone is copied.)

534. 1101, July 31. Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Osbert the Sheriff of Lincoln and Ranulf Meschin and all the barons of Lincolnshire: That he has given to God and St. Mary and Robert Bp. of Lincoln the manor of Nettleham (Netheneham) by the concession of the Queen to whom it belonged; to be held as well and freely as it was held by the King when in his hand.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Roger Bigod.

'In die sancti Germani episcopi in primo anno regni mei.'

535. [1101, July 31.] Winchester (Untonia)

Notification by Queen Matilda to O[sbert] Sheriff of Lincoln, Ranulf Meschin, and all of Lincolnshire: That King Henry has at her request given to Robert Bp. of Lincoln the manor of Nettleham (Netelham) which is of her fee, with its appurtenances.

Witnesses: Hamo Dapifer; Urse de Abitôt. [1101–8.]

[Lincoln, 'Reg. Antiquiss.' fo. 8v^o (No. 62); Chart. R. 12 Edw. I, No. 54 (copies). Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 62; Cal. Chart. R. ii, p. 271.] Farrer, Itin. 24B (= 101).

No copy has the place. It was probably torn off the original as in No. 531.

537. [1101, c. July.] Lacock [Wilts.] (Lacoc)

Precept by Henry to Osbert Sheriff of Lincoln and Ranulf Meschin: Commanding that they cause Robert Bp. of Lincoln to hold all his lands and men and (other) possessions with great honour. No one is to implead him concerning the lands of which his predecessor was seised on the day of his death or churches which the bp. has continued to hold to the present.

[Copies in Lincoln, 'Reg. Antiquiss.' fo. 5 (No. 29); 'Reg. Superantiqu.' No. 8; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 7v^o; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 3. Monast. viii. 1273; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 29.] Farrer, Itin. 30. Presumably not later than the grant of Nettleham (No. 534).

538. [1101, c. July 31?]

Notification by Henry I (dei gracia rex Angl') to Robert Bp. of Coventry, Richard [son of Gotse] the sheriff, Roger Count [of La Marche], William Peverel, Robert de Ferrers, and all of Notts. and Derbyshire: That he has given to St. Mary's, Lincoln, for the souls of his father and mother, of William II, and of himself and his wife Matilda, the churches of Derby and Wirksworth [co. Derby] in prebendam for ever, to hold as in the time of Kings Edward and William I.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. 1/5, fo. 6; A. 1/7, No. 126; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 8v^o. Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 38; Monast. viii. 1274 (xxxv) (imperfect).] Farrer, Itin. 38.

Roger 'the Poitevin' was Count of La Marche in right of his wife who died about 1104. He was exiled from England in 1102, and resided at Charroux [Vienne] (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iv. 179).

539. [1101, Aug.] London

Mandate by Henry I to Ranulf Bp. of Durham: To come under safe conduct to the King's presence and back, for love of the King's brother Robert.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 84v^o; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 58v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 44.]

The treaty between Henry and Robert was in Aug. 1101 and involved the pardon of the adherents of each

540. [1101, Aug.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to R.:¹ To let Ranulf Bp. of Durham have all his lands, men, mills, meadows, and ferries as in the time of William II. And that he be reseised of all his customs, and of the men of whom he was afterwards disseised; and be quit of Fyrdwite (placidis expedicionis), and have all his property in peace until he return from Normandy.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 36v° Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 84v°; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 58.) Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 45.]

¹ The 'R.' to whom this writ is addressed has not been identified.

541. [1101, Aug.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and ministers where Ranulf Bp. of Durham holds land: To let him have all his men, who went out of his land since the death of William II, with their cattle (pecunia), and make them return to his land. And he is to be quit of Fyrdwite (placitis expedicionis), and to hold his men and goods in peace and quit of all pleas.

Witnesses: Count Robert of Bellême; Henry Earl of Warwick.

542. [1101], Aug. 29. Windsor

Precept by Henry I to R[oger] Bigod and all his ministers: To do justice on behalf of Bp. Herbert [of Norwich] on the men of William de Warenne, who have seized his lands and men at Thornham [co. Norf.], and on any of the King's ministers who may have been with them. The bp. is to have all customs which he had under William II.

Witness: R[oger] Bigod.

[Norwich Cath. Regg. i, fo. 25v° (bis); iii, fo. 227 (copies).]

'In decollatione Sancti Johannis Baptiste.'

This seems to be connected with Warenne's rebellion in 1101. The King was at Windsor on 3 September.

543. [1101, Aug. or Sept. ?] Arundel

Notification by Henry I to Maurice Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocland and all the King's barons and lieges, French and English, of London: That the King has restored (reddidisse) to Otto the younger (juveni) the office of the mint (formerly held by Otto's father) and the manor of Lisson Green (Lislestona) [in Marylebone], &c.

Witnesses: Robert Count of Meulan; William de Warenne; William de Albini. [1100-7.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 23 (17). Foedera, i. 9; Cal. Pat. R. 1370-4, 363.] Farrer, Itin. 82. Otto the elder was probably dead in 1098 (Douglas, Feudal Docs., cxxxix). William de Warenne does not attest as an earl and the writ is probably between Henry's reconciliation with Robert of Normandy at Alton in August and Robert's departure about Michaelmas, when William went with him to Normandy.

544. 1101, Sept. 3. Windsor

Charter by Henry I: Renewing and confirming the charter by William II to John Bp. of Bath (No. 315) of the city of Bath as the see for Somerset (ut ibi deinceps sit caput et mater ecclesia totius episcopatus de Sumerseta).

'Facta est autem hec donatio anno ab incarnatione Domini Millesimo Centesimo Primo, indictione IX, epacta nulla, concurrente I. Confirmatio huius carte facta est apud Wyndesloram in die ordinationis Sancti Gregorii, III. nonas Septembris, luna sexta.'

545. [1101, Sept. 3.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Gerard, R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln, O[sbert] the sheriff, and all barons of Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, and Northumberland: That he has granted to the church of Durham and to Bp. Ranulf all lands, customs, laws, and liberties (quietudines) which they had at the death of Bp. William. If disseised they are to be reseiased, and to hold as well as Bp. William did.

546. [1101, Sept. 3?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Gerard, Osbern the sheriff, and all the barons of Yorkshire: That he has granted and given to Ranulf Bp. of Durham, [in] his manor of Howden (Hovendona), all the lands and customs which Robert Fossard claimed against Ranulf, and in particular two carucates in Pocklington (Poplintuna). The bp., at the King's instance, has granted the same lands to Robert, to hold as his man, paying socage and all customs, as other sokemen did in the time of King Edward and William Bp. of Durham.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 86; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 53; Leland, Coll. ii. 389 (summarized).]

Richard de Redvers died in 1107. The witnesses suggest the same date as the preceding charter. Richard de Bonneville may be an ancestor of the Robert who held Hutton Bonvill (Yorks. N.R.) of the bishop in 1166.

547. 1101, Sept. 3. Windsor

Charter (in diploma form) of Herbert Bp. of Norwich reciting: That by order and grant of William II and Henry I he has founded the Cathedral church of Holy Trinity, Norwich, and made divers gifts to it for the food and raiment of the monks.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Gerard Abp. of York; Gundulf Bp. of Rochester; Maurice Bp. of London; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Sampson Bp. of Worcester; John Bp. of Bath; Osbern Bp. of Exeter; Robert Bp. of Chester; Ralph Bp. of Chichester; John Bp. of Tusculum, legate; Henry Earl of Warwick; Simon Earl of Northampton; William Earl Warenne; Roger Bigot; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; Robert Malet; Nigel [d'Oilli] the constable; Alan fitz Flaald; William Malet; William Pincerna; Gilbert Abbot of Westminster; Serlo Abbot of Gloucester; Henry Abbot of Battle; Stephen Abbot of York; Aldwin Abbot of Ramsey; Richard Abbot of St. Albans; Richard Abbot

'Facta est haec donatio anno ab incarnatione Domini millesimo centesimo primo mense Septembris ordinatione beati papae Gregorii apud Wyndesores.'

The charter exists in two forms. The shorter beginning 'Infirmittatis' is alleged to have been given informally, before the 'parliament' at Windsor. The text of both is the same except for the invocation, but the shorter is stated to have had the following Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Waldric (sic) the chancellor; Roger Bigod; Eudo Dapifer; Robert Malet; Nigel the constable; W[illiam] the butler. If genuine Waldric must be an error for William and the date be before 21 Apr. 1101.

548. 1101, Sept. 3. Windsor

Charter (in diploma form) by Henry I: That he has granted the manor of Thorpe to the church of Norwich and Bp. Herbert with sac and soc, &c.

549. [1101, Sept. 3. Windsor?]

Charter of Anselm Abp. of Canterbury, 'vicar of Pope Paschal': Confirming the sanction given by William II and Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] to make Holy Trinity, Norwich, head and mother of all the churches of Norfolk and Suffolk, and to substitute monks for the canons there, as at Winchester, and Canterbury 'the first of all English churches'.

Signa: Anselm Abp. [of Canterbury]; Gundulf Bp. of Rochester; Maurice Bp. of London; Ralph Bp. of Chichester; William Bp. of Winchester; — Bp. of Salisbury; Sampson Bp. of Worcester; John Bp. of Bath; Osbern Bp. of Exeter; Robert Bp. of Chester; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Gilbert Abbot of Westminster; Serlo Abbot of Gloucester; Richard Abbot of Ely; Stephen Abbot of York; Henry Abbot of Battle; Richer Abbot of [St. Benet's] Holme; Gunter Abbot of Thorney; Aldwin Abbot of Ramsey.

[Copies in Cotton Roll, ii. 21 (exemplification by John Peckham Abp. of Canterbury in 1281); Norwich Cath. Reg. i, fo. 19v^o. Monast. iv. 20.] Farrer, Itin. 27.

The Bp. of Salisbury does not occur in any other list of witnesses for this date. The see had been vacant since the death of St. Osmund in 1099. The King nominated Roger the Chancellor at or before the Council of London in August or September (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 141). The omission of the name suggests that the formal investiture had not yet taken place. It will be observed that Roger does not attest as chancellor in this instance.

550. [1101, Sept. 3?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, Sheriff of Berks., and all of Berkshire:

That he has given to St. Mary of Abingdon and Abbot Faritius the chapel of St. Andrew of the island [of Andresey], with the houses, and their lead, stone, and wood for building St. Mary's church, and has restored (reddidisse) the island itself in demesne for ever.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 134v^o and C. IX, fo. 143v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.) ii. 52.] Farrer, Itin. 41.

The place and witnesses are consistent with a date of 3 Sept. 1101. The Abingdon chronicler (ii. 50) attributes the acquisition of the lead from Andresey to the solicitation of Abbot Faritius and Grimbold the leech who were in attendance on the Queen before her first confinement. Sir J. Ramsay puts the birth of the Empress Maud in Jan. or Feb. 1102, which is again consistent with the date suggested. (Cf. Nos. 565–7.)

551. [1101, c. Oct.]

Letter by Henry I to Pope Paschal: That he had hoped the Pope would send the pallium to Gerard Abp. of York without insisting on a personal visit from the abp. But as the abp. himself is anxious to see the Pope, the King has dispatched him to Paschal, and now prays that he may have a favourable reception. The King asks the prayers of the Pope.

552. 1101, Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Maurice Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocland [Sheriff of Essex] and his barons of Essex: That he has granted Eudo Dapifer the city and tower and castle and all the fortifications of Colchester as they were held by the King himself, William II, and William I.

[B.M. Harl. MS. 312, fo. 92 (copy). Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 27; Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, p. 328.] Farrer, Itin. 32.

'In primo Natali post concordiam Roberti comitis fratris mei de me et de illo.'

553. [1101.] London

Precept by Henry I to Josceline de Riparia: To do to Faritius Abbot of Abingdon the service due from his fief [of Beedon, co. Berks.] as his brothers did it to Abbot A[delhelm]. 'Quod nisi feceritis ipse abbas inde te constringat per feodum tuum.'

Witnesses: Robert fitz Hamon; per W. de la Rochelle.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 143v^o; C. IX, fo. 150v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 92; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 92.] Farrer, Itin. 35.

The recovery of this service in the abbot's court is placed by the chronicler (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 129) in 1101.

554. 1101

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. [of Worcester] and Walter Sheriff of Gloucestershire and all the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: That he has given to God and S. Peter of Gloucester and Serlo the abbot the manor of Maisemore, for the souls of the King's parents, of William his brother, of himself and Queen Matilda.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln.

[P.R.O. (Chancery) Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 119 (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 22.]

The date is given by the Gloucester Chronicle [Cotton MS. Dom. A. VIII] (Monast. i. 549).

555. [1100–1.] London

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Thetford and Roger Bigod and all the barons, French and English, of Norfolk: Of a confirmation to St. Peter of Gloucester and the monks, of the church of St. Peter in the market at Norwich [i.e. St. Peter Mancroft], which William I gave them.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 123v^o (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 34.]

The description of Herbert as Bp. of Thetford suggests the date 1100–1.

556. [1100-1?]

Notification by Henry I to M[aurice] Bp. of London and Roger de Valognes and his justiciars, barons, citizens, and lieges of London: That he has restored and confirmed in perpetuity, to the church and canons of St. Martin le Grand, their whole tenure and soc of Cripplegate, which the King's brother [William II] took from the church on account of the discord between them and Count Eustace. They are to hold this property with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief, as freely as in the time of William I and William II.

[West. Abb. Mun. Bk. 5, fo. 19 (copy); B.M. Lansd. MS. 170, fo. 62 (transcript).]

The form of the address appears to imply that Roger de Valognes was sheriff. But Hugh de Bocland was already sheriff before 27 July, 1101 (No. 532), and seems to have retained the office till 1107 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 163). It seems reasonable to suppose that Roger de Valognes preceded him, though it is possible that Hugh's tenure may have been interrupted, widening the limits of date to 1100-7.

Confirmation (spurious) by Henry I to the church of St. Nicholas, Spalding: Of all that the monks have now, or hereafter shall have, in the King's realm, whether in England or in Normandy.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; William Bp. of Durham; Robert fitz Hamon; William the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer; Roger Bigod and many others of the King's court.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296, fo. 8v° (copy); Cole's transcript of Spalding Chart. Add. MS. 5844, p. 146. Monast. iii. 217 (VI) (incorrectly) 'Ex vet. Apographo penes . . . Oldfield armig.' 1648.] Farrer, Itin. 19.

The three writs attributed respectively to William I, William II, and Henry I run on continuously and have only one set of witnesses between them. The genuine charter (if there is one) is probably of William II; see Vol. I, No. 386.

558. [1100-1?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Walter son of Ansgar and all ministers of sea-ports: That William Giffard, Bp. of Winchester, and his monks and men buy wine, salt and fish, &c. for their own use quit of toll as Bp. Walkelin did under William I.

Witness: Gilbert de l'Aigle. [1100-18.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 14v° (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 394.]

The nature of the grant suggests the earliest date possible for a charter dated at Brampton. Walter son of Ansgar may have been Warden of the Cinque Ports. After 1106 he seems to attest mainly in Normandy.

559. [1101?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to G[erard] Abp. [of York] and Robert de Lacy and all his barons of Yorkshire: That he has given to the abbey of St. Mary of York, in perpetual alms and quit of all earthly service, Ousefleet and [Great] Armin, and whatever he held in Haldenby, and whatever lies between Ousefleet and Armin free from any interference.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Nigel de Albini; William Peverel of Nottingham. [1101 or 1104-8.]

560. [1102, Jan.?] Gillingham

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln: That he has restored to Ranulf Bp. of Durham the property which he held of him and his barons. The bp. is to reaise him of all property held of him, and if anything has been taken therefrom, it is to be restored to him after Candlemas, to hold as under William II.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37v°; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 86v°; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59v°. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 46.]

On the date of this and the following charters see Dr. Craster's remarks in Arch. Ael., loc. cit. Candlemas 1102 is perhaps a more likely terminus ad quem than Candlemas 1103. If, as seems possible, Gillingham is in Dorset, these charters may closely precede No. 564, which would then be identifiable as Westbury (Somerset), both places being on the road from Shaftesbury to Wells.

561. [1102, Jan.?] Gillingham

Notification by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: That the King has restored to Ranulf Bp. of Durham the property which he held of him and his barons. Robert is to reaise him of all the property of St. Cuthbert, and all lands and churches which he had in the sheriffdom of York. Also the timber (materiem) of his house in York, and the land on which he was to build it.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Robert Count of Meulan.

562. [1102, Jan. ?] Gillingham

Notification by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury, Hamo Sheriff [of Kent], and all faithful of Kent: That he has restored to Ranulf Bp. of Durham St. Martin of Dover, and all that he had in Kent in the time of William II.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 38; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, f^o. 87; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 47.]

This is the sole evidence of Flambard's right in St. Martin's.

563. [1102, Jan. ?] Gillingham (Ryllyngham)

Precept by Henry I to the barons and vavasours owing ward to Rockingham Castle: To dwell in Rockingham Castle at the summons of Michael de Hameslap, who has the keeping of it. Michael or the sheriffs of the counties where they hold land are to enforce obedience.

Witness: — of Gloucester. [1100–29.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 53b (copy). Stenton, English Feudalism, 283.] Farrer, Itin. 544.

Michael de Hamslope was dead in 1131 (No. 1719) and his latest attestation is in 1119 (No. 1204). If the witness is Miles of Gloucester the charter is probably after 1121. But Michael was at Rockingham 1104–6 (Nos. 743–4), and the witness may be Walter of Gloucester. No. 784 is attested by Roger of Gloucester, but this was a charter personally concerning himself. The place-date suggests that the present charter was issued in 1101 or 1102 and that Rockingham had been committed to Michael in consequence of the invasion of Robert of Normandy.

564. 1102, Feb. 8. Westbury

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to Eudo Dapifer all the lands of which he was seised on the day when William II was alive and dead.

Witnesses: Robert, Count of Meulan; Earl Henry, his brother.

Dated: 'In prima die Sabbati post Purificationem Sancte Marie post concordiam inter me et Robertum fratrem meum.'

[Copy in Colchester Cartulary (Wrest Park). Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 26.] Farrer, Itin. 36.

565. [1101, Sept.–1102, Feb.] Sutton [Courtenay]

Precept by Queen Matilda to Hugh de Bocland [Sheriff of Berks.]: To let Faritius Abbot of Abingdon have lead from the houses in Andresey for the use of his church at Abingdon.

Witnesses: Ralph of Tew (Tiuu); Bernard the clerk.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 134a. 2; C. IX, fo. 143b. 1. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 51.] Farrer, Itin. 40.

This grant was made by the Queen during her first confinement, after Roger of Salisbury had become chancellor. (Cf. No. 550.)

566. [1101–2?] Sutton [Courtenay, Berks.]

Precept by Henry I to Urso Sheriff of Worcestershire: That he shall allow the salt of the monks of Abingdon to be free from all toll and custom, and that he command his servants of Droitwich (Wice) that they do no wrong to the goods of the said monks.

Witness: Hugh de Bocland. [1100–8.]

567. [1101, Sept.–1102, Feb.]

Notification by Queen Matilda to Hugh de Bocland [Sheriff of Berks.] and all her lieges of Berks.: That she has given to Faritius Abbot of Abingdon the houses and all the buildings on the island of St. Mary [Andresey] for the repairing of the monastery of Abingdon, and has restored the island itself. King Henry has confirmed this grant at her request.

Witnesses: Roger the chancellor; Grimbald the physician.

568. [1100, Nov.–1102, Feb.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to the church of SS. Julian and Botolph, Colchester, and the canons, for the souls of his parents and predecessors and the salvation of himself and his wife, Matilda, all the possessions which they have now or may acquire in the future with soc and sac, toll and theam and infangthief, and all the liberties which pertain to the royal dignity, and with all the immunities (quietationibus) which any church possesses in England. The servants (servientes) of the church are to be free from all gelds, aids, and every secular exaction. £10 penalty for the infraction of these liberties.

Witnesses: Maurice Bp. of London; R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; Eudo Dapifer. Per Queen Matilda. [1100–7.]

[Pat. R. 5 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 15–14 (Inspeximus). Cal. Pat. R. 5 Hen. VI, 415.] Farrer, Itin. 33.

The omission of the mention of offspring makes it probable that this is before Feb. 1102. On the date see Dickinson, Austin Canons, 98–103. The canons were probably still secular at the time this charter was granted.

569. [1100, Nov.–1102, Feb.] Westminster

Notification [interpolated] by Henry I generally addressed: Confirming to the canons of SS. Julian and Botolph, Colchester, for the souls of his parents and predecessors and for the welfare of himself and Queen Matilda, his wife, all the lands which the canons hold in Colchester, with the third part of a mill under the castle called ‘Midelmelne’. Also the serjeanty and lands given them by Hugh fitz Stephen, held by the service of finding a horse worth 5s., a sack, and a skewer (aculeum), for forty days at the King’s cost, whenever the King makes an expedition to Wales.¹ The penalty for disturbing the canons is £10.

Witnesses: Maurice Bp. of London; R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; Eudo Dapifer. [1100–7.] Per Queen Matilda; Warin fitz Gerald; Simon fitz Peter.²

² The two latter names are those of witnesses who attest charters of Henry II, and cannot be in place here. They suggest that a charter of Henry II has been omitted in the Inspeximus.

570. [1102] Whitsuntide (May 25). Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Hamo the sewer and all French and English of Kent: That he has granted to the canons of St. Martin of Dover all the lands which they hold in demesne and as of the alms and benefice of the said church, free of geld and burghbote (opere castellorum).

Witnesses: Abp. Anselm; W[illiam] Peverel of Nottingham.

[Copies in Bodl. Laud MS. Misc. 748, fo. 38; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 87; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 50.]

Craster (Arch. Ael. loc. cit.) fixes the date as 1102 or 1108, ‘of which the former is the more probable’.

571. [1102] Whitsuntide (May 25). Westminster

Notification by Queen Matilda to O[sbert] Sheriff of Lincoln and all the King’s barons: That she has given to the church of St. Mary’s, York, £6 in land in Belton (Baltona) in frankalmoign.

Witness: R[einhold], the Queen’s chancellor.

572. [1102?] June 24. Cirencester

Notification by Henry I to Ranulf Bp. of Durham and Roger Picot and all his lieges of Northumberland: That he has granted to Richard d’Orval (de Aurea Valle), his chaplain, four churches in the four royal manors of Warkworth, Corbridge, Whittingham, and Rothbury, with the lands, tithes, and men thereto pertaining, and with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief. Roger Picot is to give him seisin, or Alvrice of Corbridge or Hamo Balistarius the reeve or Ernewyn the reeve.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; William of Warelwast; Everard son of Earl [Roger]; Thomas the chaplain. [1102–6].

[Copies (Inspeximus) in Chart. R. 18 Ed. I, m. 15, No. 54; 8 Ed. II, m. 10, No. 25; 6 Ed. III, m. 19, No. 30; Percy Cart., fo. 113. Raine, Hexham Priory, i, p. ix; Hist. of Northumberland, v. 170; Percy Chart. (Surtees Soc.), 283; Placita de Quo Warranto, 593; Monast. vi. 144; Nicholson and Burn, Hist. of Westmoreland and Cumberland, ii. 541; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 457.] Farrer, Itin. 182.

Dated 'in Nat. Sancti Johannis Baptistae'. 1102 seems the most likely year as being that of the expedition to Bridgenorth. Warelwast was abroad in 1103 and Henry in 1105 at midsummer. Roger Picot had ceased to be Sheriff of Northumberland before 1107.

573. [1102], June 29. Geddington

Notification by Henry I to A[nselm] Abp. of Canterbury, G[erard] Abp. of York, M[aurice] Bp. of London, R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln, S[amson] Bp. of Worcester, R[obert] Bp. of Chester, O[sbern] Bp. of Exeter, W[illiam] Bp. of Winchester, R[alph] Bp. of Chichester, G[undulf] Bp. of Rochester, H[erbert] Bp. of Thetford, H[erlwin] Abbot of Glastonbury, W[illiam] Count of Mortain, R[obert] fitz H[amon], A[iulf] the chamberlain, &c.: Granting the city of Bath to St. Peter of Bath and Bp. John, with the right of holding a fair on St. Peter's day.

Witnesses: M[aurice] Bp. of London; R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; S[amson] Bp. of Worcester; H[enry] Earl of Warwick; R[obert] fitz H[amon]; Urse d' Abitôt; A[iulf] the chamberlain; W[illiam] de Albin; W[alter] Huse (Hosat). [1102–3.]

[Copies in Wells Cath. 'Liber Albus', i, fo. 16; B.M. Egerton MS. 3316, fo. 17b. Chart. R. 18 Ed. II, No. 15; 6 Ed. III, No. 18; Cambridge C.C.C. MS. cxi, fo. 107. Hearne's Adam de Domerham, i, p. 285; Monast. ii. 268 (corrupt); Hunt, Cartulary of Bath Priory (calendared), p. 47.] Farrer, Itin. 75.

'In die SS. Petri et Pauli.'

Probably between Henry's operations at Arundel and those at Bridgenorth.

574. [1102 c. June?] Wabridge [Hunts.] (in expeditione)

Precept by Henry I to Roger Sheriff of Huntingdon: To reseise Aldwin Abbot of Ramsey of his land of Hurst which William the falconer (accipitrarius) withholds from him; and if afterwards William claims anything therein let the abbot do him right (sit ipse abbas inde ad rectum). Ten pounds forfeiture for any failure to do justice in this (pro penuria recti).

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 217.]

Roger seems to have ceased to be sheriff by 1110. The phrase in expeditione suggests that this charter was issued during Henry's journey north towards Tickhill in 1102.

575. [1102, c. June?] Ramsey

Precept (Sciatis quod volo et precipio atque concedo) by Henry I to Gerard Abp. [of York], Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Osbern the sheriff, Guy (Wido) de Balliol, and the barons of Lincolnshire, Yorkshire, and Northumberland: That Ranulf Bp. of Durham is to have all his lands, men, and goods within borough and without in the three counties named which his predecessor, William, had and all the property and customs belonging to his bishopric as in the time of William II. If he has been disseised of any of this, it is to be restored as soon as he has come to terms with the King. Anything of his own, beyond this, is to be restored to him at once (cito).

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 38; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 86v^o; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 48.]

Probably of nearly the same date as the preceding.

576. [1102, July?] Wolverhampton

Precept by Henry I to Hugh son of Turstin: To pay his geld with Abbot Faritius of Abingdon as he was wont, so that the abbot be not distrained on for his land, on pain of £10 forfeiture. If he fail to do so quickly, Aubrey of Berkshire is to compel him by seizing his cattle (per pecuniam tuam) under the same penalty.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 143v^o; C. IX, fo. 150v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 91; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 110.] Farrer, Itin. 329.

The mention of Aubrey [de Vere], who appears in some early charters as joint-sheriff with Hugh de Bocland, suggests an early date, especially as the dispute with Hugh son of Turstin as to Sparsholt was settled in 1105 (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 126). Wolverhampton is on the way to Bridgenorth, which Henry besieged in 1102 (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iv. 170).

577. [1102, June or July?] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to his justiciars, foresters, &c., of Essex: That he has granted that the abbot and monks of Colchester and their tenants be free from all pleas of the forest, and from vexations and hindrances of his foresters if they take anything in their own wood. The abbot may keep leporarii to hunt hares 'ad opus infirmorum monachorum'. 'Et volo et firmiter precipio quod abbas et homines sui sint liberi et quieti de expeditatione canum in omnibus terris suis quas habent de honore Eudonis dapiferi mei.'

[Copies in Colchester Cartulary (Wrest Park); P.R.O. Forest Proc. (Exch. T.R.) [E. 32], 16, m. 7. Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 20.] Farrer, Itin. 143.

William Giffard was elected 3 Aug. 1100; consecrated 11 Aug. 1107. He left England in 1103 to avoid being consecrated by Gerard of York; but returned by 1105 (Ramsay, F.E. ii. 259). Possibly about the same time as the grant of Colchester to Eudo Dapifer (No. 552) from the similarity of witnesses. Henry was probably at Geddington on 29 June, 1102.

578. [1102?] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln and all his barons and lieges of Huntingdon: That he has granted to Earl Simon 60 acres in his forest of Agden (Akeden) on the side of Kimbolton (Chenebotona) to essart, and to house his man, Geoffrey.

Witnesses: Richard Engaine; Gerald de Caux (Calz). [1100-13.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 29 (12) (copy).]

'Et pacem meam habeat. T. eodem.'

Probably of the same date as No. 580. See also No. 583. Kimbolton was forfeited by William de Warenne in 1101.

579. [1102, c. June?] Brampton

Precept (mando et precipio) by Henry I to R[oger] of Huntingdon and all his sheriffs and officials (ministris) that Abbot Aldwin of Ramsey and his men plead where their predecessors were used to plead in the times of King Edward and of the King's father; since the King (like his father in an earlier writ) will not have them unjustly treated.

[Original penes E. Fellowes, Esq., at Ramsey Abbey (A.D. 1886); B.M. Add. Ch. 33641 (pretended original); Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Chron. Abb. Rames. (R.S.), p. 218.] Farrer, Itin. 47.

This charter can hardly be later than Michaelmas 1102, the date of Aldwin's deposition, since Roger Bigod died in 1107, the year of Aldwin's restoration. The charters issued at Brampton and Brigstock are likely to be of about the same date as that issued at Geddington (No. 573). The B.M. charter describes Henry as dei gratia rex, and inverts the precept to a prohibition of its contrary. It cannot therefore be Mr. Fellowes's original which was collated with the Rawlinson MS. by W. D. Macray.

580. [1102?] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Aldwin Abbot of Ramsey and the whole convent and Hugh de Bocland and the King's lieges of Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire: That he has confirmed a concord between Abbot Aldwin and Reinald of Argentein respecting the mills of Ickleford [co. Herts.] and the land which is of the abbot's and Reinald's fee. Reinald to hold for life, and the abbot afterwards to have the land 'Cum omni augmentatione et emendatione quam Reinaldus faciet super terram illam'; and let Gundric hold the mills of the abbot as he held them of Reinald. And if Reinald dies in England, he is to be buried in the abbey. Reinald is to pay the abbot 10s. a year for this agreement.

[Copies in Bodl. Rawl. MS. 333; P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bo. [E. 163] i. 28 (Ramsey Cart.), fo. 137v^o; Chart. R. 8 Ed. III, No. 29. Ramsey Chron., 216; Ramsey Cart. ii. 60. Monast. ii. 570 (xxxvi).] Farrer, Itin. 220.

Aldwin was deposed in 1102, but returned to his abbey in 1107-8 and held it till 1111 or 1112.

581. [1102, c. June?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to R[oger] the Sheriff [of Huntingdon]: To reseiise Abbot Aldwin of the land which William fitz Osmund holds unjustly and afterwards, if William claims any right in the land, let the abbot do him right in his own court.

582. [1102, c. June] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to R[oger] the Sheriff [of Huntingdon]: To reseiſe Abbot Aldwin of the land which the son of Oidelard [rubric 'Odelard'] holds unjustly, and if the latter makes any claim of the land let the abbot do right in his own court.

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; Urse d'Abitôt. [1100-7.]

583. [1102, c. June?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Roger the Sheriff [of Huntingdon] and Richard Engaine: To cause Aldwin Abbot of Ramsey to have his woods and all his necessities, except stags and hinds and swine, as his predecessor had them in the time of William I.

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; Urse d'Abitôt. [1100-7.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 8 Ed. III, No. 29; Ramsey Cart. (P.R.O.), fo. 141v°. Ramsey Cart. ii. 82; Ramsey Chron. 218.] Farrer, Itin. 46.

The Engaines held Pytchley and Laxton by the service of wolf-hunting (Feudal Aids, iv. 1, 18) and Richard seems to have been keeper of the forests in Northants.

584. [1102, June?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland and Haldene: That St. Albans have its customs, socs, and sacs, as in the times of William I and II and of the King, as the charters of St. Alban and the writs of William I and II purport.

Witness: Eudo Dapifer. Per Robert Doisnel. [1100-16.]

[Cotton MS. Nero D. I, fo. 154 (copy). Matt. Paris, Chron. Maj. (R.S.), vi. 40.] Farrer, Itin. 271.

The mention of Haldene and Robert Doisnel suggests an early date. The former is presumably the Domesday tenant of Tewin.

585. [1100-Mich. 1102?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials of England: To let the building-materials of the church of Thorney and food and clothing for the monks go free of toll and custom under a penalty of £10.

Witness: Roger Bigod. [1100-7.]

[Copies in C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii); Bodl. Dugdale MS. 146v° (from a Thorney Reg.); Harl. MS. 258, fo. 138 (transcript).]

Probably of the same date as No. 587.

586. [1100-Mich. 1102?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to the Abbot of Ely and Roger of Huntingdon: That the Abbot of Thorney hold his land of Whittlesea [co. Cambs.] as under William I and William II. He is not to make the Abbot [of Ely]'s causeway (tuum . . . pontem) or do any service which he did not do to the abbot's predecessor.

Witness: Her[bert] de Ros.

A Herbert de Ros is mentioned as lately holding lands which formed part of the endowment of Norwich Cathedral in 1101 (No. 547).

587. [1102, c. June?] Brigstock [co. Northants]

Order by Henry to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Os[bert] the sheriff: To reseiſe the Abbot of Ramsey in half a carucate of land in Threckingham (Trikingham) [co. Lincs.].

[Copies in Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333; P.R.O. Ramsey Cart., fo. 1v°. Ramsey Cart. i. 237; Ramsey Chron. (R.S.), 217.] Farrer, Itin. 146.

This charter seems to belong to the same set as the preceding although the abbot is not named.

588. [1102, c. July-Aug.?] Blyth

Precept by Henry I to R[oger] Bigod and Osbert the sheriff, and Richard fitz Gotse and all sheriffs in whose shires the monks of St. Mary of Blyth have lands: To cause the monks to have all their tithes and customs as in the days of the King's father and brother, and of Roger de Bully. Whoever retains their rights, the sheriff of that land is to give them satisfaction out of the chattels of the wrongdoer. This refers particularly to the tithes of Appleby (Appelbeia) [co. Linc.] and Assington (Assintona) [co. Suff.].

Witness: Simon de Moulins (Mellent). [1101–7.]

[Copies in Harl. MS. 3759, fo. 96 (Blyth Cart.; no witness); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 152, fo. 131 (transcript from a roll of Blyth Priory). Raine, Hist. of Blyth, 184 (2).] Farrer, Itin. 44.

The place suggests 1102 when Tickhill Castle was surrendered to Henry (Ord. Vit. iv. 171). The tithes of Appleby were given by Roger de Bully, the founder. The mention of the sheriffs of Lincoln and Suffolk as well as of Notts. appears to correspond with the mention of Appleby [Lincs.] and to identify 'Assintona' with Assington [co. Suff.].

589. [1102, July–Sept.] Hereford

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs: To reseiſe Ranulf Bp. of Durham of his lands, customs, and property of which he has been diſſeiſed ſince the death of William II. To cauſe all the men who have unjuſtly left his land ſince the death of William Bp. of Durham to return. This order is ſpecially (nominatim) to Roger Picot [Sheriff of Northumberland], and ſpecially concerning Herbrand and his other men.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 84v°; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 58v°. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 49.]

The precept concerning Herbrand is a poſtſcript ſeparately atteſted.

590. [1102, July–Sept.] Hereford

Precept by Henry I to Osbern the ſheriff, and his miniſters of Yorkſhire: To reſeiſe Ranulf Bp. of Durham of all lands of his biſhopric, eſpecially Cleveland (Clivelanda) which Copsi gave to St. Cuthbert, and of all his men who went forth from his land after the death of Bp. William without judgement and without law. And if anything beyond has been taken, it is to be reſtored.

Witness: Urſe d'Abitôt.

591. [1102, July–Sept.] Hereford

Precept by Henry I to Roger Bigod and Ralph Paſſelewe and all of Norfolk and Suffolk: That the Holy Trinity and Herbert Bp. of Thetford hold their manor of Thorpe free from this (hoc) and all other gelds, as the King held it in his own hands.

Witness: Robert Malet.

[D. & C. Norwich, Reg. ii, fo. 25 (bis) (copy).]

592. [1102, Autumn.] Newnham-on-Severn (Niweham)

Precept by Henry I to all his barons and ſheriffs, &c.: That all the chattels of the Abbot and monks of Glouceſter be free of toll and customs.

Witnesses: Roger the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer.

[P.R.O. (Chanc.) Glouceſter Cartulary, fo. 160 (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 134; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 74.] Farrer, Itin. 31.

Henry finiſhed his campaign againſt Robert de Bellême before Michaelmas 1102. He did not go to the campaign through Glouceſterſhire but through Northamptonſhire. Probably, he returned by way of Glouceſterſhire.

593. [1102, Autumn?] Newnham-on-Severn (Niweham)

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Walter Huſe (Hosato) and all the lieges, French and Engliſh, of Wiltſhire: That the King has granted to the monks of St. Martin, Marmoutier, by Tours, the church of Corſham (Coseham) [Wilts.] with all the appurtenances in lands, tithes, &c.; to hold quit of all ſervices, gelds, ſcots, and all other pleas except murder and larceny, and no one is to take lodging there without licence of the monks.

Witness: Haſculf ſon of Eudo. [1100–10.]

[Pat. R. 10, Ed. III, pt. ii, m. 30 (Inſpeximus); Cal. Pat. R. 10 Ed. III, 313 (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 315A. Corſham was obtained from St. Stephen's of Caen by Henry I (Round, C.D.F. 157 (No. 453)) as part-exchange for Burton Bradſtock (ſee No. 601). Walter Huſe was Sheriff of Wilts. 1100–10, when he was succeeded by William de Pont de l'Arche (No. 948). Hasculf may possibly be the same as Hasculf de Saint-Jammes or de Saint-Hilaire, on whom see Stapleton, Magn. Rott. Scacc. Norm. i, p. lxvi.

594. [1102, Autumn?] Newnham [on Severn]

Notification by Henry I to all his foresters, hunters, and bowmen (arcarii) beyond Severn and in Dene: That he has given to God and St. Peter of Gloucester all the tithes of his hunting in that region.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fos. 176v^o, 228v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 177 and 301.] Farrer, Iitin. 13.

The catalogue of donations says 'tempore Petri Abbatis', who was appointed 5 Aug. 1104. The mention of Robert fitz Hamon proves it is not later than Spring 1105. Henry was in Normandy during the autumn of 1104. It is probable that the catalogue is wrong and that this charter belongs to 1102 as Farrer assumes.

595. [1102, c. Sept. 29.] Sutton (Suthona)

Notification (volo ut sciatis) by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland and all his ministers in whose districts St. Alban holds lands: That he has granted to the church of St. Albans, at the request of Abbot Richard, soc and sac, toll and team, and all customs everywhere as Stigand held them at the death of King Edward.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Ranulph Bp. [of Durham]; Roger the chancellor; William Peverel of Dover; Nigel de Albini.

The mention of Roger in two apparently contemporary charters as chancellor and bishop fixes the date. Ranulf had returned to England pardoned by the treaty with Robert in 1101.

596. [1102, c. Sept. 29.] Sutton (Suthona)

Notification by Henry I to bps., earls, barons, sheriffs, &c., in all shires in which St. Alban the Martyr holds lands: That he has confirmed to the church of St. Albans and the abbot and monks all their lands with certain rights of jurisdiction as full as the King's ministers could demand in his name 'pro redempcione anime mee et parentum meorum'.

Witnesses: W[illiam] Bp. of Winchester; Ranulf Bp. [of Durham]; Roger Bp. [of Salisbury]; William Peverel of Dover; Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Chart. R. 29 Ed. I, m. 3, No. 20; 6 Ed. II, No. 39; 2–4 Ed. IV, No. 9; Confirm. R. 2 Ric. III, pt. 1, No. 1; Cotton MS. Nero D. I, fo. 154v^o. Cal. Chart. R. iii. 19; Matt. Paris, Chron. Maj. (ed. Luard), vi. 38.] Farrer, Iitin. 282.

This must be of the same date as No. 595.

597. [1102, Sept. ?] Sutton

Precept by Henry I to Richard de Redvers (Ruderiis) and his ministers: To let the monks of St. Swithun, Winchester, hold the hide of land in the Isle of Wight where stone used to be quarried as under William I and William II and take stone without disturbance.

Witness: Eudo Dapifer. [1100–7.]

598. [1102, before Michaelmas.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to William¹ the chaplain and R[obert] de Lacy and Richard son of Gotze: That he wills and commands that the monks of Blyth have and hold the tithe of Laughton [en-le-Morthen] [Yorks. W.R.] as on the day when the King took for his own use the castle of Blyth. And let them hold this tithe as Roger de Bully granted it.

[Harl. MS. 3759, fo. 120 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. No. 9, fo. 181v^o (transcript). Raine, Hist. of Blyth, 36.] Farrer, Iitin. 138.

It is tempting to account for the address to William the chaplain by the absence in Rome of Abp. Gerard in the summer of 1102. (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 132–7.)

599. [1101–Mich. 1102]

Charter of Henry I to the priory of St. Wulmar in Boulogne: Confirming to the canons the manor of Nutfield, in Surrey, at the prayer of Ida Countess of Boulogne, who held that manor from William I, and for the welfare of his realm, Matilda his wife, and their children.

Signa: [Elias?] de Saint-Saens (Sancto Sidonio); King Henry; Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; William the chamberlain (cubicularius); Mary the Queen's sister; William Devereux (de Evereus); Roger the chancellor; Guy (Wido) de Balliol; Everard the scribe.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 1 (30) (copy). Monast. vii. 1114; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 30.] Farrer Itin. 29.

Suspicious in form; but the witnesses may be genuine.

Mary was married to Eustace Count of Boulogne, in 1102 (Florence of Worcester, ii. 51).

600. [1101–Mich. 1102.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to R[ichard] son of G[otse] the Sheriff [of Derbyshire]: To do right without delay between Nigel (Cart. Nicholaum) the Abbot [of Burton] and Nicholas of Stafford, the sheriff, concerning the land of Coton-in-the-Elms (Cotes). If Nicholas will not appear in court to prove his title, the abbot is to be seised without delay on pain of £10 forfeiture; since the shire testifies, under the writ of the King's brother, that the abbot ought to be seised. The King desires that the abbot shall suffer no further wrong in the matter.

[Burton Cart. (belonging to the Marquis of Angelsey) (copies). Wm. Salt Soc., Old Series, v (1), pp. 9 and 12.] Farrer, Itin. 204 (reading 'R[anulf] the chancellor').

601. [1101–Mich. 1102]

Notitia of a charter by Henry I to St. Stephen of Caen: Granting the manor of Burton Bradstock (dictum Briditono) in Dorset, with other places and the customs pertaining to that manor 'partim pro corona caeterisque ornamentis eidem coronae adjacentibus quae pater eius moriens praedicto sancto dimiserat'.

[Paris, Bibl. Ste Geneviève, MS. 1656, fo. 18 (abstract only). Deville, Notices, iv. 16.]

The witnesses suggest 3 Sept. 1101 as the date, but nothing is known of any visit by King Edgar, nor does he witness any other charters of Henry I known to us. William's bequest of the regalia is confirmed by a charter of Henry II (Round, C.D.F., No. 452. See also Regesta Vol. I, No. 397).

602. [1101–Mich. 1102.] London

Notification of Henry I to all his barons and officials: That he has confirmed to God and St. Peter and the Abbot and monks of Gloucester, in free and perpetual alms, all the gifts of Hugh de Lasci. These gifts (of which a list is given) they are to hold free and quit of shires and danegelds and all gelds and customs.

[Copies in Cart. of St. Guthlac's, Hereford; Balliol (Oxford) MS. 271, fo. lxxviii v^o; P.R.O. Llanthony Cartulary (C. 115. 6683), Tit. XVI ad fin.]

A shorter charter to the same effect, addressed to the King's men and officials, is witnessed by: Queen Matilda; R[oger] the chancellor; B. [i.e. Robert] de Montfort; Nigel d'Oilli; Hamo Dapifer; Urse d'Abitôt; R[oger] Bigod. At London.

[Cart. of St. Guthlac's, ibid.]

The longer version is probably an expansion of the shorter. The Gloucester Chronicle (Cart. Glouc. i. 84) puts Hugh's original gift in 1101 or in 1100 (ibid., p. 326; and iii. 256).

603. [1101–Mich. 1102.]

Precept by Henry I to Richard de Redvers: To let the church of St. Peter, Winchester, and the Bp. and monks have the land in the Isle [of Wight] where the quarry (quadraria) is, as William II's writ orders. Otherwise Alfred of Lincoln shall give them seisin.

Witnesses: Roger the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer.

604. [1101–2], after Sept. 29. Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to [Maurice] the Bp.

of London and the canons of St. Paul's all the lands and tenures which they possess; to hold with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all liberties and customs which they ever enjoyed in the time of William I. If anyone infringes this privilege he shall answer to the King; for his will is that the said church be as free as he desires his soul to be in the day of judgement.

Witnesses: Roger the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer.

[Copies in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 26 (10): St. Paul's Cath. A. 69 (Roll of Charters of Liberties; a defective copy of 12th c.); 'Liber Pilosus', fo. iiiia (18v^o); 'Statuta minora' (MS. W.D. 20), fo. 71v^o; P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae 1 [A]. 4; Chart. R., 9 Ed. R.* iii. 292; Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 29; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 4.] Farrer, Itin. 52.

'Post festivitatem S. Michaelis.'

The King's style is given as H. gracia Dei rex Anglorum; and the concluding sentence is suspicious. The copy in Roll A. 69 omits the second witness, the place of issue, and the date.

605. [1101–2], after Sept. 29. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all barons and sheriffs where St. Paul's has lands: That the canons are to have their customs, as attested by writs of King Edward, William I, and Henry I,¹ and any transgressors shall pay the penalty by judgement of the King's Court.

Witnesses: Roger the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer.

First seal of Henry I in white wax.

[Original in St. Paul's Lib., A. 59, 7; copies ibid., Liber L, fo. 14; A. 69 (Roll of Charters), m. 2v^o; 'Liber Pilosus', ff. 2b, 3a. Transcribed by Camden, Cotton MS. Jul. F. X, fo. 4. Davis in Tout Essays, p. 52; Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 24.] Farrer, Itin. 52.²

'Post festivitatem Sancti Michaelis.'

¹ A second copy A. 69, m. 2v^o, adds the words 'et mea', which appear to have been written in the original and afterwards erased, or faded out.

² Farrer gives references to printed copies of the preceding charter, having clearly confused the two.

606. [1102, Oct. ?] Reading

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and all of Buckinghamshire: That he has given leave to Hugh de Bocland to have a warren in his land of Kensworth (Chennesworda) [co. Herts.].

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; U[rse] d'Abitôt. [1100–7.]

[Copy in St. Paul's, London, 'Liber Pilosus', fo. iiib. Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 41.]

Hugh de Bocland appears to have held Kensworth at fee-farm from St. Paul's (Gibbs, op. cit., No. 124).

607. [1102, early Oct.] Reading

Notification by Henry to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Earl Simon, and sheriffs: That he has granted the abbey of Ramsey to Bernard, a monk of St. Alban's.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; G[erard] Abp. [of York]; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Count of Meulan.

[P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bo. [E. 163] I. 28, fos. 55 and 191; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copies). Ramsey Cart. i. 237, ii. 293; Chron. Abb. Rames. [R.S.], 219.] Farrer, Itin. 56.

Abbot Aldwin was deposed by Anselm at Michaelmas and Abp. Gerard set out for Rome not long after.

608. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov. ?]

Notitia of a charter by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: Granting to him land in Chippingdale, Aighton, and Dutton formerly held by Warin Bussel.

[P.R.O. D. of L. Misc. [D.L. 41] Portf. 1, No. 36, m. 2. Farrer, Lancashire Pipe Rolls and Early Lancashire Charters, 382.]

The date is subsequent to some of the forfeitures which followed Duke Robert's landing in England and before the grant of Aighton by Robert de Lacy on 23 Nov. 1102. See Farrer, op. cit., p. 385.

609. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov. ?]

Notitia of a grant by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: Of the land of the castlery of Pontefract which remained out of the possession of Robert, and which the King deraigned against him.

[P.R.O. D. of L. Misc. [D.L. 41] Portf. 1, No. 36, m. 1; Portf. 3, No. 27, mm. 3–4. Farrer, E.Y.C., 1418.]

This and the other charters of which notices are preserved in the roll quoted were found at Pontefract Castle c. 1327.

610. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov. ?]

Notitia of a charter by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: Granting Woolley [co. Yorks.] (Ulsin-ople) for a carucate of land.

611. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov.]

Notitia of a charter by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: Of Bowland [co. Lancs.] which he held hitherto of Count Roger the Poitevin (comite Pictavensi) but is henceforth to hold of the King. Also of his lands in Yorkshire, of which the King had challenged the title, and for which Robert vouched the warranty of William de Say (quam idem R. de W. de S. avoabat).

'Ex autographo nuper in Castello de Pontefract' (1695).

For date see No. 608.

611a. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov. ?]

Notitia of a charter of Henry I to the same granting that his land should not be afforested or be otherwise in the forest than on the day when the King last crossed the sea. [1100–14.]

[P.R.O. D. of L. Misc. [D.L. 41] Portf. 1, No. 36, m. 2. Farrer, E.Y.C. 1422.]

Probably of the same date as the preceding charter.

612. [1101, 1 Aug.–1102, 23 Nov.]

Notitia of a charter by Henry I to Robert de Lacy: Granting the whole of the land in Yorkshire formerly held by William de Say.

[P.R.O. D. of L. Misc. [D.L. 41] Portf. 1, No. 36, m. 2.; Portf. 3, No. 27, m. 4. Farrer, E.Y.C. 1421.]

William de Say was most probably exiled with Roger the Poitevin in 1102 (Farrer, u.s.).

613. [1102], Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury, Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Hugh de Bocland, William of Oxford, and all the barons and lieges of Berks. and Oxon.: Of a general confirmation to Abbot Faritius of Abingdon of all his demesnes as William I confirmed them to Abbot Reginald.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Roger Bp. of Salisbury, Rainald the [Queen's] chancellor; William [de] Werelwast.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142b; C. IX, fo. 150. Monast. (1846), i. 521 (xviii); Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 86–87.] Farrer, Itin. 57.

'Apud Westminster, in Natale domini.'

A fuller version of the charter with the same date, which immediately follows in the cartulary, is witnessed by Queen Matilda and Roger Bp. of Salisbury only.

614. [1102, Dec. 25 ?] Westminster 'in concilio'.

Notification by Henry, King of the English, to R[ichard] de Belmes and Hugh de Falaise and the barons of Sussex: That the King has restored to Ralph Bp. of Chichester the land outside the wall of Chichester 'sicut melius unquam tenuit die Roberti de Belisma; et dono ei suum passagium de Hoctona [i.e. Houghton Ferry] sicut melius habuit tempore Roberti de Belisma et antecessorum ejus'.

Witness: William de Warelwast. [1102–7.]

[Copies in Oxford, Univ. Coll. MS. 148, fo. 2v^o; Chichester Cath. B, fo. 24; D.C., p. 1168; P.R.O. Curia Regis Roll, 38 Hen. III (K.B. 26/151), m. 41. Monast. viii. 1168 (xxviii. Chich. Cart., No. 104 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 53.

Probably soon after the expulsion of Robert de Bellême. A comparison with No. 810 suggests that Richard was Sheriff of Sussex and Hugh reeve of Chichester. Richard had probably been steward of the honour of Bellême in both Sussex and Shropshire.

615. [1102, Dec. 25 ?] Westminster

Notification by Henry to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Hugh de Bocland, Sheriff of Berks.: Of a grant to Faritius Abbot of Abingdon of waste land in Welford (Waliford or Waliegeford) 'ut eam excolat, sicut Crocus venator et Alfredus de Lincolnia ei monstraverunt'.

Witnesses: Alfred of Lincoln; Drew (Droco) the huntsman; Hugh de Falaise. [1102, 1103, 1105, 1107, or 1109.]

616. [1102, Dec. 25.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Croc the huntsman: To allow the monks of Abingdon to improve their land at Welford and Chieveley, 'illam scilicet quae non noceat forestae meae, et quod non sit de foresta mea'.

Witness: Alfred of Lincoln. [1102–10.]

Farrer, Itin. 249.

Presumably of even date with the preceding writ.

617. [1102?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to all his officials and lieges of Sussex: That he has granted to the church of Chichester and to Bp. Ralph the land which Earl Hugh [of Chester] and his brother Henry gave for a cemetery; namely, the land and houses on the road¹ and outside the wall.

Witness: Robert Count of Meulan. [1100–9.]

[Copies in Oxford, Univ. Coll. MS. 148, fo. 2v^o; Chichester Cath. B, fo. 24; D.C., p. 1168; P.R.O. Curia Regis Roll, 38 Hen. III (K.B. 26/151), m. 41. Monast. viii. 1168 (xxvi); Chich. Chart., No. 103 (abstract).] Christmas was spent at Westminster in 1100–3, 1105, 1107, 1109.

¹ Dr. Salter suggested that 'in via' might be for 'infra', but the roll of Henry III agrees with the Cartulary.

618. [1102, Dec. 25.] Westminster 'in concilio'

Notification by Henry I to Richard de Belmeis and Fulk the sheriff and all the barons of Shropshire: That the monks of St. Rémi of Reims are to hold their land in Shropshire as freely as in the days of William I and William II. They are to have full justice if anyone attempts to usurp their rights.

Witness: Waldric the chaplain.

[Pat. R. 6 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 8 (Inspeximus). Monast. vii. 1043 (No. V) (from the cartulary, incorrectly), and 1099 (from inspex. of Ed. III).] Farrer, Itin. 51.

Date as argued by Eyton, Antiquities of Shropshire, ii. 193–4. The argument, however, is not absolutely conclusive. It rests on the assumption that this writ is subsequent to No. 614 because Richard de Belmeis could not be in Sussex and in Shropshire at the same moment. But if (as seems probable) he was at the head of the Bellême estates in both counties he might be addressed in his several capacities at the same time, and Farrer puts both writs down as at or about Michaelmas. So that Waldric might have become chancellor either after Michaelmas or after Christmas.

619. [1102?] Westminster (in concilio)

Precept by Henry I to Rembert [of Hastings] and Robert [son of Ralf] of Hastings: To enjoin on all the barons of Hastings to make enclosures against the land of the Abbot of Battle, as they did in the time of William I and of Abbot Gausbert.

[Copy in Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 14 (without witnesses).]

620. [1100–2.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, the sheriff, and all the barons of Herts.: That he confirms the exchange which the monks of Bermondsey made with Ivo de Grantmesnil, giving Andredeberia [Enderby, co. Leic. ?] in exchange for Widford (Widiferte), [co. Herts.].

Witnesses: Henry Earl of Warwick; William Bainard; Winebald de Baalon. [1100–8.]

[Cotton MS. Claud. A. VIII, fo. 117v^o (18th-c. transcript); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 78, fo. 28 (from a Bermondsey Reg.).]

William Bainard was disgraced in 1110 (Farrer, Itin. 259). This exchange is confirmed by No. 665, though that charter is itself doubtful. The date 1114 given by the Bermondsey chronicle is impossible. Ivo de Grantmesnil went to the Holy Land after his disgrace in 1102 and seems to have died on the journey (Ord. Vit. iv. 168).

621. [1102]

Charter by Robert Duke of Normandy to St. Stephen of Caen: Granting a market in the manor of Cheux (Ceus) [Calvados], in inheritance for ever, and an annual fair at any time the monks may select.

Ranulf Flambard began to administer the see of Lisieux in Jan. 1102 (Ord. Vit. iv, 116 and M. Prévost's note). William de Warenne returned to England in 1103 (ibid., p. 163). Robert de Montfort deserted Duke Robert at the siege of Vignats in 1102 (ibid., p. 172).

622. [1100-2.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Aiulf the chamberlain: Of a grant to Herlewin Abbot of Glastonbury, that land of Cranmore [Somerset] shall be held for 3 hides as William I granted to Harding of Wilton.

Witnesses: Urse d'Abitôt; Roger, chaplain.

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Wood empt. i; Trin. Coll. Camb. MS. 724, fo. 96. Monast. (1846), i, 62 from Hearne, Adam de Domerham, 597.]

Roger the chaplain may possibly be the 'larderer' who was nominated to the see of Hereford 29 Sept. 1102, but is more likely to have been Roger le Poer who became Chancellor, possibly at Easter, but certainly before Michaelmas 1101.

623. [1100-2.]

Confirmation [by Henry I] to the brethren of St. Martin of Sées: Of a grant which Arnulf of Montgomery made to them on 27 Aug. 1098 in the chapter of St. Martin of Sées (Round, C.D.F., No. 666): the grant consisting of the church of St. Nicholas at Pembroke, [his castle in Wales], and 20 carucates of land there; [all that his men had given or should give to the abbey]; land in England sufficient to provide £10, half for the footgear of the brethren at Sées and half for the brethren at Pembroke. The grant was witnessed by Eustace de Martreville, Hugh son of Warin Sheriff of Shrewsbury, Robert de Umfraville, Roger the dispenser, Richard de Grai, Gerard and Godfrey de Vinaz.

Signa: The King; Anselm Abp. [of Canterbury]; Wilfrid Bp. [of St. David's]; Arnulf son of Earl Roger; Robert fitz Hamon.

[Liber Albus (Episc. Archives, Sées), No. cclxv (copy); P.R.O. Transcripts 8/140 B (iii), p. 186. Round, C.D.F., No. 668 (p. 238) (calendared).]

Anselm left England before 27 Aug. 1098 and never met Rufus again. The confirmation may belong to the reign of Henry I. In that case it must have been granted before the revolt of Arnulf in 1102.

624. [1102?] London

Writ by Queen Matilda to Roger Picot: Reciting the grant to St. Alban, St. Oswin, and Abbot Richard of the land of Archil Morel.

Witness: Bernard the chancellor.

[Cotton MS. Tib. E. VI, fo. 123 (copy); Lansd. MS. 863, fo. 80 (transcr.); Gibson, Tynemouth Priory, ii, App. xix.] Farrer, Itin. 178.

Bernard presumably succeeded Reinhelm, nominated Bp. of Hereford in Oct. 1102, but not consecrated till 1107. It is doubtful if Picot was Sheriff of Northumberland after 1103.

625. [1100-2.]

Precept (Facite) by Henry I to Roger de Martinwast, chaplain, and Henry de Port: To cause the church of Havant to be quit of all customs and complaints as in the time of William II and Bp. Walkelin.

Witness: Waldric the chaplain.

626. [1103. Jan. 13.] Salisbury

Confirmation by Henry I: Of a concord made, in the King's presence at Salisbury, between William Abbot of Fécamp and Philip de Braose, respecting eighteen burgesses in Steyning to whom the abbot had proved his right against Philip's father, William de Braose, in the time of King William I, but Philip had afterwards seized them. Philip now consents to hold them of the abbot in fee. An arrangement is also made respecting the rights of a warren; and a bridge over the river which impedes ships; and the parish of St. Cuthman; and the toll which Philip's men took from the burgesses of Steyning. Concerning the last matter, Philip was given a respite till the Purification (2 Feb.); but he then made default.

[Arch. Dép. Seine-Inf. (original); P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] No. 19 (4); Pat. R. 40 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 41. Monast. vii. 1083.] Farrer, Itin. 59.

A long list of witnesses given Ex parte S Trinitatis including John of Sées, Herbert de Ros, Richard of Bayeux (the King's Champion); and (ex parte Philippi), Robert (his brother); and others. The date given above is that of the concord, as stated at the beginning of the document.

627. [1103, c. Jan. 13?] Salisbury

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Confirming to William Bp. of Winchester and the monks their liberties as under Edward and William I and William II. Anything taken from them is to be restored within three days and three nights on pain of forfeiture of all possessions.

628. [1103, c. Jan. 13? Salisbury?]

Notification (concedo) by Henry I addressed generally: Granting St. Peter and the bp. and monks of Winchester freedom from toll and ferry-dues (passagium) throughout England as under William I and William II.

Witnesses: Urse d'Abitôt; Humphrey [de Bohun]. [1101–8.]

629. [1103, c. Jan. 13?] Salisbury

Notification by Henry I to Walter Sheriff of Gloucestershire and all the barons of Gloucestershire: That the King has granted the monks of Gloucester free warren in their land beyond the Severn in the wood and in the open country. No one is to hunt there on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witness: William de la Rochelle. [1100–28.]

Walter retired from his offices in or before 1128. William de la Rochelle does not attest late charters.

630. [1103?] Ludgershall

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Winchester and the sheriff, barons, and lieges of Hants: That he has allowed Stephen fitz Arard to give Romsey Abbey, along with his daughter, 20 solidates of land; viz. a fourth part of the mill at Totton; and a virgate with a villein thereto pertaining (cum ipso rustico) at Ridge [in Romsey] (Ryse); and two-thirds of the tithe of Whitsbury (Wyteberia).

Witnesses: Waldric the chancellor; Ralph Dapifer; Geoffrey the chamberlain. [1103–31 July 1106.]

631. [1103?] Ludgershall

Notification by Henry I to Gerard Abp. of York, Robert de Lacy, sheriff (Roth. vicecomiti de Laceio), and Roger Picot: That he confirms to the monks of Tynemouth the lands of Archil Morel.

632. [1103, Jan.?] Exeter

Notification by Queen Matilda to her ministers of Lifton [co. Devon]: That she has granted to the church of St. Mary, Tavistock, her customs in 'Oddetriwe' [Guthery?], viz. 22d. and one awm (ambram) of rye.

Witness: Alfred of Lincoln. [1100–7.]

A writ similarly addressed (No. 662) is limited to 1100 or 1103.

634. [1103, c. Mar. 8.] Canterbury

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm and Hamo the sheriff and all his barons of Kent: That for the love of God and the Virgin, he grants to the nuns of Malling a market in Malling 'et ut consuetudinaliter ibi fiat unaquaque die Sabbati ab omnibus qui advenire volunt ex omnibus partibus'. This he granted at the prayer of Queen Matilda.

635. [1103, c. Mar. 8.]

Notification by Henry I to Hamo the sheriff and Gilbert of Tonbridge and the barons of Kent: That the King has confirmed the gift made by Abp. Anselm of the manor of Little Malling to the nuns serving Christ in the diocese of Rochester.

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England: Confirming all grants to the church of St. Andrew at Rochester, particularly those of Bp. Gundulf.

637. 1103. [c. Mar. 8.] Dover

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm, bps., abbots, and sheriffs, &c.: That he has given Bernard Abbot of Ramsey sac and soc over all his land and infangthief and all the customs of his church in borough and out of borough at Christmas and at Easter and at other feasts as William I commanded by his writ to Abbot Ailsi.

Witnesses: Earl Simon [de St. Liz]; Roger Bigod; Urse d'Abitôt.

Bernard was elected 1102; and Henry was at Canterbury (on his way to Dover) about 8 March.

638. [1101–3, Mar. 29.] Easter. Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury, William Bp. of Winchester, Henry de Port the sheriff, and the lieges of Hants; That he grants Hayling Island (Harnigeiam) with its appurtenances to St. Peter of Jumièges, with sac and soc, toll and theam and infangthief, and all other customs.

Witnesses: Robert Count of Meulan; Henry Earl of Warwick; Robert fitz Hamon; Richard de Redvers; Robert fitz Anschetill.

'Apud Wincestram in Pascha.'

Robert fitz Hamon d. 1107 and no Easter court was held at Winchester from 1104 to 1108.

639. [1103, Mar. 29?] Winchester 'in concilio'

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester and William Earl Warenne, and Ralph (Radulfo) fitz Nigel and all the barons and lieges of Surrey: That he has granted to Peter (Petreio) the Prior and the monks of Bermondsey the gift of Balham [co. Surrey] which Nigel de Monville (Munivilla) gave them and which his wife confirmed at Bermondsey in the presence of William Bp. of Winchester and William Malet and Manasser Arsic.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln. [1103–31 July, 1106]

The (very untrustworthy) Annals of Bermondsey date Nigel's gift in 1103 (Ann. Monast. iii. 430). Ralf fitz Nigel presumably preceded Gilbert the Knight as Sheriff of Surrey, and Gilbert was sheriff during Waldric's chancellorship (No. 659).

640. [c. 1103, Mar. 29?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the sheriffs [of Northumberland], Ligulf and Alvrice: Of a grant to St. Alban, St. Oswin, and Abbot Richard of the manor of Eglingham.

Witnesses: . . . and Urse d' Abitôt. [c. 1103–8.]

[Copies in Cotton MS. Tib. E. VI, fo. 124; Lansd. MS. 863, fo. 80v^o (transcript). Gibson, Tynemouth: ii, App. xvi (from Lansd. MS.).]

This charter must be earlier than No. 822. Aluric and Ligulf appear as sheriffs possibly as early as 1103 (No. 643).

641. [c. 1103, Mar. 29?] Winchester

Precept [by Henry I] to Ligulf and Alvrice the sheriffs and all his lieges of Northumberland: That St. Alban and St. Oswin and Abbot Richard are to hold 'Guedesho' [Lilburn?] and Bewick and all the other land which Archil Morel had, the gift of Queen Matilda, and no one is to do [them] wrong.

Witnesses: . . . and Urse d' Abitôt.

642. [1103, c. Mar. 29?] Ashling [Suss.] (?) (apud Esselingas)

Precept by Henry I to Osbern Sheriff of Lincolnshire and his ministers of Yorkshire: That land of Ranulf Bp. of Durham is to be in the King's peace, and they are to let him have his men, wherever found, who went out of his land without proof of claim (diraciocinacione) and without law (laga) since the death of Bp. William, with their cattle (pecunia). If they fail, Walter, the King's cross-bowman of York, shall do it, but they shall make amends.

Witnesses: Wald[ric] the chancellor; William de Albini. [1103–6.]

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 85; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 58v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 51; Leland, Coll. ii. 389 (summarized).]

Dr. Craster suggests that 'Esselinge' may be in Normandy, where the King was first in 1104. This would make the limits of date 1104–7.

643. [1103, c. Mar. 29?] 'apud Halvam (or Hasbam)' [Halnaker?]

Precept (prohibeo) by Henry I to Osbern Sheriff [of Yorks.] and Liulf and Alvrice of Corbridge (Colebrugh) [joint sheriffs of Northumberland], and all barons of Northumberland and Yorkshire: That they are not to receive in their land any of the men of Ranulf Bp. of Durham, nor their cattle (pecuniam), on account of the cattle (pecuniam) which the bp. is giving the King.

Witnesses: — de Lisures (Lusor). Per Willelmum Eleemosinarium. [1103–6.]

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 84v^o; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 58v^o. Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 52.]

Closely connected with the preceding. Craster suggests 'Les Damps' as the place, but Halnaker is within 6 miles of Ashling. The similarity of subject of these two writs with that of Nos. 589–90 suggests that the earliest possible date is the most likely and the comparatively short distance from Ashling to Winchester (about 48 miles) makes 'about Easter 1103' a tempting guess.

644. [1102–3, 3 Apr.] Westminster¹

Precept by Henry I to H[erbert] Bp. of Norwich and all barons, lieges, and officials of Norfolk and Suffolk, &c.: That the monastery and burgesses, and all residents of St. Edmunds [Bury] and all the manors of St. Edmund are to have the same liberty which they enjoyed under Cnut and Edward. No secular person or royal official is to meddle with the said borough or the men dwelling in it except the abbot and convent and their officials. The abbot and convent and burgesses are to be quit of toll and other customs in all fairs and markets throughout the King's lands; no one is to molest them on pain of the King's forfeiture. The monastery is to have its soc with its $8\frac{1}{2}$ hundreds as in the days of King Edward. All the demesnes of St. Edmund are to be quit of all scots and gelds for ever. All the free tenants in the $8\frac{1}{2}$ hundreds are to come to the great courts (magna placita) of the abbot; those who refuse to do so may be distrained. On this account they are to be free from suit of shire and hundred in Suffolk.

645. [1100–3, Apr.]

Charter of William Count of Mortain, confirmed by Henry I and Queen Matilda: Recording and confirming the gift by his father Robert and himself to St. Martin's, Marmoutier, and St. Mary of Mortain of the manor of Puddlehinton (Pidele) [co. Dorset], and giving in addition those of Withyham and Blackham [co. Sussex].

646. [1102, Sept.–1103, Apr.]

Notification by Henry I to A[nselm] Abp. of Canterbury and Maurice Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocland and all the barons of London: That he has granted to St. Peter of Cluny and St. Martin des Champs, [Paris], 9 mansiones of land in London which Odo Bp. of Bayeux gave to William Giffard, which are in the great street of London¹ (in magno vico Lundoniae) to be held with all the liberties which William Giffard had.

See Round, C.D.F. 459. Tardif wrongly assigns this to 1108. Farrer assumes Anselm must have been in England and dates Sept. 1102–Apr. 1103.

647. [1100, Sept.–1103, Apr.]

Notification by Henry to Abp. Anselm, Hamo the sheriff, and others of Kent: Confirming the grant by Geoffrey Talbot to Bp. Gundulf and St. Andrew's, Rochester of half of Little Wrotham.

Witnesses: Abp. Anselm; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Count of Meulan; Robert fitz Hamon.

Robert fitz Hamon ceases to attest in Spring of 1105.

648. Pentecost [1103, May 17]. Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Gerard Abp. of York and Osbert the Sheriff of Yorkshire and all the barons of Yorkshire: That he has taken from Robert Brus 24 carucates of land in Reighton and Collingham in exchange for 8 carucates of land in Harpham (Harpa), 2 in Gransmoor (Grentmora), and 12 in Eskdale, viz. 6 in Danby, 3 in Crunkley [in Danby], 2 in the two 'Hanechetones', and 16 bovates in Lealholm. No one is to hunt in this land without the leave of Robert Brus; and he is to have it with sac and soc, tol and theam, infangthief, and all other customs as he holds other land.

1103 is the only year between 1100 and 1108 when Henry could have kept Whitsuntide at Windsor.

649. [1103, May 17?] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Geoffrey de Mandeville and the sergeants of the castle of Exeter: That Osbert the monk and the abbey of Tavistock be quit of castle-ward of Exeter for one knight.

[Copy in Tavistock Cartulary (Woburn Abbey), fo. 6. E.H.R. lxii. 354.]

This is presumably very soon after the deposition of Abbot Wimund at Michaelmas 1102. Roger is probably the Bishop of Salisbury, nominated by the King about the same time but not consecrated till 1107. The witnesses and place suggest Whitsuntide 1103 as a likely date. Richard fitz Baldwin seems to have become sheriff by 1107 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 162).

650. [1103, May 24.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Earl Simon and Roger the Sheriff of Huntingdon and all sheriffs in whose shires Abbot Bernard of Ramsey has lands: The abbot is to have all his lands as well and honourably as any abbot before him; and is to measure the services (admensuret servitia) of his military tenants as may be advantageous to his church, as those of the tenants of other abbeys are measured (sicut vavassores aliorum abbatum regni mei admensurati sunt). He may resume all the lands which Abbot Aldwin gave or exchanged from the demesne of the saint; and hold all the property of his church well and honourably without accounting to any man.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Waldric the chancellor.

Seal lost, formerly attached to a strip at foot of writ.

Ramsey Cart. (R.S.), i. 238; Ramsey Chron., p. 220.] Farrer, Itin. 93.

'In octavis Pentecostis.'

1103 was the only year of Waldric's chancellorship in which Pentecost was spent at Windsor.

651. [1103, Summer.] Brampton, co. Hunts. (Branton)

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, Sheriff of Berks., and to Aubrey [of Berkshire]: That Faritius Abbot of Abingdon give up the chattels of William of Jumièges (viz. the reaped corn and the cattle) which he brought from his other fiefs to the one in question. Concerning the houses and the standing crops and all other things let right be done by the just judgement of the shire. But concerning the land let the abbot do as seems fit to him.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 143v^o; C. IX, fo. 151. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 93; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 93.]

This probably relates to Bradley [in Chieveley, co. Berks.] (op. cit. ii. 129). Bradley was restored by William before the death of Serlo Abbot of Gloucester (ibid., p. 130), 3 Mar. 1104. This writ was clearly issued before harvest. Waldric became chancellor about Sept. 1102.

652. [1103] Sept 1. London

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm and Hamo the sheriff and all of Kent: That he has granted the monks of St. Augustine's the right of holding an annual fair on the feast of the Translation of the Saint (13 Sept.) at Canterbury to last for five days before the feast and two after.

Witnesses: Turstin the chaplain; Hamo Dapifer. [1101-3 or 1107.]

[Copies in Cotton MS. Jul. D. II, fos. 88 (172), 89v^o (180); Cotton MS. Claud. D. X, fo. 58 (fo. 64 from inspex.); Trin. Hall, Camb. MS., fo. 68; Chart. R. 20 Ed. II, No. 6; 36 Ed. III, No. 3; 8 Hen. IV, No. 1; Pat. R. 2 Hen. VI, pt. 3, m. 5; 4 Ed. IV, pt. 4, m. 29; B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 91v^o. Hist. Mon. S. August. Cantuar., p. 358; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 87.] Farrer, Itin. 198.

The date is given as 1103 by the author of the Historia in his chronological introduction. A difficulty is that Anselm had already left England by that date. Thurstan is presumably the same as the Abp. of York (1114-40). He was at the time of his appointment in subdeacon's orders (Hugh the Cantor in Raine's Historians of the Church of York, ii. 129 ff.).

653. [1103] Sept. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Ralph the chaplain and A[lfere] the prior and all his lieges of the abbey of Bury St. Edmunds: That he has confirmed to St. Edmund the land of Hawstead (Halsteda) [W. Suff.] as Odo [i.e. Otto the Goldsmith] and his wife granted it for the service of the altar. From the revenues of the said land, the treasurer of the church is to buy wine for masses celebrated in the monastery.

Witness: Roger, Bp. elect of Salisbury.

[Copies in C.U.L. MS. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 96; Ff. ii. 33, fo. 25; 'Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 34. Gage, Hist. of Suffolk, 406; Douglas, Feudal Docs. 61.] Farrer, Itin. 50.

'In vij. Kalend. Oct.'¹

Roger was nominated about Michaelmas, 1102, elected 13 Apr. 1103 and consecrated in Aug. 1107. In the autumns of 1104 and 1106 Henry I was in Normandy. This writ was issued after the deposition of Abbot Robert I (29 Sept. 1102) and before the consecration (in 1107) of Abbot Robert II. Wendover (Ed. Coxe ii. 172) asserts that the deposed abbots were restored by Pope Paschal in 1103.

654. [1103?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Henry Earl of Warwick and William the sheriff. If Josceline [de Riparia] claims anything in the land of St. Mary of Abingdon at Hill [co. Warw.] let him go to the court of the abbot and let the abbot do him right there; the King forbids the abbot to answer to Josceline on that matter in any other place.

Witnesses: Waldric the chancellor; Grimbald the physican. [1102, 1103, or 1105.]

655. [1103?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to H[erbert] Bp. [of Norwich] and R[oger] Bigod and Robert Malet and all his lieges in Norfolk and Suffolk: That Abbot Robert of St. Edmund's have free warren in all his demesnes and no man hunt there without his leave.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor. [Reg. Album, Walterio.] [1102, 1103, or 1105.]

[C.U.L. MS. Mm. iv. 19 ('Registrum Nigrum S. Edmundi'), fo. 97; MS. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 25a; MS. Gg. iv. 4, fo. 165v^o; B.M. Add. MS. 14847, fo. 33v^o. Battely, Antiquitates S. Edmundi Burgi, p. 53; E.H.R. xxiv. 426; Douglas, Feudal Docs. 63.] Farrer, Itin. 78.

'Apud Westmonasterium in Natali Domini.'

Waldric may have been chancellor as early as Christmas 1102 and became Bp. of Laon in Feb. 1107. Christmas was not kept at Westminster in 1104 or 1106. Robert Malet's last certain attestation is 13 Feb. 1105. Robert Malet had been replaced by Ralf Passelewe as Sheriff of Suffolk by Whitsuntide (5 June) 1104 (No. 672) and possibly before the summer of 1102 (No. 591). It is tempting to suggest that Waldric is an uncritical expansion of W., i.e. William Giffard, and the date Christmas 1100.

656. [1103?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept (volo et firmiter precipio) by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and Roger Bigod and all the barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That St. Edmund [of Bury] have soc and sac and all customs and pleas in his 8½ hundreds, as fully as King Edward gave them and William I and William II confirmed them. The King is not aware that he has given any of St. Edmund's rights to any man.

Witness: Robert Malet. [1100, 1102, 1103, or 1105.]

[Copies in C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28v^o; 'Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 39; Harley MS. 743, fo. 60v^o. Douglas, Feudal Docs. 63.] Farrer, Itin. 79.

'Apud Westmonasterium in natali Domini.'

Probably of the same date as the preceding.

657. [1103?] After Christmas. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and officials in whose shires St. Edmund has lands and men: That all the demesnes of St. Edmund [of Bury] be quit of scots and gelds and other things as they were in the time of William I and William II. The men and lands of St. Edmund are not to pay scot otherwise than they did then; nor are they to go to shire-courts and hundred-courts otherwise than they did then.

[Copies in 'Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 34; C.U.L. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 96v^o; Ff. ii. 33, fo. 25; Gg. iv. 4, fo. 166. E.H.R. xxiv. 426 (x). Douglas, Feudal Docs. 64.]

'Post Natale Domini.'

Robert Malet was superseded by Ralph Passelewe as Sheriff of Suffolk, possibly before the summer of 1102 (No. 591), but continues to attest until 1105 at least.

658. [1103?] Newport (Neuport)

Precept by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and R[oger] Bigod and all sheriffs in whose shires St. Edmund has lands: That all the demesnes of St. Edmund be quit of all gelds and scots as they were in the time of King Edward and of William I.

659. [1103?] Norwich

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester and Gilbert the Sheriff and all of Surrey: That he has given Waddon [in Croydon, co. Surrey] (Wadona) to the monks of St. Saviour of Bermondsey, in exchange for the land given to them by Hugh de Beauchamp.

660. [c. 1103?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Ralph de Aincourt (Agencurt) and William de Luvetot and all his lieges of Notts.: That the monks of Durham are to hold all their lands and customs and property in Notts. as well and quietly as they ever held them in the times of William I and William II and the King himself, as the King has granted and ordained by his writ. And in particular two carucates of land to which they have proved their right against Fulco de Lusors in the King's court, by the oath of the men of the shire-court. These carucates they are to hold by the annual rent of 4s. and no other service. The money which Fulco has taken is to be speedily restored.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1100–29.]

[Durham Cath. ij^{nda} i^{mac} Regalium, No. 7 (original?); Cart.i ii, fo. 105 (copy). Raine, Hist. Dunelm. Script. Tres., App. xxxi, No. xxiii; Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. xxix. 240.] Farrer, Itin. 489.

Second seal (Greenwell and Blair, 3015), the same as that of No. 505. The writing strongly resembles that of No. 975, also dated at Woodstock, which, however, has the third seal. Writs are not usually dated at Woodstock before 1106. Fulk de Lisours was a Domesday tenant and the charter is therefore probably before 1106 (if genuine).

661. [1103?] Norwich

Notification by Henry I to Maurice Bp. of London and Hugh of Bocland and all his barons of Essex and Hertfordshire: That he has granted to Eudo Dapifer Sawbridgeworth (Sebrihworda) [co. Herts.] and Great Waltham (Waeldham) and Saffron Walden (Waledena) [co. Essex] with all that pertain to them, as freely as Ansgar the Staller (Esgar Stelra) held them in the time of the Confessor, and as Geoffrey de Mandeville held them in the time of William I; until William de Mandeville pays Eudo £1,210. 3s. which he owes as a debt to the King.

[Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 22.] Farrer, Itin. 153.

This proves that G. de Mandeville (I) stepped into Ansgar's shoes. See Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, 37. It supports Round's suggested identification of him with Gosfrith the portreeve (ibid. 439). The three manors pledged by William had returned to the possession of his son Geoffrey before 1156 (ibid. 236). This charter must be earlier than No. 688. The writ seems to imply that the King was holding William's lands as a pledge for the payment of his relief, and has granted them to Eudo till the relief should be paid.

662. [1100–3.] London

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Exeter, Richard de Redvers, and G[eo]ffrey de Mandeville, and all of Devon: That he has given to the monks of St. Nicholas, Exeter, the land of Harold of Exeter, viz. 'Relisdona', which they had at farm for 25s. yearly, for his own soul and those of his father, mother, brother, and ancestors.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, ff. 28 and 66v^o; P.R.O. Chart. R. 11 Ed. III, No. 29; Pat. R. 18 Hen. VI, pt. 3, m. 13 (Inspeximus). Monast. iii. 377 (iii); Oliver, Monast. Exon., p. 117 (ii) from Inspeximus of 20 Hen. VII.] Farrer, Itin. 88.

The chancellor may be either William or Waldric. Osbern Bp. of Exeter, who was succeeded by William de Warelwast, died in 1103-4 (Will. Malm., Gest. Pont. 202).

*An expanded version of the same charter, adding the land of Sherford and Kenbury, as confirmed by William II; to be held free of pleas and complaints, shires, hundreds, and all suits, geld, scot, aid, host-service, &c., and adding to the witnesses Richard Archdeacon of Poitiers; William Lord of Arundel; W. de Sainer.

[Copy in Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, fo. 98. Oliver, Monast. Exon., p. 117 (ii), from an Inspeximus of 20 Hen. VII, in the Exeter city archives.]

The redundant witnesses are borrowed from a charter of Henry II on fo. 27 of the Cotton MS. Compare Vol. I, Nos. 58, 59, and 401.

663. [1100-3.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to M[aurice] Bp. of London and all his barons and lieges of London: That he has confirmed to the men of the Cnihtengild their gild and the land thereto pertaining as they had them under Edward the Confessor and William I; and as William II granted by his writ and seal. The King forbids, on pain of his forfeiture, that any man do them wrong in despite of this grant.

[Copies in Guildhall, London, Letter-Book C, fo. cxxxv; Liber Dunthorn, fo. 79. Sharpe, Cal. of Letter Books, Letter-Book C, 219; Monast. vi. 156 (Eng. trans.); London and Middx. Arch. Trans. v. 489.]

¹ N. in a Guildhall transcript, MS. 122, vol. iv, 122; and in Monast. translation which professes to follow the Cartulary of the Holy Trinity (Christ Church), Aldgate. Robert de Montfort accompanied Henry to Normandy in 1104 and does not appear to have attested any charters in England after 1103.

664. [1103-4.] Winchester 'in Pascha'

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester and Roger the sheriff and the barons and lieges, French and English, of Surrey and Southwark: Of a grant to St. Saviour's of Bermondsey of Rotherhithe and Dulwich and a hide in Southwark, as the King had it in his demesne.

Witnesses: Waldric the chancellor; W. de Warelwast; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; W. de Albini; Roger Sheriff of Surrey.

[Copies in Chart. R. 4 Ed. III, No. 57; Cotton MS. Claud. A. VIII, fo. 110 (transcript); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 78, fo. 24 (incorrect transcript). Cal. Chart. R. iv. 182.] Farrer, Itin. 86.

1103 and 1104 are the only years when Waldric was Chancellor in which the Easter feast was kept at Winchester.

665. [1104?]

Notification (noscat omnis fidelium sacra posteritas) by Henry I: That he has confirmed the gifts of his brother, William, to the monks of La Charité at St. Saviour's, Bermondsey, as well as other gifts; and himself gives them Rotherhithe, Dulwich, the hide of Southwark and Waddon [in Croydon], and confirms the gift by Mary Countess of Boulogne (with the assent of her husband, Count Eustace) of Kingweston [Somerset].

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini; Urse d'Abitôt; William Barbe. [1102-8.]

[Chart R. 4 Ed. III, No. 57 (copy). Monast. v. 100 (iii). 'Ex registro Bermundsey penes Johan. Selden.'] The chronicle places Mary Countess of Boulogne's gift, which follows the King's of Rotherhithe, in 1114.

The form is suspicious. Urse d'Abitôt died in 1108. The chronicle gives the impossible date of 1127.

Mary married Count Eustace in 1102 (Flor. of Worc. ii. 51) and died in 1115. If genuine, the charter may be assigned to 1104 as closely connected with No. 664.

666. [1103-4] c. Feb. 2. London

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, &c.: To leave the whole land of the canons of St. Paul's at London, namely the twenty-four hides of 'Shoe-Land' (Sceolanda), free from this geld and all other gelds, as it was in the time of William I and William II; and free from all other customs and services as the writs of those Kings commanded. No one is to do the canons wrong in contravention of this privilege.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

'Post Purificationem S. Marie.'

Henry was at Romsey early in Feb. 1105 and at Northampton in 1106.

667. [1103-4?] c. Feb. 2. London

Notification by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose shires the Almoner of Westminster Abbey has lands: That he has quit-claimed for the souls' welfare of himself, his wife Queen Matilda, and their children, the land of the almonry of pleas, scots, aids, complaints, and other customs; namely the land of Paddington, [Little] Fanton [in North Benfleet, co. Essex], Claygate [co. Surrey], and whatever the almoner held T.R.E. in the wood of Ditton.

668. [1103-4 Feb. 2?] London

Notification by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose shires the Almoner of Westminster has lands: That he has quit-claimed these lands from pleas and complaints, shires and hundreds, murdrum-fines and scots, aids and ward-penny, and from all imposts and customs; to wit, the land of Paddington and [Little] Fanton [in North Benfleet, co. Essex] and Claygate [co. Surrey], and whatever the almoner had T.R.E. in the wood of Ditton. [This for the souls of his father and brother, at the request of the Queen.]

669. [1103-4], Easter. Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Gerard Abp. [of York], Osbert the sheriff, and the barons of Yorkshire: Granting to the church of St. John of Beverley the customs which it had under Edward the Confessor and William I. It is to be quit of geld if it can show by good men of the county that it then was so.

Witnesses: Waldric the chancellor; Roger Bigod. Per Everard son of Earl Roger.

670. [1103-4], Easter. Winchester

Mandate by Henry I to Hamo Dapifer and all the King's ministers: To restore to the men of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, the pledges that the burgesses of Canterbury took from them on account of an aid. The servants of St. Augustine who neither buy nor sell are not to contribute.

672. [1104, Pentecost (June 5).] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and R[oger] Bigod and R[alph] Passelewe and the lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has confirmed to St. Edmund [of Bury] the land of Stonham, (Stanham) [co. Suff.] which Albold the priest held, and the service of it in like manner.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

[Copies in 'Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 34; C.U.L. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 96v^o; Ff. ii. 33, fo. 25. Douglas, Feudal Docs. 64.] Farrer, Itin. 91.

Pentecost was only once celebrated at Westminster in the chancellorship of Waldric.

673. [1104, Mar. 4–Aug. 5?]]

Notification by Henry I to R. Bp. of Salisbury, and W. Huse (Hosatus) the sheriff, and all the King's barons of Wiltshire: Of a confirmation to Odo and Hugh, monks, and the convent of Gloucester of two essarts in Chelworth [in Cricklade St. Sampson, co. Wilts.] granted by William II. 'Et hoc per Ared Falconer' qui ipsum manerium de me in feodo tenet.' [1100–10.]

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 43v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 239.]

Walter Huse, sheriff, 1107. He was succeeded by William de Pont de l'Arche in 1110 (No. 948). This confirmation 'to Odo and Hugh, monks, and the convent of Gloucester' (Monasticon, i. 545) would suggest 1104, during the vacancy after the death of Serlo. Edward the chamberlain (whom Salter (E.H.R. xxvi. 490) identifies as Edward of Salisbury) attests a charter of 1105 (No. 684), but was not necessarily still sheriff. This may, however, have been a second charter of confirmation.

674. [1104, after Aug. 15?] London

Notification by Queen Matilda to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Hugh de Bocland and all the barons, French and English, of Bucks.: That she had given and granted to God and the church of St. Mary of Abingdon Robert, the son of Hervey, with all his land [in Colnbrook] in alms, because Robert Gernon so (ita) gave it to her.

Witnesses: Roger de Courseulles (Curcellis); Robert Malet; Odo Moire. [1104 or 1106.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 145; C. IX, f. 152. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.), ii. 98.] Farrer, Itin. 102.

Robert Gernon's original gift is dated by the chronicle about the Assumption (15 Aug.) during the King's absence in Normandy. Henry's confirmation dated at Lyons-la-Forêt (No. 676) is presumably of the same year a little later. It must be earlier than Milo Crispin's gift of 7 Hen. I (5 Aug. 1106–4 Aug. 1107) as the abbey would otherwise have had a lodging in Colnbrook already. Odo Moire was probably attached to the Queen's Chapel (cf. No. 1090).

675. [1104?] Évreux(?) (Eboracum)

Notification by Queen Matilda to Richard [son of Gotse], Roger de Lovetot, and the barons of Blyth: That she has given the church of Laughton-en-le-Morthen (Leftona) [co. York] to St. Peter's, York, for a prebend.

Witnesses: Hervey Bp. [of Bangor]; Bernard the chaplain; John of Bayeux; John of Sées; Ern' [Everard?] the chaplain; Robert Malet; Ald[win] the chamberlain.¹ [1101–6.]

[Copies in York Minster, Liber Albus, i. 63, ii. 83; Cotton MS. Claud. B. III. fo. 71 v^o. Raine, Histns. of Ch. of York (R.S.), iii. 30; Monast. viii. 1179 (xx).] Farrer, Itin. 104 (reading 'Évreux').

This charter is presumably earlier than No. 720 which, being dated Westminster at Christmas, must be 1101–3 or 1105 as Robert Malet disappears before Sept. 1106 (see G. H. White in Complete Peerage, x, App. 51). He was still attesting as chamberlain in Feb. 1105 (No. 682). If Farrer is right in giving Évreux as the place-date, the charter must be later than Sept. 1104 (Ord. Vit. iv. 200) and before the end of the year.

676. [1104 Autumn?] Lyons-la-Forêt [Eure] (apud Sanctum Dionisium in Leons)

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Bucks.: That he has confirmed to Abbot Faritius and the monks of Abingdon the land of Robert fitz Hervey in Wraysbury (Wirettesberia) which Robert Gernon gave to Queen Matilda and she gave to Abingdon.

Witness: Roger de Courseulles.

677. [1104.]

Charter of Confirmation by Henry I: Of Eudo Dapifer's foundation at Colchester; and of the gifts made by him and many others.

Signa: Queen Matilda; Eudo Dapifer; Waldric the chancellor; Gilbert fitz Richard; Gerard [Abp. of York]; Maurice Bp. of London; Samson Bp. of Worcester; Gundulf Bp. of Rochester; Herbert Bp. of Norwich; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Bp. of Chester; Ralph Bp. of Chichester; Gilbert Abbot of Westminster; Richard Abbot of St. Alban's; Stephen Abbot of St. Mary of York; Ralph Abbot of Sées; Gunter Abbot of Thorney (Tornai); Richard Earl of Chester; Henry Earl of Warwick; William Count of Mortain; Roger Bigod.

[Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 11 (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 92.

Armitage-Robinson (Gilbert Crispin, 160) disputes the genuineness of this charter which confirms the possession of St. Mary Woolchurch (Newchurch), and, therefore, is not likely to have been witnessed by Abbot Gilbert. Round accepted it as genuine (E.H.R. xvi. 721-30). William Count of Mortain rebelled in 1104 (A.S.C.), and Ralph abbot of Sées appears to have come to England in the same year (Ord. Vit. iv. 192).

678. [1104?]

Notification by Henry I to Bp. Samson and Walter the sheriff and all of Gloucestershire: That he has given to God and St. Peter of Gloucester and Abbot Serlo the land of Maisemore 'ad victum monachorum'. And confirmed the grant of Aelina, the wife of Roger de Ivry; and those of Roger de Gloucester and Hugh de Lacy.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 117v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 18.]

Serlo died 3 Mar. 1104. The Cotton MS. Dom. VIII (Monast. i. 113) places Roger's gift of Coln Rogers and Henry's confirmation in 1105 'abbatia vacante per mortem Serlonis abbatis'. But Serlo's successor is said to have been elected on 5 Aug. 1104, whereas Roger of Gloucester was wounded at Falaise in the spring of 1105, and is said to have made his gift on that occasion.

679. [1100-4.]

Charter by Henry I to Abbot Hilgot and the monks of Marmoutier: For the souls of his father and mother, and for absolution of his crimes and those of Matilda, his wife, he has confirmed to them whatsoever was given by his father, William, King of the English, or by his nobles, viz. the churches of Guernsey, Héauville, Bohun, Perrières, Vesly, with all their appurtenances and what Ralph Paynel gave them at York, namely the church of the Holy Trinity.

680. [1103-4.]

Confirmation by Henry I and Queen Matilda to St. Martin of Marmoutier, Tours, and St. Mary of Mortain: Of a gift by William Count of Mortain for the foundation of Winghall Priory [in S. Kelsey, co. Lincs.].

Signa: Henry, King of the English; Queen Matilda; William Count of Mortain; Maurice Bp. of London; Samson Bp. of Worcester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Waldric the Chancellor.

681. [1105], Jan. 1. Windsor 'In Circumcisione Domini'

Precept by Henry to Osbert the sheriff and all the barons, French and English, of Yorkshire: Commanding that the church of St. Peter of York and that of Beverley and all the lands of the archbishopric of York have the same laws and customs as they enjoyed in the time of the King's father and brother, and as honourably and peaceably as they held them in the time of Archbishop Thomas.

[Copies in Liber Albus (York Minster), i. 65; ibid. ii. 5b; Cotton MS. Claud. B. III, fo. 4; Lansd. MS. 402, fos. 20, 120. Monast. viii. 1179 (xxi); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 129.] Farrer, Itin. 108.

Henry was at Windsor at Christmas 1104, and the charter seems more likely to have been issued before than after the accession of Abp. Thomas II.

682. [1105], Feb. 13. Romsey 'in transitu regis'

Notification by Henry I to his barons and lieges of all England: That he has granted to St. Peter of Cluny and St. Mary of Thetford the gifts (past and future) of Roger Bigod.

'In transitu regis in proxima die ante festum S. Valentini Martiris.'

Thetford Priory was founded in 1104.

683. [1105, Feb.] Romsey

Charter by Henry I to the church of St. Mary of Abingdon: Granting ten hides in Sparsholt [co. Berks.], now held by Hugh, son of Thurstan, the King's dispenser.

Signa: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; John Bp. of Bath; Hervey Bp. of Bangor; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. elect of Salisbury; William de Werelwast; Waldric the chancellor; Grimbald medicus; Eudo, Roger Bigod, Hamo Dapifer; Urse d'Abitôt; Walter son of Richard; Roger d'Oilli, constable.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 151v^o; C. IX, fo. 157; Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 126.] Farrer, Itin. 114.

'Hoc actum est anno Dominicæ Incarnationis M.C.V., indictione XIII., anno vero Henrici serenissimi regis v., in curia eiusdem regis apud Romesei.'

The last two witnesses are omitted in Cotton MS. Claud. B. VI.

684. [1105, Feb.] Romsey

Notification by Henry I to Maurice Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocland, Sheriff of Herts., &c.: That Richard Abbot of Ely has deraigned against Ranulf Bp. of Durham in the King's court at Romsey the manor of Much Hadham to be demesne of St. Peter and St. Ethelreda.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; William Giffard Bp. of Winchester; John Bp. of Bath; Ralph Bp. of Chichester; Waldric the chancellor; D[rogo] the chaplain; Everard the chaplain son of the Earl; John of Bayeux, chaplain; Thomas the chaplain; Audin the chaplain; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; Roger Bigod; Walter fitz Richard; Robert Malet; Henry de Port; Osb[ert] the sheriff; Robert Pecche (Peccatum); Hugh de Bocland; Roger de Sumeri; Peter de Valonis; Geoffrey Ridel; Alvred of Lincoln; William Peverel of Dover; William Peverel of London; Harding fitz Alnod; Edward the chamberlain¹ (. . . ario).

'Quinto Anno Coronacionis Henrici Regis.'

The Liber Eliensis [the Cotton MS.] gives the first four witnesses only, adding the words 'et alii plures quos enarrare longum'.

685. 1105, [Feb.] Romsey

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, the Sheriff of Cambridgeshire, and all of England: That he has quitclaimed for ever the abbey of Ely from the custom and fee which Picot de Batuent demanded of it, viz. 8d. per day and the expenses and losses of one knight (et solidatis et perditis unius militis).

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Waldric the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; Roger Bigod; Walter fitz Richard; Robert Malet.

[Ely Bp. Mun. Lib. M., p. 74b (copy).]

'V^{to} anno coronacionis Henrici regis.'

Picot was Sheriff of Cambridgeshire under William I and William II. His family name does not seem to be known, though he was called 'de Gretebrige' in Domesday (Round, Feudal England, 168) from his office. The text of the writ appears corrupt, but the custom demanded appears to be equal to the service of one knight including the cost of equipment and its replacement.

686. [1105, Feb?] Romsey

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the Sheriff [of Yorks. and Lincolnshire]: To cause Gerard Abp. [of York] to hold all his lands, which he has in Osbert's shires, with the same liberties and customs which those lands had on the day when the King gave the archbishopric to Gerard. Likewise, Gerard is to have the lands which the King has subsequently given him as freely as any previous tenant held them.

Witness: Alvred¹ of Lincoln.

687. [1105, Feb.] 'Storunella', in the New Forest [Wherwell?]¹

Notitia of a confirmation by Henry I to St. Florent, Saumur: Alvrice the reeve of Andover did many wrongs to the monks of St. Florent of Saumur; wherefore Wihenoc the monk, of St. Florent, appealed to King Henry. The King commanded Henry [de Port], the Sheriff of Hants, and Gerald the reeve of Winchester to convoke the hundred of Andover and cause it to make inquest of the property pertaining to the church of Andover. The hundred gave a sworn verdict in favour of the monks; and deposed that if any offender take refuge in the land of the monks, they have the jurisdiction and the profits of justice (emendatio), but the right of inflicting corporal punishment on robbers belongs to the King. This finding was given in the house of Edwin, the old reeve, at the feast of St. Lucy (13 Dec.); in the presence of Wihenoc the monk, Henry de Port, Gerald the reeve [of Winchester], Bernard the forester, and others (named). The notitia then records a grant by Edward of Foscote to Andover which was made at the same date, in the presence of Henry de Port and Croc the huntsman. The charter was sealed (fuit sigillata) at 'Storunella' in the New Forest, before the following witnesses.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Waldric the chancellor (who received a palfrey for his pains); Ranulf Abbot of St. Vincent's le Mans; Alan fitz Flaald; Gilbert the monk; William fitz Baderon; Ranulf Peverel; Drogo, Custos Sigilli. [1103-5.]

[Pat. R. 8 Ed. II, pt. 2, m. (Inspeximus) 1. Monast. vi. 992.] Farrer, Itin. 80

The December of 1103, 1104, or 1105 is a possible date for the inquest at Andover. But the most probable date for the sealing is Feb. 1105, since at that date the King passed over to Normandy from Romsey (No. 682).

688. [1105, July?] Caen

Precept by Henry I to Hugh of Bocland [Sheriff of Essex and Hertford]: To re-seise Eudo Dapifer of all lands and socs pertaining to the three manors of Waltham and Sawbridgeworth and Walden, which William de Mandeville sold or exchanged after the death of his father. 'Et mihi displicet quod non sic fecisti ut praecepi. Et vide ne amplius inde clamorem audiam.'

Witness: Richard de Redvers. [1104-7.]

[Cart. St. John's, Colchester, i. 24.] Farrer, Itin. 117.

Posterior to the grant of these three manors made 1103-6 (No. 661), but before the death of Richard de Redvers. Henry occupied Caen about July 1105. (Ord. Vit. [ed. Prévost], iv. 219 and 220 n. 3.)

689. [1105], Aug. 29 (4 Kal. Sept.). St. Albans

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and all his men of England: That he grants to St. Mary of Belvoir and St. Alban an eight days' fair at the Nativity of St. John the Baptist. Abbot Richard and his successors are to hold this well and peacefully; and all who resort to the fair are to have the King's peace.

Witnesses: Waldric the Chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan; David, the Queen's brother; Stephen of Aumale; Haldena. [1103 or 1105.]

[Original in Belvoir Castle Muniments; Royal Grants 438. Hist. MSS. Comm., MSS. of the Duke of Rutland, iv. 98; Nichols's Leicestershire, ii (1), 24; Monast. iii. 290 (without witnesses).] Farrer, Itin. 120.

David visited England in 1103 (No. 648) and 1105 (Wendover [ed. Cox], ii. 18a). Robert count of Meulan was probably in Normandy in Aug. 1103 (Ord. Vit. iv. 190).

690. [1105, Aug. 29?] St. Albans

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Hugh de Bocland [Sheriff of Herts.] and all his subjects of England: That he has granted to God and St. Alban a full fair (feria plena) to be held on the eight days before the Nativity of St. John Baptist in the vill of St. Albans. Those resorting to the fair are to have the King's peace as for one of his own fairs.

691. [1105, Aug. or Sept.]

Letter from Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury: The King apologizes for his delay in sending messengers to Rome. He is sending William de Warelwast to him to settle the matter and proceed to Rome. He requests Anselm to send Baldwin of Tournay with William.

[Eadmer, Hist. Nov. (R.S.), 169.]

Eadmer places the receipt of this letter on the occasion of Anselm's visit to Rheims.

692. [1105, c. Sept. 29.] Wycombe

Letter from Henry I to Abp. Anselm: The King is sending William de Warelwast to Rome as his envoy, weather and other circumstances permitting, immediately after Michaelmas. Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

693. [1105, Oct?] Aylesbury

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, William the sheriff, and the barons of Oxfordshire: That he has confirmed the gift by Drew d'Andely to St. Mary's, Abingdon, and Abbot Faritius of a hide of land at [South] Weston called 'Wdemundesleia', with the assent of his lord, Nigel d'Oilli.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Geoffrey Pecche (Peccatum). [1101–5.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 138v^o; C. IX, fo. 147. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 68.] Farrer, Itin. 122.

Geoffrey Pecche also appears as a messenger at Cornbury (No. 699). The charter must be earlier than No. 758 (of 1106).

694. [1105, Oct. ?] Brill (Broella, Bromhell)

Precept by Henry I to William de Cahaines the Sheriff [of Northamptonshire] and the monks of Peterborough: That no toll is to be taken from the stone which is being conveyed to make the church of St. Edmund. They are to restore without delay the ships which they have seized.

Witness: Peter de Valoignes. [1103–July 31, 1106.]

William de Cahaines appears to have been succeeded by Robert de Pavilli between 1103 and 1106 (No. 743).

This charter is presumably between the death of Abbot Mathias (21 Oct. 1103) and the election of Arnulf in 1107. It must be earlier than No. 743.

695. [1105, Oct. ?] Brill (Apud Bruhellam)

Notification by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland Sheriff and all of Berks. and Aubrey [de Vere]: Of a grant to Faritius, Abbot of Abingdon. 'Sciatis me concessisse Faritio abbati Sanctae Mariae de Abbendona ut ipse faciat justitiam suam de presbytero latrone qui in captione sua in Abbendona est, et de aliis latronibus suis faciat justitiam suam similiter, vidente comitatu.'

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; per Walter Huse (Hosat). [1100–7.]

696. [1105, Oct. ?] Brill

Notification by Henry to William, the son of Walter [fitz Other, keeper of Windsor Forest], Croc the huntsman, Richard the sergeant (servienti), and all his servants (ministris) of the forest of Windsor: Granting to God and St. Mary of Abingdon the entire tithe of the venison (venatione) which shall be taken in the forest of Windsor.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Eudo Dapifer. [1100–16.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 144; C. IX, fo. 151. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 94.] Farrer, Itin. 284.

Croc the huntsman does not appear to attest later than 1106. He was certainly either dead or retired in 1130, since members of his family are found accounting for the forests.

697. [1105, Oct. ?] Beckley [co. Oxon.]

Precept by Henry I to Robert Mauduit: That he is to do service for his land to the Abbot Faritus as his predecessors did in the time of the Abbot Adelelm. 'Et nisi feceris tunc praecipio ut abbas praedictus de terra sua quam tenes suam voluntatem faciat.'

William Mauduit probably died in or before 1105 (see No. 729).

698. [1105, Oct. ?] Handborough [co. Oxon.]

Precept by Henry I to Ulger and Goisfred de Bortona¹ and all his foresters in Shropshire: That the Abbot of Shrewsbury and his men have all the pasture that they need, and also the wood necessary for making their houses, in the royal woods; saving essart and immoderate waste.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; per Bernard the chaplain. [1100–7.]

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 30311, fo. 45v^o; Chart. R. 51 Hen. III, m. 1 (mutilated); 6 Ed. III, m. 6; Shrewsbury Cart. Phillips MSS. 3516, 11225, No. 49 (transcript). Cal. Chart. R. ii. 82 (imperfect); ibid. iv. 286 (in full).] Farrer, Itin. 133.

Bernard is not described as the Queen's Chancellor, though it seems probable that he succeeded to the post when Reinhelm was nominated Bishop of Hereford. (See No. 624.)

699. [1105?] St. Luke's Day, Oct. 18. Cornbury

Notification by Henry to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, William Sheriff of Oxford, and all the barons, French and English, of Oxfordshire: Granting to St. Mary of Abingdon and the monks of that place, the church of Nuneham Courtenay (Niweham) and the land and the whole tithe of that manor with other appurtenances of the church with the fishery and its appurtenances as William de Curci, the King's Sewer (dapifer meus), gave and granted them.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Roger Bigod. Per Geoffrey Pecche. [1101–5.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140; C. IX, fo. 148. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 74.] Farrer Itin. 126.

701. [1105], Oct. 18. Cornbury

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. of Worcester and Walter the sheriff and all of Glos.: Of a grant to Faritus the Abbot and the monks of Abingdon of the land of Walter fossatarius in Dumbleton [co. Glos.].

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Roger Bigod; David, the

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 146v^o; C. IX, fo. 153. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.), ii. 105.] Farrer, Itin. 127.

This land was quitclaimed to the abbey in 8 Hen. I by Robert Guizenboeth (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 102). The abbot must, however, have held it before this date, since Roger Bigod died in Sept. 1107.

702. [1105, Oct. 18?] Cornbury

Notification by Henry to Maurice Bp. of London, Gilbert Abbot of Westminster, and Hugh of Bocland and all the barons and officials of London and Middlesex: That the King has granted, in the time of Abbot Faritius, to St. Mary of Abingdon the church of Kensington and the land which Aubrey de Vere gave for the soul of his son Gosfrid, deceased.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Eudo Dapifer; William de Curci; Nigel de Oilli; Urse d' Abitôt; Robert Malet. [1101-7.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 135v^o; C. IX, fo. 144v^o; B.M. Add. MS. 5860, p. 218; Colne Priory Cartulary, fo. 3v^o. Monast. iv. 100; Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 56.] Farrer, Itin. 128.

703. [1105, Oct. 18.] Cornbury

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Hugh de Bocland the sheriff and all the barons of Berks.: Of a grant to St. Mary of Abingdon and Abbot Faritius of the custody of the woods of Bagley and Cumnor and the right of taking roebuck (capreoli) there. 'Et cervos et cervas non accipiant nisi mea licentia; et ego nemini licentiam dabo ibi venandi nisi illis; et omnes forisfacturas sartorum concedo eis.'

704. [1105, Oct. ?] Cornbury

Precept by Henry I to Gerard Abp. [of York] and Osbert the sheriff and Helgot the sheriff and all his barons of Yorkshire and Notts.: To cause the monks of St. Mary of Blyth to have their tithe from Laughton-en-le-Morthen (Lestona). If anyone wrongs them, Osbert is to do them right. And the canons of York are not to interfere unjustly in this matter.

Witness: Nigel de Oilli. Per Carbonel the staller. [1100-8.]

[Harl. MS. 3759, fo. 120 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 152, fo. 131v^o (transcript from a roll of Blyth Priory). Raine, Hist. of Blyth, 36.]

If this and the following charter are to be placed in 1105, Helgot must be assumed to have succeeded Richard son of Gotze in 1105, possibly at Michaelmas. This involves the assignment of No. 518 to the Easter following Archbishop Gerard's translation to York, i.e. 21 Apr. 1101.

705. [1105, Oct. ?] Cornbury

Precept by Henry I to Abp. Gerard [of York] and Osbert the sheriff and Helgot the sheriff and the barons of Yorkshire and Notts.: That St. Mary of Blyth and her monks have their toll and passage-money at Blyth, as heretofore; except from the merchants of the King's household who have his writ, and from the burgesses of the new borough (de novo burgo) who can certify that they are the King's men.

Witness: Nigel de Oilli. Per Carbonel the Staller.

706. [1105, Oct. 18. Cornbury]

Notification by Henry I (rex Angliae) to Samson Bp. of Worcester and Walter, Sheriff, and all of Gloucestershire: That he has confirmed to the church of St. Peter of Gloucester the manor of Coln Rogers as Roger of Gloucester gave it. Also an escambium for the garden in which the King's tower is built, as Walter the sheriff has already assigned it to them.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Waldric the chancellor.

Signa (?): The King; Queen Matilda; Waldric the chancellor; Ranulf Bp. of Durham;

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 42 (omitting witnesses); Glouc. Cath. I, 30A, fo. 63. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 235; N. & Q. 12th Ser. v. 17.] Farrer, Itin. 131.

Roger's gift was of the year 1105 (Cart. i. 69).

This looks like a combination of two grants. The exchange was Abload and 'Paygrave', said to have been granted 9 Hen. I (Glouc. Cart. i. 59). The witnesses suggest that the date is the same as that of No. 703. The version in N. & Q. was contributed by Mr. St. Clair Baddeley, presumably from Froucester's register.

707. [1105, Oct. ?] Handborough [co. Oxon.]¹

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Hugh de Bocland, and Aubrey [of Berkshire] and the barons of Berks.: That he has given to Payn Peverel the manor of West Shefford (Sifort) [co. Berks.], with the all the customs which the King used to have there. They are to seise him of it.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor [1103–31 July 1106.]

708. [1105, Oct. ?] Handborough [co. Oxon.]

Notification by Henry I to W[illiam] the Sheriff of Oxford and all the King's foresters of Oxfordshire: That he has released to the Abbot of Eynsham the men of Eynsham from going 'ad stabilitatem'¹ so long as the King's household is entertained there.

Witnesses: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; W[illiam] de Warelwast. [1100–7.]

[Copies in Pat. R. 1 Ric. II, pt. 2, mm. 28–29; Eynsham Cart. (Ch. Ch. Oxon.); Cal. Pat. R. 1 Ric. II, 61; Cartulary of Eynsham, ii. 155.] Farrer, Itin. 99.

This charter is probably of the same date as No. 707.

709. [1105.] Barton on Humber

Prohibition (Prohibeo) by Henry I to Gerard Abp. [of York], Liulf and Aluric of Corbridge (Colebrugh), and all barons and faithful in Northumberland: No one is to hunt in the forests of Ranulf Bp. of Durham either in Northumberland or Durham. Guy de Bailliol is specially (nominatim) forbidden. Any so doing shall make amends as if he had hunted in the New Forest.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor. [1103–July 31, 1106.]

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn. Hale MS. 114, fo. 85v^o. Leland's Collectanea (1715), i (ii) 389 (partially quoted); Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 52.] Farrer, Itin. 121E.

Probably of the same year as No. 710.

710. [1105, Autumn.] Pontefract

Precept from Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury: To order Baldwin the monk to accompany William de Warelwast to Rome.

Witnesses; Waldric the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan; Eudo Dapifer.

[Anselm, Epist. iv. 64, p. 443 (ed. Gerberon).] Farrer, Itin. 121B.

This must be earlier than No. 716.

711. [1105, Autumn ?] Pontefract

Precept by Henry I to justices, sheriffs, and barons of Yorkshire: That the monks of Selby have their fish-stew (vivarium) as granted by William I.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1100–29.]

[Selby Cart. (Brooke), fo. 12b (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 118, fo. 15 (transcript). J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 16; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 477.] Farrer, Itin. 234.

712. [1105, Autumn ?] Nottingham

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln and the barons of Hertfordshire: Confirming the gift by Ralph de Limesi of £30 in land to his church at Hertford.

Witnesses: [Robert] Count of M[eulan]; Richard de Redvers. [1100–7.]

Richard de Redvers died in 1107 (Farrer, Itin., No. 198).

713. [1105, Autumn?] York

Precept by Henry I to all his barons and his household and his marshals: To take no lodging in the houses and hospices of the canons of St. Peter of York within the city, nor in their manors (villis) outside the city.

[York Reg. Mag. Alb. ii, fo. 6v^o (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 9, fo. 11; ibid. 125, fo. 82v^o (transcript from the Liber Albus). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 128; N. & Q., 12th Ser. vi. 221.]

714. [1105?] York

Charter by Henry I to Gerard Abp. of York and Osbert the sheriff and all his barons: Granting to the monks of Marmoutier [by Tours] the endowment of Ralph Paynel (Paganelli), in lands, churches, and tithes, namely the church of the Holy Trinity of York, free and quit. [There follows a list of what Ralph and Maud, his wife, have given for support of the church of the Holy Trinity.]

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MSS. lat. 12878, fo. 223; 12880, fo. 202 (transcripts). Clay, E.Y.C., vi. 69 (No. 2); Round, C.D.F. 442 (No. 1225) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 121c.

This charter was probably the one produced in 1220 by the Prior of Holy Trinity in a suit brought against him by Eustace de Grenville for the advowson of Barton-le-Street (Curia Regis R. viii. 241). Farrer suggested (E.Y.C., No. 128) that Henry was at York after the surrender of Tickhill (c. Aug. 1102) and that both this charter and No. 713 were issued then, but substituted 1105 in the Itinerary. It may be later than No. 679, which was in favour of Abbot Helgod (d. 1104), and of the same date as No. 713: it must be after Waldric became Chancellor (Apr.–May 1103; see H. W. C. Davis in E.H.R. xxvi. 87).

715. [1105, Autumn?] York

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he confirms to the church and monks of the Holy Trinity at York all their tenures, &c., as given by Ralph Paynel in his charter (enumerated); also the gifts of Jordan son of Ralph.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albin; Robert de Brus; Eudo (Eun) Dapifer; Ralph de Rouellé (Roliaco); Alan son of Flaald; Ranulf the treasurer. [1103–8.]

[Pat. R. 30 Ed. III, pt. 3, m. 13 (inspeximus); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 9, fo. 106 (from preceding). Monast. iv. 683b, No. v; Clay, E.Y.C. vi. 72 (No. 4).] Farrer, Itin. 121d.

This is probably an inflated version of the preceding.

716. [1105, c. Dec. 18]

Letter from Henry I to Abp. Anselm: The King has heard with regret from Robert, a clerk of his chancery, that there are now two Popes in Rome. The Abp., as the most concerned, must decide whether the messengers should proceed or not. If not, the Abp. is to keep William [de Warelwast] with him and send Baldwin [of Tournay] to the King with his advice. If they go, he is to send one of his household to the King instead.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Count of Meulan.

The election of the antipope Silvester IV is dated 18 Nov. 1105.

717. [1105?] Dec. 25. Westminster 'In Natali Domini'

Christmas was kept at Westminster in 1102, 1103, and 1105.

718. [1105?], Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. of Worcester, Walter the Sheriff of Gloucester, and all the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: That he has granted to St.

Martin of Troarn that land which Mabel the Countess [of Shrewsbury] held of his father in England, free of custom and service as his father granted it for Mabel's soul.

Witnesses: W[aldric] the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan. [1102, 1103, or 1105.]

719. [1105, Dec. 25?]

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. [of Worcester] and Walter the sheriff and all the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: that he has granted to St. Martin's of Troarn the monastery (monasterium) and parish of Horsley absolutely free from all subjection to the church and parish of Avening, as Avening is free from Horsley.

Witnesses: Robert Count of Meulan; Robert the chaplain of Rouen. [1100–5.]

[Roll ('of 1120') in Archives of Calvados (copy); P.R.O. Transcript 8/140 B, pt. 3, p. 326. Round, C.D.F. No. 475 (p. 168) (calendared); D'Anisy, Catalogue, ii. 434 (calendared).]

The concurrent grants of Robert fitz Hamon and Bp. Samson (Round, C.D.F. 473–4) imply that this charter was issued before Robert fitz Hamon became incapable early in 1105.

720. [1105], Christmas. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Gerard Abp. of York and Osbert the sheriff and Richard Sheriff of Nottingham: Giving and granting the church of Laughton-en-le-Morthen (Le-stona) with all appurtenances to the church of St. Peter of York to form a prebend (in prebendam). Commanding, therefore, that the said prebend be as quit and free in respect of all customs and that it have itself the same customs as the older prebends of the said church (of York). Also that St. Peter the Apostle is to hold the prebend perpetually.

Witnesses: Bernard the chaplain; Robert Malet. [1101–3 or 1105.]

This Charter is probably not much later than Queen Matilda's dated at York (No. 675), perhaps in 1104 (see Ord. Vit. iv. 200).

721. [1100–5.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Berkshire: To put the church of Abingdon in possession of the land [at Wytham] which Ranulf the Bp. gave to Robert de Calzmont, if that land belongs to the demesne of that church.

Witnesses: W. chancellor;¹ R. fitz Hamon.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142; C. IX, fo. 149v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 83; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 96.]

¹ This may be either William Giffard, who was chancellor in 1100–1, or Waldric, chancellor in 1103–7. Robert fitz Hamon was captured early in 1105, receiving a blow which took away his reason till his death in 1107 (Ord. Vit. iv. 203; Will. Malm., Gest Reg. ii. 475).

722. [1102–5.] Chute [Ceat]

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Berks.: That he has quitclaimed to the monks of Abingdon the gelds and pleas and other customs due on five hides of land at Littleworth (Wrtha) [in Farringdon, co. Berks.] 'ad opus eleemosynae ipsius ecclesiae'.

Witnesses: Matilda the Queen; Robert fitz Hamon. Per Reiner of Carisbrook (de Kerisburc).

723. [1102–5?] Chute (Ceat)¹

Precept by Henry I to R. Bp. of Chester and Robert de Ferrars and Richard son of Gotse: To reise Bp. Robert [of Lincoln] and his churches of the Peak of their lands and tithes and customs and meadows and woods as they were seised when the King gave his demesne of the Peak to William Peverel; because the King gave him nothing of which the said churches were seised.

Witness: The Count of Meulan.

724. [1105?] Wallingford

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] Sheriff of Oxfordshire: To allow the church of St. Mary of Abingdon to have its customary jurisdiction over all its men particularly over the brother of Atselm and the squire (scutiger) of Anskitil who brawled together.

725. [1105?] Wallingford

Precept by Henry to all the barons of the abbey of Abingdon: Commanding that they keep the King's guard (wardam suam) at Windsor as in the time of Rainald the abbot and the King's brother and as Faritius the abbot has directed. The King much regrets (multum me piget) that they do not obey the abbot's command as they ought.

Notts.] and Stow [co. Lincs.] and the right of warren in the whole soke of Newark and Stow. Over whomsoever offends in this matter, the Bp. is to have such forfeiture as the King's father and brother had.

Witness: Hugh de Envermeu. [1100–15.]

728. [1102–5] 'Lega' [Besselsleigh]

Precept (Sciatis quod volo, et concedo, et praecipio) by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Hugh de Bocland [Sheriff of Berks.]: That Abbot Faritius and the monks of Abingdon hold the hundred of Hormer as they held it in the time of Edward the Confessor, William I, and William II.

729. [1102–5.] 'Lega' [Besselsleigh?]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester (Wircestr.) and Henry de Port [Sheriff of Hants]: That he has granted to Hawise wife of William Mauduit all her dower and all the lands, houses, &c., which William Mauduit gave her in his lifetime in Shalden, Hartley Mauduit, and houses &c. in Winchester, &c. The addressees are to let her have these as well as William Mauduit had them in the time of William I and William II.

Witnesses: W. de Werelwast; Eudo Dapifer; Robert fitz Hamon; Roger Bigod; Hamo Dapifer; William fitz Humphrey.

730.* [1103–5.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury, the Bp. of Salisbury, Robert fitz Hamon, and Hugh de Bocland Sheriff and all his barons and officials of London and Kent: That the abbot and monks of St. Peter's, Ghent, are to possess Lewisham and Greenwich as testified by the charters of Edward the Confessor and William I; also their land in London called Werman-acra, which is dependent on Greenwich; with the customs of sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief, flymenafyrmth, miskenning, &c. They are to have their market in the vill of Greenwich, and the merchants of this vill are to have the King's peace in going to Greenwich and returning thence. As to their mills, tolls, and measures for ale, they are only to answer to the abbot and monks and not to the King's officers; the royal almonry shall have no claim on this account.

[Cart. of St. Pierre de Gand (Arch. de la Flandre Orientale), fo. 14 (copy). Miraeus, iii. 106 (defective); Messenger des Sciences Historiques de Belgique (1842), 252 (abstract); Bull. de l'Acad. de Bruxelles, ix. 165; Van Lokeren, Chartes etc. de St. Pierre de Gand, i. 110, No. 170; Round, C.D.F. No. 1377 (p. 503) (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 119.

This charter is presumably adapted from the later charter (No. 1148) resealed by Hen. III in 1229 (Cal. Chart. R. I. 91), as the list of liberties is longer here. David, though in England in 1103 and 1105, was not 'earl' till after Anselm's death (Complete Peerage, vi. 641, n. (b)).

731. [1100–5.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln: That he has confirmed the alms of Roger fitz Gerald, viz. the land of Asgarby which he gave to St. Mary of Lincoln as a prebend for the benefit of Robert de Grainville, canon of Lincoln, with the bp.'s leave. The Bp. is to reaise Robert de Grainville in like manner as he held his prebend on the day of the death of William II.

Witnesses: Robert fitz Hamon; G[ilbert] fitz Richard.

732. [1100–5.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Earl Simon and William de Cahagnes and all his lieges: That he has restored to the church of Lincoln and Bp. Robert Kilsby (Chilesbi) [co. Northants.] with sac and soc and all the customs thereto pertaining in the time of Edward the Confessor and William I.

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; Hamo Dapifer.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Archives Reg. A i. 4, fo. 6d, No. xliii. Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 43.] Farrer, Itin. 42A.

William de Cahagnes seems to have ceased to be sheriff by 1106 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 162; see No. 744).

733.* [1100–5.]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter and John Bp. of Bath and Richard fitz Baldwin the sheriff and his other sheriffs, officials, and lieges: That he has granted in pure and perpetual alms to SS. Peter and Paul of Montacute [co. Somerset] and the Cluniac monks there serving God, the manor, church and hundred of Tintinhull; to be held as though it were the King's own alms and demesne, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all the customs and liberties with which the Count of Mortain held them.

[Copies in Chart. R. 13 Ed. I, m. 13; Montacute Cart., Trin. Coll. Oxon., fo. 3; Cal. Chart. R. ii. 313; Hunt, Montacute Cartulary (calendared), 121.]

The appearance of Robert fitz Hamon makes this charter suspect, since William is not known to have held the bishopric of Exeter before 1107, and William de Tancarville is an unlikely witness before the battle of Tinchebrai. The last three witnesses are probably borrowed from No. 1399. The address to the Bp. of Exeter and to Richard fitz Baldwin who was Sheriff of Devon about 1107–28 also seems inexplicable.

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Warin the sheriff and all the barons of Dorset: That for the salvation of his father and mother and predecessors and of himself, the King has confirmed to the monks of SS. Peter and Paul at Montacute [co. Somerset] the land of East Holme (Holna), as Alvred of Lincoln sold it to Grimbald the physician (medicus), and all their other possessions 'in liberam puram et perpetuam elemosinam' as freely as the King holds; and with all rights of jurisdiction which Alvred had over them and gave to the monks (sic).

[B.M. Add. Roll 24879 (4).]

This charter seems clearly spurious. The concurrence of Robert fitz Hamon and Ranulf the chancellor as witnesses with Warin the sheriff in the address confirms the suspicions aroused by the style of the charter.

735. [1102-5.]

Notification by Henry I to John Bp. [of Bath] and Aiulph the sheriff: That he has confirmed to the monks of Montacute the church of St. Peter with the castle and its chapel, orchards, and vineyards and the fair of Hamdon; the borough of Montacute and the market with the toll; and a number of other manors, hundred-courts, liberties, &c.

Signa: King Henry; Robert Count of Meulan; Robert fitz Hamon; Richard de Redvers; Ranulf the chaplain; Alvred Pincerna.

[MS. Trin. Coll. Oxford; P.R.O. Pat. R. 1 Hen. IV, pt. 5, m. 11. Montacute Cart. (calendared), 120; Monast. v. 166.]

The confirmation includes Tintinhull, the gift of which is attributed to Ranulf the chancellor (see No. 1399). The form of the charter is also dubious. Farrer rejected most of the Montacute charters.

735a. [1102-5.]

Charter of Henry I confirming, for the ransom of his own soul and the establishment of his realm, for the souls of William I and Matilda, and William II, and for the welfare of Queen Matilda and their children, the gift by Roger de Nonant to the church of SS. Sergius and Bacchus, [Angers], of the church of Totnes (Totenesio) and of the tithe of his own land except the manors of [Broad] Clyst (Cliston) and Dartington (Dertrinton), and 20s. of the farm of the castle; Ashprington also, which Roger gave at the dedication of the church, except the land of his knights, one man, and half the wood. Also the tithes which some of Roger's men gave.

Signa: The King; the Queen; Robert fitz Hamo; Roger Bp. Mandate by Henry I to Gerard Abp. [of York] and Osbert the sheriff and all the lieges of Yorkshire: That St. German of Selby and Abbot Hugh and his successors have and hold their land at Rawcliffe (Rodecliva) and a half carucate in Brayton and six bovates in Flaxley and their fishery of Whitgift.

Notification by Henry I to Rai[m]bert of Hastings, Robert fitz Ralf, and all of Hastings: That he has granted the monks of St. Martin's, Battle, and their men the same customs within and without their market as the men of Hastings have, as granted by William I. Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and A[iulf] the chamberlain and all his lieges of Dorset: That the Abbot of Abbotsbury [co. Dorset] is to hold his goods, men, and customs as in the time of William I. If anyone wrongs him or his men, the addressees are to do right on pain of £10 forfeiture. Bp. Roger and Alvred of Lincoln are to protect and maintain the abbot and to guard his property, as the King's justiciars.

Witnesses: Alvred of Lincoln: Croc the huntsman. [1102-16.]

755. [1106, c. May 13?] Salisbury

Notification by Henry I to Hugh of Leicester and G[eoffrey] Ridel and all his barons and lieges of Northamptonshire: That he has confirmed the concord between the Abbot of Thorney and Simon Chenduit (Caisneduth) respecting sixty acres of land in Charwelton which the abbot claimed against Simon and his father.

[C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii) v° (copy); Lansd. MS. 994, fo. 94v° (Bp. Kennett's Coll., transcript from a Thorney Cartulary).]

Compare with this charter Stenton, Northamptonshire Charters, p. 136, where later members of the Chenduit family hold in Charwelton.

756. [1106, June?]

Charter by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury: Restoring, at the abp.'s request, to the church of Canterbury the town (villam) of Slindon in Sussex, for many years violently alienated and lately in the King's demesne. This gift is never to be broken or the land taken away for exchange or otherwise.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; William de Warelwast; Robert Count of Meulan. [1101-7.]

[Copies in Lambeth MS. 1212, pp. 25, 333; D. & C. Cant. Reg. P, fo. 28v°.]

The Canterbury annals (Monast. i. 976) place this in 1106. William de Warelwast returned from Rome (probably about June) and after reporting to the King in England visited Anselm at Bec (Eadmer (R.S.), 181, and cf. Farrer, Itin. 166).

757. [1106, July.] Windsor

Letter from Henry I to Abp. Anselm: The King is sorry to hear of Anselm's illness. He would have been in Normandy himself by this time, but was awaiting Anselm's return to England. Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 129; C. IX, fo. 147. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 70.] Farrer, Itin. 116.

The chronicler places this writ immediately after Earl Richard of Chester's confirmation of Drew's gift on Whit-Sunday (13 May), 1106 (Farrer, Itin. 166). It must, however, be before Henry's crossing to Normandy 'before August', 1106 (A.S.C. i. 240).

759. [1106?] Bury St. Edmund's

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and Roger Bigod and Ralph Passelewe and all his lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he allows all the land [at Hengrave] which Peter of Bourges held from St. Edmund to be in the demesne of St. Edmund [of Bury]. Therefore, all the possessions of it are to be at peace, with soc and sac, toll and team, and infangthief, as in the time of Abbot Baldwin. If any man encroach upon these rights, the addressees are to do justice. The men of the abbey are to have the King's peace.

Possibly granted during the voidance of the abbey after the deposition of Abbot Robert I in 1102.

762. [1106?] Bury St. Edmunds

Notification by Henry I addressed generally to his barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has given to the church of Norwich and Bp. Herbert and the monks the manor of Eaton [in Norwich], formerly given to the monks of the Holy Trinity by Alan fitz Flahald; with sac and soc, toll and team, and all other customs which the land enjoyed when it was in the King's demesne. Respecting this, the King will issue a charter when Alan comes to his court. Moreover, the King has given to the above land in Norwich, extending from the bp.'s land to the water, and from the bridge of St. Martin to the land of St. Michael; this with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other customs which the King had over the land. Also, he has granted a prolongation of the fairs (feriarum) at Norwich from sunrise on the eve of Pentecost to sunset on the Tuesday after the octave of Pentecost; this with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other customs pertaining to the fair-right (ius feriarum) and this in the whole banlieu (leuga) of Norwich. Also fairs for three days at Lynn at the feast of St. Margaret and at Hoxne at St. Peter's Day with like customs.

This charter must be earlier than No. 1036.

763. [1106?] 'Chigeberga' [Chigborough (near Maldon, Essex)?]

Notification by Henry I to J[ohn] Bp. of Bath and A[iulf] the chamberlain and the barons of Somerset: That he has confirmed to God and the Holy Trinity and the monks of Cluny the land of Preston Bermondsey (Prestitona) which Ansger Brito gave them.

Witnesses: Walter fitz Ansger; A[iulf] the chamberlain; R. de Beauchamp. [1100–7.]

The Bermondsey chronicle appears to place Ansger's gift in 1092 and Walter's confirmation in 1126 (Ann. Monast. (R.S.), iii. 434). Walter fitz Ansger does not attest at any fixed date after 1107 and the limits of Aiulf's sheriffdom are not clearly determined.

764. [1103–6] Cannock (Lecanot)

Notitia of a Charter by Henry I to St. Stephen of Caen: Confirming the charter of Count Robert concerning the market of Cheux [Calvados] (No. 621).

766. [1101-July 31, 1106.] King's Cliffe (Cliva)

Precept by Henry I to Nicholas the Sheriff of Staffordshire: To be at the King's court on the first day of Lent, if he wishes to claim the land of Coton-in-the-Elms (Cotes) against the Abbot of Burton. Otherwise, he is to let the abbot have the land, and to take nothing thence.

Witnesses: W[aldric] the chancellor; H[enry], Earl of Warwick; W. de —.

[Copy in Burton Cart. (belonging to the Marquis of Anglesey). Wm. Salt Soc., Old Ser., v (1), 8.] Farrer, Itin. 141.

The Chancellor may be either William or Waldric, but this writ appears to be later than No. 600, which refers to proceedings on a writ of William II.

767. [1101-6.] King's Cliffe (Cliva)

Precept by Henry I to G[erard] Abp. [of York] and R[anulf] Bp. [of Durham] and all the sheriffs and others of England: That the monks of St. Cuthbert [of Durham] and their men are not to plead or answer at law respecting their lands, men, or customs or anything of which they were seised on the day when William Bp. of Durham was alive and dead; but they are to hold with sac and soc, toll and team, and all customs which they had at that date. If they have been disseised of anything since that time they are to be resealed without delay. If any man henceforth disseise them or do them any wrong, he is guilty of a breach of the King's special peace, and shall pay the forfeit therefor to the King.

First seal of Henry I; fragments only, in white wax (Greenwell and Blair, 3014).

This is probably of the same date as the preceding.

If they have been disseised of anything since the death of Bp. R. (sic), they are to be resealed without delay; for all the property of St. Cuthbert is in the King's hand and protection, as though it were his own alms. If any man has disseised them or done them wrong, he shall pay to the King the forfeiture for the breach of his peace.

Witnesses: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; R[obert] Count of Meulan; Roger Bigod; Urse d' Abitôt.

[Pseudo-original. Durham Cath. ii^{nda} i^{mae} Regalium, No. 8. Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. xxix. 256.] Farrer, Itin. 142.

Apparently a forgery based on the preceding.

Birch uses this charter to prove the use of the fourth seal as early as 1108.

769. [1100-6.] London

Notification by Henry I to H[ugh] de Boc[land], W[illiam] the chamberlain, W[illiam] de Magnavilla, and the lieges of Middlesex: That he has granted to St. Peter of Westminster and Abbot Gilbert the manor of Eye [in Westminster] which Geoffrey de Magnavilla and his wife gave them.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; W. the chancellor. [1100-1 or 1103-6.]

[Copies in Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 73v^o; Westm. Abbey, 'Lib. Niger', fo. 6. Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, p. 142.] Farrer, Itin. 66.

The chancellor may be either William Giffard or Waldric. Hugh seems to have been Sheriff of Middlesex at least as early as 1103. See E.H.R. xxxvii. 163, n. 5. It seems possible that Roger de Valognes was sheriff in 1100-1 (see No. 556), and that Hugh succeeded him before the end of July 1101 (see No. 532). It is probable that Geoffrey de Mandeville I died in 1100 and that the Geoffrey who was Sheriff of Devon, and witnessed charters in England and Normandy from 1100 to 1113, was Geoffrey de Mandeville of Marshwood [co. Dorset]¹. Geoffrey de Mandevill II (of Essex) was paying off his relief for the inheritance from his father William in 1130 and had probably been doing so for two or three years (P.R. 31 Hen. I, p. 55).

770. [1100-1106, July 31.] 'Perem' [Parham, co. Suffolk or Sussex?]

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Earl Simon and William de Cahagnes and all of Northamptonshire: That he has given to the monks of La Charité who dwell at Northampton a mill at Hardingstone (Hardingthorpe) yielding at least 36s. annually, for the souls' health of his parents and his brother, King William, and himself and his queen, Matilda.

Witnesses: William de Albin. Per Ralph Fraunc'.

[B.M. MS. Reg. 11 B. ix, fo. 19b (copy of 13th c. or early 14th c.).]

Robert de Pavilli appears to have succeeded William de Cahagnes as sheriff by 1106 (see No. 743).

771. [1106?] Sawtry (Apud Saltredam)

Precept by Henry I to his sheriffs and officials in England: Wherever the monks of Ely can find timber and lead and iron and stone for sale or anything else of which they have need for building their church, they are to be quit of all toll and custom.

Witness: Roger Bigod. [1100-7.]

[Cotton MS. Titus A. I, fo. 32v^o (copy). Bentham, Hist. of Church of Ely, App. 18.] Farrer, Itin. 139.

This writ was presumably issued between the deposition of Abbot Richard in 1102 and his absolution by the Pope, 30 Apr. 1107 (Jaffé, Regesta, i. 6152). It is probably of the same year as No. 772.

Another charter to the same effect also dated at Sawtry and attested by W[aldric] the chancellor.

[Liber Eliensis; Bentham, op. cit., App. 18*.] Farrer, Itin. 140.

772. [1103-1106, July 31.] Stamford

Notification by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and the barons and burgesses of Lincoln: That he has granted to God and St. Mary and Bp. Robert and the canons his vineyard at Lincoln. Let John the reeve seise them of it.

Witnesses: W[aldric] the chancellor; E[udo] Dapifer; Urse d' Abitôt.

773. [1100-1106, July 31.] Stamford

Notification by Henry I (Rex Anglie) to Geoffrey de Mandevill and all of Devonshire: That he has granted to St. Mary of Tavistock and the monks there a weekly market on Fridays, at which merchants may buy and sell what they will.

Witnesses: William Warelwast; Alfred of Lincoln; Harding fitz Alnod; Walter fitz Ansgar.

[Copy in Tavistock Chartulary (Woburn Abbey), fo. 1v^o. E.H.R. lxii. 355.]

William of Warelwast was out of England for the winters 1103-4 and 1105-6 and in Apr. 1107. Henry was in Normandy from Aug. 1106 till Mar. or Apr. 1107. Mr. H. P. R. Finberg in E.H.R., loc. cit., dates the charter [c. 1105] arguing from No. 684, the only other charter known to be witnessed by Harding fitz Alnod.

774. [1103-1106, July 31.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to justiciars, sheriffs, &c., of all England: That he has confirmed to St. Peter and the Abbot and monks of Chertsey the four manors of Chertsey, Egham, Thorp, and Chobham with all the appurtenances, free of geld, danegeld, murdrum, and every shire-court (com') and plea and plaint. They are not to plead, nor answer to any, except in their own hundred-court. And no sheriff is to hold pleas there except with the leave of the abbot. But they are to be free of all customs which pertain to the Crown, with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief, grith-brice, forestal, hamsoken, flymenafyrmth, in feasts and outside feast-tides; with all their other customs, within and without borough, both in woods pertaining to the said manors and in other things. And in all their woods they are to have the power of taking timber for the use of their church, without anyone's leave (sine alicuius condictione). They may have their own dogs to take hares and foxes and wild cats on their own land, both within and without the forest. No forester or other official is to disturb or implead the monks. The King confirms all the liberties granted by the charters of Edward the Confessor and William I.

775. [1106.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Maurice Bp. of London and H[ugh] of Bocland and Eudo Dapifer and all the barons of Essex: That he has confirmed to the canons of Colchester, and the church of SS. Julian and Botolph, the land which Count Eustace of Boulogne gave to them.

Count Eustace was in England in 1101 and 1106, and Roger de Sumeri attests No. 749.

776. [1103–1106, July 31.] Westminster

Precept by Henry to Hamo Dapifer and Hugh de Bocland: That fishermen are not to fish in the Rochester fishery on Thames, before the fishery of 'Niuuera' [i.e. New Wear] which belongs to the church of Rochester. 'Et si ulterius inveniuntur piscantes sint mihi forisfacti.'

Witness: Waldric¹ the chancellor.

777. [1103–1106, July 31.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and R[oger] Bigod and R[alph] Passelewe and the barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That St. Edmund and Abbot Robert [II of Bury St. Edmunds] have their 8½ hundreds as freely as Abbot Baldwin had them. All who hold land within the said hundreds are to resort to the hundred-courts and the pleas held by the abbot's justiciar as they are bound to do; and the abbot may compel them to come (justificet ut venient). Within the said hundreds, the officials of the abbot are to collect the King's gelds and scots and to bring them to the royal treasury, as they were wont to do in the time of Abbot Baldwin.

Witnesses: Waldric the chancellor. Per William de la Rochelle (Rocellis).

'Haec carta confirmata est apud Wintoniam in concilio meo anno regni mei (sic) praesentibus omnibus baronibus meis et quibusdam subscribentibus.'

This charter is obviously a forgery. The place and witnesses may be genuine (cf. No. 783).

779. [1106, before July 31. (?)] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to W[illiam] Bp. of Exeter and all of Devonshire: That he confirms to the church of St. Nicholas, Exeter, and the monks there the church of South Tawton in frankalmoign, also that of North Tawton given by Robert Foliot.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; W[aldric] the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle.

[Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, fo. 28 (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 171.

Farrer notes this charter as spurious. The style is doubtful, but the substance and witnesses seem possible.

If it is genuine, William de Werelwast must have been nominated to Exeter before 1107.

780. [1101–1106, July 31?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to H[erbert] Bp. [of Norwich] and Robert Malet and Ralph de Beaufou: That the monks of Eye hold their land at Fressingfield and Thornham Magna (Pelecoc) [co. Suff.] as on the day when the King's father was alive and dead.

Witness: Ranulf Bp. of Durham. Per William de Houghton.

Farrer, Itin. 111.

Farrer dates 1104–6. Robert Malet was not exiled in 1102 as he attests with Waldric the chancellor.

Flambard escaped early in 1101 but was pardoned and was at Durham in 1104. But the charter may be spurious.

781. [1103–1106, July 31.] Winchester

Notification by Henry to Ranulf Meschin, Osbert the sheriff, and all his barons, French and English, of Lincolnshire: Granting to God and St. Mary of Lincoln and Bp. Robert and his successors for ever, the possession of the church of St. Benedict of Wigford (de Wichford) with all appurtenances. This is done at the request of Roger Bigod who gave that church in alms to God and St. Mary.

783.* [1106? before July 31.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That he has confirmed to Ernald le Rus (Ruffus) son of Roger, at the request of Count Stephen of Mortain, the gift which Stephen made to him of the manor of Stradbroke [co. Suffolk] which is in the honour of Eye; together with the gift of the churches of Stradbroke and Wingfield, and all things pertaining to that manor, in fee and inheritance to him and his heirs, to hold from Stephen and his heirs, and the King and his heirs; with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief, and all liberties and customs; paying to Stephen and his heirs 28 pounds of silver in discharge of all services.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Waldric the chancellor; Stephen Count of Mortain; William Earl Warenne; Hamo Dapifer; John son of Stephen.

Stephen was made Count of Mortain after Tinchebrai (28 Sept. 1106), possibly as late as 1113 (see J. H. Round in Complete Peerage, ix. 243), and Waldric became Bp. of Laon in Feb. 1107. Henry was not in England between these dates. The charter, as enrolled, contains an interpolated description of Henry I as 'avus Regis Henrici avi Regis nunc'.

784. [1105–1106, July 31.]

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. of Worcester and Walter Sheriff of Gloucester: That he has confirmed the manor of Coln Rogers (co. Glos.) [Culna S. Andreae] to the church of St. Peter of Gloucester as Roger of Gloucester gave it.

The persons addressed, and all hundreds in which are the lands of Thorp, are to lay no scot or aid on the said manor, except such as they imposed when it was in royal demesne. It is to have the same freedom as the King's other manors, as he previously commanded.

790. 1106, Nov. 7. Rouen.

Notitia of the recovery by William III, Abbot of Fécamp, against the monks of St. Taurin, Évreux, of his right to appoint the Abbot of St. Taurin's, in the court of Henry I, then present, and in the chamber of William Abp. of Rouen.

794. [1106?] Before Arques 'in obsidione'

Notification by Henry I to all his officers of the comté and the forests of Arques and Aliermont; that St. Mary of Bec, for the use of her monks serving God at Envermeu, may have in his forest of Aliermont a grove (nemus) for firing and free pasture for their swine and animals.

795. [1106?] Before Arques

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff: To permit the bearer (huic) Robert de Grainville to have his prebend in Lincoln as the King granted by his writ. Let the King hear no more complaints on account of any new custom.

[Lincoln Cath., 'Reg. Antiquiss.' fo. 8 (copy). Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 57.] Farrer, Itin. 105A.

This writ must be later than No. 731, and it seems probable that the siege of Arques was after Tinchebrai.

796. 1106

Confirmation by Henry I to the monks of St. Valéry: Of their lands in England and their privileges, including criminal jurisdiction (omnem justiciam de assaltu et sanguinis effusione et pacis infractione) and exemption from shires and hundreds. They are not to answer for their lands and tenements before anyone except the King or his chief justiciar. The alienations of unwise abbots are to be null and void. (Spurious.)

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Waldric [the chancellor]; Reginald de St. Valéry.

Dr. Salter shows that this charter must be after Tinchebrai and before Feb. or Mar. 1107 when Waldric ceased to be chancellor. Roger is not known to have been in Normandy with the King. Reginald of St. Valéry, who died in 1166, can hardly have been old enough to attest, and he was the immediate successor of Walter, the Domesday tenant.

798. [1100-6.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That the Abbess of Barking is to hold her abbey as well and honourably with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, as she held in the time of King Edward, under his writ, and as William I granted by his writ and seal, and she is to have her wood as in the time of William I.

Robert Malet does not attest after 1106.

Monmouth] and land for making a borough, &c.; in England, the church of [Great] Cheverel (Capreolum) [co. Wilts.] and the church of Sutton Veney (Sutona). Diploma by Robert, Prince of Normandy and Count of Maine, to St. Vincent and St. Laurence of Le Mans and Abbot Ranulf and the monks of that church: Granting the tithe of the customs due to him in the castle of Fresnay-sur-Sarthe (Fraterniacum);¹ this for the souls of his father and his other predecessors whether in Normandy or in Maine.

[Copy, Martène et Durand, Amplissima Collectio, i. 567: 'Ex cartario S. Vincentii.']

¹ 'Fresne', the rendering of Martène and Durand, is probably a mere guess. The castle occurs as 'Freernai' on the Sarthe in the chronicle of Robert of Torigni (Bouquet, xiii. 311c).

802. [1100–6.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to W[illiam] Bp. of Winchester and Henry de Port and all his barons, officials, and lieges: That he has granted to God and St. Mary of Romsey and his wife, Queen Matilda, an annual fair at the feast of St. Ethelfleda, to last for four days, and this shall be on the fifteenth day after the feast of St. Denis (9 Oct.); to be held with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, and all other customs thereto pertaining. And the King grants his firm peace to those who resort to the fair. And moreover, he grants a Sunday market, with the aforesaid customs.

William de Pont de l'Arche seems to have succeeded Henry de Port as sheriff about 1106 (see No. 805).

803. [1103–6.]

Precept by Henry I to Roger de Martinwast, Henry de Port, Geoffrey the reeve, and the burgesses of Winchester: That Godfrey the Prior, and the monks of St. Peter hold those lands and houses which Hugh the larderer gave them as the good men of Winchester shall testify, and answer to no man. If Henry son of Hugh claims the monks hold more than Hugh gave them, judgement is to be given by the good men of Winchester. Roger is to cause the monks to have the customs of their vavasours as under Bp. Walkelin.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

804. [1100–6.]

Precept by Henry I to Henry de Port, Richard the Reeve and the burgesses of Winchester: That the Prior and monks of St. Swithun's hold those lands as in the time of William I and William II, especially that given by Hugh the larderer.

Witnesses: William de Warelwast; Grimbald the Physician.

William de Pont de l'Arche seems to have succeeded Henry de Port as sheriff in 1106. See Nos. 805–6.

805. [1103–6.]

Precept by Henry I to William de Pont de l'Arche, Roger de Martinwast, and all ministers of Hampshire: That the priests who hold churches on the demesne lands of the monks of Winchester, particularly St. Faith's, Havant, pay the 'priests' pennies' due from their churches. If not, the monks shall pay and be quit henceforth.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

806. [1103–6.]

Precept by Henry I to William de Pont de l'Arche, Croc the huntsman, and Ranulf del Broc: To deal fairly with the men of the Bp. and monks of Winchester who have been summoned to shires and hundreds which they have not been accustomed to attend.

Witness: Waldric the chancellor.

807. [1104–1107, Easter.] Lillebonne

Precept by Henry I to William Peverel of Nottingham and Richard son of Gotze and Roger Lovetot: That the church of Laughton-en-le-Morthen (Lestona), which the King and his wife, Queen Matilda, have granted as a prebend to St. Peter of York, shall have the tithes pertaining to it without molestation. It is the King's will that the alms of himself and the Queen be not diminished, no matter who is the tenant of the lands. The monks of Blyth are to be forbidden to interfere therein.

Witness: William de Albini. Per John de Sées.

[Copies in York Minster, 'Liber Albus', pt. 1, fo. 63; pt. ii, fo. 84. Monast. viii. 1179; Raine, Hist. of the Church of York, iii. 31.] Farrer, Itin. 106.

The King was not in Normandy before 4 Aug. 1104. Haskins assigns this and the following writ to 1106–7 (Norm. Inst. 310). Roger de Lovetot was dead before the foundation of Radford (afterwards Worksop) Priory, which is attributed to 1103 by the 15th-c. verse chronicle (Monast. vi. 122 (ix)). But as William's charter of foundation is addressed to T. Abp. of York this date is impossible. Moreover, Roger's nephew Richard seems to have succeeded him about 1116. (Farrer, E.Y.C. iii. 3–5.) Helgot had probably succeeded Richard son of Gotse as sheriff by May 1105 (No. 704) and Henry had not been in Normandy since Easter 1107.

808. [1104–1107, Easter.] Lillebonne

Precept by Queen Matilda to William Peverel of Nottingham, Richard the son of Gotse, and Roger de Lovetot: Commanding that the church of Laughton-en-le-Morthen (Lestona) which the Queen has given to St. Peter of York to form a prebend (in praebendam) fully have the tithes which belong to it; and that neither the monks of Blyth nor any other men interfere (se intromittant) therein. Also enjoining and commanding the addressees (vos autem precor et praecipio) that her alms be not diminished and that no one interfere therein except the canons of York themselves.

Witnesses: John de Sagio; Bernard the chaplain.

Haskins (Norm. Inst. 310) points out that if Matilda only once visited Normandy (Annales Monastici (Winchester), ii. 42) this cannot be later than 14 Apr. 1107.

810. [1107, Mar.–Apr.] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to Richard de Belmeis and the reeve of Chichester and the barons of Sussex: That he has confirmed to the church of the Holy Trinity at Chichester a fair of eight days' duration at the season fixed by Bp. Ralph, namely one day before the feast and six days after it. The bp. and his successors are to have the whole of their customs in the vill and outside it. All resorting to the fair are to have the King's peace, and no one is to molest them on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan. [1107–8.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 12 Ed. III, No. 40; Bp.'s Muniments, Chichester, Liber A, fo. 25; B, fos. 24, 33v°; E, fo. 157v°. Cal. Chart. R. iv. 440; Hist. MSS. Comm. Rep. on MSS. in Various Collections, i. 181 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 169.

Possibly issued just after the King's return from France in Lent 1107. The address to Richard is probably before his election to the see of London and therefore before July 1108.

811. [1107, Mar.–Apr. ?] Portsmouth

Precept by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Walter [Huse] the Sheriff of Wilts.: That the Abbess and nuns of Romsey hold in peace their land and property and tithes which Stephen fitz Arard gave them along with his daughter, and especially the tithe of Whitsbury (Wyteberia). They are not to be impleaded concerning it, except by the King's command.

Witness: Gilbert de l'Aigle. [1100-10.]

Walter Huse had been replaced by William de Pont de l'Arche as sheriff before 29 May 1110 (No. 947).

812. [1107, after May 1.] Westminster

Notification by Henry to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Hugh de Bocland, and all his lieges, French and English, of Bedfordshire: Granting to the church of St. Mary of Abingdon the land which Henry de Albini gave to the said church: namely one hide of land at Holme and half a virgate of land and half a hide in Stratton in the hundred of Biggleswade (Bicheleswatere).

The above grant was made by Henry de Albini, 1 May 1107 (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 100).

813. [1107, June 2.] Pentecost, Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Nigel d' Oilli and Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Bucks. and William Sheriff of Oxford: Of a confirmation to God and St. Mary and the monks of Abingdon of the mill called Boiemilne &c. given by William fitz Aiulf and the land between Ackhamstead (Hemmestedam) and Marlow which Robert fitz Hamon gave and the land of Alword de Sutton [in Colnbrook] as Milo Crispin gave it; and the land of Robert son of Hervey which Matilda the Queen gave.

Farrer, Itin. 174.

The grant here confirmed was made between Aug. 1106-7, while Roger Bigod died in 1107. The A.S.C. records that Henry held his Whitsuntide court at Westminster in 1107.

814. [1107?] Westminster

Precept by Henry to Nigel d' Oilli and William the Sheriff of Oxford: Commanding that they do full right to the Abbot of Abingdon in respect of his sluice which the men of Stanton Harcourt (?) (Estantona) have broken under penalty of £10.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor. [1107-10.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 143v^o; C. IX, fo. 150v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 92; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 89.]

The conjunction of Nigel d'Oilli (as justiciar?) with William as sheriff suggests 1107. Cf. No. 813.

815. [1107?] Cornbury

Precept by Henry I to William Sheriff of Oxford: To do justice to Abbot Faritius respecting the men of Stanton Harcourt (?) (Estantona) who have broken the abbot's sluice, under penalty of £10.

Witness: Eudo Dapifer. [1107-10.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 143v^o; C. IX, fo. 151. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 92.]

This is clearly a reiteration of the preceding and therefore not before 1107.

816. [1107, June 2.] Pentecost, Westminster

Notitia of a confirmation by Henry I to Abingdon Abbey: Of a grant made by Robert fitz Hamon, towards the time of his death.

817. [1102–7.] Pentecost, Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to St. Augustine's, Canterbury, sac and soc, grith-breach (pacis fractura) and hamfare (pugnam in domo factam) and highway robbery (vie assultus) and infangthief (latrones in terra sua capti) and harbouring or feeding of thieves over their own men; and their toll by land and water and the custom which is called 'teames' over all the allodiarii whom the King has given to them. These customs are given as William I and William II gave them.

Witnesses: William de Warelwast; Turstin the chaplain. [1102, 1104, or 1107.]

818. [1102–7.] Pentecost, Westminster

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln and R[anulf] fitz Ranulf and the barons of Lincolnshire: That in his presence and with his consent, Hugh of Envermeu has restored to St. Peter of Westminster, and Abbot Gilbert, the manor of Doddington which he had received from the said abbot, in the presence of William II, in exchange for the manor of Duxford (Ducesworthe) [co. Camb.] which he had given to Abbot Gilbert. The King has restored Duxford to Count Eustace and has given Hugh an exchange for it, wherefore he has restored to St. Peter his manor.

Witnesses: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; Henry Earl of Warwick; Gilbert fitz Richard; William de Warelwast; and many others. [1102, 1104, or 1107.]

Before the consecration of William de Warelwast as Bp. of Exeter; 1102, 1104, and 1107 are the only years in which Pentecost was kept at Westminster.

818a. [1105–7], June 22.

Notification by Queen Matilda to all her French men: That she has given to Michael de Hamsclape . . . of land which she had in Barrowden (Bergendona), Luffenham, and in Seaton (Segentona) and Thorpe by the Water (Torp) [Rutland].

819. [1107, June?] Cirencester

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of Bayeux and his chapter: That Godfrey (Godefridus) the priest has proved his claim to the church of St. Sauveur in the market place of Caen 'in curia mea ante episcopos meos et clerum meum'. To this are witnesses John Bp. of Lisieux, and the Bp. of Sées and the Bp. of Avranches and Fulbert the archdeacon and all the chapter of Rouen. 'Et videte ne amodo dissaisiatur sine recto iudicio.'

[Bayeux Cath., Livre Noir, fo. 9 (copy). Bourrienne, Cart. Antiq. Ecclesiae Baiocensis, i. 44.] Farrer, Itin. 185.

The mention of Fulbert as archdeacon (rather than dean) seems to make the earlier date the more probable.

820. [1107, June?] Cirencester

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs, &c.: That the men of the monks of Gloucester be free of toll and custom and passage so far as concerns what they need for their own use.

The omission of St. Mary makes it likely that this charter is before the dedication of the new church at Tynemouth (20 Aug. 1110). See Craster in Hist. Northumberland, viii. 57.

825. [1107, Aug. 1. Westminster]

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That he has confirmed to the Abbot and monks of St. Mary of Montebourg the site of their abbey and the vill of Montebourg with the mills, the market, and the three fairs, viz. at the Purification, Assumption, and Ascension. The King's justiciars are not to do any justice in Montebourg on the days of the market and the fairs, but the abbot and monks are to have their full jurisdiction. Their goods are to be free of toll and passage-money in the whole of the King's land. They are to have wood from the King's forest of Montebourg for their fuel, fences, and buildings; and free pasture for their swine and other beasts. And from the forest of Brix (Bruis), for the fuel of their tenants (hospitum) as many trees annually as there are weeks in the year; and in the same forest, timber for their church and other buildings and quittance from pannage and other forest customs; and so likewise in the other forests of the Cotentin. And the right fluke (cutellum) from the tail of every great fish (omnium crassorum piscium) caught within the diocese of Coutances. And the church of Gatteville [Manche], of the fee of Gautier Broc, with its lands and tithes. And the right of freely electing their own abbots. And he confirms to them various lands in Normandy and England, particularly the manors of Loders [co. Dorset], Axmouth [co. Devon], and Weeke [I. of Wight]. These manors to be held free of all secular services and customs, with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief. And he confirms the gifts made by the men of Richard de Redvers, with Richard's consent. And he frees the men of the vill of Montebourg from all host-service, except when the summons is made for a battle (nomine belli).

The version on fo. 10 of the B.M. MS. attributes the charter to William II as does Gallia Christiana. If genuine this charter must have been issued in the council of London (Aug. 1107). The list of signa in Gallia Christiana omits Queen Matilda, and adds Ralph (sic) Bp. of Durham; John Bp. of Bath; Urban Bp. of Llandaff (Langdac); Hugh Abbot of St. Augustine's, Canterbury; Peter Abbot of Gloucester; Germond, Abbot of Winchcombe; Count Eustace; Robert the chaplain; William Estur[mi]; Humphrey de Bohun; and Alfred of Lincoln.

828. [1107, Aug. 1.]

Charter (diploma form) by Henry I to the churches of St. Albans and St. Mary of Binham: Confirming the gift of the manor of Binham which Peter de Valoignes gave to them; for the souls of the King's father and mother and the salvation of himself, his wife Matilda, and their offspring; and for himself and his wife Albreda, &c. Confirming also Peter's gift of two-thirds of the tithes of Dersingham and Inglethorp [co. Norfolk] of his demesne and two-thirds of the knights who hold from him in Norfolk with their consent; and the promise made by Peter that his said knights, if they die in England, are to be interred at Binham; and that their part of their substance, to wit those manors of which the church of Binham has the tithes, shall be then given to the said church, no matter where they die and are buried. The church of Binham is to be in subjection to St. Albans, as that of St. Pancras at Lewes is subject to Cluny. It shall pay to St. Albans one mark of silver annually at the feast of St. Alban. This gift was made by Peter de Valoignes and Albreda his wife, with the consent of their sons William and Roger and by the advice of their nephew Walter, &c.

The Signa, in the cartulary, are entered after the witnesses to the following charter. They appear to indicate the Council of London (1 Aug. 1107) as the occasion of the grant. The charter is, however, suspicious in form.

829. [1107?]

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That for the souls of his father and mother and of his brother, King William, he gives to the nuns of St. Amand of Rouen ten muids (modios) of wine a year from his cellar.

Signa: King Henry; Robert Count of Meulan; William Peverel of Dover; Walter fitz Ansger; Ranulf Meschin; Ranulf the chancellor. [1107–18.]

830.* [1107, Aug. 1.] Westminster.

Notification by Henry I to H[erbert] Bp. [of Norwich], R[oger] Bigod, and generally: That he has granted and confirmed to St. Mary's, Binham, and the monks of St. Albans there that they may hold their lands and men everywhere quit of suits of shires and hundreds, gelds, works, customs, and aids, tolls, ferry-dues, and all claims of kings and lords or their bailiffs, and have the same liberties as St. Albans of exclusive jurisdiction over their men. Also a market at Binham on Wednesdays, and a fair on the eve and four days of the Assumption, with the same liberties as the king.

Witnesses: Abp. Anselm; R[anulf] the chancellor. [Spurious.]

[Copies in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] 13 (N.), 41, 17 (R.), 22; Cotton MS. Claud. D. XIII, fo. 38v°. Monast. iii. 351 (xv).] Farrer, Itin. 194.

The reference to 'bailiffs' and the style of the charter are enough to condemn it.

831. [1107, c. Aug. 1.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to the church of the Blessed Mary of Evesham the hundred of Blackhurst [co. Worcs.], and to hold their lands free of service except that of four knights and a half on expeditions in which the King is present. At the petition of Ranulf the chancellor, the King grants a port and market at Stow-on-the-Wold (Eadwardestowe) [co. Glos.] every Thursday, and that the church have all the customs which the King has in his ports and boroughs.

Witnesses: Abp. Anselm; Abp. Gerard; Bp. Samson; Robert Count of Meulan; Henry Earl of Warwick; Urse d' Abitôt. [Apr. 1107–May 1108.]

[Copies in B.M. Campbell Charter xviii. 12 (inspeximus of Ed. III); P.R.O. Augment. Office, Misc. Bk., 29, No. 5; Chart. R. 25 Hen. III, m. 4; 3 Ed. III, No. 1; 3 Ric. II, No. 16; Harl. MS. 3763, fo. 119 (inspeximus of Hen. III); Pat. R. 7 Ed. IV, pt. 3, m. 4. Cal. Chart. R. i. 257–8.] Farrer, Itin. 206–7.

832. 1107, [c. Aug. 5?]

Charter by Earl Simon and Maud his wife to the monks of La Charité in the church of St. Andrew at Northampton: Making and confirming various grants, 'laudante et confirmante Henrico Anglorum rege, octavo imperii sui anno coram subscriptis testibus'.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Abp. Anselm; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Bp. of Chester; John Bp. of Lis[ieux]; Samson Bp. [of Worcester]; John Bp. of Bath (Baens); Gundulf Bp. of Rochester; Maurice Bp. of London; Ranulf the chancellor; Henry Earl of Warwick; William Earl Warenne; Nigel d'Oilli; Robert de Ferrers; Eudo Dapifer; William de Albini (Aubeney); William de Courci; Robert Count of Meulan; David the Queen's brother.

[Copies in B.M. Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVII, fo. 13v°; Royal MS. XI. B. ix, fo. 5v°; Bodl. Dodsworth MSS. 79, fo. 12v° and 100, fo. 3 (transcripts from Sir John Lamb's Cartulary). Monast. v. 191 (vii).] Farrer, Itin. 197.

The charter cannot be later than 26 Sept. 1107, the date of Bp. Maurice's death, and the 8th year begins on 5 Aug. The number of bishops attesting suggests the period of the council of London.

833. [1107, c. Aug. 5?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he gives to the monks of La Charité, who serve God in the church of St. Andrew of Northampton, the mill called Cotesmelne, at Hardingstone [co. Northants.]; this for the souls of his ancestors, and the salvation of himself and his Queen, Matilda; and confirms the gifts of Earl Simon and his wife Maud (Matilda) and others; especially all the churches of Northampton, three carucates and three strips (dalos) of meadow and one river-meadow (hulmum) in Northampton, and 20s. from the ferm of the said vill annually at Michaelmas and the settlers (hospites) on the monks' land outside the old ditch, free from all the customs of the vill; and common of pasture there for the beasts of themselves and their tenants. And in Huntingdon, 10s. annually; and two hides in Stythbury [co. Northants.]; the demesnes of Earl Simon at Hardingstone and Hackleton [co. Northants.] and the new mill at Hardingstone called Riscmiln; the church and the whole tithe of Hardingstone and of Brafield [co. Northants.] and of Exton [co. Rutland] and whatever Walter the chaplain held at Exton; portions of the tithes of Yardley Hastings [co. Northants.], Barton Earls [co. Northants.] Tottenham (Toteham) [co. Middx.], Quinton [co. Northants.], Stretton [co. Rutland], Harringworth [co. Northants.], Fotheringhay [co. Northants.], Daventry [co. Northants.], Stukeley [co. Huntingdon], Potton [co. Bedford]; two virgates, and twenty acres of heath in Potton and 20s. annually from the mills of Paxton [co. Huntingdon], to buy wine for masses, payable at Easter; three loads of wheat for making wafers (oblatus), from Barton Earls; two-thirds of the tithe of the demesnes of Wollaston [co. Northants.] and Thorpe [co. Northants.], and the church of Ryhall [co. Rutland] by the gift of Payn; the church and tithe of Moulton [co. Northants.] by the gift of Grimbold; and the tithe of Bundo and a carucate in the said vill; two-thirds of the demesne of Spratton (Sprotton) [co. Northants.] by the gift of Achard; and the demesne of Little Houghton [co. Northants.], by the gift of Oger. The monks are to hold their men and lands free and quit of gelds, scots, aids, customs, pleas, and complaints, with sac and soc, toll and team, and infang-thief. The servants of the monks are to be free, at Northampton and throughout England, from toll and passage-money and every custom on goods which are for the private use of the monks.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Bp. of Chester; John Bp. of Bayeux (sic); Gundulph (Rannulpho) Bp. of Rochester; Ranulf the chancellor; Maurice Bp. of London; William Earl Warenne; Robert Count of Meulan.

[B.M. MS. Reg. 11. B. ix, fo. 14 (copy of 13th or early 14th c.); Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVII, fo. 13b (copy of 15th c.).] Farrer, Itin. 196.

In MS. Reg. 11. B. ix, ff. 16, 17b, 18b are versions of the same grant, with slight variations. The first and third of these give some additional witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; David the Queen's brother; Robert de Ferrers. This charter presents the appearance of successive attempts to produce a formal confirmation of the preceding. The substitution of 'Baicensis' for 'Baensis' in all versions is significant.

834. [1107, before Sept. 15.] Thetford

Charter of Roger Bigod giving to the Abbot and monks of Cluny the church of St. Mary of Thetford, which he has begun to build.

Witnesses: Herbert Bp. [of Norwich]; Gundulf Bp. [of Rochester]; Robert Bloet Bp. [of Lincoln]; Alvred the archdeacon; Geoffrey the archdeacon; Rotold filius comitis; Ranulf the chancellor; Eudo Dapifer; William Malet; Eustace de Breteuil.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Vitell. F. IV; Bibl. Nat., Coll. de Bourgogne, lxxix, No. 179. Monast. v. 148; Bruel, Chartes de l'Abbaye de Cluny, v, No. 3748 (from 13th c., copy without witnesses).] Farrer, Itin. 199.

Dated 'dum rex moram fecit apud Thetford, ubi et hoc † Signum Sanctæ crucis et sigillum suum in testimonium apposuit'. Rotoldus filius comitis may possibly be Rotrou II Count of Perche who did not assume the title of count until 1113, when he obtained possession of Bellême, although his father Geoffrey Count of Perche died in 1100.

835. [1107, before Sept. 15.] Thetford

Notification by Henry I to all of Norfolk and Suffolk: Confirming Bp. Herbert's gifts to the monks of Holy Trinity, Norwich, in accordance with the bp.'s charters. 'Et ego confirmo signo sancte crucis et auctoritate sigilli mei.'

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; Robert Malet. [1100–7.]

[D. and C. of Norwich, Reg. i, fo. 19v^o; ii, fo. 4 (bis); iii, fo. 52v^o. Saunders, First Register, 40.]

This charter should be compared with Roger Bigod's charter to Cluny (No. 834) which is obviously of even date. The attestation of Robert Malet offers a difficulty, since he was banished before the battle of Tinchebrai. As William Malet attests Roger Bigod's charter it seems possible that the scribe has confused the two.

836. [1100–7] Dec. 25. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Os[bert] the sheriff and the barons of Yorkshire: That he grants to Stephen Abbot of [St. Mary of] York the custody of all the King's forests in all his land and forbids the foresters to interfere therein.

Witness: Eudo Dapifer. [1100–3, 1105, or 1107.]

[Pat. R. 20 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 16; 12 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 34–33. Cal. Pat. R. 1396–9, 75; 1429–36, 362 Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 351.]

837. [1101–7.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Osbert¹ the sheriff and all the barons, French and English, of Yorkshire: Giving and granting to St. Peter and G[erard] Abp. of York the churches of Pocklington, [Great] Driffield, Kilham (Killum), Pickering, Aldborough, and Snaith, with all their chapels and with sac and soc, and all appurtenances. Commanding also that the said churches be quit from all customs (rebus et consuetudinibus) and that St. Peter perpetually hold them quit and free from all service.

Witness: R[obert] Count of Meulan.

[Copies in York Minster 'Liber Albus', pt. 1, fo. 63; pt. 2, fo. 10b; P.R.O. D. of L. Great Coucher Book, i, fo. 373; Cotton MSS. Claud. B. III, fo. 8; Vitell. A. II, fo. 126v^o; Bodl. Dodsworth MS. No. 9, fo. 43 (transcript). Raine, Historians of York, iii. 29; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 426; Monast. viii. 1178 (incorrectly).]

This charter must be earlier than Abp. Gerard's gift of Snaith to Selby (E.Y.C., No. 472).

838. [1100–7.] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and the barons of Yorkshire: That the Abbot and monks of [St. Mary's], York, are to have the whole of their wood and the land from the water of Dove (Duua) to the water of Seven (Siuena), as freely as they ever held it before it was forest. The King's foresters are not to interfere there. The abbot and his successors are to have the whole charge of the forest (forestariam) and are to preserve to the King's use the hart and the hind, the boar (porcum) and the hawk.

[D. and C. York, Bdle. 9, No. 3 (original now lost). Drake, Eboracum (1736), ii. 607 (from the original); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 352.]

Probably of the same date as the preceding.

'In festo Domini.'

839. [1107] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Osbert Sheriff of York: Commanding that he allow Abp. Gerard honourably to hold the churches of the King's demesne-manors (meorum proprium maneriarum) with all their chapels, tithes, and lands which the King has given to God and the abp., namely the churches of Pocklington, Kilham, [Great] Driffield, Pickering, and Aldborough. Commanding also that Walter and Euremar (Euremarus) the officials (ministri) of Driffield fully render without fail the tithes of August last which they have not rendered, as the church ought to have them and as it had them in the time of the King's father, and in his own time before he gave them to St. Peter. Commanding also that if any one in this matter (inde) do wrong to the abp., Osbert the sheriff is to do full right therein.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury. [1102, 1103, 1105, or 1107.]

[York Minster 'Liber Albus', pt. 1, fo. 63b; pt. 2, fo. 11; Cotton MSS. Claud. B. III, fo. 8; Vitell. A. II, fo. 127. Monast. viii. 1179; Selden, Hist. of Tythes (1618), 418; Raine, Historians of York, iii. 29; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 427.] Farrer, Itin. 205.

The omission of Snaith in the list of churches suggests that the charter is subsequent to Abp. Gerard's transfer of it to Selby. (E.Y.C., No. 472.) Farrer dates this 1107 because Roger is described as bishop (cons. 11 Aug. 1107), but this is scarcely conclusive, as the chancery does not appear to have distinguished in all cases between 'elect' and 'consecrated'.

840. [1107?]

Notification (in Latin and English) by Henry I addressed generally to all in whose shires Abp. Anselm and the monks of Canterbury have lands: That he has confirmed to Abp. Anselm and the monks of Christ Church, Canterbury, all the lands which they held in the time of King Edward and of King William I; with sac and soc, on strand and stream, in wood and open country, toll and team, grith-bryce, hamsocn, forsteal, infangthief, flymenafermthe, over their men, within and without borough, as fully as the King's officials ought to exact these rights, and over all the thanes whom the King's father granted to them.

[B.M. Cotton Chart. VII. 1 (mutilated); Campbell Chart. XXIX. 5; Lambeth Lib. Cart. Misc. XI. 1; copies in Cartae Antiquae, 6, No. 21; Chart. R. 9 Ed. III, No. 19; 2-4 Ed. IV, No. 8; Pat. R. 1 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 12; Confirm. R. 4 Hen. VII, pt. 1, No. 4; 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 3, No. 6; B.M. Cotton MS. Tib. C. IX, fo. 46v^o; Lambeth MS. 1212, pp. 10, 189 (bilingual); also in B.M. Cotton MS. Tib. C. IX, fo. 46; Add. MS. 6159, fo. 7; Bodl. Tanner MS. 223, fo. 44v^o (Latin version only). Trans. Brit. Arch. Ass. xxix. 242; Monast. i. 109 (Latin), i. 111; Hickes, Thesaurus, Praef., p. xvi; Cal. Chart. R. iv. 345 (English); Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 202 (Latin).]

The two B.M. originals have the third seal of Henry I attached to a tongue projecting from the left-hand margin of the charter, presumably to indicate that both versions were equally valid.

'Ista quadruplicata est Anselmo archiepiscopo Latine et Anglice' (Cotton Chart. VII. 1 and Lambeth MS. 1212).

H. J. Ellis and Sir George Warner (Facsimiles of Royal Charters, i, No. 6 n.) date this 1107-8.

841.* [1107?]

Charter by Henry I 'Willelmi Anglorum primi Regis filius, totiusque Angliae rex et moderator', addressed generally, 'omnibus, clero simul et populo, tam praesentis seculi quam futuri': That he restores to the church of St. Mary and St. Peter, Exeter, the churches given by the charters of his predecessors, viz. St. Petrox [Bodmin] and St. Stephen [Launceston]; Perranzabuloe (Pirani Dohou) and Probus [co. Cornwall]; also in Devonshire, Plympton, Braunton, and St. Stephen's, Exeter, which William I gave to Bp. William while he was his chaplain, he gives to the see of Exeter for ever, as also Colyton (Columptona), which he himself gave to William.

[Copies in Lambeth MS. 719 (Launceston Cart.), fo. iiv^o; Cartae Antiquae, 17, (R) No. 35. Foedera, i. 11.]

'Signo sancte crucis consignata.'

The style of this charter is unlikely.

842. [1107?] Westminster

Writ by Henry I to Gilbert de Aquila and W. de Tancarville the chamberlain: He does not claim any due on the great fish captured at Quillebœuf and will restore to the Abbot of Jumièges, as soon as he returns to Normandy, whatever was taken on his behalf.

Witnesses: The Count of Meulan; Richard de Redvers; Roger Bigod. [1105-7.]

The claim on behalf of Henry is presumably after Tinchebrai, and this writ after Henry's return to England in the spring of 1107.

843. [1107?]

Notification by Henry I [addressed generally]: That he has granted to Robert son of Robert Count of Meulan all his lands, &c., in England, which his father held in the second year of the King's conquest of Normandy except Sturminster [co. Dorset] which is assigned to provide an income of £140 for his brother Waleran, according to Count Robert's disposition that Robert should inherit the other lands in England and Waleran those in Normandy, each brother to succeed to both properties in case of the death or incapacity of the other. If both die, and the earl their father has no other heir, the count's daughter shall succeed if she marries with the King's consent. If either part of the inheritance should be lost, the brothers are to divide the remainder.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda, &c.

This charter cannot be long after 1107 as only the two sons and one daughter are mentioned. Count Robert had another son, Hugh, and three other daughters before his death in 1118. See G. H. White, 'The Career of Waleran' (Trans. R. Hist. Soc., 4th Ser. xvii. 20).

844. [1107.] Windsor

Notification by Henry to Robert Earl of Leicester, Ranulf Meschin, Osbert the sheriff, and all his lieges, French and English, of Lincolnshire: Granting to God and St. Mary of Lincoln, for the souls of the King, his father, brothers, kinsmen, and Matilda his wife, all the houses in the prebend (in praebenda) which (quas) Robert de Stoteville gave to the said church of St. Mary. Commanding also that the church hold them as honourably, &c., as Hugh fitz Baldric held them in the time of the King's father.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Earl of Leicester; Earl Henry [of Warwick]; Roger Bigod; William de Albini.

The formula of notification is very unusual in form: 'Volo ut sciatis me concessisse . . .'

Robert Count of Meulan obtained the earldom of Leicester about Apr. 1107 (Ord. Vit. iv. 168-9). Robert d'Estouteville is presumably the younger Robert who was a clerk (ibid., p. 223).

845. [1107.] Rochester

Grant by Gundulf Bp. of Rochester to the monks of St. Andrew's, Rochester: Of the patronage of vicarages appropriated to the church; and establishment of St. Andrew's gift, with the assent of Abp. Anselm.

Witnesses: Ralph Abbot of Sées; Ralph Abbot of Battle; Ordwyn Prior [of Rochester]; William Archdeacon of Canterbury; Aschetil Archdeacon of Rochester; Ralph clerk; Ansfrid clerk; Godard clerk; Godwyn priest; Ansfrid Dapifer of Hamo Sheriff [of Kent]; William de Eyne[s]ford.

[Rochester, Reg. Hamonis de Hethe, fo. 132 (copy). Thorpe, Reg. Roffense, 7 (imperfect); Reg. Hamonis Hethe (Canterbury and York Society), i. 433 (abstract).]

Orduin was re-elected prior in 1107, and Ralf became Abbot of Battle in August of the same year.

846. [1107?] Rochester

Notification by Henry I to all his sheriffs, officials, lieges, and barons, French, English, and Welsh, of England and Wales: That he has quitclaimed those men of St. Martin of Battle and his monks from toll and custom and passage-money and all other impositions and aids; 'qui vadunt in servitio meo et monachorum meorum; et si fortitudo ventorum vel maris eos ad terram depulerit, in cujuscunque terram, sint quieti de omni disturbance, ipsi et pecunia eorum.'

Witness: Richard the chaplain. [1100-20.]

[Copies in Pat. R. 10 Hen. VI, pt. 1, mm. 22-21 (inspeximus); Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fos. 29, 32v°; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 13 (omitting witnesses). Cal. Pat. R. 1429-36, 174.] Farrer, Itin. 465.

Richard is presumably the custos sigilli, who was elected Bp. of Hereford 7 Jan. 1121 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 290). He is described as custos as early as 1112 (No. 1010). This charter is marked deest in the Huntington Library cartulary. A subsequent charter (No. 894), extends the privileges to all the men of Battle.

847.* 1107. Winchester

Diploma by Henry I to St. Mary of Tewkesbury: Confirming the grants made by Robert fitz Hamo and his other barons or lieges, and whatever has been bought by the abbot and monks; viz. the church of St. Peter at Bristol and the tithe of the demesne rents of Bristol; and the churches which belonged to Robert the chaplain (enumerated), with their lands and tithes. Also giving the vill called Forthampton, which belonged to the honour of Robert fitz Hamon; a fishery in the Severn; the manor-house and other houses of Robert fitz Hamo, near the church; the parish church of Cardiff and the chapel in the castle of Cardiff; the tithes of the Welsh demesnes of Robert fitz Hamo and all his barons; and many other possessions in England and Wales (enumerated).

Signa: King Henry; Waldric the chancellor; Abp. Gerard; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Samson Bp. of Worcester; William Bp. of Exeter; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Urban Bp. of Llandaff; [Herluin] Abbot of Glastonbury; Abbot Hugo [of St. Augustine's, Canterbury]; Abbot Girmund [of Winchcomb]; Abbot Nigel [of Burton]; Abbot Pharisius [of Abingdon];

[(1) Chart. R. 28 Ed. I, m. 1 (copy); (2) Copies in Pat. R. 10 Hen. IV, pt. 2, m. 5; 12 Hen. VII, pt. 2, m. 1 (27); Cotton MS. Cleop. A. VII, fo. 70v^o (abstract). (1) Cal. Chart. R. ii. 490; (2) Monast. ii. 66; G. T. Clark, Cartae etc. de Glamorgan, iii. 39 (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 170.

'Facta est hec carta anno ab origine mundi v^occc^oxi^o, ab incarnatione Domini m^o centesimo vii^o' (so in Chart. R. 28 Ed. I; but in Pat. R. 10 Hen. IV and 12 Hen. VII dated 'anno dominice incarnationis m^ocvi^o').

This charter exists in two versions. That printed in Monasticon (from Pat. R. 10 Hen. IV) has the date in the preamble and omits Roger de Pistris from the list of signatories. It also places before St. Peter's, Bristol, Burnett [co. Somers.] and some other places which either occur under their counties in the Charter Roll version or are not mentioned at all. Farrer rejects the charter as spurious. The bishops of Exeter and Llandaff were consecrated 11 Aug. 1107 after Waldric had ceased to be chancellor and the form of the charter in both versions is improbable. He corrects the Mundane Era date to v^{mo} c^o xi^o which would give 1107 for the A.D. date, on the usual date of 4004 B.C. for the Creation.

848. [1107?] Cambridge

Notification by Henry I to H[erbert] Bp. [of Norwich] and R[oger] Bigod, and the barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has given to William de Albini the land and all else which Eustace the clerk held of him in alms.

Witness: Roger Bigod.

[Cotton MS. Vitell. F. IV, fo. 161v^o (transcript, apparently from a cartulary of Thetford Priory).]

The land in question was Kilverstone [co. Norf.]. For date compare No. 849.

849. [1107.] Cambridge

Notification by Henry I to Hugh the Sheriff of Northamptonshire and Michael of Hamslape and the barons of Northamptonshire: That he has granted to Aubrey de Vere the socmen of Wold (Walda) [co. Northants.], who pertain to Faxton (Fachestona) [co. Northants.] to be held with sac and soc, toll and team, and all customs with which the King held them in demesne.

Witnesses: Roger Bigod; W[illiam] de Albini. Per Richard de la Mare.

Fragment of seal when seen by Charles, penes — Holland A.D. 15 . . .

[Cotton MS. Jul. C. VII, fo. 140; Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 147, fo. 59v^o; and John Guillims, 'Book of Seals' (P.R.O. D. of L. Miscellaneous Books [D.L. 42], 149, fo. 38 (20)); (transcripts of original, with drawing of (third?) seal).]

Robert de Pavilli was still sheriff when the King was at Rockingham (Nos. 743-4), i.e. probably 1106 (see No. 737). We may assume that Hugh of Leicester succeeded at Michaelmas 1106 while the King was in Normandy.

850. [1107?] Trumpington

Notification by Henry I to Gerard the abp., Osbert the sheriff, and the barons of Yorkshire: That the King wills that the Abbey of St. German of Selby remain in the place where it was founded by his father and mother and be not displaced.

Witnesses: R. the chancellor; Thomas the chaplain; Nigel de Albini; Humphrey de Albini. [1101-2 or 1107-8.]

[Selby Cart. (Brooke), fo. 14. J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 23-24; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 471.] Farrer, Itin. 200.

The chancellor may be either Roger or Ranulf, but Humphrey de Albini was in England in 1107 (No. 828).

851. [1107?] Bushley (Bisselega)

Precept by Henry I to Gilbert Sheriff of Surrey: To acquit the land of St. Peter of Westminster and Abbot Gilbert, which is in the King's demesne within the park and forest of Windsor, namely 8 hides of the manor of Pyrford, granted by the King's father, from every geld and scot and other exactions for ever. In particular, the King exempts those hides from the new geld (de novo geldo propter hidagium) and from all other gelds, as his father and brother granted by their writs.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 67 (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 141.] Farrer, Itin. 191.

It is uncertain whether the 'new geld' was an increase in the rate or an improvement in the method of assessment. Royal exactions are mentioned s.a. 1104 by the chroniclers (e.g. Florence of Worcester, ii. 53). Roger was still sheriff at Easter 1103 or 1104.

852. [1107?] Bushley (Biselega)

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and his barons of Yorkshire: That Gerard Abp. [of York] is to have all the rights and customs which his predecessors enjoyed in the time of William I and William II; and likewise, is to have all his lands with their customs.

Witnesses: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; [Robert] Count of Meulan. [1103-7.]

[Copies in York Minster 'Liber Albus', ii, fo. 5v^o; Cotton MS. Claud. B. III, fo. 4; Lansd. MS. 402, ff. 21v^o and 119v^o. Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 15.] Farrer, Itin. 190.

Probably of the same date as the preceding.

853. [1107?] Tewkesbury

Notification by Henry I to Walter of Gloucester and Gilbert de Umfraville and the barons and foresters of Gloucestershire: That he has given to the monks of Tewkesbury to essart 'Walesgrava' and 'Broces' which are between their hedges at Swinley (Suinlea) [in Forthampton]. They may do with these as they please and are not to be impleaded by the King's pleaders (placitatoribus) at any time.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; John of Bayeux. [1107-22.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae, [C. 52] 19. (T) (32) (copy). H. Hall, Formula Book of Diplomatic Documents, 23 (No. 17).]

1107 or 1114 seem the most likely dates [cf. No. 1041 (7)]. Gilbert de Umfraville is presumably the benefactor of Tewkesbury mentioned in the charter of 1107 (No. 847*).

854. [1100-7.]

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland, Sheriff of Berks., and William Sheriff of Oxford: To let Abbot Faritius and the monks of Abingdon have all their customs in all things on (per) the water of Thames wherever they ought to have them.

Witness: Roger Bigod. Per Ared the falconer.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 144; C. IX, fo. 151. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.), ii. 95.]

855. [1100-1107, Sept. 15.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Ared the falconer, and all his foresters: That the men of Abbot Faritius be allowed to transport all the timber and brushwood which has been given or sold to him for his building operations.

Witness: Roger Bigod.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 141; C. IX, fo. 148v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.), ii. 78; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 96.]

856. [1100-1107, Sept. 15.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and ministers and his lieges: 'Ut sine aliqua mora faciatis habere Faritio abbati de Abbedduna omnes homines suos qui de terra sua exierunt de Walingeford propter herberiam curiae meae, vel propter alias res et cum omni pecunia sua ubicumque sint.'

Witness: Roger Bigod (Piger). Per Ared the falconer.

857. [1100-7.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to William Huse (Osato): To leave in peace the men belonging to the Abbot of Abingdon in Whistley, whom William claims.

Witness: Roger Bigod.

858. [1100-7.] London

Notification by Henry I to Walter son of Walter of Windsor: That he grants to Faritius the abbot and the church of Abingdon, of a house and land in Windsor which Rainerius gave them.

Witness: Roger Bigod.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 148; C. IX, fo. 154v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon (R.S.), ii. 112.]

859. [1102-7.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to H[enry] Count of Eu and R[obert] the son of R[alf] de Hastings and all the King's justiciars and officials of Sussex: That he has confirmed to the monks of St. Martin at Battle to have all their roads through the King's lands and especially the road which goes from Battle to Hastings, &c., and their rights of chase and hunting in the rape of Hastings as fully as they had them in the King's time or the time of his father and brother. The addressees are not to meddle in the leuga of Battle any more than they would in the King's own demesne.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; Roger Bigod; Henry de Port.

[Copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 29; Pat. R. 10 Hen. VI, pt. 1, mm. 21-22; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 14 (omitting witnesses). Cal. Pat. R. 1429-36, 173.]

860. [1100-7]

Notification by Henry I to all his sheriffs wherever the abbey of Bec holds lands or tithes: That he has granted to the abbey and Abbot William all the lands, churches, and tithes confirmed to them by his father or brother.

Witnesses: William of Warelwast; the Count of Meulan; Henry Earl of Warwick.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10058, fo. 89 (transcript). Round, C.D.F. 42 (No. 124) (calendared).]

861. [1104-7.] Canterbury

Precept by [Henry I]¹ to Herbert Bp. of Norwich, Roger Bigod, Hugh Lyoth, and R[alph] Passelewe, and the barons of Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex, and to all sheriffs in whose shires St. Edmund [of Bury] and Abbot Robert have lands: That the demesne of St. Edmund and Abbot Robert geld—and so be quit of this (isto) and all other gelds—as in the time of William I and William II.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bigod. [1104-7.]

[Copies in C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28; 'Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 38v^o. E.H.R. xxiv. 426 (No. 12); Douglas, Feudal Docs. 68.] Farrer, Itin. 81.

Ralph Passelewe had succeeded Robert Malet as Sheriff of Suffolk before Whitsuntide 1104 (No. 672), probably in 1102 (Ord. Vit. iv. 161). William Giffard accompanied Anselm to Rome in 1103 (Florence of Worcester, ii. 52) and seems to have returned in 1104 (Ann. Winton. 42). If the mention of Robert as abbot can be pressed, the writ can be placed certainly in 1107, between Anselm's return and the death of Roger Bigod (8 Sept.). Robert I was deposed in 1102, and Robert II appointed in 1107 through Anselm's influence. Anselm was at Bury ill at Whitsuntide (2 June) 1107. Hugh Lyoth (an otherwise unknown sheriff) may be a mistake for Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Essex.

862. [1102-7.] [East] Bergholt [co. Suff.]

Notification by Henry I to M[aurice] Bp. of London, Hugh de Bocland, and all of Essex: That he has given to the canons of SS. Julian and Botulf, Colchester, for his own welfare and that of Queen Matilda his wife, all the tithes of his demesne of Hatfield [Broad Oak].

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Eudo Dapifer.

[Pat. R. 5 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 15-14 (inspeximus). Monast. vi. 105 (i).] Farrer, Itin. 158.

863. [1100-7.] [East] Bergholt [co. Suff.]

Notification by Henry I to M[aurice] Bp. [of London] and Hugh de Boc[land] and Alvred and all the barons of Essex: Of a grant to the canons of St. Julian [and St. Botolph], Colchester, of Hatfield Manor [i.e. Hatfield Broad Oak, co. Essex] for his soul and those of his ancestors. Hugh de Bocland is to give seisin.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Eudo Dapifer; Roger Bigod; William Malet; William Bai[n]jard.

[Pat. R. 5 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 15-14 (inspeximus). Cal. Pat. R. 5 Hen. VI, 414.] Farrer, Itin. 159.

Alvred is mentioned in the grant of Witham to Eudo Dapifer (No. 519) and it is tempting to assign these two charters to 1101, soon after the founding of Colchester Priory.

864. [1102-7.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury, Gerard Abp. of York, and his bps., abbots, barons, and lieges, French and English, of all England: Granting to God, St. Mary, Robert Bp. of Lincoln, and his successors the right of taking toll in the fairs of Stow at the feasts of St. Mary in August and in September and also the fairs at Michaelmas and Whitsuntide.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; [Robert] Count of Meulan; the chancellor; R. Bigod; Hamo Dapifer.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath., 'Reg. Antiquiss.', fo. 6 (No. 37); Reg. Superant., No. 15; Cotton MS. Vesp. A. X, fo. 8v°. Monast. viii. 1274 (xxxiv); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 37.] Farrer, Itin. 71.

865. [1100-7.] Marlborough

Precept by [Henry I] to N[icholas] de Stafford [Sheriff of Staffordshire]: To allow Atsor the Englishman (Englicus) to hold his land of Edingale (Edelinghal) by the same service as his ancestors held it.

Witness: Roger Bigod.

[B.M. Egerton MS. 3041, fo. 36v° (copy). Wm. Salt Arch. Soc. xvi. 284.]

See Vol. I, No. 456, where the charter is assigned to William II. There is no evidence which king made the grant (see J. H. Round in E.H.R. xxix. 354).

866. [1100-7?] Marlborough

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Exeter and the justiciar of Devon: That the church of Berryn Arbor (Hertesberia), which Alward the priest holds, is to have all its rights as fully as in the time of William I and William II and as it ought. Nothing which it anciently possessed and ought to have is to be taken from it, either in respect of the cemetery or of any other matter.

Witness: Humphrey de Bohun.

Fragment of Great Seal in a bag, sur simple queue.

[P.R.O. Ancient Deeds, A. [E. 40] 14251 (original).]

Berryn Arbor belonged to Lewes Priory. No late charters seem to be dated at Marlborough.

867. [1100-7?] Marlborough

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials of England: That all the household stuff (corredium) and property of the Abbot of Westminster, which his men can certify to be his own, shall be free of toll and passage-money and all customs, as in the time of his predecessors.

Witness: the chancellor.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 76 (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 149.]

Armitage Robinson dates 1113-14 on the ground that a similar charter for Abingdon was addressed to Hugh de Bocland.

868. [1100-7]

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm and Hamo the sheriff and all the men of Kent and the barons of all England: Of a grant to SS. Andrew and Paulinus, Rochester, and to Bishop Gundulf and the monks of the same church of a yearly fair to be held two days in Rochester, on the eve and the day of S. Paulinus.

Witnesses: William de Warelwast; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; William Peverel; Hamo Peverel.

[Copies in Textus Roffensis, cxxxi; Chart. R. 3 Ed. I, No. 2; Pat. R. 12 Ed. IV, pt. 2, m. 14; Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 8, No. 2; Cotton MS. Dom. A. X, fo. 104b; B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 7v° (ex libro Roff.). Hearne, Textus Roffensis (1720), 172; Cal. Chart. R. ii. 195; Thorpe, Reg. Roffense, (1769), 527.] Farrer, Itin. 23.

Cotton MS. omits the witnesses after W. de Warelwast.

869. [1100-7.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and ministers: To permit the men of St. Alban to take all that is for the use of the monks of St. Albans quit of every toll and due, throughout England.

Witness: William de Warelwast.

870. [1101-7.] Winchester

Mandate by Henry I to William Peverel and Richard [son of Gotse] the sheriff and all the barons of Notts.: Abp. Gerard is to have all the customs which his predecessor, Thomas, had from knights (equitibus) and socmen and villeins both in services and in rents.

Witness: Richard de Redvers.

[Copies in Chart. R. 3 Hen. V, No. 15; Pat. R. 5 Ric. II, pt. 1, m. 10; Beverley Town Cart., fo. 29b (omitting witness). Cal. Pat. R. 1381-5, p. 57; Hist. MSS. Comm., Report on MSS. of Corp. of Beverley, 27 (noticed); Cal. Chart. R. v. 479.] Farrer, Itin. 55.

The most probable date is 1101, shortly after Gerard's accession. If Helgot (as seems probable) succeeded Richard as sheriff in 1105, the later limit can be reduced.

871. [1108, Mar. ?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: 'Quod feci bene dicere ad curiam meam apud Lambadam Hugonem abbatem eo tenore ne ecclesia sancti Augustini perdat propter hoc dignitatem suam nec auctoritatem.'

Witnesses: Gerard Abp. [of York]; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; [Robert] Count of Meulan.

[Trin. Hall, Camb. MS., fo. 70 (copy). Elmham, Hist. Mon. S. Aug. Cant. 366.]

The Chronologia Augustinensis (in the Historia, ed. Hardwick) 30 gives the date 1106 for this charter, and says that Abbot Hugh was blessed on 13 May. The full story of Abbot Hugh's benediction is given by Eadmer, Hist. Nov. (R.S.), 188-91. This took place at Lambeth on 27 Feb. 1108. The disclaimer of precedent was no doubt obtained from the King as early as possible. Abp. Gerard died at Southwell (on a journey from the north) on 21 May.

872. [1108, March ?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Hamo Dapifer and the lieges of Kent: That he grants to Abbot Hugh of St. Augustine's warren in his land of Chislet (Chistelet) and Sturry (Esturaie) and the lands pertaining to these; to be held as securely as the King's warren in his own demesne.

Witness: Hamo Dapifer. [1108-16.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Jul. D. II, fo. 89v^o (151); Claud. D. X, fo. 60; Trin. Hall, Camb. MS. fos. 69 and 161; P.R.O. Exch. (K.R.), Misc. Bk. [E. 163], xxvii, fo. 152. Hist. Mon. St. Aug. Cant. 363, 409; Monast. i. 140 (xlili).]

873. [1108, Apr. 5 ?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to A[nselm] the Abp. and Hamo Dapifer and all his barons and lieges of Kent: That he has granted to St. Austin and Abbot Hugh to hold for ever in the demesne of the monks the land which Hugh redeemed (disvadiavit) from Wibert in Thanet.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William Bp. of Exeter. [1107-July 1108.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Jul. D. IX, fo. 90v^o (187) and 106v^o (288); Claud. D. X, fo. 185v^o; Trin. Hall, Camb. MS. fo. 68v^o; P.R.O. Exch. (K.R.) Misc. Bk. I [E. 163], 27, fo. 88v^o. Hist. Mon. S. Aug. Cant. 360.] Farrer, Itin. 202.

It is unlikely that, in a writ addressed to Anselm, these witnesses would be given the title of bp. before their consecration (1107). The Chronologia Augustinensis dates this charter 1107. Wibert was presumably the abp.'s knight of that name (Douglas, Domesday Monachorum, 105).

874. [?1108.] Easter. Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury, and Walter Huse (Hosato) and all the barons of Wilts.: That he has confirmed to St. Mary and the Abbess of Romsey the lands and mills which Ernulf Deschuit gave with his daughter, and all the customs pertaining to the mills, as Ernulf ever enjoyed them. Walter is commanded to protect all the property of the Abbess.

Witnesses: William son of Humphrey; Urse d' Abitôt. [1101-4; 1108.]

875. [1108, May 9.] Norwich

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich and Ralph de Beaufou and all the barons of Suffolk and Norfolk: That he has confirmed the fine made in the Curia Regis before the King and his barons at Norwich between Bp. Herbert and Peter de Valognes respecting their lands of Binham and Langham.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William Earl Warenne; Gilbert de l'Aigle; William de Albini; Roger fitz Richard; Gilbert his brother; Otuer fitz Count; Symon de Moulins (Molendinis). [1108–15.]

[Copies in Cotton MS. Claud. D. XIII, ff. 20v^o and 38. Monast. iii. 348 (vii); Hist. MSS. Comm. 9th Rep. 367 (note only).] Farrer, Itin. 242.

'In die sancti Andreae.'

The agreement to which this relates is dated 1108 (fo. 20. Monast. loc. cit. (vi)). But in autumn 1108 the King was in Normandy. Therefore this cannot be either the 'day' or the 'octave', which are 30 Nov. and 7 Dec., but must be the 'translation' of St. Andrew.

876. [1108, May 9?] Norwich

Notification by Henry I to all his barons and men: That Wascelina has recovered in the King's Court against Ulviva seisin of Newton [in Trowse] and has, with the King's consent, given it in alms to the monks of Holy Trinity, Norwich, as Ralph son of Godric previously gave it, Ralph having quitclaimed all his right to the King, who has given it to the monks at his request with sac and soc, and all customs.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Hamo Dapifer; Ralph de Beaufou; William Big[od] and others. [1107–Apr. 1116.]

[Copies in Norwich Cath., Reg. i, fo. 52; ii, fo. 24v^o (bis); iii, fo. 53v^o.]

This is presumably of approximately the same date as the confirmation of Ralph fitz Godric's gift.

877. [May 1108?] Fishley [co. Norf.]. 'Apud manerium quod vocatum est Fiseleia'

Charter (diploma form) by Henry I, King of England and Duke of Normandy, to St. Mary's, Bec, and St. Martin au Bos: Confirming at the count's request the gifts (specified) of Henry Count of Eu (including that of Hooe [Sussex]).

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Ingram de Hastings; Richard fitz Baldwin; Henry Count of Eu; Gilbert fitz Richard; Ran[ulph] the chancellor; William Bp. of Exeter (Essonie); William Peverel; Walter fitz Richard; Humphrey de Bohun; William Earl Warenne. [1107–13.]

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 13904 (Cartulary of the Counts of Eu; 13th c.), fo. 76 (copy). Round, C.D.F. 524 (No. 1417).] Farrer, Itin. 241.

William Peverel of Nottingham died 25 Feb. 1113 (Bridges, Northamptonshire, i. 501 n.) and Henry was continuously in Normandy from Aug. 1111 to that date. The witnesses and place suggest the same date as No. 875. Fishley was held as a serjeanty by one of the King's falconers (Book of Fees, i. 130).

878. [1108] Pentecost, May 24. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm and the convent of St. Martin at Dover and Hamo Dapifer and all of Kent: That Abbot Hugh of St. Augustine's Canterbury holds one prebend of the King in the church of St. Martin 'per dirationamentum regni mei et curiae'. He is to have whatever has been taken from this prebend since he became abbot, 'quod nisi ita factum fuerit, Haimo, justifica inde adversarios'.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William Bp. of Exeter.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. D. X, ff. 64 (from Inspeximus) and 278v^o; Julius D. II, ff. 88 (No. 171), 98 (No. 241), 98v^o (No. 245); Trin. Hall, Camb. MS., fo. 68; B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 98 (from Inspeximus 20 Ed. II); Chart. R. 20 Ed. II, No. 6; 36 Ed. III, No. 3; 8 Hen. IV, No. 1; Pat. R. 2 Hen. VI, pt. 3, m. 5; 4 Ed. IV, pt. 4, m. 29; P.R.O. Exch. (K.R.) Misc. Bk. I, 27, fo. 88v^o (incomplete). Hist. Mon. St. Aug. Cant. 357; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 98.] Farrer, Itin. 211.

It is unlikely that, in a writ addressed to Anselm, the above witnesses would take their episcopal titles before their actual consecration, which fell in the summer of 1107.

879. [1108, after Whitsuntide.] Windsor

Mandate by Henry I to the canons of [St. Martin at] Dover: To cause Abbot Hugh of St. Austin's to have his prebend of Dover and his commons (comunitatem) within and without [the priory] as well and honourably as [Scotland] his predecessor held them. Unless they do this Hamo Dapifer is to see that it be done.

Witness: William Bp. of Exeter.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Julius D. II, fo. 98 (No. 242); Claud. D. X, fo. 278v^o; Cart. of St. Austin, Cant. Exch. (K.R.) Misc. Bk. I, 27, fo. 152b.]

This seems to be of the same year as No. 878.

880. [1108, May 24] Pentecost. [Westminster]

Record of a suit between Abbot Peter of Gloucester and Bp. Reinhelm of Hereford; heard before King Henry, Abp. Anselm, and Robert Count of Meulan and many bps., abbots, and nobles. The bp. had forcibly taken from Gloucester Abbey the body of Ralph fitz Askitill. It was decided that the body should be dug up and restored. Judgement was declared by Count Robert to the effect that in future all men should have the right of choosing where they would be buried. All the bps. who were present consented to this. Then Bp. Reinhelm offered to remit to Abbot Peter all his claims on the church of St. Peter in Hereford, except as to the ringing of bells before the canons, if only the body of Ralph might be left undisturbed. The offer was accepted.

[Cotton MS. Dom. VIII, fos. 21, 22; Oxford, Queen's Coll. MS. ccclxvii. Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 136; Hist. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 13.] Farrer, Itin. 214.

The date is fixed by the appearance in company of Reinhelm (cons. Aug. 1107) and Anselm (d. April 1109) at a Whitsun council.

881. [1108, May 24.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to R[ichard] de Belmeis the see of London with the lands and men pertaining to it, and the castle of [Bishop's] Stortford [Herts.] as fully as was granted to any bp. by any of the King's predecessors.

Witnesses: Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Count of Meulan.

[Copies in St. Paul's Cath. A 69 (Roll of Charters of Liberties, copy of 12th c.); 'Liber Pilosus', fo. iiii. Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 31.]

Richard was elected 25 May 1108, at which date the King was at Westminster.

882. [1108, May 24] Pentecost. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose bailiwicks Bp. Gundulf held lands: That all the lands, men, &c., of the see of Rochester be in peace, and that the lands of the see do not pay geld for more hides than under William I and William II.

Witness: William Bp. of Exeter.

883. [1108, May 24?] Pentecost. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Salisbury, and [Walter] the sheriff and all of Wilts.: That he has confirmed to St. Mary and the Abbess of Romsey to hold in her demesne the lands which William Eschuet held from the said church and restored to it along with his daughters, and, no matter who holds any of the said land, it is to return to the church.

Witnesses: Count Eustace; David the Queen's brother; Urse d' Abitôt; Walter Huse (Hosatus). [1102, 1104, 1107, or 1108.]

On William Escudet (or Eschuet) see Round, The King's Serjeants, 10 sq. and cf. No. 874.

884. [1108, c. May 24?]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Walter [Huse] the sheriff and the barons of Wiltshire: That he has granted to the Prior and monks of Winchester 3 hides of land in Alton [Priors] and Patney [co. Wilts.] which William I borrowed from their mensa (de victu eorum) and gave to William Escudet for life. To be held quit of all claim of inheritance as ordered by the writ of William I.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury. [1102–10.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 16v^o (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 392.]

William of Pont de l'Arche had succeeded Walter as sheriff in 1110 (No. 948), and there is no certain mention of Walter later than 1110. For the suggested date compare No. 883. For William's grant see Vol. I, No. 270. The same thing seems to have happened at Romsey, but in that case William Escudet gave up the land as a dowry for his daughters entering the convent.

885. [1108, May 24.] Pentecost. Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury and all of England: That he has granted to Thomas his chaplain the archbishopric of York, to hold with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief, as honourably as any of his predecessors held in the time of King Edward and of William I and as Abp. Thomas [I] held on the day when he was alive and dead. Whatever the said Thomas [I] held, and whatever has been added to the demesne of the archbishopric since his death, is to be held in like manner by Thomas [II].

Witnesses: Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Samson Bp. of Worcester; William Bp. of Winchester;¹ and other bps. of England; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan; Henry Earl of Warwick; William de Warenne and the other Earls of England; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albin; Thomas St. John (de Sancto Johanne); William Bigod; William de Pirou.

886. [1107, Sept.–1108, May.] Nottingham

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for Norfolk and Suffolk: That Herbert Bp. of Norwich has recovered the body of Roger Bigod, and those of his wife, sons, and barons against the monks of Thetford. The monks complained that the bp. had buried Roger at Norwich, whereas he had given himself, his wife, and sons to Thetford. The bp. proved by the evidence of many people of the diocese that Roger had given himself, his wife, sons, and barons to Norwich before the monks came to Thetford. But before judgement was pronounced the monks admitted their claim to be unjust and begged the bp.'s pardon, quitting the bodies to him.

[D. and C. of Norwich, Reg. iii, fo. 56v^o (copy).]

887. [1107–1108, May.] Winchester

Notification by Queen Matilda to Gerard Abp. of York, R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln, and H[ugh] of Leicester Sheriff of Northamptonshire and the barons of the same shire and A[ldwin?] the chamberlain and all the King's ministers of Rockingham: That she quitclaims to St. German of Selby £4 and two knights in respect of the manor of Stanford [upon Avon].

Witnesses: R[anulf] Bp. of Durham; T. [Otuer?] fitz Count; Th[omas] the chaplain.

888. [1100–1108, May.] London

Notification by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and the barons of Lincolnshire: Confirming the grant of Crowle (Crull) made by Geoffrey de la Guerche (Wyrcha) to St. German of Selby free of all service except Danegeld.

Witness: Gerard Abp. of York.

[Selby Cart. (Brooke), fo. 11 (copy). J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 12; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 474.]

889. [1100–1108, May?] London? (Lod)

Notification by [Henry I] 'rex Anglie' to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Osbert the sheriff and his lieges of Lincolnshire: That he has ratified the fine and agreement which the Abbot of Selby and Nigel de Albin made concerning the customs of the land of Crowle (Crull).

Witness: [R] de Mell[ent]. [1100–15.]

[Selby Cart. (Brooke), fo. 15 (copy). J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 28.] Farrer, Itin. 180 (as at 'Ludgershall').

Wrongly attributed to William II in Vol. I, No. 470. Probably of even date with the preceding.

890. [1100–1108, May.] London

Notification by Henry I to Gerard Abp. of York, Nigel de Albin, and his barons of Yorkshire: That he confirms to St. German [of Selby] the vill of Hambleton (Hameltona) [co. Yorks.] given by Ilbert de Lacy with the consent of Odo of Bayeux.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln.

[Selby Cart. (Brooke), 14b (copy). J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i. 24–5; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1423.]

891. [1108, after May 21.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Thomas the abp. and Nigel de Albin and Osbert the sheriff: That the King has granted to Osmund the priest and the brethren of Goathland, for the soul of Queen Matilda, that place to entertain the poor. They shall have the King's peace against foresters and all men. Nigel and Osbert shall give them seisin.

Witness: Robert de Brus. [1100 or 1108–14.]

[Copies in Whitby Cart. (penes Sir C. Strickland [1879]), fo. 52; B.M. Add. MS. 4715, fo. 161v°. Cart. Abb. de Whiteby (Surtees, 1878), i. 161; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 396.]

This is presumably the first of the three charters relating to Goathland. It is just possible that the mention of Queen Matilda without further description implies that the charter was issued before Henry's marriage and therefore during the pontificate of Thomas I.

892. [1108, May–July.] Reading

Precept by Henry I to Samson the bp. and Urse d' Abitôt and all the King's barons, French and English, of Worcestershire: That shire- and hundred-courts be held as in the days of King Edward, in the same places and at the same terms and not otherwise. He specifies the courts competent in various classes of land cases.

Richard Bp. of London, el. 24 May, cons. 26 Jul. (Eadmer, 196 sq.). Henry went abroad about the end of July. Urse d' Abitôt died in 1108 (Ann. Winchcombe.)

893. [1107, Aug. 5–1108, July 31.] Winchester

Notification to Samson Bp. [of Worcester], and Walter the sheriff and all the barons of Gloucestershire, of a confirmation by Henry I to St. Mary of Abingdon: Of land in Dumbleton [co. Glos.] given by William Guizenbeth. Granting also that (the church) may hold the above as quietly and peaceably in all things as it holds its other land in the same vill.

Witnesses: [Robert] Count of Meulan; Otuer (Utuer) [son of Earl Hugh]; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Alfred of Lincoln. [1107–11.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 146; C. IX, fo. 152v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 103.] Farrer, Itin. 277.

The gift is dated in the cartulary 8 Hen. I (ii. 102), but no date is given for the confirmation. It was probably before Henry's departure at the end of July 1108.

894. [1107–1108, July 31?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs, collectors, officials, foresters, &c., in whose bailiwicks (ministeriis) the monks of Battle have lands and possessions: That all their lands and men be quit of all pleas and complaints and shires and hundreds, with sac and soc, &c. and of murdrum and warpenny and bridgework and work at parks and fencing (clausurarum) and all other aids and hidages and gelds and danegelds and scots and essarts (sartis) and army service. No man is to take toll from them either in England or Wales.

Witnesses: Anselm Abp. of Canterbury; Roger Bp. of Salisbury.

[Copies in Huntington Lib., Battle Cart., fo. 22v° (14th c. addition); Chart. R. 10 Ed. II, m. 12, no. 22 (inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. iii. 334.]

895. [1100–1108, July 31.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I addressed generally: That the church of Glastonbury and all its lands and men be quit of hundreds, pleas and complaints, gelds and all customs in all his realm as fully as they were quit in the time of any of his ancestors.

Witness: Urse d' Abitôt.

[Original in Longleat MSS. (see Hist. MSS. Comm., Rep. iii, App. 201a); copies in Longleat MS. fo. 62v°; Bodl. Wood MS. Empt. i (Secretum Abbatis), fo. 69 (bis); Trin. Coll. Camb. [The Longleat MS. reads suis for schiris, but the Wood MS. enters the charter twice reading suis in the first version and schiris in the second.]

896. [1100–1108, July 31.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to J[ohn] Bp. of Bath, A[iulf] the chamberlain, and all of Dorset and Somerset: That he has confirmed to the church of Glastonbury and Abbot Herlewin all the lands (named) which William I confirmed to the abbey.

Witness: Urse d'Abitôt.

[Trin. Coll. Camb. MS. 724, fo. 24 (copy). Hearne, Adam of Domerham, 325; Monast. i. 44 (lxvii).]

897. [1108, May–July.] Dunstable

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocl[and]: That he has permitted his wife, Queen Matilda, to place canons regular in the church of the Holy Trinity, London, and that the said church is freed from subjection to that of Waltham, in consideration of the exchange which the Queen gave to Waltham. The church is to have the same liberties as it had in the time of the Queen or of William Bp. of Durham.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Th. de Sancto Johanne; Jordan de Say.

[Copies in Cart. of Holy Trinity, London, Hunterian MS. (Glasgow), fo. iv. [=Register of Christ Church Priory (penes John Austis, 1722)]; P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 13 (1). Monast. vi. 155 (Eng. translation, from Stevens, ii. 75).] Farrer, Itin. 229.

The date of Matilda's foundation is 1108. Bp. Richard was elected in May 1108 and cons. on 26 July, 1108.

The King crossed the sea in July and was near Portsmouth most of the month.

The copy in the Hunterian MS. has a marginal note 'quod ista carta est in Rotulo Regis Ricardi aº regni ejus viiiº'. This may possibly give the date of the enrolment of the charter on Cartae Antiquae Roll 13 [N]. There is no note on the Pipe Roll of 8 Ric. I of a payment for enrolment (see also Landon, Cart. Antiq., p. xv).

898. [1108 ?] Newenham-on-Severn (?) (Niweham)

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocl[and] and Leof[stan] and W. Caius (Caio) and Roger [nephew of Hubert] and Ot[t]o [the goldsmith] and all his subjects of London: That whatever the canons of Holy Trinity, London, hold from the Queen in London is to be free of all gelds, scots, customs, and plaints as it was in the time of William Bp. of Durham, or at any time. No one is to wrong the property or men of the said church contrary to this privilege, on pain of the royal forfeiture. The men of the church are not to plead except where they are accustomed, namely in the Queen's court.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; the chancellor. [1107–15.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 13 (10) (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 315.

Leofstan died in 1115. As no bp. is named, it is possible that the see was vacant, which would make the date 26 Sept. 1107–24 Mar. 1108. Leofstan, W. Caius, Roger, and Otho were presumably the four sheriffs of London and Hugh de Bocland that of Middlesex. In 1114–15 the four sheriffs appear to have been Hugh de Bocland, Roger [nephew of Hubert], Leofstan, and Ordgar (Ramsey Chron. 237 (No. 248)).

The Bp. of Durham (temp. William I) held certain lands, formerly belonging to Waltham Abbey. Probably some of the property of Holy Trinity which was then subject to Waltham had been in the hands of William of St. Calais (see Monast. vi. 57).

899. [1108 May–July 31.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to A[nselm] Abp. of Canterbury, Richard Bp. of London, and all his bps., earls, &c.: That he has restored to the canons of St. Paul's, London, the right of holding and dealing with their prebends and lands, as in the days of Edward the Confessor, and William I; with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief, fiht-wite, and fyrd-wite and grith-breach, on feast-days and at other times, as they held aforetime.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; W[illiam] Bp. of Exeter; Ranulf the chancellor; [Robert] Count of Meulan.

[Copies in Chart. R. 12 Ed. III, no. 13; St. Paul's Cath., 'Liber Pilosus', fo. iib (omits witnesses); Liber L., fo. 15; MS. WD 20, fo. 71b (Statuta Minora); A 69 (Roll of Charters of Liberties); C.U.L. MS. 1075, fo. 79. Simpson, Registrum, 119; Hist. MSS. Comm., Rep. ix. 61; Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 25.] Farrer, Itin. 223.

Richard was elected Bp. of London, 24 May, 1108. The King left England in July 1108 and did not return until after the death of Anselm.

900. [1102–1108, July 31.] Waltham

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Chester, Nicholas Sheriff of Staffordshire, and Richard de Belmeis Sheriff of Salop: Not to summon the monks of St. Remi of Rheims to go to hundreds and shires; but let them send their reeves or one of their men.

Witness: Henry Earl of Warwick.

[Pat. R. 6 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 8 (inspeximus). Monast. vii. 1099; ibid. 1043 ('ex autographo apud S. Remig. Rhemis'; but less correctly).] Farrer, Itin. 160.

901. [1102–1108, July 31.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Anselm, Hamo Dapifer, and all his barons and lieges of Kent: Granting to St. Andrew and the church of Rochester the lands, tithes, and wood which William de Albini gave; to wit the tithe of Elham (Ælham) of his demesne a ploughland and wood held of him by Robert fitz Watson and half the tithe of Bilsington (Bilsintona).

Witnesses: Roger Bp. [of Salisbury] and the chancellor.¹

[Copies in Chart. R. 3 Ed. I, No. 2; 9 Ed. III, No. 36; 10 Ed. III, No. 51; Pat. R. 12 Ed. IV, pt. 2, m. 14; Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 8, No. 2; 'Textus Roffensis', cxxxiii; Cotton MS. Dom. X, fo. 130v^o. Hearne, Textus Roffensis (1720), 174; Thorpe, Reg. Roffense (1769), 345; Cal. Chart. R. ii. 195; Monast. i. 164 (xviii).] Farrer, Itin. 54.

William's original grant is for the souls of Kings William and Henry, and of himself, his father, mother, and wife, his brother Nigel, and his nephew Humphrey. Two of the witnesses are members of Bp. Gundulf's household. Farrer's suggested dates are 1102–3 or 1107–9, assuming that Anselm must have been in England. We have preferred to assume the omission of the chancellor's name in this and in No. 898 to antedating the foundation of Holy Trinity, London, which seems to be confirmed as 1108 by the mention of Bp. Richard. (See, to the contrary, Davis in E.H.R. xxvi, 87, n. 14.)

916. [1109, c. June 27.]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That the profession made by Thomas [II] Abp. of York, to the church of Canterbury after the death of Anselm was made under the following circumstances. It was the King's will and the advice of certain of his lieges, that the abp. should make this profession, although the abp. and the church of York were not bound to make such a profession. The abp. made it therefore for himself only, compelled by the royal command, saving his obedience to the Pope and his allegiance to the King; and with the proviso that the church of York should not thereby lose any liberty or privilege to which it was entitled.

The document is given by Hugh Cantor (12th c.) and, if spurious, must have been a very early forgery, possibly before 1127. It is, moreover, consistent with Eadmer's account (Hist. Nov. 211), except for the saving of the rights of the church of York which Eadmer might be tempted to omit. William of Malmesbury (Gest. Pont. 262) merely abridges Eadmer's account.

917. [1109, Oct?] Sutton [Notts. ?]

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and Nigel¹ de Albini and all his barons of Yorkshire: That Thomas Abp. of York is to have all the rights enjoyed by his predecessors, as the King has commanded by his other writs, and as he confirmed them to Abp. Gerard.

Witness: [Ranulf] the chancellor. [1108–14.]

918. 1109 [Oct. 17.] Nottingham in concilio totius Anglie

Grant by Henry I to St. Cuthbert of Durham and Bp. Ranulf and his successors for ever: Of the lands of Burdon, Carleton, and Aycliffe [co. Durham] which had been claimed by the Northumbrians. Also of certain customs which had been claimed by the Northumbrians as belonging to their county, and which Ranulf the bp. recovered against them in the presence of the King and his barons; viz. the liberty of hunting in the woods of the monks between Tees and Tyne, and of taking, on payment of one penny, as much fuel out of the woods as could be carried by one cart in one year, and of taking, for one penny, a large tree of their own choice from the same woods wherewith to build a ship, and of taking certain customs in the waters of the Tyne, belonging to the monastery.

Witnesses: Thomas Abp. of York; Richard Bp. of London; William Bp. of Exeter; Robert Bp. of Chester; Herbert Bp. of Norwich; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Gilbert Abbot of Westminster; Robert Count of Meulan; William of Warenne; Gilbert de l'Aigle; Nigel de Albini; Robert de Lacy; Humphrey de Bohun; Robert de Brus; Geoffrey Ridel; Alfred of Lincoln.

919. 1109, Oct. 17. Nottingham 'in concilio'

Charter by Henry I 'rex Anglorum et Normannorum dux': Creating the see of Ely.

Signa (in 3 columns): King Henry; Queen Matilda; Mathildis 'Sponsa regis Romanorum'; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; || Thomas Abp. of York; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Herbert, Bp. of Norwich; Reinelm Bp. of Hereford; Ralph Bp. of Rochester; Richard Bp. of London; Robert Bp. of Chester; William Bp. of Exeter; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; || Robert Count of Meulan; William Earl Warenne; Earl Simon; Stephen [Count] of Aumâle; Count Roger, the Poitevin (Pictaviensis);¹ Gilbert de l'Aigle; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini.

The date of the Pentecostal feast at which the matter was discussed was 1108 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 193,

195). The charter has a seal of red wax and looks like a fabrication. The dates are also confusing since the 10th year of Pope Paschal II is 14 Aug. 1108–13 Aug. 1109, and the Pope's consent was given by a bull of 21 Nov. [1108]. Thus the Pope's consent and the King's though in the 10th years of each are not of even date. Count Roger the Poitevin does not attest otherwise after 1102. The attestation of the Empress Maud, then only a child, is also surprising, nor is it certain that she adopted the name before going to Germany. The original was in possession of Sir Simonds D'Ewes in 1640.

920. [1109, Oct. 17? Nottingham]

Charter of Henry I confirming the church of Holy Trinity, Lenton [co. Nottingham], to the monks of Cluny there, for the souls of himself, Matilda his wife, and his father and mother, and for the safety of William his son and Matilda his daughter, at the request of William Peverel, the founder, his wife Adaleida and his son William, as a Cluniac priory, with what William Peverel has given, viz. 10 carucates of land, tithes, and the manor of Courteenhall (Curtehal) except one knight's fee held by Walter son of Winemer and the land of Turstan Mantel. And for this William and his successors shall give 1 mark of silver a year to the church of Cluny.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; Robert Count of Meulan; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Gilbert de Aquila; Robert Bp. of Chester; William Peverel of Nottingham; Adeline his wife; William Peverel their son; Robert brother of William Peverel; Herbert; Earl Simon [of Huntingdon]; Stephen Count of Aumale. [1107–13.]

Third Seal of Henry I, natural wax (fragment) on leather thong.

[Original in Paris, Bibl. Nat., Coll. de Bourgogne, LXXIX. 180; a contemporary duplicate without seal, ibid. 181; copy in Bib. Nat. MS. lat. 5459, fo. 118d; Bodl. Dugdale MS. Round, C.D.F. 1383 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 232.

Round doubts the authenticity of the witnesses' names. Stenton suggests that the text was completed at leisure and the crosses of William Peverel his wife and son made at the same time, while the other signa were added at court hastily and irregularly. There are no chronological difficulties. The witnesses suggest the council at Nottingham.

921. [1109, Oct. 17? Nottingham]

Charter (notum sit) by Henry I to the church of Holy Trinity, Lenton: Confirming the gifts of William Peverel (enumerated).

[Paris, Bibl. Nat., Coll. de Bourgogne, lxxix. 182. Duckett, Charters of Cluny, i. 68; Bruel, Chartes de Cluni, v. 164 (No. 3814).]

In identical words with the preceding sealed original, fo. 180, as far as the beginning of the enumeration. Probably a later composition.

922. [1109, Oct. 17?] Nottingham

Notification by Henry I to the sheriffs of Nottinghamshire and the barons of Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire: That he has granted to Thomas Abp. [of York] all his customs over his lands in Nottinghamshire, especially those belonging to St. Mary's, Southwell, as under William II. If anyone make claims against his men on those lands he is to have right in such manner and in such place as the canons of St. Peter's [York] would give it. The King will punish any infraction.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; the Count of Meulan. [1108–14.]

[Copies in Pat. R., 5 Ric. II, pt. 1, m. 10 (imperfect); Chart. R., 3–4 Hen. V, No. 15; Southwell Minster, Liber Albus, fo. 14; Beverley Town Cart., fo. 29v^o (imperfect). *Cal. Chart. 923. [1109, Oct. 17?] Nottingham

Notification by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff, Nigel de Albini, and barons of Yorkshire: That he has granted that Thomas Abp. [of York] have warren in his land of [Bp.] Wilton, and no one is to hunt there on forfeiture of £10.

Witness: Robert Bp. [of Lincoln?] [1108–14.]

924. [1109, Oct. ?] Collingham [Notts.]

Precept by Henry I to Ernulf Abbot [of Peterborough] and A[scelin] de Waterville (Walterivilla): To cause Godwin to hold his land and goods as justly and peaceably as he held it in the time of Abbot Turolf. No wrong is to be done him in this matter.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Per Lewin, son of Colgrim. [1107–14.]

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. xxii, fo. 90 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 86, fo. 53 (transcript from original, then at Peterborough).]

Ernulf Abbot of Peterborough in 1107, Bp. of Rochester in 1114. Godwin is presumably the tenant in Scotter and Scotterthorpe [co. Linc.] whose sons held at the date of the Peterborough Survey (Chron. Petroburgense, ed. T. Stapleton, 164). If so, the survey must be after 1107.

925. [1109 ?] York

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Thomas, Osbert the Sheriff, and all his sheriffs and barons and lieges of Yorkshire and Northumberland: That he has granted Ranulf Bp. of Durham leave to have a market in Norton [co. Durham] every Sunday. All resorting to the market are to have the King's firm peace. And the King grants such customs as exist in his own markets throughout England.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Nigel de Albini; Robert de Brus. [1108–14.]

Third Seal of Henry I (Greenwell and Blair, 3016).

[Durham Treasury iij^{la} i^{mac} Reg. No. 8 (original); copies in Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 60; Lansd. MS. Misc. 748, fo. 38; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 87. Surtees wrongly attributes this charter to Henry II.

926. [1109 ?] York

Notification by Henry I to T[homas] Abp. and Nigel de Albini and Osbert the sheriff: That the King has granted to the brethren of Goathland the place of Goathland and a carucate for ploughing and pasture for all their herds in the King's pastures of Pickering, as far as the bounds of the abbot of Whitby.

Witnesses: T[homas] Abp. of York; Robert de Brus. [1108–14.]

[Copies in Whitby Cart. (penes Sir C. Strickland [1878]), fo. 52; B.M. Add. MS. 4715, fo. 170v^o. Cart. Abb. de Whiteby (Surtees Soc., 1878), i. 162; Monast. iv. 544 (iii); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 397.] Farrer, Itin. 235.

Robert de Brus was with the King at Nottingham in 1109, and the King may have gone to York in that year. In any case this charter is after No. 891 and before No. 927.

927. [1109 ?] York

Notification by Henry I to T[homas] Abp. and Nigel de Albini and Osbert the sheriff: That Osmund the priest and the brethren of Goathland have with the King's consent surrendered themselves and the hermitage to the Abbot and convent of Whitby and taken the habit there.

Witness: Robert de Brus. [1108–14.]

928. 1109, Dec. 25. Westminster

Charter of Henry I: He has decided with the assent and counsel of his bps. and barons to restore the church of Eynsham to its former state 'for the souls of my father and mother and my brother William etc.' Confirms to the church its possessions to be held by perpetual right in ecclesiastical fashion. The Bp. of Lincoln may canonically appoint the abbot with the King's consent.

[Copy in Ch. Ch. Oxford MS. (Eynsham Cartulary), fo. 12v^o; Cart. of Eynsham, i. 36. Monast. iii. 15b. (IX).] Farrer, Itin. 246.

'Hoc autem confirmatum est anno ab incarnatione domini M^oC^onono, anno vero Henrici Regis decimo, apud Westmonasterium in nativitate Domini.'

The form is unusual. The Signa have probably been omitted in the cartulary, as no witnesses are named.

929. [1109 ?] Dec. 25. Westminster

Precept by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln and Earl Simon and the lieges of Northamptonshire: That the land of Twywell [co. Northants.] which Aubrey the chamberlain holds at farm from Abbot Gunter of Thorney remain for ever in the demesne of the abbey, after the death of Aubrey.

Witness: Ranulf Bp. [of Durham]. Per the same Aubrey. [1107-9.]

[Copies in C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii), v^o; Lansd. MSS. 992, ff. 126 and 994, fo. 94v^o (Bp. Kennet's coll.) from the Red Bk. of Thorney.]

Gunter Abbot of Thorney died in 1112, in which year the King was not in England. It would appear from this, and Aubrey's own charter (ante 1112) to Thorney [Mon. ii. 603], that Aubrey de Vere held the rank of chamberlain (not necessarily of chief chamberlain) before 1133. The years in which Christmas was kept at Westminster and Bp. Ranulf was not certainly in Normandy are 1101, 1102, 1107, 1109. But Aubrey is not described as chamberlain in 1101 or 1102 and Robert Malet (whom he possibly succeeded is still so described in 1105 (No. 682).

930. [c. 1109?] King's Cliffe (Cliva)

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs where Hervey Bp. of Ely has lands: That the men of the see shall not plead save where they were accustomed to plead in the time of King Edward and William I and William II.

Witness: The chancellor. [1109-31.]

[Cotton MS. Titus A. I, fo. 33 (copy). J. Bentham, Hist. of Ely (1771), App. 20*, No. xxiv.]

931. [1109?]

Precept by Henry I to all the tenants of the see of Ely, French and English: That the church of Ely and Hervey the bp. have in their demesne all the lands, men and customs which Simeon the abbot held at his death.

Witnesses: Robert Count of Meulan; Gilbert de l'Aigle. [1109-18.]

[Copies in Ely, Bp. Mun. Lib. M, fo. 76b; Cotton MSS. Titus A. I, fo. 31; Tib. A. VI, fo. 108. J. Bentham, Hist. of Ely (1771), App. 18*, No. xv.]

A like precept addressed generally, and saving the rights of tenants who held in the time of Abbot Simeon, with the same Witnesses.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Titus A. I, fo. 31; Tib. A. VI, fo. 127. Monast. i. 482 (xvii).]

932. [1109?] York

Precept by Henry I to Ralph de Beaufou (MS. Add. Balestar') and Hubert de Montchesney (Munchensy). That the monks of St. Peter of Eye hold all their property as well as they ever did in the time of Robert Malet, and be not impleaded respecting it, except by the King's express command.

Witness: William de Houghton. [c. 1107-16.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, fo. 114, also fo. 132v^o (transcript); Chart. R. 20 Ric. II, No. 4 (inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. v. 363.] Farrer, Itin. 480.

The very doubtful charter of Hervey Count of Léon (Cal. Chart. R. v. 366) asserts that Henry I held the honour of Eye seven years from the death of Robert Malet [ob. 1106], and Stephen as Count of Mortain and King twenty-two years. Henry would then have held the honour of Eye from 1106 to 1113, which latter year is a probable date for Stephen's succession to the honour of Mortain. Henry was at Nottingham in 1109 and probably also at York.

933. [c. 1109?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Hubert de Monchesny: To allow St. Peter's of Eye and Robert the monk to have the land of Redlingfield [co. Suff.], which they claim, as Beatrix the wife of William of Arques gave it to them; and to let no one do them wrong in this respect.

Witnesses: William de Houghton; Hugh de Bocland. [1106-13.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, ff. 114 and 133 (transcript).]

Beatrice of Arques was mother of Emma Countess of Guisnes, the founder of Redlingfield Priory (see No. 1904).

934. [1109] Lincoln

Precept by Henry I to Anselm Abp. of Canterbury and Hamo Dapifer and his barons and officials of Kent: That the church of Ghent and Abbot Ansbold and the monks are to have full possession of their land of Lewisham, as the abbot has proved his title in the King's court and in the King's presence against Robert of Bampton, who claimed it.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Count of Meulan.

[Copies in Ghent: Arch. du Royaume; Cart. de St. Pierre de Gand, fo. 20; P.R.O. Curia Regis R. No. 71 (3-4 Hen. III) (imperfect). Messenger des Sciences Historiques de Belgique (1842), 252 (abstract); Van Lokeren, Chartes de St. Pierre de Gand, i. 115; Curia Regis R. viii. 44 (incomplete); Round, C.D.F. 504 (No. 1378) (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 221.

Henry left England in July 1108, the year of Abbot Ansbald's appointment, and did not return from abroad till after the death of Anselm. Abbot Siger is stated by the Annales Blandinienses to have died in July 1108 and Ansbald to have been elected in the following January (M.G.H. Script. v. 27). It seems as though the writ had been inadvertently addressed to Anselm, sede vacante. But all early charters of St. Peter's Ghent are suspect (see E.H.R., xliii. 615-17).

935. [1109?] Pickering

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and the sheriff, officials, and barons of Yorkshire: Of a grant (Concedo) to St. Mary and the Abbot of St. Mary's at York of a tithe of the King's hunting in Yorkshire, in flesh and hides by the hands of the King's larderers, which the sheriff is to enforce.

Witnesses: Humphrey Bigod, chaplain; Eudo Dapifer. [1100-Apr. 1116.]

[P.R.O. D. of L. Great Coucher Bk. [D.L. 42], i, fo. 379; Manchester, John Rylands Lib., Reg. of St. Mary's, fo. 177v^o (incorrectly); Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, fo. 5, No. 29. Monast. iii. 560 (from Reg. of St. Mary's); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 353 (from Reg. of St. Mary's).] Farrer, Itin. 239.

Eudo died in 1120 and the King cannot have been in Yorkshire in 1120 or 1119.

936. [1104-9.] London

Notification by Henry I to his barons and ministers: That he has granted and confirmed to the church of St. Andrew, Rochester, sac and soc and all customs and liberties (as Christ Church, Canterbury, had them in the time of William I and William II and Abp. Lanfranc); four pence from tolls, ferries, and the hundred, and the fourth part of all issues pertaining to the reeveship (prepositura) of the city except the King's gavel.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Tur[old] de Envermeu; Hamo Dapifer. [1100-23.]

[Cotton MS. Dom. A. X, 9, fo. 102 (copy); P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] 6, No. 13; Chart. R. 3 Ed. I, No. 2; Pat. R. 12 Ed. IV, pt. 2, m. 14; Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 8, No. 2; B.M. Add. This must be after the resignation of the bishopric of Bayeux by Tuold c. 1104, and is probably before his retirement to Bec (see Orderic, Hist. Eccl. iv. 18). As Anselm is not named as dead, it is probably before 21 Apr. 1109, and the earlier years of this period are the more likely. It may, however, be connected with the appointment of Ralf d'Escures, 29 June 1108.

937. [1110, Apr. 10?] Marlborough

Precept by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury, Robert Bp. of Lincoln, and Hugh de Bocland Sheriff of Berks., and William Sheriff of Oxford: That the monks of Abingdon be allowed to have their customs from ships passing on the river, whether in herrings or in the right to buy goods (scilicet in accipiendis allecibus, et in mercatis faciendis), as they had them in the time of Edward the Confessor and subsequently.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Exeter; Eustace de Bréteuil (Britoil); Patrick de Chaources (Cadurcis). [1107-10.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 144; C. IX, fo. 151. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 95 (cf. ii. 119).] Farrer, Itin. 253.

Cf. No. 854. Henry was at Marlborough for Easter in 1110 (Farrer, Itin. 251, from A.S.C.).

938. [1110, Apr. 10?] Marlborough

Precept by Henry to Hugh de Bocland and all sheriffs and ministers of all England: Commanding that all the property (res propriae) of the Abbot and monks of Abingdon, which their servants may buy or sell be quit of toll and custom and ferry-dues (passagio) in so far as the latter can affirm on oath that the goods belong to the abbot and monks (affidare poterint quod suae sint). No one shall disturb them under penalty of ten pounds.

939. [1110, Apr. 10?] Easter. Marlborough

Notification by Henry I to Hervey Bp. of Ely and Gilbert the sheriff and all the barons of Cambridgeshire: That he has given at the prayer of Payn Peverel to the canons of Cambridge, a place in the fields of Cambridge lying near the spring of Barnwell where they are to found their church, &c.

Barnwell Priory was founded in consequence of this grant in 1112.

940. [1110, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Notification by Henry I to Walter Sheriff of Gloucestershire and Roger Sheriff of Worcestershire, and Hugh of Leicester and all his barons of England: That Thomas the prior and the monks of Worcester and all their men and lands are in the King's hand and have his firm peace. The prior is to hold his office as freely as he ever held it. No one is to interfere with the property of the church except by leave of the prior. All who hold of the church are to do their full service to the prior; otherwise he may take their lands and tenures into his hand and that of the King. All his property is to be quit of shires and hundreds, gelds and aids, and all other dues except murdrum and latrocinium.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1109–13.]

[Hale, Reg. Prior. B.M. Wigorn, 30*b*.] Farrer, Itin. 290*a*.

Thomas died 4 Oct. 1113. If we may assume that Roger d'Abitôt was exiled in 1110, the probable date would be the spring of that year.

941. 1110, May 17. Dover

Adeline's gift was on 28 Aug. 1110 (ii. 72) and she died after the turn of the year. At her funeral her daughter confirmed the gift in the 11th year of Henry I (i.e. before 5 Aug. 1111). It is more probable that the confirmation was issued in 1111, when Thomas de Sancto Johanne and Richard de Monte appear to have been joint sheriffs, than after the King's return from Normandy. Thomas and Richard are mentioned as sheriffs in the account of the recovery by Abingdon of a toll of herrings payable by Oxford ships (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 119–20, and Farrer, Itin., No. 286).

974. [1111, before Apr. 2?] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Jordan de Sackvill (Saccevilla): 'Ut plenum rectum facias Faritio abbati et ecclesiae de Abbendoniam de terra quam abstulisti eis, quam Radulfus de Caisnesham dedit ecclesiae in eleemosyna; et nisi sine mora feceris, praecipio quod Walterus Giffard faciat, et si ipse non fecerit, Hugo de Bochelandia faciat, ne inde clamorem audiam pro recti penuria.'

Witness: Geoffrey de Mandeville.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142; C. IX, fo. 149v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 85; Bigelow Plac. Anglo-Norm. 99.] Farrer, Itin. 318.

On the date see Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, 38 (note). (This applies also to Nos. 973 and 1000.)

Round's dating is a general one for the group. It is, however, probable that this Geoffrey is not the father of William de Mandeville, but Geoffrey de Mandeville of Marshwood. We are indebted to the late Mr. Lewis Loyd for this suggestion. This writ is an early example of the 'writ of right'. See M. M. Bigelow, History of Procedure in England (1880), p. 158. See also No. 979.

975. [1111, before Apr. 2?] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Hugh [of Leicester] Sheriff [of Northampton], Geoffrey Ridel, and Aubrey [de Vere], Chamberlain: If the Abbot of Thorney can show that he has not failed to do justice (defecisse de recto) to his man, Robert, and Robert's father, the plea as to the land and corn (annona) of Charwelton (Cealewetona) shall be held in the abbot's court. For the insult (verecundia) done by Robert to Osbert the monk against the King's peace and writ, they shall themselves do right when the abbot chooses to plead.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1107–11.]

Great Seal of Henry I (probably the third).

This suit took place under Abbot Gunter and therefore before Henry I's departure to Normandy in 1111.

This and No. 997, if they could be exactly dated, would probably fix the date at which the fourth great seal came into use.

976. [1111, before Apr. 2?] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose shires Bp. Samson [of Worcester] has lands, and to the collectors of geld (et coll'): That the lands named below geld along with the lands of the said bp. and follow their own hundreds. In Gloucestershire, in Bernintreu [i.e. Henbury] hundred, five hides which Osbert Giffard held, and three hides and a half in Compton Greenfield (Cuntona) which Gilbert fitz Tuold held. In Wacrecumba [Bradley] hundred, four hides and a half in Dowdeswell and 'Peclesword' which Robert held, and ten hides in Aston [Somerville] which Drogo held. In Tibaldstone hundred, seven hides in [Bishop's] Cleeve and Stoke [Archer] which Bernard and Ranald held. In Worcestershire, in Oswaldslow hundred, one hide in Grimley called Kensington (Chenitwic), which Robert the dispenser held. In Warwickshire, in Pathlow (Patelau) hundred, one hide in 'Lacheam'¹ (? Loxley); in Marton (Meretona) hundred, two hides and a half in Flecknoe; because the King's book (carta)² at Winchester testifies it. The same *Carta*² testifies that they are lands of St. Mary of Worcester.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury. [1102–11.]

² The reference to it as 'Carta regis' has been thought to imply that the returns had not yet been digested into their present form as vol. i of Domesday Book. Compare, however, No. 1000 which speaks of 'Liber de Thesauro' and No. 1887 (Heming's Cartulary, i. 298) which speaks of 'Carta mea Wintonie de thesauro meo'.

977. [1111, Lent?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Thomas and Nigel de Albini and Osbert the sheriff and all the barons and lieges of Yorkshire: That he has granted to Robert Bp. of Lincoln the churches of three manors, to wit, Coxwold, Kirkby Moorside, and Hovingham [co. York].

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1108–Feb. 1114.]

[Copies in D. and C. Lincoln, Reg. A. i. 4; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 6. Monast. viii. 1272, (xvii); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 19. Clay, E.Y.C. ix, No. 3.] Farrer, Itin. 245.

Robert d'Estouteville had granted the tithes of these churches in his demesne to St. Mary's, York (Farrer, E.Y.C. i. 272). See No. 844. It seems probable that these churches had been forfeited by Robert on account of his adherence to Robert Duke of Normandy in 1106. The gift to Bp. Robert Bloet was presumably for life since the churches were afterwards in the possession of Roger de Mowbray who gave them to Newburgh Priory, founded by him in 1145. The Stutevilles (as appears by the Byland chronicle [Monast. v. 346 (ii)]) endeavoured to recover their property in Coxwold without success.

978. [1111, Lent?] Woodstock

Mandate by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriffs and the King's ministers of Lincoln, Leicester, and Northampton: That St. German of Selby and his men of Crowle [Linc.] and Stallingborough [Linc.] and Stamford have toll and team, &c., as St. Peter of York has them.

Witness: Thomas Abp. of York. [1108–Feb. 1114.]

[Copies in Selby Cart. (Brooke), fo. 14; P.R.O. Exch. Transcripts [E. 132], No. 3 (mutilated). J. T. Fowler, Selby Coucher Book, i, 23; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 476.]

979. [1111, before Aug. 4?] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Walter Giffard and his mother Agnes: To do (teneas) full right to Abbot Faritius of Abingdon concerning the land which Ralph de Caisneham with their permission gave to Abingdon and of which the church was duly seised.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor. [1107–17.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142v^o; C. IX, fo. 149. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii, 85; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 99.] Farrer, Itin. 314.

This writ is subsequent to No. 974. On the defendant's neglect to do right, his lord is commanded to enforce it in his court.

980. [1108–Aug. 4, 1111.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to R. Bp. of London, Hugh de Bocland, and all his barons and lieges of London and Middlesex: That he has granted to the church of St. Mary of Abingdon and Abbot Faritius the perpetual possession of his house (hospitia) in Westminster Street, London, with all appurtenances quit in all respects as the church held them in the time of the King's father and brother.

Witnesses: Grimbald the physician; Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140; C. IX, fo. 148. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii, 75.] Farrer, Itin. 281.

This confirmation must be prior to Nos. 972 and 982 which deal with property acquired subsequently.

981. 1111 [Mar. 25–Aug. 4.] Reading

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: Granting to St. Mary of Abingdon and St. Andrew of the daughter church of Colne, the gifts of Aubrey de Vere and his wife, Beatrice, and their son Aubrey and his brothers and their men, made to that church, including the churches of St. Andrew, Colne, and Dovercourt [Essex], [Castle] Camps [Cambs.], [Great] Bentley and Beauchamp [Walter] [Essex].

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; John of Bayeux; Gilbert the chaplain; Geoffrey of Dives; Hamo Dapifer; Ranulf Meschin; William Peverel of Nottingham; Hugh de Bocland.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 136, C. IX, fo. 144v^o; Vesp. B. XV, fo. 59; B.M. Add. MS. 5860, fos. 216–17 (transcript); Colne Priory Cartulary (Essex Record Office), ff. 1 and 3 (incomplete). Monast. iv, 100 (v); Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii, 57; Fisher, Cartularium Prioratus de Colne, 1–3.] Farrer, Itin. 287.

⁴haec donationum concessio facta est a serenissimo rege Anglorum Henrico anno Dominicae incarnationis MCXI, indictione quarta, anno vero regni sui undecimo coram his testibus—

The two versions derived from the Colne Priory Cartulary (in B.M. Add. MS. 5860 and Cotton MS. Vesp. B. XV) omit the dating clause and substitute a confirmatory epilogue. Of these the first has the following witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; John of Bayeux; Ranulf the chancellor; Everard the archdeacon; Walter the archdeacon; William Peverel of Nottingham; Hugh de Bocland. This version (Cart. Prioratus de Colne, fo. 1) is an addition of the 14th c. to the original cartulary (c. 1200).

982. [1111, before Aug. 8.] Reading

Precept by Henry to Hugh de Bocland and all his officials (ministris) of London and Rainer the reeve (praeposito): Commanding that Faritius Abbot of Abingdon hold the land which the King has given him to enlarge his lodging (quam accrevi ei ad hospitium suum) as freely as he gave it by his writ.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; John of Bayeux, chaplain.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140v^o; C. IX, fo. 148. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii, 76.] Farrer, Itin. 288.

Subsequent to No. 972. Of even date with No. 981.

983. [1111, before Aug. 8?] Newbury

Precept by Henry I to Robert and Alfred, ministers of the count of Meulan, of 'Wellegrave': That they keep all the lands of the Abbot of Abingdon which are about them, and suffer no one to do wrong there. He is at least to hold these lands as freely as when the manor of 'Wellegrave' was in the king's hand, and his men are to be in peace and undisturbed (sine calumnia).

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; John of Bayeux. [1107-16.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140v°; C. IX, fo. 148v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 77.] Farrer, Itin. 289.

The Count of Meulan must be Robert (ob. 1118) since only the Sturminster lands passed to Waleran. St. Albans had property at Wingrave (Bucks.), but the connexion with the Count is not clear.

984. [1111?] Newbury

Precept by Henry to Hugh de Bocland and his servants (ministris) of Berkshire: Forbidding that anyone take anything from the wood of the Abbot of Abingdon which belongs to his manor of Welford [Berks.] save with his leave.

Witness: The chancellor. [1100-15.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 142; C. IX, fo. 149v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 83.]

By 1115 Hugh had ceased to be Sheriff of Berks.

985. [1111, before Aug. 8.] Newbury

Precept by Henry I to Hugh of Leicester, sheriff, G[eoffrey] de Clinton, and Godfrey (sic) Ridel and his barons of Northamptonshire: That the monks of [St. Andrew of] Northampton are to hold their property as well and honourably as they did in the time of Earl Simon.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln. [1111 or 1113.]

[B.M. MS. Reg. II B. ix, fo. 19v° (copy of 13th or early 14th c.).]

Earl Simon was alive in Aug. 1111 (No. 940). Henry was abroad from Aug. 1111 to July 1113. Geoffrey Ridel was drowned in the White Ship. As Earl David is not addressed, this grant was probably made before Christmas 1113.

986. [1111 before Aug. 8?] Newbury

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials: That all the land and men of the monks of [St. Andrew of] Northampton are to be quit of shires and hundreds, and all pleas and complaints except murdrum and latrocinium.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Lincoln.

[B.M. MS. Reg. II B. ix, fo. 17v° (copy of 13th or early 14th c.); Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVII, fo. 17 (copy of 15th c.).]

987. [1111, before Aug. 8.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich, and his barons and lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has given to Robert fitz Walter and his heirs the land of Robert son of Rabel, of whomsoever held, particularly that of the Moor (Mora)¹ and Filby and land in Norwich.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Reyner (sic) the chancellor; Walter Archdeacon of Norwich; the Masters (magistris) sons of John; William de Houghton (Hottona); Richard son of Herman; Ralf fitz Godric; Ralf Passegodric (sic).

[Copy in Cotton MS. Galba E. II, fo. 54 (Chartulary of St. Benet's, Holme). West, St. Benet of Holme, i. 71 (No. 122).] Farrer, Itin. 291.

'Apud Wintoniam in transitu regis.' [1108-16.]

As no sheriff is named it is possible that Robert was himself sheriff at this date. Henry was near Chichester when preparing to cross in 1108 and at Westbourne in 1114, so this was probably issued in 1111. Rabel artifex was the Domesday tenant (V.C.H. Norfolk, ii. 191).

988. 1111, Aug. 8. 'In transitu regis in Normanniam.' Bishop's Waltham

None of the copies mentioned above is complete or correct.

The list of witnesses is obtained by collating the Foedera and Chart. R. texts.

989. [1111, Aug. 8?] Waltham

Precept by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury, John Bp. of Bath, Robert de Gerreton' (?), sheriff, and all of Somerset: That his monks of Bath hold all their land of Corston as freely as under his ancestors, and as the charter of King Edwin attests, especially the lands previously held at rent (gablum) by Sweyn, John the knight, and an Englishman called Semer.

Witness: William de Tankerville (Tanchard'villa). [1106–22.]

[B.M. Egerton MS. 3316, fo. 24v^o (copy).]

The dei gratia in the style may be due to a copyist. The sheriff named is, however, otherwise unknown.

990. [1111, Aug. 8?] Waltham

Precept by Henry I [not styled rex] to Adam de Port and William fitz Norman and the royal foresters: That Bp. Reinhelm [of Hereford] shall have what is necessary to him in his forest beyond the Wye as his predecessors had them, and as the King commanded by a previous writ that he should have them.

The bishops of Hereford, Lincoln, and Salisbury all attest No. 988.

991. [1111], Aug. 13 Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I (dei gratia) to Hugh de Bocland, all of London and Middx., and generally: That he has given to St. Paul of London and Bp. Richard so much of the ditch (fossato) of the royal castle, on the side of the Thames to the south, as shall be needed for the use of the said church, and for making a road outside the wall; and on the other side of the church, to the north, so much of the said ditch as the bp. has destroyed.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle.

Gibbs, Early Charters, No. 28.]

'In Natali S. Hippolyti Martiris.'

The Guildhall copy and the 14th c. entry in 'Liber Pilosus' give the day of issue and the complete list of witnesses. These indications, when compared with the King's itinerary, give 1111 as the only possible year. Stow (i. 69) identifies the 'castle' with the site of the later Bridewell Palace, but Baynards Castle (which passed to Robert son of Richard about this time) seems more likely.

992. [1111, Aug. 13?] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to T[homas?] Abp. of York, the sheriff, and all the King's barons and lieges of Yorkshire: That he has granted Reginald Belet in fee-farm, to him and his heirs, for 110s. per annum, eleven carucates and one bovat of land in Hutton Bushell (Hatona) and in Preston and thirteen bovates of land in Ebberston to be held as well as the King held them when they were in his hand.

993. [1111, Aug. 13?] Portsmouth

Precept by Henry I to Aluric and Liulf, sheriffs [of Northumberland]: To do full right to Ranulf Bp. of Durham of the land of Ross [co. Northumb.],¹ which Robert de Muschamp has seized as Ranulf has recovered it (diracionavit). If not Nigel de Albini and another justice shall do it.

994. [1111, Aug. 13?] Portsmouth

Prohibition by Henry I to Robert fitz Richard and his men: None of them are to demand entertainment (hospitetur) on the land or in the houses of the Bp. of London and his canons and burgesses, until the question of their right to entertainment has been judicially decided.

995. [1111, August 13?] Portsmouth¹

Notification by Henry I to Thomas Abp. of York, Osbert the Sheriff, Nigel de Albini, Aschetill de Bulmer, and all barons, ministers, &c., of Yorkshire: That William Abbot of Whitby, and the monks, have given the King, in their forests, all harts and hinds and swine, and the King has afforested them to himself and to his heirs. The abbot and monks are to hold all their woods and pastures for ever so freely that no royal minister intromit therewith. He also confirms the grants made by William and Alan de Percy as set forth in Alan's charter. St. Peter's Church, Hackness, is to have sac, soc, &c., provided that some monks of Whitby pray for the King and his heirs as they do at All Saints, Fishergate, in York.

Robert the church of Empingham [Rutl.] and those three bovates which Gilbert of Ghent added (crevit) in alms. If the Count of Eu has disseised him, then Aubrey [de Vere] the chamberlain [*Monast. Earl Simon died before 1113, probably 1111–12. Henry was in Normandy until 1113.

997. [1107–Aug. 1111.] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Hugh [of Leicester], Sheriff [of Northampton]: To cause the land of the Abbot of Thorney in Charwelton to be reseeded of the corn and stock (annona et pecuna) of which the abbot's man Robert disseised it. And to cause what Suen, reeve of Fawsley (Fealeweslea), took thence to be restored. The lands of the abbot and his men are to be in the King's peace and the men of Fawsley are to make no encroachment of meadow or corn under pain of forfeiture.

Witness: The chancellor.

The date must be before the King's departure from England in Aug. 1111 and after the election of Abp. Thomas, who was present as 'elect of York' at the council of May 1108 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 193).

999. [1107–11.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bloet, Bp. of Lincoln, and all the barons of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted to St. Benedict of Ramsey and Abbot Aldwin, for ever, sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief and forestal and blodwite and murder and treasure-trove and all other liberties pertaining to the Crown, in the land for one league (leugata) round the church of St. Benedict, and all other pleas pertaining to the Crown. 1000. [1111, Sept. 30?] Winchester 'in thesauro'

Notification by Queen Matilda, [acting as justiciar], to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Thomas de Sancto Johanne [Sheriff of Oxfordshire] and all the barons, French and English, of Oxfordshire: That Abbot Faritius of Abingdon appeared at Winchester in the treasury, before her court and the court of her husband, and proved by Domesday Book (Liber de Thesauro) that his manor of Lewknor [co. Oxon.] owed nothing to the hundred of Pyrton (Peritona) but only to that of Lewknor: in the presence of Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Richard Bp. of London; William de Curci; Adam de Port; Turstin the chaplain; Walter of Gloucester; Herbert the chamberlain; William d' Oilli; Geoffrey fitz Herbert; William de Anesy (Enesi); Ralph Basset; Geoffrey de Mandeville; Geoffrey Ridel; Walter, archdeacon of Oxford.

Thurstan became Abp. of York in 1114. Henry was absent in Normandy 1111–13. This presumably took place at the Michaelmas or Easter session at the Exchequer. Thomas de Sancto Johanne was succeeded by Richard de Monte in 12 Hen. I. Both appear as sheriffs in 1111 (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 119–20).

1001. [1111, Sept. 30?] Winchester

Order by Matilda to Nigel de Albini: To do full right to Ranulf Bp. of Durham concerning the lands (and especially Ross), which Robert de Muschamp seized after the agreement made by Bp. William and Robert Earl of Northumberland.

Witness: Walter of Gloucester. [1107–16.]

[Copies in Bodl. MS. Laud Misc. 748, fo. 37; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 114, fo. 85v^o; Cotton MS. Claud. D. IV, fo. 59. Monast. i. 242 (imperfect); Arch. Ael. 4th Ser. vii. 54 (translation); Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 137.]

This appears to be closely consequent on No. 993 and issued by the Queen as regent.

1002. [1111, after Aug. 13]

Notitia (c. 1138) of a suit (presumably in the King's court at Rouen) by which Urso abbot of Jumièges recovered possession of the abbey's house at Rouen called Rainer's

Tower from Baldwin, son of a certain Clarus who had been allowed to occupy it at the time of the riots [in 1090].

Witnesses: Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; John Bp. of Lisieux; Robert Count of Meulan; William Earl Warenne; Gilbert de L'Aigle; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; William de Ferrers.

[Arch. Dép. Seine-Inf. (fonds de Jumièges) (original); transcript by Bigot in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10055, fo. 84. Vernier, Chartes de Jumièges, i. 157; E.H.R. xxiv. 212; Haskins, Norm. Inst. 91.] Farrer, Itin. 293.

1003. [1112, c. Nov. 4.] Varaville [Calvados] (Warrevilla)

Precept by Henry I: That the chattels and property and food of Vitalis the hermit of Savigny and his companions are to be quit of toll and custom and passage, if their men can certify that the goods are for their use. The penalty for breach of this privilege is £10.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini.

Henry was at Bonneville-sur-Touques on 4 Nov. (Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. (ed. Prévost), iv. 305.)

1004. 1112

Notitia of the gift by Robert Count of Meulan to St. Mary's, Bec, with the consent of King Henry, of the manor of Chisenbury on the Avon (Avrum), for the souls of William I and Matilda, for the welfare (salute) of Henry I and Matilda, his wife and children, for the souls of his own parents Roger and Adeline, the remission of the sins of himself and his wife Elizabeth and their children, and for the welfare of his brother Henry and his wife Margaret and their children.

[Windsor, D. & C., Chart. R. (XI. G. 11) (13-c. copy): Paris, Bibl. Nat. MSS. lat. 13905, fo. 21v^o; 12884, fo. 156 (transcripts). Chibnall, Select Documents, xiv (p. 9); Porée, Hist. de l'Abbaye du Bec, i. 467 (noticed).]

'Ego Henricus rex Anglorum gratia dei concedo et signo et sigillo meo confirmo hanc elemosinam.'

The form of the confirmation is suspect, but there is no reason to doubt its occurrence.

1005. [1100–12]

Notification by Henry I (rex Angliae) to S[amson] the Bp. and W[alter] of Gloucester: Of a confirmation to the church of Gloucester of a hide of land in Amney (Amenel) and a tithe of the meadows of Kempsford (Kenemereforde) which Patrick de Chaworth (Cadurcis) has given.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 5v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc., i. 164.]

The chronicle (Monast. i. 548 (xiii)) puts Patrick's gift of tithe of meadows in the abbacy of William who succeeded Peter (†17 July 1113), and therefore after Bp. Samson's death.

1006. [1100–12]

Notification by Henry I (rex Angliae) to Samson Bp. of Worcester and Walter Sheriff of Gloucester and all the King's barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: Of a confirmation to St. Peter's, Gloucester, of the land in Brookthorpe [co. Glos.] which Aline (Aelyna) wife of Roger de Ivry¹ gave for the soul of William Rufus and for her own soul. Henry grants that the land shall be free from all service.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 10v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 176.]

1007. [1100–12]

Notification by Henry I (rex Angliae) to Samson the bp. and Walter the sheriff and all the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: Of a confirmation to St. Peter and the monks of Gloucester, of the half-hide of land which William de Bulleya gave and Ralph Blueth, his lord, has confirmed.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 22 (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 203.]

1008. [1100–12]

Precept by Henry to Samson the Bp. of Worcester and Walter Sheriff of Gloucester and the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: That the monks have a grove in the King's Barton together with the land which he gave them in exchange for the site of his castle.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 78. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 318.]

The chronicle (Monast. i. 544 (xiii)) places this in 1109.

1009. [1100–12]

Notification by Henry I to Samson Bp. [of Worcester] and Walter Sheriff of Gloucester and the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: That he has confirmed to the monks of Gloucester all the land which Thomas de Sancto Johanne gave them in Winchcombe.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fol. 171. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 162.]

1010. [1108–12.] Oissel [Seine-Inf.] (Oysel)

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and Hugh de Book (sic) and all of Essex: That he has granted to Helgot Abbot of St. Ouen at Rouen the manor of Fingringhoe (Fingrinhou) [co. Essex] and the land pertaining thereto; and forbids on pain of £10 forfeiture that any man hunt there without the abbot's licence. The manor is in the King's defence like his own warren. If anyone offends there, the persons addressed are to take from him the King's right, and cause the Abbot to have his right.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Richard the chaplain, keeper of the seal; William de Say.

[P.R.O. Treas. of Receipt. Forest Proceedings (E. 32), roll. ii, m. 6 d. Morant, Essex, i. 415.]

Helgot died 20 Nov. 1112 (Gall. Christ. xi). Henry was in Normandy July 1108–c. June 1109 and Aug. 1111 to July 1113. Mersea Priory was a cell of St. Ouen.

1011. [1103–12]

Writ by Henry I to Samson Bp. of Worcester and Walter [Sheriff] of Gloucester and all his barons and officers, French and English, of Gloucestershire: Notifying that henceforth the 10 hides of the manor of Horsley [belonging to St. Martin of Troarn] are to acquit themselves for 7 hides.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury.

[Roll in Arch. of Calvados. Round, C.D.F. 168, No. 472 (calendared); D'Anisy, Catalogue, ii. 235 (calendared incorrectly).]

1012. [Sept. 1112–Jun. 1113.]

Charter (embodying an older one which is now confirmed with modifications) by Henry I to the abbey of St. Georges de Bocherville: Consenting that it be made an abbey, confirming various gifts by William de Tancarville, his chamberlain, and others, and himself granting certain rents, &c., in England.

Signa: Henry King of the English; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; John Bp. of Lisieux; Roger Bp. of Coutances; William [de Tancarville] the chamberlain; Rabel the son of the chamberlain; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Edward of Salisbury.

[Cart. of St. Georges, Boscherville, Rouen, Publ. Lib. Y. 52, fo. 58 (copy). Round, C.D.F. 66 (No. 196) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 341.

'Anno ab incarnatione domini m^o c^o xiii^o (sic), Epacta xx^a iii^a. Indictione vi^a.'

The year-date is presumably miscopied, as the epact and indiction are both for 1112–13.

1013. [1113] Feb. 11. Bec

Notitia of the confirmation by Henry I of a charter of Hugh son of Gerard de Gournay to the abbey of Bec, confirming the gifts of his predecessors, and adding others, particularly Lessingham [co. Norf.].

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 13905, fo. 20 (transcript of original). Porée, Hist. de l'Abbaye du Bec. i. 339, n. 4 and 465, n. 4 (notices).] Farrer, Itin. 297A. See also Haskins, Norm. Inst. 311.

'Haec omnia concessit et sigillo suo firmavit Henricus rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum, iii Idus Februarii supradicti anni. Apud Beccum.'

Dom Jouvelin, the 18th-c. transcriber, says: 'Ce n'est encore qu'une notice, mais signée de Henry I^{er} et de plusieurs seigneurs; le sceau y est encore attaché et appliqué sur la charte même sans autres lacs qu'une queue de la charte. Le sceau est de Henry I^{er}, dont il n'y est parlé pourtant qu'à la troisième personne.' Porée dates 1111 or 1112, but the first is impossible and the second less likely than 1113.

1014. 1113 [Feb. 11?]

Charter of Henry I confirming to St. Mary Magdalen, Goldcliff and the monks of the order of Bec there all the gifts of Robert de Candos and Isabel his wife in England and Wales. And for admission to their fraternity of prayers, the King grants them all the liberties and customs throughout England and Wales and the seas adjoining which pertain to him and his court.

Dated 'anno ab incarnatione Domini M^o centesimo tercio decimo . . . ut autem sepedicti monachi hac mea presenti inperpetuum gaudeant donatione et concessione, eam illis duxi confirmandam hujus presentis carte mee annotatione, et ad majorem firmitatem et securitatem sigilli mei roborandam testimonio et appositione, necnon et mee et nobilium virorum qui presentes fuerunt quando hec facta sunt, signis et subscriptione'.

The charter of Henry Duke of Normandy (which follows in the roll) alludes to this confirmation by Henry I which may therefore be genuine despite its irregular form and unusual language. Henry was at Bec on 11 Feb. 1113 and the charter may have been drawn up there.

1015. [1113] March 2.¹ Avranches

Charter by Henry King of the English and Duke of the Normans to Vitalis the hermit: Confirming the grant made by Ralph of Fougères with his wife and sons, for monks to possess and dwell in, of the forest of Savigny, &c.

Witnesses: Baldric Abp. of Dol; Turgis Bp. of Avranches; [†]Ranulf the chancellor; [†]William Earl of Warenne; [†]Richard Earl of Chester; John of Bayeux; Grimbald the physician; [†]William de Albini; Thomas de Sancto Johanne; Roger fitz Richard; [†]Humphrey de Bohun; Ingelram of Abernon; Geoffrey de Mandeville; [†]Hamo dapifer; Robert de Curci; William de Pirou; Jordan de Sai; Harscolf de Sancto Jacobo; Geoffrey de Dive, chaplain; Humphrey Bigod; Everard de Calne; Robert Pecche; William de Martinwast; William the Almoner; Hugh the scribe; Nigel de Albini; Richard custos sigilli.²

Fragment of Seal.

[Original in Archives of the Manche (formerly in Arch. at Mortain); Cartulary (in Arch. Dép. Manche), fo. 1. Round, C.D.F. 287, No. 792 (calendared). Gallia Christiana, xi, Instrumenta, col. 111.] Farrer, Iitin. 294.

After the list of witnesses there follows:

(1) A list of witnesses 'ex parte Radulfi Filgeriensis'.

(2) A dating clause 'Data et confirmata Abrincis anno ab incarnatione Domini M^oC^oXII^o, Indictione vi^a (sic) Epacta xx^{ma} (sic) vi nonas Martii anno regni mei xiii^{mo}, anno vero pontificatus Paschalis papae secundi xiiii, pontificatus autem Rothomagensis archiepiscopi anno iii^o, Turgisii quoque Abrincensis episcopi anno praesulatus xviii^o. Ego Henricus rex Anglorum in hujus confirmationem praecepti manu mea subscribo et presentem paginam imagine mea consigno.'

(3) Signa of the King, of those names preceded by a cross in the above list of witnesses, and of the following: Eustace of Breteuil; Nigel de Albini; Mauguisius of Savigny; Robert his nephew; Johel brother of Robert; Roger fitz Peter.

The Indiction and Epact are inconsistent with the pontifical and regnal years, all of which, as nearly as can be fixed, suit 1113. Haskins, Norman Institutions, 311, dates as 1112 from Indiction and Epact and considerations of Itinerary. Henry was near Alençon at some time between 23 Feb. and 1 Mar. 1113, about 87 miles by road from Avranches.

² Haskins (Norm. Inst. 311) adds the last two witnesses to Round's list.

1015a. 1113

Notitia of the gift by Rose (Rohes) wife of Richard son of Earl Gilbert with the consent of Gilbert her son and his brothers to St. Mary of Bec and St. Neot of Eynulfisbury, and the monks there, of the manor named (as in Monast. iii. 473 [No. xi], with, in addition)

Witnesses: William Giffard (Gyffart), Bp. of Winchester; (Gilbert's) brothers, Roger, Walter, and Robert; Eudo Dapifer and Rose his wife; Odo de Dammartin (Domino Martino); William de Watevile; Ingram de Abernon; Walter de Bec; William de Corton; Guncelin (Gonzelino) son of Goismer and Humphrey his brother; Robert Pecche; Arnold (Erinaldo) de Nazandas; Oilard de Balliol; Maurice de Cassel.

Confirmed by Henry I with his own hand.

Signa: The King; William his son; the Queen; Ralph Bp. of Rochester; Earl David; Manasser Count of Guines (Wisnes); Gilbert son of Richard; Walter son of Richard;

Ranulf the chancellor; Robert the King's son; William de Aubigny (Albino), butler; Nigel de Aubigny; William de Tancarville (Tancartvilla); Hamo of Canterbury, dapifer; William Peverel of Dover; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Geoffrey Ridel; Baldwin de Bollers; Grimbold the leech (medici); Richard Earl of Chester.

[Copies in P.R.O., Exch. K.R. Memoranda Roll, 3 Hen. IV (E. 159/178), Comm. Mich. r. xxij, Cotton MS. Faust. A. IV, fo. 45 (imperfect). Monast. (as above) and Gorham, Eynesbury and St. Neot's, i. 299 (Confirmation only), from Cotton MS. and ii. cv-cvi, from Memoranda Roll (both parts).]

This is probably the earliest appearance of David as Earl of Huntingdon. The original or quasi-original was produced in the Exchequer by William de Sancto Vedasto, Prior of St. Neots in 1401, to show that the priory was not an alien priory. Oilard de Balliol was a sub-tenant at Stoke by Clare and a benefactor of the priory there. He also held land in Sussex under the Count of Eu (No. 1061) and therefore probably belonged to the family of Balliol of Bibleham (see Loyd, Anglo-Norman Families, 11).

1016. [1113, March 2.] Avranches

Notification by Henry I: That he has given [to the monks of Savigny] the vineyard of Avranches and the Queen's vineyard.

[Cart. de Savigny (Arch. Dép. Manche). Mém. de la Soc. des Antiquaires de Normandie, xx. 256 (imperfect).]

1017. [1113, Mar. 2?] [Avranches?]

Charter of Henry I: Confirming 'Pro anima patris mei et matris et pro salute animae meae et uxoris meae Matildis et filii mei Willelmi' the gift which William of Warenne, Earl of Surrey, gave to Saint Pancras [Lewes], viz. the churches of Brighton, Hangleton, Clayton, Keymer, Barcombe, Ardingly, &c.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Richard de Capella; Everard son of Earl Roger; John of Bayeux; Grimbald the physician; Henry de Albini; Robert de Oilli (-llig); Robert de Gomeri; Richard Lovel (Lupellus) [1107-18.]

Ranulf became chancellor in 1107. Queen Maud died 1 May 1118.

1018. [1112?] Ste. Mère Église

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Aiulf the chamberlain [sheriff of Dorset] and all his barons, &c., of Dorset: That he has granted for the soul's welfare of himself and his wife and children, to the abbey of Montebourg and Urso the abbot, that the manor of Loders, which, by his permission, Richard de Redvers gave the monastery, shall be assessed at 5 hides only.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Roger de Mandeville; Walchelin the chamberlain. [1107-18.]¹

[Copies in Cart. of Loders (Arch. de la Manche, H. 838 A), p. 7; P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 17 (23). Round, C.D.F. 313, No. 876 (calendared); Monast. vi. 999 (very incorrect).] Farrer, Itin. 295.

1019. 1113 [March-June]. Rouen Castle (in turre Rothomagensi)

Charter of confirmation by Henry 'Dei gratia rex Anglorum et Normannorum dux atque Cenomannensium princeps', to St. Evroul en Ouche: Of gifts by William de Breteuil and others.

Signa: King Henry; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; [Robert] Count of Meulan; Nigel de Albini; Richard Earl [of Chester]; Goel (Huelli) de Ivry; William Peverel; William de Say; Roger de Thibouville (Tieboudivilla); William de La Londe (La Lunda); Walter de Vernon; Robert son of Anchetill; William his son; Patrick de Chaworth (Chaorcis); Robert the King's son; William Bigod.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. Chart. S. Evrulf, i, no. 16 (copy). Orderic, Hist. Eccl., ed. Prévost, v. 196 (with corrections from copy of 1671). Round, C.D.F. 219 (No. 624) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 298.

'Anno quo comes Andegavensis mecum pacem fecit et Cenomannum de me, meus homo factus, recepit.'

The instructions for this charter were given at St. Evroul on 3 Feb. on the advice of Robert Count of Meulan, the King's nephews Theobald Count of Blois and Stephen Count of Mortain being then in attendance, as were Conan son of Alan Duke of Brittany, and William Bp. of Exeter (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iv. 301; Farrer, Itin. 297).

1020. [1113?]

Confirmation by Henry I to the abbey of Troarn: Of a gift given by William Count of Évreux and his wife Helwisa.

Signa: Henry, by God's grace, King of the English; William Count of Évreux; Helwisa the Countess. [1100–14.]

[Original (?) in Arch. Dép. Calvados. Copy in Cart. of Troarn, fo. 82 (in same archives); P. R. O. Transcript 8/140 B. pt. 3, p. 328. Round, C.D.F. 169 (No. 478) (calendared).]

Helwisa died in 1114. Cf. Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. iv. 307 where the restoration of William in 1113 (after the exile of himself and Helwise about Feb.–Mar. 1112) is connected with Henry's gift to Troarn.

1021. [1111, Aug.–1113, June.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Ralph Bp. of Rochester and Hamo Dapifer and the barons, French and English, of Kent: That he has given to the church of St. Saviour, Bermondsey, the church of Shorne (Soras) with the church of Cobham thereto appending, with tithes, &c., as Turstin the King's chaplain had them.

Witnesses: Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini; William Peverel.

[P.R.O. Pat. R. 1 Hen. IV, pt. 7, m. 15 (inspeximus). Thorpe, Reg. Roffense, 229; Monast. v. 100.] Farrer, Itin. 300.

Thurstan became Abp. of York in 1114. But Henry was not in Normandy after July 1113. The Bermondsey Annals (Ann. Monast. iii. 434) assign this gift to 1132.

1022. [1113?] Rouen

Charter by Henry I, King of the English and Duke of the Normans, addressed generally: Notifying that, in his presence, Girolod Abbot of St. Wandrille and his monks have granted Veraval (Verhwast) at farm to William (sic) Bp. of Lisieux for his life.

Witnesses: Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; Ranulf the chancellor; Eustace Count of Boulogne; Robert Count of Meulan; Eudo Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer; Robert de Beauchamp; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Walter de Vernon; Godard Pistrina; Helto of St. Wandrille; Alan of Alicheri-villa; William fitz Ansger; William fitz Ouen (filio Oini); William fitz Geoffrey; Ascelin de Bois Gérard (Bosco Gerardi). [1111–18.]

[Arch. of Seine-Inférieure Cart. of St. Wandrille, fo. 194v° [L. ii. 4] (copy). F. Lot, Études critiques sur l'abbaye de Saint Wandrille, 111; Round, C.D.F., 59, No. 167 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 299.

1023. [1113?]

Charter by Henry I to St. Martin of Troarn and the cell of Saint Mary (Notre-Dame du Désert): Granting to them the church of the castle of Vire (Castrum Vire) free from all power save that of the King, and the tithe of all the rents pertaining to the said castle, the gifts of Ranulf des Presles (de Prateriis), Alvred de Combray (Combraio) his nephew, and Ralph Vicomte of the castle of Vire.

Signa: King Henry; Richard Earl of Chester. [1113–20.]

Round gives the date 1115, queried, but without reasons. Richard Earl of Chester married in 1115, aged 22, and he attested a charter to Saint-Évroult in 1113 (No. 1019) (Ord. Vit., iv. 302; see also ibid. iv. 307, which suggests 1113 as a possible date).

1023a. [1113?]

Notification by Henry I confirming the gifts made by his barons, or to be made with his consent, of churches, land, or other benefactions, for the building of a monastery in honour of the Holy Trinity and St. Mary the mother of God, by the abbot and monks of St. Martin, Troarn, in the territory of Presles (Prateriis), viz. the land of Ralph de Covert and his brothers, as Ranulf Dapifer granted it [&c.]. He also grants tithes of the castle of Vire. [1106–15.]

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10086, fos. 43, 55v°, 60v° (transcripts).]

This charter may be earlier than 1113, since Richard Earl of Chester does not appear as a witness, though he does so to a charter to Saint-Évroult of 1113 (No. 1019). See also Orderic, iv. 307. Ranulf Dapifer may have been the steward of Robert Count of Mortain (ob. 1090).

We are indebted to Professor G. Barraclough for the transcripts of this and the preceding charter printed in the Appendix. It is difficult to establish an authentic text. See also 1088a.

1024. [1106–13.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Worcester and the Sheriff and barons of Worcestershire: That no man is to take the pheasants (fesandos) of Walter de Beauchamp which he has put in his manor of Elmley (Almega) or elsewhere in the county of Worcester. Whoever takes a pheasant shall pay a fine of 15s. to the King.

Witness: William de Tanc[arville].

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 127v^o (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 566A.

Issued before Walter de Beauchamp became Sheriff of Worcestershire, and therefore probably before Henry's return to England in July 1113. As no bishop or sheriff is named a date after 5 May 1112 seems likely.

1025. [1111–13.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff and all the foresters of Worcestershire: That he has given Walter de Beauchamp and his men permission to hunt wolves in all the royal forests of Worcestershire, and to make traps round about his park for capturing wolves.

Witness: William de Pirou.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 127v^o (copy).]

Osbert must have been the sheriff in the interval between the exile of Roger d' Abitôt and the appointment of Walter de Beauchamp. It seems possible that Roger was among those exiled in 1110.

1026. [1112–July 1113.]

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln and Hugh de Bocland and all the barons of Middlesex (sic), French and English: That he has granted to Abbot Peter and the monks of Gloucester the church of Wraysbury and the church of Langley Marish [Bucks.] (Laverkestouk?) which Robert Gernon gave them.

Witness: Queen M[atilda].

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 172. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii, 164; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 154.]

The date of Robert Gernon's gift is 1112 (Monast. i. 551).

Abbot Peter died 17 July 1113.

1027. [1113.] Ditton

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and the barons and sheriffs of the shires in which Abbot Robert, of Thorney, has lands: That he has granted to Abbot Robert the abbey of Thorney and all the lands with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief, and all the customs enjoyed by his predecessors within and without borough.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini; William de Tancarville; Hamo Dapifer; William Bigod; William de Pirou; Geoffrey fitz Pain.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Aug. II, fo. 12a (inspeximus of 2 Rich. II); Bodl. Gough MS. Cambs. No. 30, fo. 15; Chart. R. 8 Ed. II, No. 37; 22 Ed. III, No. 36; C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 24 (x) (imperfect). Cal. Chart. R. iii. 242.] Farrer, Itin. 364.

The Red Book of Thorney (Monast. ii. 594) gives the dates of Abbot Robert as 1113–51.

1028. [1113.] Ditton

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to the abbot and convent of Thorney the hundred of Normancros in fee-farm at 100s. per ann.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ralph Basset.

1029. [1113?] Ditton

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs, &c.: That his previous writ granting freedom from toll to the monks of Ely, so far as they are buying materials for their new church, shall be respected.

Witness: The chancellor. [1102–35.]

[Original (mutilated) Ely, D. and C. Registry, No. 5 v; copies in Ely, Bps. Registry, Lib. M., fo. 80; Cotton MS. Tit. A. I, fo. 32v^o. Bentham, Hist. of Church of Ely, App. 18*.] Farrer, Itin. 140.

This charter is wrongly dated at Sawtry in the Cotton MS. It must be later than No. 771.

1030. [1113?] Trumpington

Notification by Henry I to Th[omas] Abp. of York and Os[bert] the sheriff and Robert de Lacy and Nigel de Albini and all the barons of Yorkshire and Nottinghamshire: Of a grant to Robert Bp. of Lincoln of all the land of Gladwin, which he used to hold of the King, and all Gladwin's service.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; [Ranulf] the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle. [1108–14.]

[Copies in Lincoln, 'Reg. Antiquiss.', fo. 11d; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 3. Cal. Chart. R. iv. 138; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 72.] Farrer, Itin. 244.

'Per tres parmenos [sic] quos ego ei dedi apud Tromplintonam.'

1031. [1109–13.] Rockingham

Notification by Henry I to Thomas Abp. of York and his clergy and the faithful of the church: That he has granted to St. Mary's, Bridlington, the land given to the canons by Walter de Gant and his men. They are to enjoy the same customs as other canons.

Witnesses: William Peverel of Dover; William de Rollos (Rullos).

[B.M. Add. MS. 40008, fo. 157 (14th c.) (copy). Lancaster, Cart. of Bridlington, 212.] Farrer, Itin. 309.

1032. [1113?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Simon the dean and the whole chapter of St. Mary of Lincoln and Hugh de Leicester and all the barons, French and English, of Northamptonshire: That he gives and grants to God and St. Mary of Lincoln and Bp. Robert the churches of Nassington, Woodnewton, Tansor and Southwick with their lands, tithes, and customs to form a prebend for the soul of his father, mother, and brother, and the salvation of himself and wife, to be held with immunities (quietationibus) and customs as Leving the King's scribe (Levingus scriptor regis) best held them at any time.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the Chancellor; John of Bayeux. [1107–16.]

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5, fo. 6d (No. 41); Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 8d; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 51. Monast. viii. 1274 (xxxvii); Foster Reg. Antiq., No. 41.]

As the earl is not addressed, the writ may probably have issued during a vacancy of the earldom. Earl Simon was alive until Henry crossed to Normandy in Aug. 1111. The King returned about midsummer 1113, and David was recognized as earl soon afterwards.

1033. [1112–13.] Westminster

Precept (Redde) by Henry I to Almod the archdeacon: To restore to the Abbot of Thorney his manor of Sawbridge [co. Warwick] stocked as Almod received it. If not Ralph Basset shall restore it.

Witness: Geoffrey son of Wimund. [1100–27.]

Fourth [?] Seal of Henry I.

[Burghley House Charters (original). Stenton, Northamptonshire Charters (facs.), 15.]

Ralph Basset died before Michaelmas 1130. If the archdeacon took possession on the death of Gunther in 1112 (the only abbot who died under Henry I) the date must be 1112–13.

1034. [1114, Feb. or Mar.?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to T[heowulf] Bp. of Worcester and all the barons of Worcestershire: That he has entrusted to Walter de Beauchamp the sheriffdom of Worcestershire, to hold as freely as any sheriff before him. The persons addressed are to obey Walter as their sheriff and are to attend the King's pleas, hundred-courts, and shire-courts, as fully as at any time in the past. Otherwise Walter may distrain their service.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; [Robert] Count of Meulan; Hamo Dapifer; Walter of Gloucester; Thomas de Sancto Johanne.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 126v° (copy). Davis 'Some Documents of the Anarchy' (Poole Essays, pp. 168 sq.).] Farrer, Itin. 319.

This is presumably earlier than the grant of Roger's lands (No. 1062).

1035. [1114?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Osbert de Abetôt and the officials and foresters of the forest of Feckenham: That he has granted Walter de Beauchamp the right of taking foxes in the royal forest and in Feckenham.

Witness: Robert de Essex.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 127v° (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 541A.

1036. [1114? Mar. 29.] 'Thorp' [Thorpe, Surrey]

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] Bigod and Ralph Passelewe and the justice of Norfolk: That the monks of Holy Trinity, Norwich, are to have their custom in Eaton [in Norwich], as granted by the King's charter. William, Ralph, and their ministers are not to disturb them about pleas and hundreds, on pain of the royal forfeiture.

Witness: Nigel d'Oilli. [1107–Apr. 1116.]

[Norwich Cath. Regg. ii, fo. 24v° (bis); iii, fo. 57v°.]

William Bigod appears as sheriff of Suffolk in 1114 (No. 1067) and died in the White Ship. Henry was at 'Thorp' on 29 March of that year (A.S.C.). As the council which elected Ralf Archbishop of Canterbury on 26 April was called to Windsor, it seems probable that the 'Thorp' in question is that between Egham and Chertsey.

1037. [1114, Feb. or Mar.?] Oxford

Precept by Henry I 'omnibus constabulis et omnibus fidelibus suis de curia': That no one is to lodge in the vill of Abingdon without the consent of Abbot Faritus.

Witness: Grimbold the physician. [1100–16.]

1038. 1114. Oxford

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has restored to St. Peter and the Abbot and monks of Burgh, to provide food and raiment for the brethren, their minster (monasterium) of All Saints, Lincoln;¹ also 'Methorp', Northorpe, Hibaldstow, with all the customs which pertained to them on the day when Abbot Tuold was alive and dead. They shall pay as rent for the soc of Methorp 4s., for that of Northorpe 5s. 4d. Also the King restores the service for the lands of certain knights; viz. Asford² of Witham-on-the-Hill (Wyham), Robert de Guines (Gunges), Ralph de la Mare; also the land of Richard of Thornhaw in Sibberton, to wit, the land of Alsi, which King William I gave as an offering to the church of Peterborough at his first visit. Also a part of the wood belonging to Geoffrey Infans, who is in Scotland (qui est in Scothis). Also all the lands formerly given to Peterborough which were usurped by evil men in the early part of the King's reign (list given). Also the abbey is to have sac and soc, and infangthief over all that it possessed on the day when Abbot Tuold was alive and dead.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Hervey Bp. of Ely; R[alph] Basset; Baldwin fitz Gilbert and many others.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 39758, fo. 199; Egerton MS. 2733, fo. 70; D. and C. Peterborough 'Pythchley', fo. 27v°; ibid. 'Swaffham', fo. 40; part in Lansdowne MS. 992, fo. 129 (late transcript). W. T. Mellows, Local Government of Peterborough, 92, No. 21.]

1039*. 1114. Oxford

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to Geoffrey Abbot of Croyland and his successors all the possessions and liberties specified in the charter of King Edred, to hold free of all secular service, namely scot, geld, sheriff's aid, and the aids of the sheriff's officials, hidage, danegeld, shires, hundreds, wapentakes, trithings, pleas and plaints, castle-work, fortress-work, bridge-work, harbour-work, road-work, cariagium, summagium, navigium and the building of royal palaces. The abbot and monks are to have frank-pledge on all their demesnes; also sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, hamsokne, grith-bryce, blodwite, murdrum, treasure-trove, flem and flithe (sic), and ordeal. No one is to take toll or passage-money or other tribute within their townships, without their leave, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Warner de Lusors; Hugh de Essertis.

[Fulman, Rerum Anglic. Scriptores Veteres (1694), 121 (in the continuation of the pseudo-Ingulf); Monast. ii. 120 (xix) (from Fulman).] Farrer, Itin. 320.

Date 1114, the fourteenth year of King Henry.

A forgery, or grossly interpolated. The continuator professes to be copying from a sealed original. But this, together with the opening words and the formula of the witnessing clause, is the same as in the following charter, from which this may have been constructed. The third and fourth witnesses seem more appropriate to a charter of Stephen than to one of Henry I.

1040. [1114?] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, the justice, sheriff, foresters, and all of Northamptonshire of a grant to the abbey of Peterborough of the woods of Peterborough (Burgo) and Castor (Castra).

Witnesses: Warner de Lisures (Lusoriis), Hugh des Essarts. [1100–33 or 1154–89.]

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 39758, fo. 200v^o; D. and C. Peterborough, 'Pythley, fo. 28 and 'Swaffham', fo. 40v^o. W. T. Mellows, Local Government of Peterborough, p. 93 (No. 22).]

This charter should rightly be assigned to Henry II. Cf. No. 1039*. It has probably supplied the last two witnesses of the Croyland forgery.

1041. 1114 [May]. Gloucester

[Charter of Henry I without preamble or address]: Confirming to St. Peter's, Gloucester, the following gifts. (1) the King's own gift of Maisemore for the food of the monks and his confirmation of the gifts by Adeline wife of Roger de Ivry, of Brookthorpe, and by Roger of Gloucester of Westwood [Heref.] (No. 678); (2) by Jocelin de la Pommeraye, Sheldon [Devon]; (3) by Ralf Bloet, Rodley-beyond-Severn; (4) by William de Bolneia, with the consent of his lord Ralf [Bloet], half a hide in Bulley; (5) three gifts of alms by Bernard de Neufmarché, viz. Glasbury [Brecon], with the tithe of all his demesne in Brycheiniog of corn, sheep, cheese, venison, and honey, the church of Cowarne [Heref.] with its parochial tithes, glebe, and a hide of land called 'Bece' [in Cowarne], and the confirmation of the gift by William Revel of 'Hamtona'; (6) by Robert fitz Hamon of the church of St. Cadoc [Llancarfan, Glam.]: witnesses, Girmund Abbot [of Winchcombe] and Ralf Bloet; (7) by William II, the church of St. Gundelus [Newport, Mon.], with his demesne there; witness, Robert fitz Hamon; by Walter the sheriff the church of North Cerney (Cernei): witnesses, Girmund Abbot [of Winchcombe], Roger of Gloucester, and Hugh parvus; (8) the exchange by Roger of Gloucester of Hatherley (Athelegam) and Sandhurst (Sanderss) for Westbury[-on-Severn]; the gift by Robert Gernon of the churches of Wraysbury (Wirectebiria) [Bucks.] and Larkstoke (Laverchestou), with their glebe, half a mill and half the land pertaining to it: witnesses Queen Matilda, Roger Bp. of Salisbury, William Bp. of Winchester, Bernard the chaplain, and Humfrey de Albini, at Tewkesbury [1113–14]; (9) by Robert Beckfort of tithes in Eycote (Aicote) [in Rendcomb, Glos.]; (10) by Gilbert fitz Richard, the church of St. Paternus [Llanbadarn-fawr, Card.] between the bounds of the sea and the two waters (inter divisas maris et duarum aquarum), half of the great fishery, and tithes of all his demesne appendant to the castle of Penwedic (Penmedich) [i.e. Castell Gwallter, in Llanfihangel Gneu'r Glyn, Card.], viz. of venison, flesh-meat, hides, cheese, calves, fish, mills, and pannage: witnesses, Hugh de Lacy, Ughtred (Octredus) and Blagored (Blagaueret), Welshmen, William de Curzon (Curtune), Ranulf de Baskerville (Baschevilla), Alfred (Alveredus) de Benneville, Robert Oil de Larun, Hugh de Loventon and Lawrence, William fitz John, Drew Semiured; (11) lands in Gloucester given by Alice wife of Roger de Pitres the sheriff (vicecomitissa): witnesses, Walter her son, Hugh parvus, Robert the reeve, Ranulf the clerk, and Reiner with the beard (Rein[er]o barbato), viz. the lands and houses which they have of Ranulf the clerk; and all their lands and houses in Gloucester by gift or purchase.

[Gloucester Cath. Lib. MS. 34A, Froucester's register, fo. 12 (copy). Trans. Bristol & Gloucestershire Archaeol. Soc. xli (1918–19), 87–90.]

'Has omnes elemosinas firmiter et perpetualiter habendas S. Petro Glocestria pro anima patris mei

matrisque mee et fratris mei Regis Willelmi et pro salute anime mee et Matildis Regine uxoris mee concessi et confirmavi anno ab incarnatione Domini mille centesimo xliii^o, indictione vii. anno regni mei xliii^o Apud Glocestria[m].⁹

All these gifts except the last, which is dated by the Cotton MS. Dom. A. VIII, as 1125, are prior to 1114, the year in which Henry invaded south Wales, and after securing it proceeded northwards against Powysland. The expedition seems to have begun in May and occupied most of the summer. The form of the confirmation is unusual, since the witnesses are given though the charters are not exemplified, but the transaction may reasonably be accepted as historical. The address to Bp. Samson and Walter the sheriff is clearly that of the first charter confirmed (No. 678) and not of the Confirmation. Mr. St. Clair Baddeley omitted it from his printed transcript as having 'suffered erasure and alteration'. Alice vicecomitissa was presumably the wife of that Roger son of Durand de Pitres whom Round identifies with Roger of Gloucester (Feudal England, 313 and 481).

1042. 1114, July 19. Kidwelly

Charter by Roger Bishop of Salisbury to the priory of Sherborne and to Turstin the prior: Giving them (with the consent of Henry I, Queen Matilda, and their children) a carucate of land in Kidwelly [Cadweli] (boundaries stated) including Mons Salomonis [Mynydd Pembrey?] with tithes of his lands and pasture for their beasts.

Witnesses: Ralf the chaplain; Roger, subdeacon; Humphrey the bp.'s brother; Osmund Dapifer; Alric de Halsuei; Richard Latemerus; Hildebrand and Arnald, Pincerna; William de Lund'; Roger de Reinni; Richard Foliot; Robert vetus Dapifer and Robert his son; William the constable; William Esturmit; Ralf son of Warin; Robert of Sées (Sagio); Robert de Maisi and Walter his brother; Picot; Geoffrey Rufus; Robert Niger; Philip de Bealfou; Osmund son of Everard; Roger Foliot; Henry son of Walter of Potterne; Aubrey (Albri) de Fougères (Felgeria); Edmund, then castellan of Kidwelly; Alwin, priest of the town, and many others. [1107-15.]

[Copy in B.M. Add. MS. 46487, ff. 14, 15. Monast. iv. 64 from copy [1301] in Augmentation Office.]

'Haec donatio facta est xliij. Kal. Aug. in domo castelli de Caduelli.'

July 21. Kidwelly

Record of the consecration of a cemetery at Kidwelly by Bp. Roger, with the consent of Wilfrid, Bp. of St. David's, and of the gift of the burgesses, French, English, and Flemish, of the tithe of Penallt and Pembrey. [Witnesses as above].

[Ibid.]

Wilfrid Bp. of St. David's died 1115. The occasion of the gifts was most likely Henry's invasion of south Wales in 1114.

1043. [1114?] Worcester

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Ranulf Meschin and Osbert the sheriff and the barons and sheriffs of Lincolnshire: That he has granted to St. Mary of Lincoln the church of Brand the priest of Corringham, and his land, viz. two carucates and a half, as a prebend, in such wise that Brand shall hold for his life, and his son after him.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5 (antiquissimum), fo. 5d, No. xxxv; Reg. Superant. No. 13; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 8. Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, no. 51. Foster, Reg. Antiq. i, No. 35; Monast. viii. 1273 (xxxii) (from inspeximus).] Farrer, Itin. 189.

1044. [1114.] Worcester

Notification by Henry I to [Henry] the Earl and all his barons and officials of Warwickshire: That he quitclaims to the Prior and monks of Worcester five hides in Alveston (Aluestona) from all murder-fines and other exactions for ever; this for his own salvation and for that of Queen Matilda.

Witness: Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Manchester, John Rylands Lib. Hatton Wood Collection 707 (original); copies in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 4 (27); Worcester Cath. 'Domesday', fo. 3; Bodl. Dugd. MS. (F. 2) 12, p. 524 (transcript). Hale, Reg. Prior. B.M. Wigorn. 85a; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 126.]

Granted in the lifetime of Queen Matilda; probably either in 1109 or in 1114, since in each of those years the King visited the Welsh marches. The first certain attestation of Geoffrey de Clinton is in 1108 (No. 906. Addenda).

1045. [1114?] Worcester

Notification by Henry I to Walter de Beauchamp and all his barons and collectors in Worcestershire: That he quitclaims for ever, to Warin the Prior and the monks of Worcester, four hides in Phepson (Fepsinton)¹ from gelds and murdrum-fines and all royal exactions and customs. This for his own salvation and that of Queen Matilda.

Witness: Geoffrey de Clinton. [1114–18.]

[Hale, Reg. Prior. B.M. Wigorn. 58b.]

The form is unusual. Warin appears as prior c. 1124–40, but the mention of the Queen seems to imply that she was still alive. Compare, however, No. 1887.

¹ These four hides are omitted from the charge of 'Fepsintune' in the Worcestershire Survey of 1106–18 (Round, Feudal England, p. 175).

1046. [1114?] Worcester

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff [of Yorkshire] and his officials: That the churches of the royal manors of Aldborough (Burgh), Pocklington, [Great] Driffild, Kilham, and Pickering are not to lose the parishes which they had in King Edward's time, by reason of the socs which the King has given therein to certain of his barons; but each mother-church is to have its chapels and tithes in all the socs which lay in these manors in King Edward's time.

Witness: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln. [1100–15.]

1047. [1114?] Wolverhampton (Wulfrunehampton)

Notification by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland: That he has given to St. Paul [of London] and Bp. Richard and his successors the tithe of the venison taken by himself and his successors in Essex. [1108–14.]

[Leland, Collect. (1715), i (ii), 358.]

1048. [1114.] Holdgate Castle. (Apud Castrum Helgoti in Salopescyra)

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to Hervey the see of Ely with all its appurtenances. The church of Ely to have all its privileges as deraigned in the time of William I at Kentford,¹ 'coram baronibus patris mei' (Walchelin the bp. and Geoffrey Bp. of Coutances and Baldwin Abbot of St. Edmund's and Ivo Taillebois and Peter de Valognes) 'et testimonio plurium scirorum'.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini; Payn Peverel; William Peverel of Dover. [1109–16.]

[Cotton Chart. x. 8 (original?); copies in Ely, Bp. Mun. Lib. M, 75b; Cambridge, Trin. Coll. MSS. O. 2. 1 and 41; 'Liber Eliensis' iii. 7; Cotton MSS. Titus A. I, fo. 30v^o; Tib. A. VI, fo. 126v^o; Finch-Hatton MS. (Northamptonshire Record Soc.) 170, fo. 91v^o (No. 430) (facsimile of original); P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], Roll 2, No. 14. J. Bentham, Hist. of Ely (1771), App. 17*; Monast. i. 482 (xvi); Book of Seals, No. 430; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 50 (transcript from Cotton x. 8).] Farrer, Itin. 325.

This charter must be taken with the three following. It was not necessarily issued in 1109, but probably arose from a subsequent dispute. Henry I made an expedition to Wales in 1114.

¹ Regesta, i, Nos. 122 and 129. Bp. Walchelin does not appear in either of the documents in Vol. I.

1049. [1114?] Holdgate Castle (Apud Castrum Helgoti in Salopescyra)

Precept by Henry I to Herbert the bp., Ralph de Beaufou, and Ralph Passelewe, and all the King's lieges, French and English, of Suffolk: That the church of Ely and Hervey the bp. have all their customs, &c. in the five hundreds and a half of Wicklaw (Wiclava), as the church of Ely held them T.R.E. and deraigned them at Kentford by the testimony of several shires before Geoffrey Bp. of Coutances, Walchelin Bp. of Winchester, Baldwin Abbot of St. Edmunds, Peter de Valognes, and others.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle; Hamo Dapifer. [1109–16.]

[Ely Cath. Charter 4b (fragment of original). Copies in Ely, Bp. Mun. Lib. M, 78a; Cotton MSS. Tit. A. I, fos. 31v^o and 55; Tib. A. VI, fo. 107v^o; P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], 2, No. 16. J. 1050. [1114?] Holdgate Castle [Salop]

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That the monks of Ely have a just portion and equal division of their abbey according to the custom and ecclesiastical law.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Gilbert de l'Aigle; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini; Payn Peverel. [1109–16.]

[Copies in Ely, Bp. Mun. Lib. M, 76a; Cotton MS. Titus A. I, fo. 30v^o. J. Bentham, Hist. of Ely (1771), App. 20*, No. xxv.] Farrer, Itin. 328.

1051. [1114? Holdgate Castle?]

Notitia of a precept by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London to hear a suit between Hubert son of Richard de Mesnilhermer, the chaplain (who was afterwards a monk of Shrewsbury), and Shrewsbury Abbey, concerning Richard's prebend in the church of St. Gregory [Morville, Salop].

Witnesses: King Henry; Richard Bp. of London; Alan son of Flaald; Hamo Peverel; Roger Corbet; Robert his son; Herbert son of Helgot, and many other good men. [1108–Apr. 1116.]

[Copies in Phillips MSS. 3516 (No. 35), 11225 No. 1 (transcript); B.M. Add. MS. 30311, fo. 9 (transcript). Coll. Top. et Gen. i. 25.] Farrer, Itin. 326.

The date, 1109, fixed by Eyton (Antiquities of Shropshire, ii. 196), depends on the assumption that the writs relating to Ely dated at Castle Holdgate are of the same year as the establishment of the see. But this is not certain, and no Welsh campaign is recorded in 1109.

1052. [1114?] Cannock [co. Stafford]

Precept by Henry I to Henry Earl of Warwick, Hugh of Leicester, the sheriff, and all of Warwickshire: That the wood of Packwood, belonging to St. Mary of Coventry, be fenced (sit ita in defensione) as it was in Earl Leofric's time.

Witness: Payn fitz John. [1100–16.]

1053. [1114?] Cannock

Precept by Henry I to Richard de Monte [Sheriff of Oxford]: To cause the Abbot of Westminster to have 10s. of the King's alms, as it is recorded in the King's rolls.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1110–c. 1117.]

Postscript, 'Et hoc quoque anno. Teste eodem.'

Richard de Monte was sheriff of Oxfordshire from 1110 to 1111 and in some subsequent years.

1054. [1114?] Tamworth

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Chester and Nicholas the sheriff and the barons of Staffordshire: That Godric, the monk of St. Remi at Rheims, has proved the title of his house to the church of Lapley and the tithe and the mortuary-fees, against Robert of Rouen the King's chaplain; this at Tamworth in the presence of the King and his barons.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; William Bp. of Exeter; Geoffrey Ridel; Alvred of Lincoln.

1055. [1114, after June 29.]

Notification (in Latin and English) by Henry I to bps., earls, &c., where Abp. Ralph and the monks of Christ Church, Canterbury, have lands: Confirming the lands and privileges which they had in the days of the Confessor and William I.

The abbot and monks are therefore to be free and quit henceforth in respect of those lands and those hides; since they do not possess them and have not been seised of them. Their manor of Alciston, given by the King's father to Battle, and all the other lands that he gave them for his soul's health, are to be quit of shires and hundreds and all customs, as the King's Guillim gives a rough drawing of the Great Seal of Henry I attached sur simple queue. The charter is mentioned by Brooke (c. 1600) in Harl. A facsimile is in Finch-Hatton MS. 170 ('Sir Christopher Hatton's Book of Seals'), fo. 17 (No. 61), from the original penes Sir Henry St. George, Norroy (c. 1640).

1087. [c. 1115?] Caen

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Rouen and the Bps. of Bayeux and Evreux and all of Normandy: That he has restored and confirmed to Roland d'Oissel his land of Oissel with all the appurtenances and liberties enjoyed by his ancestors; namely, in the forest of Rouvray (Rovreium) the right of hunting the hare, fox, cat and marten, and wood for making his harbourage, and pannage through all the King's forests. He is to find straw for the use of the King's chamber and a down quilt (culta de dun) to cover the King's bed when he comes to Oissel, and a lodging for the King's butler and to keep the quilt until the King returns (et dum recessero custodire cultam).

Witnesses: William de Albini; William Peverel of Dover; Ralph de Limesi; Gilbert son of Reiner (Renet). [1111–28.]

[Paris, Archives Nationales, Trésor des Chartes, Angleterre, xx, No. 4, carton J. 655 (original); Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 8408 (copy). Delisle, Cartulaire Normand, No. 2; Round, C.D.F., 464 (No. 1278) (calendared); Report on Foedera, App. D 112.] Farrer, Itin. 345.

William Peverel and Ralph de Limesi seem to have accompanied the King to Normandy in 1114 (see Nos. 1062 and 1070).

1088. 1115. Aumale

Charter by Stephen Count of Aumale (with the consent of Henry I and Stephen's wife and son) to the monks of St. Lucien of Beauvais, to whom his mother, Adeliza, gave the church of St. Martin d'Auchy lez Aumale [in Comm. of Ste. Marguerite, Seine-Inf.], outside the castle of Aumale: Confirming to them, for the remission of his sins and those of his uncle King William I, the church of St. Martin with the revenues thereto pertaining; also all the churches and tithes which he holds in England from King Henry, to hold as freely as he held from the King. 'Ipsi sacerdotes ita liberrime habeant et teneant a me ut neque Dapifer neque Vicecomes nec aliquis ministrorum meorum super eos manus imponent; si vero sacerdotes forisfecerint aliquid, illi justificent.' The churches and tithes (lying in Holderness and Lindsey, &c.). He also grants the tithes of his demesne in corn, cattle, sheep, pigs, cheese, and colts (pullorum equarum mearum). Also one tenant (hospitem unum) at the river of Hedon (Heldone), and the passage of the Humber for the use of the monks and their servants. Also all the churches and tithes of his land in Normandy (enumerated).

'Actum est apud Albam-Marlam, regnante Henrico rege Anglorum et Duce Normannorum et ipso concedente; uxore mea, hac causa, et filio meo concedentibus, anno MCXV ab Incarnatione Domini.'

The church was assigned to Burstall Priory which was sold to Kirkstall in 1394.

A French version of the charter, with an additional grant of tithes (including tithe of the cargo of the count's ship arriving from England), with a separate list of Norman witnesses.

The list, which corresponds with the Latin, omits Walter de Senarpont, and reads 'Gerard de Camero' and 'Richard' for Richer.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. Tr. 14553, ff. 1-4 (copy); MS. Clairambault 1059, fos. 235-6 (transcript). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1304 (vol. iii, pp. 32-33).]

1088a. 1115

Charter of Henry I and Richard Earl of Chester to St. Martin of Troarn and the cell of Nôtre-Dame-du-Désert: Giving them the church of the castle of Vire, free from any power (potestate) but the King's, with its appurtenances and the tithe of all the rents of the castle; and confirming the gifts (specified) made by Ranulf de Presles (Prateriis) for the salvation of himself and his wife, and the souls of his father and mother and his brother Robert, who died a monk of Troarn; and confirmed by his nephew and heir Alfred de Combray (Combraio) at the dedication of the cell in 1115. Other gifts (specified) are also confirmed.

Signa: Henry Prince of the Normans, King of the English; Richard Earl of Chester.

Ranulf's gifts included two-thirds of the tithe of Dalby (Dalbeia) and Ulceby (Olesbeia) [near Alford, Lincs.] and the dwelling (mansuram) of Seward the brewer (bracheatoris).

We are indebted to Professor Geoffrey Barraclough for the information that three versions of this charter exist in the Livre Rouge de Troarn. In one the King alone appears as the giver of the charter, in another the King and earl appear jointly, the signa of both being given in both versions. The third is in narrative form, without signa. None of the three is clearly derived from one of the others, nor could any of them have been drawn up in the Chancery. They probably, however, represent a genuine transaction. Professor Barraclough proposes to print all three texts in Diplomata comitum Cestriae, which he is preparing for the Chetham Society.

1089. 1115 [after July.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich, the sheriffs of Suffolk and Essex, and all the barons of both shires: That he grants to St. Mary of Abingdon, and Abbot Faritius, the alms given by Hubert de Montchensy (Monte Canesi); namely, the church of Edwardstone [co. Suff.] with the lands, tithes, and other appurtenances; two-thirds of the tithes of Staverton [in Butley, Suff.] and Stansted [Hall, in Halstead, co. Essex], &c.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Grimbald the physician; Everard (Jurardo), the archdeacon; Walter the archdeacon; William de Albini; Roger fitz Richard; Nigel d' Oilli; Ralph Basset; Geoffrey fitz Payn.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 137; C. IX, fo. 145v°; Cotton MS. Vesp. B, XV, fo. 59 (transcript from a Colne Priory Cart.). Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 62 (from Cotton MS. Claud. B, VI).] Farrer, Itin. 358.

'Descripta est autem hujus concessionis carta anno ab Incarnatione Dominica M c xv.'

1090. [1115?] Sept. 13. Westminster

Notification by Matilda Queen of the English to Richard Bp. of London and Hugh de Bocland and Aldwin the chamberlain (camio) and to all the officials of the King and herself and all the men of Essex: That she has granted to the canons and church of the Holy Cross at Waltham a fair on the feast of the Holy Cross, with all the customs pertaining to a fair. They are to hold their fair as well and quietly as the Queen herself held it, and all resorting to the fair are to have the firm peace of the King and Queen.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Nigel d' Oilli; Ranulf the chaplain; Geoffrey the Queen's chaplain, canon of the said church; Aldwin the chamberlain (camio); Odo Morius. [1108-18.]

[Copies in Waltham Abbey Cart. Harl. MS. 391, fo. 50; Cotton MS. Tib. C. IX, fo. 50v° (imperfect). W. Stubbs, The Foundation of Waltham Abbey, 54.]

'Pridie ante exaltationem Sanctae Crucis.'

The place and date and some of the witnesses suggest 1115. If so, it is possible that Ranulf the chaplain may be a mistake for Ranulf the chancellor.

1091. 1115, Sept. 16. Westminster, 'in concilio'

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to Bp. Bernard the see of SS. Andrew the Apostle and David in the city of St. David's (in civitate Menevensi) to hold with all appurtenances and customs as freely as the said church of any Bp. held in the time of William and Edward the Confessor and Griffin or at any other time. No one is to deforce him of anything, or to hold anything wrongfully against him.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; William son of the King and Queen; Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; Turstin Abp.-elect of York; Richard Bp. of London; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; John Bp. of Lisieux; and all the other bps. of England; Urban Bp. of Glamorgan; Ranulf the chancellor; John of Bayeux; Everard fitz Count; Geoffrey the chaplain; Richard the chaplain, Custos Sigilli; Robert Count of Meulan; Earl Henry his brother; Richard Earl of Chester; Robert the King's son; Gilbert fitz Richard; Walter of Gloucester; Adam de Port; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini.

'Anno ab incarnatione Domini millesimo centesimo quintodecimo quartodecimo Kalend' Octobr' indictione octava, epacta vicesima tertia, concurr' iiii, anno prefati regis quintodecimo.'

Eadmer (Hist. Nov. 231) dates the council 'xvi. Kal. Oct.'

1092. [1115, Sept. 16?]

Charter of confirmation (in Diploma form) by Henry I to God and St. Mary of Abingdon: Of various lands acquired by Abbot Faritus.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Matilda; William the King's son; Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; Thurstan Abp. of York; William Bp. of Winchester; William Bp. of Exeter; Theowulf (Theoldus) Bp. of Worcester; Roger Abbot of Fécamp; Ranulf the chancellor.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 147; C. IX, fo. 154. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 109; Monast. i. 521 (21) (incorrectly).] Farrer, Itin. 367.

Theowulf Bp. of Worcester was consecrated 27 June 1115 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 230). William Bp. of Exeter was sent to Rome after the council at Westminster 16 Sept. 1115 (ibid. 234). The names of the witnesses suggest that this charter was issued at that council.

1093. [1115, Sept. 16?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Ralph Abp. of Canterbury and William de Eynesford (Hammesford), the sheriff, &c.: That he has granted to Hugh Abbot [of St. Augustine's, Canterbury] and all his successors, the right of holding a market in the Isle of Thanet.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Count of Meulan. (B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 98v° and Claud. D. X, fo. 185v° give Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini.) [1114-16.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 20 Ed. II, No. 6; 36 Ed. III, No. 3; 8 Hen. IV, No. 1; Pat. R. 2 Hen. VI, pt. 3, m. 5; 4 Ed. IV, pt. 4, m. 29; B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 98v° (from Inspeximus of 20 Ed. 1094. [1115, Sept. 16?]

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich and R. Basset and all the King's justiciars and R. fitz Walter and the barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That Ralph son of Godric has rendered to the church of St. Benet's Holme the land of Hardley which Ralph held of the church in ferm. Let the church hold it in peace.

Witnesses: Ralph the Abp.; Herbert Bp. of Norwich; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Chester; Hervey Bp. of Ely. [1114-16.]

[Cotton MS. Galba E. II, fo. 31. Monast. iii. 86, No. viii; West, St. Benet of Holme, i, No. 6.] Farrer, Itin. 352.

Eyton dates this c. Sept. 1115. 'So many Bps. attesting indicates a Council.' Ralf's own charter made at St. Stephen's Church, Norwich, 'coram duobus comitatibus videlicet Norfolchie atque Suffolch', is printed by Douglas, Medieval East Anglia, p. 244, and by West, op. cit., No. 120.

1095. [1115, Sept. 16?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That the King has given and granted to the abbey of St. Benet's, Holme, and Richer the abbot, the churches of Scottow [co. Norf.] and Lammas [co. Norf.].

Witnesses: Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan; William Earl Warenne; 'et multis aliis'. [1114-18.]

[Cotton MS. Galba E. II, fo. 306 (copy). Monast. iii. 86, (vi); West, St. Benet of Holme, i, No. 4.] Farrer, Itin. 377.

There is a dating clause: 'Facta est haec donacio anno ab incarnatione domini Millesimo Centesimo septimo decimo apud Westmonasterium.' Eyton suggests Sept. 1115, when a council was held at Westminster at which the first three witnesses were present. Farrer queries Westminster. Henry was in Normandy in 1117, and Robert was presumably with him.

1096*. 1115 [Sept. 16?] Westminster

Pretended record of a suit 'coram Rege Henrico et curia ejus apud Westmonasterium': To prove that St. Mary's, Woolchurch (Niwechirche), London, was part of the fee of Eudo Dapifer on the day when King William the younger died. Eudo is now dead but the barons of his honour bore witness to the truth of the claim, and offered to prove it in any way the court decreed. The court decided that, since Eudo's fief had escheated to the Crown, the abbot should keep possession. 'Ita rex iudicio curie tradidit abbati Colcestrie cum carta possidere ecclesiam illam dicens "Per mortem Dei, domine abbas, hodie promerui amicitiam meam a vobis. Quia vos liberavi de magno placito. Cavete iterum placitare."'

The suit reported to the convent by: Abbot Gilbert; Osmund the prior; Gunduin the monk of Bec; Wlward and Simeon, monks.

[Cart. St. John's, Colchester, Colchester, i. 50 (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 353A.

This plea was apparently heard after the death of Eudo (1120). But in vol. i, p. 82 of the cartulary there is a record of the suit which dates it 1115. This purports to be by Richard Bp. of London who was present, and reports: 'Rex inito consilio cum episcopis ceterisque consiliariis suis in propria persona sententiam protulit. . . . Conversus vero ad abbatem Colecestrie, dixit "Domine abba vade in pace, et nulli ulterius sine mea jussione super hac ecclesia respondeas. Quia cum ego sim heres ipsius Eudonis, ad me pertinet ipsius warrantizare donationes."' See Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 160-4.

1097. 1115 [after Sept. 18.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Walter de Gant and all the barons of Lincolnshire: That he has confirmed to Ralph the monk, formerly Prior of Bardney, the place and church as an abbey; this at the prayer of Walter de Gant, and with the leave of Abbot Fulcard of Chartres, whose monk Ralph was. The abbey is to hold its possessions with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, and all the liberties enjoyed by other abbeys in England.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Ranulf the chancellor; [Hugh] abbot of Selby; Walter de Gant; Alan de Percy; Ralph de Gant; Ralph de Alost; Ralph de Nevill (Novilla). [18 Sept. 1115-May 1116.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 5 Ed. III, No. 10; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XX, fo. 40. Monast. i. 629 (No. iii).] Farrer, Itin. 354.

'xvi^o anno postquam rex accepit regnum Anglie.'

Round (G. de M. 430) is doubtful of the date, but there seems no valid reason to question it: except the difficulty of identifying Fulcard Abbot of Chartres.

1098. [1115?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Os[bert] Sheriff [of Lincolnshire and Yorks.] and all his barons and lieges: That he has granted to the church of Bardney the lands and churches of Barton [upon Humber] and the church of Hunmanby (Hundemanby) with their tithes, &c., which Gilbert of Gant and his son Walter gave.

Witnesses: Ranulf Meschin; William, Constable of the Earl [of Chester] (Conestabil com').

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XX, fo. 42v^o (old 38v^o) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1142.]

Probably of the same date as the preceding (No. 1097). Barton on Humber was held by the constable of Chester.

1098a. [1115, after Sept. 15?] Winchester.

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England: That he confirms, for his own soul and those of Matilda his Queen, William his son, and his own parents, the gift by William de Rullos to St. Mary's, Bec, of all his land in [North] Hykeham (Hicaham), with sac, soc, &c., as they hold their other lands in England.

Witnesses: William the King's son; Robert Bp. of Lincoln (Lingoniensis); Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Albini; Walter of Gloucester (Glocestre); Adam de Port; Ralf Basset. [1115–20.]

[Windsor, D. and C., Charter Roll (XI. G. 11) (13th-c. copy). Chibnall, Select Documents, xvii (p. 10)]. This is presumably the land in North Hykeham which Sortebrand the Thane, William's predecessor at Burton-by-Lincoln, claimed in 1086 [Foster, Lincs. Domesday, pp. 229 (72/29) and 242 (L. 3/20)]. William the King's son does not attest before 1115.

1099. [1115, after Sept. 18.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I 'rex Anglie', generally addressed: That he has confirmed to the church of St. Georges de Boscherville and the monks, the land of [Edith] Weston [co. Rutl.] and his church and land of Avebury [co. Wilts.] with the demesne, and the land of Winterbourne [Dauntsey, co. Wilts.] and the church of Hailes [co. Glos.] in perpetual alms to be held free of shires and hundreds and hidages (hildragiis) and wapentakes, &c., and all royal plaints and customs.

Witnesses: Bernard Bp. of St. David's; John Bp. of Lisieux; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; Geoffrey fitz Payn. [1115–29.]

[Ancient Deeds, A. 7575 (original?); Chart. R. 37 Hen. III, m. 2; Cartae Antiquae, 3, No. 2. Cal. Chart. R. i. 436; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 74 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 355.

Double tag for seal. Cf. No. 1100, which is of the same date. The writing of this charter looks more like a hand of the end of the 12th century.

1100. [1115, after Sept. 18.] Winchester

Charter by Henry I addressed generally: Granting to the abbey of St. Georges de Boscherville that its goods shall be free of tolls and other dues in all his domains on both sides of the sea. In England its men are to be quit of shire- and hundred-court, hidage and all other claims at Avebury [co. Wilts.] and [Edith] Weston [co. Rutl.]

Witnesses: Bernard Bp. of St. David's; John Bp. of Lisieux; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; Geoffrey fitz Payn. [1115–29.]

[Arch. Dép. Seine Inf. (original); Rouen, Publ. Lib. Cart de S. Georges de Boscherville, fo. 61 (copy). Round, C.D.F. 67 (No. 199) (calendared).]

1101. [1115, Nov.–Dec.]

Notification by Henry I to Adam de Port and all sheriffs in whose shires the Bp. of Hereford has lands, &c.: That he has given to Bp. Geoffrey the see of Hereford, with toll and team, and infangthief, soc and sac, and all other customs which Bp. Robert ever enjoyed. Geoffrey may resume all the demesnes which were subsequently alienated in prebenda or otherwise.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury (Salopesbury); Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Ranulf, Chancellor (Cantuariensi); William Peverel of Dover; Hamo Peverel; Payn fitz John, and others.

Bedf.].

1103. [1115, Dec. ?] St. Albans

Northampton] with their appurtenances and the land of Horley (Hornleia) [co. Oxford] which Ranulf Bp. of Durham held of the King to the augmentation (ad acrescens) of the prebend which the said Bp. Ranulf and Elias his son had in the church of St. Mary of Lincoln. Commanding also that the same Elias son of Bp. Ranulf hold the whole prebend with its augmentation for the term of his life, and that if he die before Bp. Ranulf his father, the whole prebend shall remain free and quit to the latter; but that after the death of both, the prebend shall remain to God and St. Mary and the church of Lincoln and the bp. Roger of Salisbury, the church of St. Botolph, Aldersgate, with the land of the King's socage which pertains to it, as given by Turstin the priest. The recipients are to hold the church and its appurtenances of parochial rights and lands and customs, saving the King's right of socage.

The monks of the saint are not to plead or answer at law to any man respecting this gift; for the King has confirmed all that the said Queen gave by her writ.

Witness: Queen Matilda. [1113–1116.]

Witness: Walter of Gloucester.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 148; C. IX, fo. 154v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 112.]

Date known from Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 111.

1111. [1100–15.] Winchester

Precept by Henry to Hugh de Bocland and his justiciars, and all his barons, French and English, of Berkshire: Commanding that the Abbot of Abingdon have his hundred of Hormer as any of his predecessors ever best had it in the time of the King his father and brother, and in particular the plea as to a mare (equa) as to which Osbert made a claim (unde Osbertus calumniatus fuit).

Witness: the chancellor.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 148v°; C. IX, fo. 154v°. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 115.]

1112. [1100–15.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to O[sbert] the sheriff and all the barons of Yorkshire: That the land of St. John [of Beverley] pay no geld, unless it did so in the time of Edward the Confessor and William I, but let it be quit according as the men of the shire-court shall bear witness. The saint to have his customs as well as he had them under the Confessor and the Conqueror.

Witness: Robert Count of Meulan.

[Copies in Chart. R. 4 Ed. II, m. 20; 4 Ed. III, No. 25; Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 2, No. 13; 3–4 Ph. & Mary, No. 15; Beverley Town Cart., fo. 24b. Cal. Chart. R. iii. 140; Hist. MSS. Comm. Rep. on MSS. of Corp. of Beverley, 26; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 91.] Farrer, Itin. 279.

Osbert appears to be dead in 1115 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 164).

1113. [1106–15.] London

Precept by Henry I to Osbert Sheriff of York and Gerald de Bridesale: To cause the church of St. John of Beverley to have its tithes of all the lands from which the men of the county shall witness that it ought to have them.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; [Robert] Count of Meulan.

[Harl. MS. 560, fo. 24v^o (transcript). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 92; Selden, History of Tythes (1618), p. 417 (probably from Cotton MS. Otho C. XVI—now lost).]

1114. [1107–15.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to his sheriffs and barons: That he has confirmed to St. John of Colchester and Abbot Hugh the land which William Peverel of London gave.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

[Cart. of St. John's, Colchester, i. 26.] Farrer, Itin. 203.
The abbot must be Hugh I who retired in 1115.

1115. [1100–15.] Windsor

Mandate by Henry I to Geoffrey Dapifer of Count Stephen [of Brittany] and his officials: To reseize Robert Bp. of Lincoln of the church of Hough on the Hill as Count Stephen gave it, and let the bp. hold it in peace till the count's return. And if anything has been taken thence, let it be restored at once. If Geoffrey does not do this, Osbert the sheriff of Lincoln is to do it.

Witness: Nigel d' Oilli.

[Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5, fo. 11, No. 71 (copy). Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 71.] Farrer, Itin. 322A.
Geoffrey probably succeeded Wimar as steward of Count Stephen (Clay, E.Y.C., viii. 353, n.). The address to him seems to imply that Count Stephen was out of England, which probably excludes 1101 as the date.

1116. [1100–15.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Ranulf Meschin, Osbert the sheriff, Picot son of Colsuein, and Wigod of Lincoln: Commanding them to view the boundaries (divisas) between the King's manor of Torksey and the manor of Stow and to cause them to be recognized and defined (recognoscere et dividere) by lawful men of the shire. If the addressees do not believe the latter, they are to make them confirm their statements with an oath, because the King wishes the bp. to hold well and honourably what his predecessors possessed.

Witness: Wigot of Lincoln.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5, fo. 5 (No. 28); Reg. Superantiqu., No. 7; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 7. Monast. viii. 1273 (xxvi); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 28.] Farrer, Itin. 333.

Wigot was Osbert's successor as sheriff of Lincolnshire (see Farrer, E.H.R. xxx. 280). Hardwick, a suburb of Torksey, was liable for one-third of its geld, and was half in the King's manor of Torksey and half in the bp.'s manor of Stow St. Mary (see Foster and Longley, Lincolnshire Domesday, pp. xxxv, 13/4).

1117. [1100–15.] London

Precept by Henry I to Osbert the sheriff of Lincoln: To cause Robert Bp. of Lincoln to have the churches of Caistor and Kirton[-in-Lindsey] and the tithes which William I gave by his charter to God and St. Mary of Lincoln in alms, to hold as Bp. Remigius held them. No one is to do them wrong in this.

Witness: N[igel]¹ d' Oilli.

[Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5, fo. 5 (No. 27); Reg. Superantiqu., No. 6; Regist. No. 17; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 7. Monast. viii. 1273 (xxv); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 27.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 23 [Y] (19). Foedera, i. 10; Douglas, Feudal Documents, cxl.]

1120. [1100–15.] Rockingham

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and O[sbert] the sheriff: That he has given to Rumfare (Rumsaro) [of Lincoln] the land of Ketel (Chitelli) of Yaddlethorpe (Edoltorp) with toll and team and all custom.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Nigel d' Oilli; Osbert the sheriff.

[Pat. R. 20 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 16. Cal. Pat. R. 1396–9, 75.] Farrer, Itin. 150.

Romfare of Lincoln was a benefactor of St. Mary's, York. See Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 354 (vol. i, p. 275) and No. 467*n*. Ketel was presumably the Domesday tenant (D.B. 371*b*).

1121. [1100–15.]

Notification by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland and all of Herts.: That he has confirmed to Peter de Valognes in fee, the two mills of Hertford, with the rest of his fee, and the multure (molta) and labour-service of the burgesses, as William I and William II held them.

Witnesses: E[udo] Dapifer; Hamo Dapifer.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], 10 [K] (23) (copy). Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 306.]

Peter de Valognes does not appear as a witness after 1109 (Nos. 913–14) and is alluded to as 'a baron of William I' in 1114 (No. 1049).

1122. [1107–15.] Northampton

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Bocland [sheriff of Berks.]: To let the monks of Holy Trinity, Wallingford, have their tithe of Mouldsford (Muleforda) and of the land of Henry the larderer as well as they held it in the time of William II and on the day when Geoffrey the chamberlain was disseised of that land.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

On Odard of Bamborough see Round, 'Odard the Sheriff' (Genealogist, v. 25).

1125. [1116, Feb. 2. Windsor]

Diploma by Henry I to the monastery of Holy Trinity, Winchester, commonly called the New Minster: Granting the liberty of the street (libertatem vici) which lies outside the [Copies in Chart. R. 54 Hen. III, m. 4; 4 Ed. III, No. 85; 16 Ed. IV, m. 9; Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] 23, [Y], No. 19; Harl. MS. 81, fo. 290v^o (transcript). Birch, Liber Vitae, 291 (from the transcript); Cal. Chart. R. ii. 148; Monast. ii. 444.] Farrer, Itin. 322.

Limits of date given by Round.

1128. [1113-Apr. 1116] Reading

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Thomas de Sancto Johanne, Nigel d'Oilli, and all barons of Oxfordshire: That he has granted the exchange made by Roger Bp. of Salisbury with Faritius Abbot of Abingdon, of the land in Oxford by St. Frideswide's Church. The abbot is to hold it with all rights, as he held the land which he has given to the bp. in exchange.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert the King's son; Ranulf Meschin.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140v^o; C. IX, fo. 148v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 76.] Farrer, Itin. 356.

On the date see Round, G. de M. 423. The exchange probably took place about 1111 (see Dickinson, Austin Canons, p. 114, No. 1).

1129. [1116, Spring]. Huntingdon

Account of the condemnation by Ralf Basset, as justiciar, in the county court at Huntingdon, before Abbots Reginald of Ramsey and Robert of Thorney, and others, of Bricstan of Chatteris for concealment of treasure-trove and for usury. After five months' imprisonment in London, he was released by Queen Matilda, on Ralf's advice, in consequence of a miracle. [28 Sept. 1115-5 Aug. 1116.]

[Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iii. 123-34.] Farrer, Itin. 370.

'Tempore Henrici regis Anglorum, ducis Normannorum, anno regni ejus in Anglia xvi^o, comitatus in Normannia x^o . . .'

If five months elapsed before Bricstan's release by Matilda as Regent the earliest date for the county court would be Dec. 1115 and the latest Mar. 1116.

1130. [1116, Spring?] Reading

Notification by Henry I to Thurstan Abp. of York and the ministers and lieges of Cumberland and Westmorland: That he has confirmed to Richard Abbot, and the convent of St. Mary's, York, the churches of St. Michael and St. Laurence, Appleby [co. Westm.] with their lands and tithes on both sides of the river and the tithes of the demesnes of Mauld's Meaburn (Meabrun) and Salkeld (Salchild) [Westmoreland], given by Ranulf Meschin.

Witnesses: E[ustace] fitz John; Jordan Paynel (Paganel). [1114–21.]

[D. and C. Carlisle, Wetheral Cartulary, No. 9 (copy). Prescott, Reg. Wetherhal Priory, No. 9, 26–27; Nicholson and Burn, Hist. of Cumberland and Westmoreland, i. 322 (incomplete); Monast. iii. 585 (xix) (incomplete).] Farrer, Itin. 431.

Jordan Paynel's wife and her son are named as giving land to Bridlington in Henry I's charter at York (No. 1333, presumably of 1122).

1131. [1116, Apr. 2.] Odiham

Precept by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter, Richard fitz Baldwin, sheriff, and others of Devon and Cornwall: To restore to the church of Tavistock Roborough (Rutberge) and Cudlipp (Cudelipe) which Wymond [abbot till 1102] had unjustly given to his brother William. No one to hold them except those to whom Abbot Geoffrey gave them for military-service; the hundred of Tavistock is to be independent of the hundred of Lifton. The monastery to have a weekly market and 3 days' fair at the feast of St. Rumon.

Witnesses: Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; William the King's son; Robert Count of Meulan. [1114–16.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 13 Ed. I, No. 8; 22 Ed. III, No. 38, m. 17; Cotton Chart. xvii. 7 (Inspeximus); Tavistock Cart. (Woburn Abbey), fo. 1v^o. Monast. ii. 496.] Farrer, Itin. 371.

The King was at Odiham for Easter 1116 (A.S.C.).

1132. [1110–16, Apr.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Richard de Monte and all the barons of Oxfordshire: That Abbot Faritius and the abbey of Abingdon hold the land of Garsington which Perchehaia held, as well as they did in the time of William I and William II.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux (Luxovii); Gilbert fitz Richard.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B, VI, fo. 143; C. IX, fo. 150. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 89; Monast. i. 521; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 107.] Farrer, Itin. 365.

Stevenson (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 538) places this in 1110, because John Bp. of Lisieux is stated (without quoted authority) in Gall. Christ. xi. 773 to have been present at the Sponsalia of Maud. He witnesses charters in England in 1107 and 1115 (Nos. 832–3, 1090–1110). Richard de Monte was sheriff in and after 1110. Garsington was held by Gilbert Latimer whose eldest daughter married (and survived) Ralf de Percehai. She may be the person meant by Perchehaia (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 34–35).

1133. [1110–16, Apr.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to R[ichard de Monte], Sheriff of Oxfordshire and Rainer of Bath: That Faritius Abbot of Abingdon have quiet possession of the hide of land in Fencote which he held from Adelina de Ivry.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B, VI, fo. 140; C. IX, fo. 148. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 73; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 108.] Farrer, Itin. 332.

This is subsequent to the King's confirmation of Adelina's gift, No. 973.

1134. [1107–16, Apr.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the justiciar and sheriff and barons of Berks.: That he has granted to Robert Achard, his master (magistro meo), and to his heirs, in fee and inheritance, Aldermaston and Finchampstead and Colthrop and Sparsholt and Challow [co. Berks.] with all their appendages in churches and mills, in wood and field, in meadows and pastures, with toll and team and sac and soc and infangthief to hold by the service of one knight; free from shires and hundreds and murdrum and danegeld and all complaints pertaining to the Crown.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Ranulf the chancellor; Richer de l'Aigle; Adam de Port; Henry de Port; and many others.

1135. [1100–16, Apr.] ‘Exhehoy’¹

Precept by Henry I to Hamo Dapifer and all ministers of England: To cause the men of Dunge Marsh (Lingemareis) to have their customs (leges) throughout England, as men of Hastings, quit of geld, scots, hidage, danegeld, shires, hundreds, army, murder-fines, war-penny, lastage, tolls, work on bridges, castles, and parks; doing their service at sea, as granted by William I and William II to the Abbot of Battle. If a great fish is stranded, the abbot is to have the whole, unless it is between Horsmede and Witheburne, belonging to the soke of Wye, in which case the abbot has two-thirds and the tongue. All wreck is to be the abbot’s.

Witness: Robert Count of Meulan.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Nero D. III, fo. 225 (olim 248); Linc. Inn Hale MS. 87, fo. 13v° (omitting witness). Archæologia Cantiana, xlvii. 111.]

This is inserted in a narrative ostensibly of the reign of Henry I.

1136*. [1102–16, Apr.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Ralph Bp. of Chichester and all the King’s barons: That the King has confirmed to St. Martin of Battle all gifts and purchases of lands in the rape of Hastings (list given); Henry Count of Eu also confirms this.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Eudo Dapifer; Robert de Vere.

[Copies in Pat. R. 2 Ed. IV, pt. 3, m. 15; Chart. R. 6 Ed. II, m. 25, No. 56; Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 32; B.M. Add. MS. 5706, fo. 24; Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, fo. 86v°. Monast. iii. 246–7 (xiv).] Farrer, Itin. 366.

1137. [1114–16, Apr.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has confirmed to the men of Beverley their free burgage according to the free laws and customs of the burgesses of York and their gild-merchant with pleas and toll and all their customs and liberties, as Abp. Thurstan granted to them. And they are to be quit of toll through Yorkshire like the men of York.

Witnesses: G.¹ the chancellor; R. count of Meulan.

[Copies in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 17 (15); Bodl. Lib. Dodsworth MS. 121, fo. 96v°; Corp. of Beverley Chart. Bk. 13. Gross, Gild-Merchant, ii. 21; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 96.]

1138. [1114–16, Apr.]

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Wigod the sheriff and his officials: To cause the monks of St. Mary of Blyth to have the whole tithe of Appleby as they had it in the time of Roger de Builly from all those lands which were in Roger’s demesne, no matter who holds them now.

[B.M. Harl. MS. 3759, fo. 96 (copy).]

Wigot appears to have succeeded Osbert before 1116 (E.H.R. xxx. 280).

1139. [1100–16, Apr.] Brampton

Gage, Hist. of Suff. 164 (from Ff.); Douglas, Feudal Docs. 68.] Farrer, Itin. 218. The Add. MS. notes that Peter clerk of Amiens was the same as Peter of Bourges and the land in Hengrave [co. Suff.]. See No. 759.

1140. [1100–16, Apr.] Windsor

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 132v° (ex libro S. Aug. Cant. in quarto); Cotton MS. Jul. D. II, fo. 95 (220).]

1141. [1107–16, Apr.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to H[amo] Dapifer: To do full right to the monks of St. Augustine's in the matter of Ralph Goiz.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 133 (ex libro S. Aug. Cant. in quarto); Cotton MS. Jul. D. II, fo. 97v^o (235).]

Hamo seems to have been succeeded by William de Eynesford before William the Ætheling joined his father in Normandy (No. 1189).

1142. [1100–16.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Hamo Dapifer: To see that the Abbot of St. Augustine has his due share in the manor of Newington, out of all aids which Richard Goiz took from their common land (de communi terra); and whatever has been wrongfully taken is to be restored.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Jul. D. II, fo. 95 (219); B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 132v^o (ex libro S. Aug. Cant. in quarto) (transcript).]

The date is limited by the appearance of Hamo Dapifer as sheriff.

1143. [1107–16, Apr.] Windsor

Precept by Matilda Queen of England to Ranulf Bp. of Durham and the sheriffs Aluric and Liulf, and all the barons of Northumberland: That she has granted to St. Cuthbert and his monks, the church of Carham and whatever pertains to it, in alms, so far as pertains to her; this for the salvation of her husband and children and herself and for the souls of her own and the King's parents. The addressees are to protect the church for the benefit of the monks.

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. [of Norwich] and Ralph de Beaufou and all his barons of Suffolk: That he has restored to St. Peter's of Eye the manor of Stoke [Ash] and all the lands which the monks of the said church can show that they held on the day when Robert Malet was alive and dead.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; William de Albini; Ralph Passelewe.

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, ff. 114 and 133 (copies).]

Robert Malet is supposed to have been killed at Tinchebrai.

1145. [1106–16?] Bury St. Edmunds

Notification by Henry I to Hubert de Montchensy (Monte Kenesi): That he has granted to the monks of St. Peter of Eye the tithe of the manor of Dunwich and of the herring (alec), and the tenth penny in the market of Eye and all the other tithes which they had on the day when Robert Malet was alive and dead. No one is to infringe this privilege on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; William de Albini. [–1133].

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, ff. 115, 133 (transcript).]

1146. [1106–16?] Eye

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, fo. 114 also fo. 133 (transcript).]

1147. [1106–16?] Eye

Precept by Henry I to Hubert de Munchensy: That the monks of Eye are to hold Stoke [Ash] (Estokes) as Robert Malet gave it to St. Peter of Eye, and as they had it on the day when the said Robert was alive and dead. If anything has been subtracted from that manor, either land or tenants, since that time, let it be restored to the monks.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, fo. 163v^o (transcript).]

They are to have free-warren in the said manor; so that no man shall chase hares or other game there without their leave. No one is to infringe these privileges on pain of £10 forfeiture.

1149. [1108–16, Apr.] [Westminster (?)]

Notitia of confirmation by Henry I of the gifts of land and churches by William Peverel to the monks of St. Mary's, Hatfield [Peverel].

Witnesses: Eudo Dapifer; William de Albini.

[Cotton MS. Tib. E. IX. ff. 43, 46.]

Three charters are mentioned, but that on fo. 46 is probably a duplicate notice of one of the others. The first on fo. 43 refers to land and churches and the church of 'Costersey' [Kersey, co. Suff.], and is attested by . . . and William de Albini. 'Aliam chartam ejusdem regis testificant . . . E. dap'; William de Albini apud Westm'. The charter on fo. 46 is for the welfare of King Henry (before whom 'King William' is inserted over the line) and confirmed by King Henry. Witnesses: Eudo Dapifer and William 'de Albineto'.

1150. [1113–16, Apr.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and all of Lincolnshire: Confirming gifts of Ralph de Limesi to St. Mary's, Hertford, made for the souls of William I and Matilda, William II, and for the welfare of Henry I and Matilda and their children, and Henry's son, William, and his wife and children.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Tib. E. VI, fo. 135 (imperfect); Lansd. MSS. 860 A, fo. 148 (Ferrer's notes) and 863, fo. 159v^o (St. George's notes); Pat. R. 37 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 25 (Inspeximus). Cal. Pat. R. 1361–4, 322.] Farrer, Itin. 468.

The reference to Matilda as alive seems to place this between William's betrothal in the spring of 1113 and Henry's voyage to Normandy in 1116.

1151. [1107–16, Apr.] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Chester, Henry Earl [of Warwick], the sheriff and all of Warwickshire: That he has given to the wife and children of William [of Oxford], Sheriff of Oxford, 30s. worth of land in Kinton [co. Warw.] and particularly the land of 'Swinline', which William held in exchange for the land which he had in Bloxham [co. Oxford]; to hold free of all farm, service, or custom.

Witnesses: Geoffrey de Clinton; Ralf Basset.

[Copy in Harl. MS. 3650 (Kenilworth Cartulary), fo. 75v^o.] Farrer, Itin. 302.

1152. [1104–16, Apr.] Southampton (Hantona) 'in transitu regis'.

Notification by Henry to Ralph de Watnevilla, and Ralph de Bois Rohard (Bosco Rohari) and Hugh de Hottot: That he has granted Robert Bp. of Lincoln the church of Uffington [co. Lincs.] and its appurtenances and that of Barkestone [co. Leics.] and its appurtenances, as well and quietly as Theoderic ever held them.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; W. de Tanc[arville]; William de Albini.

Barkestone and Uffington were both parts of the honour of Belvoir, of which the persons addressed were all tenants.

1153. [1104–16, Apr.] Southampton

Notification by Henry I to Ralph de Bois Rohard (de Rehart) and his associates (sociis suis): To seise the Bp. of Lincoln of Barkestone and Uffington and all their appurtenances.

Witness: William de Albini.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 5, fo. 6 (No. 39); Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 8v^o. Monast. viii. 1274 (xxxvi); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 39.]

Notification by Henry to Ranulf Meschin, Wigot the sheriff, Robert de la Hay (Haia), Ralph d' Aincourt (Haiecurt) and all his lieges, French and English, of Lincolnshire: That he has committed (commendasse) to Robert Bp. of Lincoln the church of All Saints (of Lincoln) and whatever belongs to it within and without the borough; and the churches of Grimsby with their appurtenances as Osbert the sheriff had them on the day when he was alive and dead.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

[Copies in Lincoln, 'Reg. Antiquiss.', fo. 11 (No. 67); Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 51. Monast. viii. 1275; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 67.] Farrer, Itin. 357.

Osbert seems to have died in 1115, so this cannot be before 1116. Henry was in Normandy after Easter 1116.

1155. [1107–16, Apr.] London

Writ by Henry I to the Bp. of Coutances, the justices of Normandy, and all those lords of whom lands were held by the Abbot of Montebourg and his abbey: Confirming the possessions of the abbey.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan.

[Archives of La Manche (original); P.R.O. Transcripts 8/140 B (ii), p. 178 (transcript). Round C.D.F. 313 (No. 875) (calendared).]

1156. [1107–16, Apr.] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln: That he has confirmed to the monks of St. Andrew of Northampton, the church of Newton [in Kesteven], and in the same vill and in Threckingham [co. Lincs.] four bovates of land which Amfrid (Amfridus) de Chanci gave them in alms. All this to be held by the monks in peace as free alms.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey Ridel; Hugh de Leicester.

[B.M. Royal MS. 11 B. IX, fo. 21 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 100, fo. 25v^o and fo. 31v^o (transcripts).]

1157. [1107–16.] Northampton

Precept by Henry I to Hamo Dapifer: To see that St. Augustine and Abbot Hugh have their rents and customs from Ralph Goiz and particularly the church of Newington 'sicut iudicatum fuit tempore fratris mei in tribus comitatibus apud Suthwercam'.

Witness: William Bp. of Exeter.

[Copies in Trin. Hall, Camb. MS. fo. 69v^o; Cotton MSS. Claud. D. X, fo. 247; Jul. D. II, fo. 95 (216). Hist. Mon. St. Aug. Cant., 364.]

The author of the Historia dates this 1132. But the mention of Hamo suggests an earlier date, in or before 1116, in which year William de Eynesford appears as sheriff. Hugh I was appointed to St. Augustine's in 1107 and died in 1126 (John of Worc. 23). His successor Hugh II was instituted in June 1127.

1158*. [1107–16, Apr.]

Diploma by Henry I to the church of the Holy Trinity at Norwich: Granting and confirming the gift made by Ralph fitz Godric of his land of Newton [by Trowse, co. Norf.].

Third seal of Henry I.

[Cotton Charters ii. 2 (original); Norwich Cath. Regg. i, fo. 51v^o; iii, fo. 53; iv. fo. 24 (copies). Foedera, i. 11 (inaccurate); Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. xxix. 245–6; Monast. iv. 18 (ix).] Farrer, Itin. 363.

This is almost certainly spurious. See Birch's remarks in Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. (ut supra).

1159. [1100–16, Apr.] London

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for Norfolk and Suffolk: Confirming the gift by Bp. Herbert to the monks of Holy Trinity, Norwich, of Gnatingdon [near Sedgeford], viz. the land which he bought from William Halthein.

Witnesses: R. Count of Meulan; Per Geoffrey Ridel.

[Copies in Chart. R. 29 Ed. I, m. 4, No. 21; 6 Ed. II, No. 38; 8 Ed. II, No. 34; 2–4 Ed. IV, No. 9; Confirm. R. 2 Ric. III, pt. 1, No. 1. Cal. Chart. R. iii. 17.] Farrer, Itin. 359.

Roger.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert Count of Meulan; Hamo Dapifer.

[Reg. of S. Osmund, i. 201, 206 (copies).] Farrer, Itin. 263.

1163. [1107–16, Apr.] [Westminster?]

Notification by Henry I 'omnibus justiciariis etc.': Of a grant to God and the church of St. Mary at Salisbury for a prebend and to Arnald the Falconer and his heirs [i.e. as patrons] of the lands and churches which Joseph held of the King in Shipton [under Wychwood], Swinbrook [Oxon.], and Brixworth [Northants.] quit of shires &c.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor.

[Reg. of St. Osmund, i. 196 (copy).]

Probably of the same date as the following charter.

1164. [1107–16, Apr.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the barons of Wiltshire: That he has granted to the church of St. Mary at Salisbury and to Nigel of Calne and his successors, the church of Calne as a prebend with certain rights in the forest, and quit of shires &c.

[Reg. of St. Osmund, i. 239 (copy).]

1165. [1103–16, Apr.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and the Sheriff of Wilts.: That the King has quitted from all gelds and scots and pleas and shire and hundred and all plaints except murdrum and latrocinium Donhead [Wilts.] pertaining to the raiment of the nuns of Shaftesbury; this for the souls of his father and brother and his own salvation and that of his wife Matilda and their sons and all the King's kin.

Witnesses: Roger fitz Richard; Alfred of Lincoln.

1166. [1109–16.]

Precept by Henry I to Geoffrey Abbot of Croyland: To permit the monks of SS. Mary and Nicholas of Spalding to have their custom over marshes and houses; according as good and lawful and ancient men shall draw the boundaries and prove them upon oath. If the abbot fail to do this, Ranulf Meschin and Geoffrey Ridel and Alan of Lincoln and Pigot (sic) are to do right, that the King may hear no further complaints.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296 (Spalding Cart.), fo. 87*v*^o (copy).]

Abbot Geoffrey succeeded Ingulf in 1109 and died in 1120. Geoffrey Ridel was drowned in 1120. 'Pigot' may be Picot son of Colsuein (d. c. 1115; see Farrer, Itin., 357 n.) or possibly Wigot of Lincoln who succeeded Osbert as sheriff about 1116 (E.H.R. xxx. 280). Ranulf Meschin and Geoffrey Ridel were both with the King in Normandy in 1120, and may have been there since 1116.

1167. [1100–16, Apr.] Woodstock

Witness: Geoffrey Ridel.

[C.U.L.: Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii) (copy); Harl. MS. 258, fo. 138; Bodl. Lib. Dugdale MS. 21, fo. 146*v*^o (transcripts).]

This seems to be the earliest use of ballivus instead of minister.

1168. [1113–16, Apr.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to G[eo]ffrey Ridel and Gilbert the sheriff [of Hunts.]: To protect Robert Abbot of Thorney against Hervey Bp. of Ely, so that the abbot shall not render any other custom than Abbot Gunter used to render to the Bp. of Lincoln and the Abbot of Ely.

Witness: R[ichard] Bp. of London.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Walter of Gloucester.

[Arch. of Eure et Loir, Cart. of Tiron, fo. 48. Merlet, Cartulaire de l'Abbaye de Tiron, i. 75; Round, C.D.F., No. 1004 (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 270.

1170. [1107–16, Apr.] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to R[anulf] Bp. of Durham: Of a confirmation to the Abbot of St. Albans and the monks of Tynemouth of the tithes [specified] given them by Earl Robert [Mowbray] and his men.

1171. [1107–16, Apr.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Aluric and Liulf [Sheriffs of Northumberland]: Ordering them to maintain and guard his alms to Tynemouth and that the monks be free from the burden of working on the New Castle as they were in his brother's time.

Witness: William Bp. of Exeter.

[Cotton MS. Tib. E. VI, fo. 118 (copy); Oxford, Jesus Coll. MS. 67 (transcript). Hist. Northumberland, viii. 55 (from transcript).]

Odard was already sheriff in 1116 (Farrer, Itin. 346.)

1172. [1107–16, Apr.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Ranulf Bp. of Durham and Alfric and Liulf, the sheriffs: That he has granted to St. Mary and St. Oswin [of Tynemouth] and the Abbot of St. Albans, the tithes which Hubert de la Val had formerly given to the monks of Tynemouth, namely of Seaton [Delaval], Black Callerton, and Dissington, to be held in the King's peace.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

1173. [1100–16, Apr.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to William Giffard, Bp. of Winchester, and all the barons of Surrey: That he has confirmed to Abbot Gilbert and the monks of Westminster four hides in Tooting, to be held as freely as they held them in the time of William I. The abbot is to answer to no one for these hides, except in the King's presence.

Witnesses: Robert Count of Meulan; Nigel de Oilli.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey, 'Domesday', fo. 529 (505); Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 67v°. Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 142.]

Abbot Gilbert died 1117.

1174. [1114–16, Apr.] The Tower of London

Notification by Henry I to the justices, sheriffs, &c., of Berkshire: Confirming all the grants which Geoffrey de Mandeville made to the church of Hurley; and giving to the said church the royal church of Waltham, &c., to be part of the dower (dotalicium) of the church of Hurley as well and freely as Geoffrey de Mandeville made his own grant and William I confirmed it. And granting liberties to the church of Hurley: sac and soc, and toll and team and infangthief, freedom from shire and hundred, pleas, complaints, gelds and Danegelds, scots and all aids and works, and exactions and assessments (assisis) 'excepto solummodo murdro et probato latrocinio. Quodsi huiusmodi forisfactura super terram ecclesiae evenierit prae-cipio quod Prior et Monachi inde suam plenarie habeant curiam; et defendo ne in aliis locis quocunque modo placitentur nisi in Curia Sanctae Mariae et sua; de aliis vero placitis vel forisfacturis, quae super terram Ecclesiae et Prioris contigerint, si quis de hominibus suis in forisfactura mea justo iudicio et causa aperta missus fuerit de xx marcis (Madox, manchis) adquietet se ante iudicium per vi denarios et post iudicium per xii denarios; et semper iudicetur per iudicium Curiae Sanctae Mariae et Prioris Ecclesiae.' And releasing six hides of the demesne of the church from gelds and Danegelds. 'Defendo etiam et firmiter prae-cipio ne . . . suos plegios recenseant alibi annuatim Prior et Monachi quam in eadem Curia Sanctae Mariae et sua.'

All this the King grants for the souls of his father and mother, and for the health of his own soul and that of his daughter, the Empress, who asked him to do this.

Witnesses: The Empress; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Per, Otuel, son of earl [Hugh]. [1110–16.]

Otuel fitz Count perished in the wreck of the White Ship (1120). This charter, therefore, to be genuine demands a visit of Maud to England in 1114–16.

1175. [1107–16, Apr.] Tower of London

Precept by Henry I to his justiciars, sheriffs, and officials of England and the sea-ports: That all the household-stuff (corredium) and food and raiment of the monks of Westminster, which their men can certify to be their private property, shall be free from toll and passage-money and every other custom, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Per Otuel fitz Count.

1177. [1108–16, Apr.] London

Precept by Henry I to G. Bp. of London and the Archdeacon and the whole chapter of St. Paul's: That the Abbot and church of St. Peter's, Westminster, have and hold the land which William I gave them; namely, the wooden chapel of St. Margaret in Eastcheap, with the parish (parochia) and land and houses thereto pertaining; and half the stone chapel of St. Magnus the Martyr with the whole parish; and the church of St. Lawrence with appurtenances; and the church of St. James on the river bank; as they held in the time of William I and of the King himself, and of Bps. Hugh and Maurice.

Witnesses: Queen Matilda; R. Basset.

[Westminster Abbey, 'Domesday', fo. 101 (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 148.]

Matilda died 1118; Gilbert succeeded to the see in 1128. But since the writ mentions the times of Bp. Maurice, it may have been addressed to his successor Richard and the copyist may have misread the initial. Compare, however, a similar writ (No. 1883) in Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 77, which suggests that this may be a still later fabrication.

1178. [1114–16, Apr.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Herbert Bp. of Norwich, Hamo Dapifer, the burgesses of Sudbury, and all of Suffolk: That he has confirmed to St. Peter and the monks of Westminster the church of St. Bartholomew at Sudbury which Wulfric, his moneyer, gave to the use of the monks in return for his admission as a monk.

Witnesses: R[alph] Abp. of Canterbury; R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; R[ichard] Bp. of London; R[anulf] the chancellor; Nigel de Albini and many others.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 79 (copy). Monast. iii. 459.] Farrer, Itin. 348.

Wulfric struck coins of William II (Types iv and v) and Henry I (Types i and iii) at Sudbury (Brooke, Cat. of English Coins, i, pp. ccxl–ccxli).

1179. [1100–16.] Havering

Precept (volo) by Henry I to all his barons and officials of Essex: That St. Peter of Westminster is to have his land of Feering (Ferynges) and Ockendon with all customs as granted by William I.

Notification by Queen Matilda to Bishop Richard, the sheriff and the barons of London: That she has given to St. Peter and Abbot Gilbert [Crispin] of Westminster all that Hugh

[of Durham] and restore to him all the men who have fled from his land with their cattle (pecunia), on account of the cattle (pecunia) which the King took of him, and to let him have all his other 'incumemans' with the cattle (pecunia) of those who have left his land, and also those whom A[nsketil] has in his own power and wherever found.

1183. 1118 [Oct. ?] Arganchy (Argenteium)

Charter by Henry I to Savigny: Relating how, with the advice of Ralph Abp. of Canterbury, Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen, Richard Bp. of Bayeux, Turgis Bp. of Avranches, Roger Bp. of Coutances, William Bp. of Exeter, Hildebert Bp. of Le Mans and abbots and other men of religion, he has made a concord between Eudes Abbot of Caen and Vitalis, founder of Savigny, respecting the gift which William Count of Mortain gave to the latter house.

1184. [1118, Oct. ?] Arganchy [Calvados] (Argenteium)

Record of conveyance (by way of legal proceedings—disrationacio et adquietatio) of the mill of 'Drocio' [Crocy?] near Dive by William de Capella to Eudes Abbot of St. Stephen's, Caen. The recovery was made before King Henry and his Court, and the mill recognized to be of the King's fee.

Witnesses: The King; John Bp. of Lisieux; Robert de Courci; William de Tancarville; William Peverel; Reynald d'Arganchy (Argenteio).

[Arch. de Calvados, H. 1834, No. 3 (Emptiones Eudonis). E.H.R. xxiv. 215; Haskins, Norman Inst. 95; Deville, Notices, iv. 44 (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 382.

Haskins conjectures this was before the death of William Count of Evreux in 1118, as the next recorded acquisition of Abbot Eudes in the same document is from William.

1185. [1118? Oct.–Nov.] Non[ant]

Precept by Henry I to William [de Pont de l'Arche], Sheriff of Wiltshire: To cause the hundred-court of Kingsbridge (Chembruce) to sit and summon Walter of Salisbury before it to do right to the monks of Winchester about the land which he usurps from them and settle the boundary.

Witness: W[alter] of Gloucester. [1113–21.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 15v^o (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 392.]

Henry was in the neighbourhood of Alençon in the autumn of 1118 (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iv. 325, 331).

1186. [1118?] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Montfort: To restore to the Abbot of Bec 20 acres of land belonging to the church of Saint-Philbert-sur-Risle and the church of St. Ouen [de Flancourt] which his dapifer Geoffrey has seized. The abbot is not to be impleaded except before the King for anything of which he was seised when the king gave Hugh the honour of Montfort. [1107–23.]

[Transcript in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 13905, fo. 83. Haskins, Norm. Inst. 296.] Farrer, Itin. 404.

Mr. Lewis Loyd pointed out that this cannot be before the exile of Robert de Montfort in 1107 (Ord. Vit. iv. 239) and the succession of his nephew Hugh which may have been as late as 1111. It is probably before Hugh's rebellion in 1123; and Henry was in England from 1120 to 1123.

1187. [? 1118] Mortain

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and specially to all in Wales: Confirming for the souls of himself, his wife, children, father, mother, and ancestors the endowment which Robert fitz Martin has given the monks of Tiron of his property in Wales.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey fitz Payn; William Peverel of Dover; Hugh de Montfort; William de Rollos. [1116–18.]

[Winchester Coll. Arch. (Bradford Peverel No. 1) (original with Fourth Seal?); Arch. of Eure et Loire, Cart. of Tiron, fo. 48 (copy). Merlet, Cart. de l'Abbaye de Tiron, i. 42; Round, C.D.F. 352 (No. 995).] Farrer, Itin. 379.

The notitia of 1120 (Round, C.D.F., No. 997) relates to the Abbey of Cemmaes (St. Dogmael's) and not to the priory from which it developed. Hugh de Montfort rebelled against Henry I in 1118, and the wording suggests that the Queen (†1 May 1118) was still alive. Henry was at Alençon in 1118.

1188. [1108–18.]

Notitia of an agreement by which Eudo Abbot of St. Stephen's at Caen, restored to William son of Ernucio by the counsel of King Henry the house of Danestal (Darnestal) which Thierry the priest had given to St. Stephen's; on condition that William holds it of the saint for a rent of 40 shillings of Rouen.

Witnesses: King Henry; Gilbert de l'Aigle; William de Albini; Ralph fitz Olger; Robert de Grainville.

[Paris, Bibl. de Ste Geneviève, MS. 1656, fo. 43 (abstract only). Deville, Notices, iv. 32.]

This is probably near the earlier limit of date. A Ranulf son of Ulger appears as a witness on behalf of Henry in a charter of Duke Robert dated by Round 1087–94 (C.D.F. 142, No. 423).

1189. [1116–18.] Woodstock

the King so wills. All the goods of the abbot are to be in peace, as they were on the day when the King crossed the sea, until he returns to England.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

Witness: [Ranulf] the chancellor.

1192. [1116–18.] Westminster

Precept by William the King's son to William [de Eynesford] Sheriff of Kent: To cause inquiry to be made by the men of the hundred of Milton (Mideltuna) what customs the Abbot of St. Augustine's, Canterbury ought to have in Newington (Newenton). The abbot is to have them without delay, particularly 'de isto auxilio'.

Precept by Henry I to William of Eynesford (Ainesford): To cause the Abbot of St. Augustine's to have his customs in Newington, whether in money or in services. Let the King hear no further complaint of default of justice.

Witness: The chancellor. [1108–29.]

The omission of the Queen's name in the preamble is curious. If it were after her death in 1118, it would have been natural to insert pro anima, &c.

1197. [1107–18.] London

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] Bp. of Exeter and Richard the sheriff and all of Devon: That all the lands which his barons or knights of Devonshire gave to St. Nicholas of Exeter are to be free from all earthly service as William I and William II quit-claimed them for their souls and those of Matilda the King's mother and his own.

1198. [1116–18.] Oxford

Mandate and request by Queen Matilda to Vitalis Engaigne and William de Lisors [keepers of the forest in Northants.]: To convey Malger the monk and his servants to Luffield, since the King has granted that he may stay there, and to protect him.

This grant is amalgamated in the register with a confirmation by Henry I of 8 Sept. 1131 relating to gifts of Croc the huntsman and others. See No. 1716.

1200. [1106–18.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of Bayeux and all his barons and lieges of the Hiémois: That he has granted to St. Martin and the monks of Troarn all Le-Marais[-sur-Dive] (mariscus) [Calvados] about which there was a suit in his curia between the monks and Robert de Ussy (Usseio). Robert recognized the right of the monks and quit-claimed Le-Marais to God and St. Martin, in the King's presence. See Round's remarks, G. de M. 424 ff. He thinks that the charter has been interpolated, but that the list of witnesses may safely be taken as correct. He gives the limits as June-Oct. 1119.

The compiler of the cartulary gives this as an 'abbreviatio quae et levius ferri et tantumdem posset operari' of the lengthier charter printed in i. 4. It is confirmed by Stephen (i. 30). See Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 160–4, who considers this based on a charter to Herbert Abbot of Westminster (1121). Compare the similar ‘portable’ charter to Reading (No. 1474).

This is presumably the confirmation alluded to in Weever’s Funeral Monuments, p. 607 (ed. 1767, p. 367), as taken from ‘Carte Antique’ and of the 19th year. Weever must have confused it with the charter of 19 Hen. III (Carte Antique 1 (A) 20). The confirmation by Henry II (ibid. 5 (E) 22) has no date.

Notification by Henry I to Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen and the bps. and barons of Normandy: That he has granted to the church of St. Mary of Bec to hold all its churches, tithes, and other property as freely as when the King obtained possession of Normandy. Ralph was at Rouen for a few days about Aug. 1116, but this charter was more probably issued during his longer stay there after his return from Rome in 1117. He returned to England at the end of 1119 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 239, 243, 259).

Notification by Henry I generally addressed to all his lieges of England: That he has restored to Rohais the wife of Eudo Dapifer all the land which Eudo gave her for her dower (in dotem) and the lands which he subsequently added (enumerated); to hold with sac and soc, toll and team and all other customs as freely as Eudo ever held them.

[Copies of both versions on the fly-leaf of B.M. Add. MS. 7097 (Saxham Cartulary). The first version printed by Douglas, Feudal Docs. 70.]

The address suggests a vacancy in the Abbey (Mar. 1119-21) on the death of Abbot Albold, who appointed Maurice as steward.

1227. 1119-20. Rouen

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich and Robert fitz Walter and all the barons and lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That St. Edmund [of Bury] and his monks have all their liberties in their eight and a half hundreds as well as the said church or any abbot had them, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, and hamsoen and wardpenny and all other customs as the charter of the church testifies. No one is to take any of these rights except by leave of the saint and the abbot. For the King is not aware that he has given to any one any of the aforesaid customs in the land or jurisdiction of St. Edmund.

Witness: Maurice of Windsor.

['Album Registrum S. Edmundi' (B.M. Add. MS. 14847), fo. 38v° (copy).]

Issued between 1114 and 1129, since Robert fitz Walter is sheriff, and during a vacancy in the abbacy.

Such a vacancy occurred between 1119 and 1121. The King was not in Normandy in 1121. The see of Norwich was vacant July 1119-June 1121. Cf. No. 1598.

When, at length, they returned and desired to give their judgement in the hearing of all, the plaintiff, anticipating, declared that he would withdraw his claim.

If anyone claims it the monks are to prove their title by their good men (probos homines), or else the claimants are to prove their title by those whom one of the monks (monachus) shall choose.

Witness: William de Pirou.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 9221, No. 6 (original). Haskins, Norm. Inst. 223.]

William de Pirou does not attest in Normandy after 1120.

1230. [1120, Feb.–Nov.] Caen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to Fulco Dapifer Layer [Breton] (Legra)¹ and all his other land which he held of Eudo by the service of two knights. 1237. [1116–20.] Rouen

Ranulf the chancellor was not abroad with the King after 1120. Anschetill seems to have succeeded Osbert about 1116.

1238. [1120, Nov.–Dec.] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to Ralph Bp. of Chichester and William fitz Ansger and the barons of Sussex: That he has given to St. Martin of Battle in exchange for Reading, the manor of Appledram [co. Sussex], also 40s. which formerly pertained to the said manor, with the ferm of Bosham; and of feeding in the woods of 'Bocfalde' and 'Betlesparrioc', one pig for every three that the King has there; and the fourth penny of pannage, and the fourth of all the oaks that are felled and the fourth penny from the land pertaining to those woods, &c. The monks and their men of Appledram are to be quit of all custom with sac, soc, toll, team and infangthief, geld, scot, hidage, danegeld, work on bridges, castles, parks, and enclosures, host-service, aids, shires, hundreds, wardpenny, lastage, larceny, murder-fine, treasure-trove, warren, and all pleas and complaints.

William fitz Ansger is said to have been dead before 1122 (Farrer, Itin. 447), so this must be a preliminary to the foundation of Reading and is probably to be dated as Dec. 1120 on Henry's return from France.

1239. [1120, Dec. 25.] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and tax-collectors in whose bailiwicks the abbey of Westminster has lands: That the lands and men of the abbey are to be free from all gelds, pleas, danegelds, murdrum-fines, and other requisitions which were made from them while the abbey was in the King's hand. And whatever has been taken from them is to be restored.

Witnesses: [Ranulf] the chancellor; G[eo]ffrey de Clinton. [1120–1.]

[Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 58v°; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 130v° (copies).]

The vacancy here mentioned had lasted from 6 Dec. 1117 to Jan. 1121. Henry was at Brampton for Christmas 1120 (Henry of Huntingdon, Hist. Angl. 243).

1240. [1120, Dec. 25.] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and tax-collectors in whose bailiwicks the abbey of Westminster has lands: That all the lands of the abbey are to be free from all pleas, gelds, danegelds, murdrum-fines, aids of sheriffs, and other requisitions; because the King has quit-claimed them for the good of the soul of Queen Matilda, and as King Edward acquitted them by his charter.

Witness: Roger Bp. [of Salisbury].

1240a. 1120

Notitia of the gift by Ralph (Rod') son of Robert son of Anquetil, with the consent of Robert Earl of Leicester and Waleran Count of Meulan, confirmed by Henry I, to St. Mary's, Bec, of his tenement in the King's manor of Durrington (Derintona) in Wiltshire for the souls of Robert Count of Meulan, his own father, and himself.

[Windsor, D. and C. Charter Roll (XI. G. 11) (13th-c. copy). Chibnall, Select Documents, xvi (p. 9).]

The confirmation is in the same form as in No. 1004 (q.v.).

In the confirmation of this gift by Henry II (Monast. vi. 1068) the name of the donor is given as Radulfus, not Rod[bertus].

1241. 1121, Jan. 7. Westminster

*Ego Henricus rex Anglie et dux Normannorum, ut imposterum res firma consistat, presentem paginam prope meum impressionem¹ consignavi.'

¹ Possibly for 'proprie manus impressione'. The clause is clearly corrupt. The year is fixed by the consecration of Thurstan on 19 Oct. 1119. This would give Indiction 14, Epact 0 (i.e. 29). Concurrent 5, Age of the Moon 15. This is clearly the lost charter mentioned in the Plea Roll of Easter 1285. See Farrer's E.Y.C., No. 1428.

1242. [1121, Jan. 7?] Westminster

1245. [1121, c. Jan. 7?] [Westminster?]

[Nov. 1120-2.]

[Cart. of St. Peter's, Shrewsbury (Phillip's MS. 3516), No. 35 (copy); Phillip's MS. 11225 (transcript with W. Farrer = B.M. Add. MS. 30311, fos. 30-34). Collectanea Topog. et Geneal. i. 191-6; Farrer, Lancashire Pipe Rolls, 271 (extracts).] Farrer, Itin. 439.

Henry was out of England in 1120 till the very end of Nov. This charter obviously passed in England. It has been greatly interpolated with narrative, but the list of witnesses seems to be genuine. On the question of authenticity see J. Tait, Cartulary of Chester Abbey (Chetham Soc.), i, pp. xxxviii-xl. The witnesses suggest the earlier part of the year. Cf. Nos. 1242-3. Richard de Belmeis (afterwards Bp. of London), Everard son of Earl Roger, Roger and Robert Corbet, Fulk the sheriff, Ulger the huntsman, and Ralph of Condover also attest a charter of Earl Hugh (d. 1098) to Shrewsbury confirming the gifts of Earl Roger and, like the present charter, suspicious in form (Cal. Chart. R. iv. 287-8). Fulk the sheriff, at all events, is an unlikely witness for a charter ostensibly of 1094-8.

1246. [1121, Jan.?] London

Notification by Henry I to 'all present and future': That he confirms to St. Mary's, Thetford, and the monks there all their possessions (enumerated in almost the same terms as in the charter of Henry II (Monast. v. 150 (viii)) but omitting all after 'Godland Longus'). All persons wishing to become monks or to be buried there are to be allowed to do so and give their possessions, and any tenements of which they may have been unlawfully disseised are to be restored. They are to be quit of shires, hundreds, pleas, plaints, scots, gelds, wardpenny and of toll throughout the kingdom.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Richard Bp. of London; Ranulf Earl [of Chester]; Ralph Basset; Richard fitz Baldwin; Geoffrey de Clinton; William de Tancarville; Drew de Moncei (Munchi); Edward of Salisbury; Ralph Lovel (Lupel). [1121-7.]

The text and form of this charter are highly suspicious. The witnesses are, however, consistent with the suggested date.

1249. [1121, Jan. 30.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of London and the sheriff, barons and officials of London: That he has confirmed to St. Peter of Westminster, for the souls of Edward the Confessor, William I, William II, his son William, and of his mother Matilda and his wife Matilda, all the lands which King Edward and others gave in London and which St. Peter used to hold there. All future gifts of land in the city are to be held with the same customs. Merchants, whether foreigners or the King's subjects (nostrates), who lodge on the land of St. Peter, are to be free from all custom so long as they render their just dues to the abbot; and are not to be molested in going or returning.

Witnesses: Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; Richard Bp. of London; William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf the chancellor; Theobald Count of Blois; Earl David; Robert the King's son; Geoffrey de Clinton; Ralph Basset.

Precept by Henry I to the sheriff (vic') and all his officials of London: That all merchants lodging in the soc of St. Peter of Westminster and of the abbot shall have firm peace in coming and returning. No one is to disturb them or do them wrong; and no one is to have authority over them except the abbot and monks, as King Edward and King William I commanded by their charters.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 101v^o; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 76v^o.] Farrer, Itin. 411.

1251. [1121, Jan. 30?] Windsor

Precept (volo) by Henry I to all sheriffs where the church of Westminster has lands: That Abbot Herbert hold his lands quit of pleas, &c., as granted by the charter of King Edward. Pleas of murder and larceny shall be determined as that charter directs.

Witnesses: The chancellor; G[eo]ffrey de Clinton; Ralf Basset. [c. 1110–27.]

[Copies in Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, ff. 78, 129v^o, 130 ff.; Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', ff. 58, 58v^o. See Farrer, Itin. 411.]

1252. [1121, Jan. 30?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England: That he wills, orders, and grants that Herbert Abbot of Westminster cause to be seized into his own hand all lands alienated from the church without the assent of the chapter. The abbot is to do justice to any subsequent claimant in his own court.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton; R[alf] Basset.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 75v^o (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 412.

1253. [1121, Jan. 30?] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the justiciar and sheriff and all the barons and lieges of Lincolnshire: That he has granted and confirmed to God and St. Mary of York and Abbot Richard and the monks there serving God the land outside Lincoln which is called 'in Land' and 'Calvecroft' with the adjacent meadow and all the pasture between 'Calvecroft' and the bounds (divisas) of Greetwell above and below to the middle of the stream of Witham, as Romphare gave it to them with toll and team and infangthief and all customs.

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; Geoffrey Peverel. [1112–21.]

Abbot Richard is variously stated to have died Prid. Jan. (sic) 1131 and Id. Jan. 1131. In either case the date is ten years too late, since Abbot Geoffrey was sent by Thurstan in 1123 with his offer to consecrate William of Corbeil (Raine, Hists. of the Church of York, iii. 199). On the other hand, the appearance of Robert de Sigillo suggests a date after the appointment of Richard 'custos sigilli' to the see of Hereford.

1254. [1121, Feb. ?] Guildford

Notification by Henry I to Earl Ranulf of Chester, Hugh de Leicester, and all the barons of Lincolnshire: That he has restored to God and the church and Robert Bp. of Lincoln the twelve bovates of land which Ralph Basset has proved to belong to the King's demesne, namely six bovates in Burgh [on Bain] and six in Willingham. Commanding also that the bp. hold them with sac and soc and toll and team and infangthief and all other customs as he holds his other lands.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini; William de Tancarville; Geoffrey de Clinton. [1120–2.]

[Lincoln Cath. Archives A. i. 1, 4 (original); Lincoln 'Reg. Antiquiss'. F. 6d, No. 42; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 8d (copies). Monast. viii. 1274 (xxxviii); E.H.R. xxiii. 725; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 42 (facs.).] Farrer, Itin. 464.

1255. [1121, Mar. ?] 'Peri' [Waterperry?]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester, the Sheriff of Hants, the reeve of Winchester and all of Hants and Winchester: That he has restored and confirmed to William Mauduit (the younger) all the dower which his father gave to his mother. Until William receives possession, he is to receive from William de Pont de l'Arche £10. And the King confirms the land of Fyfield (Fihida) which his father held from Robert fitz Hamon and which Robert the King's son granted to William (the younger).

Witnesses: R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Nigel de Albini; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Edward of Salisbury; Robert de Crevecœur; Robert de Ver; Robert d'Oilli; Hamo de Avenaio (28v^o Avanatō). [1120–2.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, ff. 28 and 28v^o (copies).] Farrer, Itin. 466.

Haimon de 'Avenaro' is a witness to one of Robert de Vere's charters (post 1130) to the monks of Horton. Monast. v. 34 (ii). William Mauduit succeeded his brother Robert, who was drowned in the 'White Ship' (Nov. 1120). Robert the King's son became Earl of Gloucester between 1121 and 1122 (Round, G. de M. 434). His grant to William is in B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 28v^o (see Farrer, Itin. 463). Henry I was at Abingdon 13 Mar. 1121 (Eadmer, Hist. Nov. 293). The entry in P.R. 31 Hen. I, p. 38, shows that William de Pont de l'Arche was still in possession in 1130.

Round (Ancestor, No. 5, p. 209, quoted by G. H. White in Genealogist, N. S. xxxviii. 116) regarded this charter as doubtful, since Fyfield was held in capite in Domesday.

1256. [1121, Mar. ?] 'Peri' [Waterperry?]

Notification by Henry I to Ralph Abp. of Canterbury and Ernulf Bp. of Rochester, the Sheriff, and all of Kent: That he has granted Roger the nephew of Hubert the land of Chalk (Chelca), [co. Kent] which Fulco the chamberlain (Camerarius) held at a rent, with all the customs with which the King used to hold it.

Witnesses: Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; Thurstan Abp. of York; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Audin Bp. of Évreux; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Nigel de Albini; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Hugh Delaval (de Valle); Robert de Crevecœur. [1114–22.]

[D. of L. Royal Charters, No. 3 (original). Hall, Formula Book, i. 20 (No. 12) (omitting witnesses).]

Round (Geoffrey de Mandeville, 308, n. 1) dates this charter 1116–20.

1257. [1121, Mar. ?] 'Peri' [Waterperry?]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has extended the fair granted to St. John of Beverley and Abp. Thurstan from three days to five, viz. three days before St. John Baptist, the feast and the morrow. All going, staying or returning are to have the King's peace on pain of forfeiture of £10.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Nigel de Albini. [1114–22.]

[Harl. MS. 560, fo. 25 (copy); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 94.] Farrer, Itin. 467.

1258. [1121, Mar. 13?] Abingdon

Precept by Henry I 'omnibus vicecomitibus et praepositis et omnibus ministris suis totius Angliae et portuum maris': That whatever the monks of Abingdon buy for food and clothing and household furniture be free from toll and passage and custom. No one is to disturb their men or their goods on pain of a fine of £10.

Witnesses: The chancellor; Miles of Gloucester. [1121–33.]

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 141; C. IX, fo. 149; Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 78; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 106.]

Sir Frank Stenton suggests that this writ was issued during a vacancy of the abbey. Henry was at Abingdon on 13 Mar. 1121 for the consecration of Robert Bp. of Lichfield (Hist. Nov., p. 293), and Miles of Gloucester does not appear as a witness before that year. It seems probable that the formal election of Abbot Vincent took place then or immediately afterwards.

1259. [1121, Mar.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to Vincent, a monk of Jumièges, of the abbey of Abingdon with all its rights and privileges (including hamsocne, grithbriche and forestal on the abbey's own property only).

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; John of Bayeux; William de Pont de l'Arche.

[Copies in Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 160; C. IX, fo. 162v^o. Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 162.] Farrer, Itin. 414.

1260. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock (Odestoc)

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Canterbury, the sheriff and all barons, ministers, &c., of Kent: That he has given for the souls of his father and mother, his Queen Matilda, and his son William, and for the ransom (redemptio) of his sins, in augmentation of the hospital of Harbledown (de Bosco de Blen) 10 perches of land surrounding the hospital to assart and cultivate.

Witnesses: William the almoner, chaplain; Payn fitz John; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Payn Peverel. [1120–33.]

[Stowe MS. 855, fo. 2 (extract). W. Somner, Antiq. of Canterbury (2nd edit.), pt. 1, App. p. 11 [No. xivb].] The mention of William the almoner suggests an early date.

1261. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London, Aubrey de Vere the sheriff, and all his barons and lieges of Essex: That he has confirmed to the Prior and canons of Holy Trinity, London, two hides of land, given by Symon de Moulins (Mol') and Adela his wife in Leyton (Luitona). To be held with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief, and all other customs which Symon and his wife enjoyed, or their predecessors, at any time. This for the souls of his father and mother, and the salvation of his friends and kindred and predecessors.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William Bp. of Exeter; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; John of Bayeux; Geoffrey the chaplain; Adam de Port; Walter of Gloucester; Geoffrey de Clinton; William de Pont de l'Arche; Payn fitz John. [1115–22.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 13 [N.] (6) (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 417 (incorrectly).

Geoffrey the chaplain is presumably Geoffrey Rufus who became chancellor after the death of Ranulf in Jan. 1123.

1262. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock (Odestoca)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, Gilbert the sheriff and others of Hunts.: That he has restored to Reginald Abbot of Ramsey the lands in Elton (Athelintona) and Warboys [Hunts.] which Hugh of Worcester held; and the lands in Houghton and Wyton [Hunts.] which Richard la Velie (Vetula) held.

Witnesses: Bp. of Salisbury; Bp. of Lincoln; Bp. of Winchester; Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini; Walter of Gloucester; Ralph Basset; Vitalis Engaine; Eurewin; Durand; Herbert. [1115–22.]

[P.R.O. Anc. Deeds A. 14399 (original); P.R.O. Ramsey Cart. fo. 57b; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 14; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Cart. i. 248; Ramsey Chron. 282.] Farrer, Itin. 415.

A comparison of this charter with No. 1293 suggests that the latter is the execution of the judgement recorded in this.

1262a. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Gilbert Sheriff [of Hunts.] and Reinald the monk: To seise the Abbot and convent of Ramsey of all the land which Hugh of Worcester (Wig') held in Elton (Adelingtona) and Warbois (Wardebusco); and of the churches and glebes, which Richard la Velie (Vetula) held in Houghton and Wyton, because the King has restored them to the church.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Nigel de Albini.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. A. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 281.]

This is presumably of even date with No. 1262.

1263. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock (?) (Wolest')

Notification by Henry I to his sheriffs and barons and officials: That he has granted the monks of Tewkesbury leave to buy and sell without toll, throughout England and Wales, all things that are necessary to them; and this he commands on pain of his forfeiture.

Witnesses: Ban' (sic) the chancellor; [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Robert de Sigillo. [1120–2]

[Pat. R. 12 Hen. VII, pt. 2, m. 1 (27) (Inspeximus); Tewkesbury Cart., Cotton MS. Cleopatra A. VII, fo. 69 (abstract). Cal. Pat. R. 1494–1509, 102.] Farrer, Itin. 528 (reading 'Geoffrey the Chancellor').

1264. [1121, Mar. ?] Woodstock (Apud Odestoc')

Writ (volo et precipio) by Henry I to W[alter] Espec, Forne (For') [son of Sigulf] and

O[dard] the sheriff: Ordering that the monks of Tynemouth have quiet possession of all the lands of which they were seised on the day when Abbot Richard¹ died.

Witness: the Bp. of Salisbury. [1120–33.]

¹ Abbot Richard died 16 May 1119. This writ seems to be a reply to the claim by Durham to Tynemouth in 1121, made about mid-Lent (20 Mar.) in the Chapter of York before Abp. Thurstan, Ranulf Bp. of Durham, and Audin Bp. of Evreux, and repeated before a large assembly (county court or group of counties?) at Durham on 11 Apr. in the presence of Robert de Brus, Alan de Percy, Walter Espec, Forne son of Sigulf, Robert de Witvila, Odard Sheriff of Northumberland, and others of that county (Sym. of Durh. (R.S.), ii, 260–1). See Farrer, Itin. 418.

1265. 1121, Easter [Apr. 10]. Berkeley

Notification by Henry I to Adam de Port and Walter of Gloucester and all his lieges of Herefordshire: That he has granted to St. Mary and St. Ethelbert the Martyr [of Hereford] and to Bp. Richard, a three days' fair at Hereford, at the feast of the aforesaid Martyr, viz. 13 June. All who resort to the fair are to have the King's peace, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Teold Bp. of Worcester; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Tancarville; Adam de Port; Walter of Gloucester; Payn fitz John; Geoffrey de Clinton; Roger de Candos.

[MS. coll. of the late James Walwyn, Esq. M.P.' (1804). Duncumb, Hist. of Hereford, i, 296.] Farrer, Itin. 419.

Compare No. 1267.

1266. [1121, Apr.?] Hillesley (Hildesleia)

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he confirms to the church of Glastonbury all its possessions to hold as freely as he holds his own demesne, including the right to hold its own court for all causes, and to elect its own abbot.

[Longleat MS. fo. 74v^o; Bodl. Wood MS. Empt. i, fo. 82 ('Secretum Abbatis'—14th c.) (copies). Great Chartulary, i, 185.]

The text of this charter is much inflated.

1267. [1121, Apr.?] Alveston (Alwestan)

Notification by Henry I to all his barons and burgesses of England: That he has granted to Richard Bp. of Hereford a three days' fair at Hereford on the feast of St. Ethelbert (Adalberti) the Martyr, which is on the day following the feast of St. Dunstan. The addressees are invited to come to it (venite ad eam) and are to have there as good customs as in any fair of England, and to have the King's firm peace in going, in remaining there, and in returning.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Tancarville; Geoffrey de Clinton. [1120–2.]

[Pat. R. 29 Ed. III, pt. 1, mm. 15–14 (Inspeximus). Cal. Pat. R. 1354–8, 196; W. W. Capes, Charters etc. of Hereford Cath. 4 (from Pat. R.).] Farrer, Itin. 420.

The style is very unusual, especially the direct address in second person plural to burgesses, &c. Compare No. 1265.

1268. [1121, c. Apr. 10.] Cheddar (Cheddrehola)

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That [Richard]¹ Bp. of Hereford has given and granted to Walter of Gloucester and his heirs [Little] Hereford and Ullingswick [co. Hereford] for the service of two knights; and that the King confirms the grant.

Witnesses: The Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; G. de Clinton; Richard fitz Pons. Fourth Seal of Henry I. White wax (fragment).

1269. [1121, Apr. ?] Taunton

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Exeter and R[ichard fitz Baldwin] the sheriff and their officials, and all his lieges of Exeter: That the church of St. Nicholas is to remain as freely and honourably as in the time of the King's father and brother. He quit-claims it, even as they did, for the sake of their souls, and that of his mother, Matilda, and for his own and that of his wife, Matilda.

Witnesses: Alfred of Lincoln; W[illiam] fitz Odo. [c. 1121–8.]

[Copies in Chart R. II Ed. III, No. 29; 2 Hen. V, No. 7; Cotton MS. Vitell. D, IX, fo. 98. Oliver, Monasticon Exon. 117, No. ii 'Ex archivis civitatis Exoniae' (Inspeximus of 20 Hen. VII).]

William fitz Odo first attests in 1121–2 (No. 1295). Richard fitz Baldwin ceased to be sheriff at Michaelmas 1128. Alfred of Lincoln does not appear later than 1122.

1270. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Precept by Henry I (with style of Henry II): That the monks of Beaubec are not to be impleaded respecting any of their possessions, except before the King or his chief justiciar. The King claims nothing in the said possessions, except the prayers of the monks.

Witnesses: B[ernard] Bp. of St. David's; W[illiam] de Tancarville, chamberlain; R[oger] fitz Richard. [1115–29.]

William de Tancarville died 1129. Beaubec is said to have been founded in 1116, 1127, or 1128.

1271. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Precept by Henry I to E[rnulf] Bp. of Rochester: To cause the Abbess and nuns of Malling to have their tithes in Cuxton and Borstal and elsewhere as Bp. Gundulf granted to them, and as they held them under Bps. Gundulf and Ralph. Should Ernulf neglect this precept, the Abp. of Canterbury is to execute it.

Witness: John of Bayeux. [1120–3.]

Henry was abroad from June 1123 until after Ernulf's death.

1272. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Notification by Henry I to Thurstan Abp. of York and Anschetil de Bulemer and all the barons of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed all gifts made to St. Oswald and the Canons of Nostell, for his own soul and for those of his wife and son; namely, the gifts of Hugh de Muschamp, Suen son of Ailric, William Foliot, Ernulf de Preston, Leisinus, Alan de Creon, Everard, and Olard (enumerated); and the concord which Abp. Thomas of York made between the Canons of St. Oswald and the monks of La Charité, concerning Featherstone. The above gifts are to be held free of gelds and pleas and customs, &c., pertaining to the King.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. of York; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini; Payn fitz John. [1121–2.]

1273. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1107–29.]

[Woburn Abbey Muniments Devon, D. 84, No. 4 (original). E.H.R. lxii. 355, n. 2.]

1275. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Precept by Henry I to sheriffs, justiciars, &c.: That the King's burgesses of the gild-merchant at Wilton are to be free from toll and passage and all custom like the burgesses of London and Winchester.

Witnesses: M[iles of] Gloucester; R[obert] de Vere; W[illiam] de Pont [de l'Arche]. [1121-33.]

1276*. [1121, Apr. ?] Clarendon

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has confirmed, for his own salvation and for that of his father and mother and of King William his brother, to Richard the Abbot of St. Mary at York and his successors the lands, churches, tithes, &c., of that house in perpetual alms, to be held with all the liberties which belong to the churches of St. Peter at York and of St. John at Beverley. The men of St. Mary shall not go to shire-courts, views of frankpledge (tithing?), courts of wapentakes or hundreds. If sheriffs or their officials have any complaint against a man of St. Mary and of the abbot, let them come on a stated day to St. Mary's court and there obtain right in that capital plea (ibi teneant rectum de capitali placito suo). The church of St. Mary is to be as free as any other church in England. All its lands are to be quit of pleas and complaints, murdrum and larceny, scutages, gelds, dane-gelds, hidages, assessments; castle-work, bridge-work and park-work; and frith-wite, heng-wite, flymenafyrmth, ward-penny, aver-penny, blood-wite, flight-wite, hundred-penny, tithing-penny, leirwite; toll and passage and pontage and lestage and stallage. The King grants to the abbot grith-brice, hamsocn, infangthief and hutfangthief, &c. When the abbacy falls vacant the monks may freely elect another abbot from among their own number.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Nigel de Albini; William Peverel; Ralph Basset. [1112-21.]

Either a forgery or interpolated. 'Ufangthief' at least must be an insertion.

1277*. [1121, Apr.-May ?] [Winchester ?]

Notification (notum sit omnibus regionis Angliae tam modernis quam successoribus meis) by Henry I 'dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum', addressed generally ('Ego Henricus . . . archiepiscopis, episcopis, . . . salutem'): That he confirms to the church of St. Alban, protomartyr of the English, the church of St. Mary of Belvoir as a cell for ever, with lands, tithes, &c., given by Robert de Tosni (Thodeneio) and William his son, and their men. A detailed list of these gifts follows, with lists of witnesses on behalf of Robert de Tosni, Berenger de Tosni, and Abbot Paul.

Witnesses (to the King's confirmation): William Bp. of Winchester; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Earl David; William Earl Warenne; Nigel de Albini; William his brother; William de Tancarville; William de Albini, Brito. [1113-22.]

Moreover, the King confirms the gift, made by William de Albini, Brito, to the church of St. Mary, of the tithe of money-rents from the manors of the castle [of Belvoir], Wyville [co. Linc.], and Stoke Albany (Stoches) [co. Northants.].

Signa: King Henry; the Bps. of Winchester, Lincoln, and Salisbury.

Chart. R. 7 Ed. III, No. 36 (enrolment of inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. iv. 293.]

Spurious, at all events in form. The list of witnesses suggests Winchester, Apr.-May 1121 as a possible date.

1278. [1121, Apr.-May ?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to all barons, justiciars, sheriffs, and officials in whose bailiwicks St. Edmund [of Bury] has lands or rents: That the church of St. Edmunds and Abbot Anselm hold all their lands, men, hundreds, churches, rents, and goods, soc and sac, toll and team, and infangthief and customs and liberties and immunities and wardpenny, as the King granted by his charter, and as the church held them in the times of William I, William II, and the King himself.

Witness: Maurice of Windsor. [1121–33.]

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847, fo. 38v° ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'); C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28v°. Douglas, Feudal Docs., 74.]

1279. [1121, Apr.–May?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Ranulf Bp. of Durham, Walter Espec, Forne [Son of Sigulf] and Odard the sheriff and all the barons of Northumberland: That he has given to Eustace fitz John the land of the Arblaster (Arbaristarii) which the King held in demesne at Bamburgh; to wit, the land of Spindleston (Spilestona) and the mill of 'Warnet' [Waren Mill in Spindleston] which used to render 60s. annually; and the land of Budle (Bolla) which used to render 40s. To be held with soc and sac and toll and team and infangthief and all other customs with which Eustace holds his other lands from the King.

Witnesses: William de Albin; Nigel de Albin; Walter Espec; Robert de Brus; Forne. [1115–27.]

['Tower Misc. Roll, no. 180' now P.R.O. Miscellanea (Chanc.), Ble. 9, No. 5, m. 3 (copy). Hartshorne, Feudal and Military Antiq. of Northumberland, App. 116.]

Odard does not occur as sheriff before 1115. Robert de Brus was in the south in 1121, and the address is exactly similar to that of No. 1264. The Arblaster may probably be Hamo the arblaster and reeve of No. 572.

1280. 1121 [Apr. 10–May 29.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England and Wales: That he has granted to Miles of Gloucester, Sibilia, the daughter of Bernard de Neufmarché, with all the land of her father and mother after their death or before, if they wish it; she receives for the present as her marriage-portion, the manor of Talgarth, the castle of Hay, the forest of Ystrad Wy [in Crickhowell and Talgarth Hundreds, co. Brecknock], &c.

'Et volo et praecipio quod omnes tenentes de praedicto maritagio faciant ei hominagium ligium in mea salva fidelitate sicut domino suo.'

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf the chancellor; Robert the King's son; William de Tancarville; Nigel de Albin; Payn fitz John; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Geoffrey de Clinton; Ralph Basset; William de Albin Brito.

[P.R.O. D. of L. Charters [D.L. 10], No. 6 (original). Round, A.C. 9.] Farrer, Itin. 423.

There is a dating clause. 'Eodem anno inter Pascha et Pentecost' quo Rex duxit in uxorem filiam ducis de Luvain.'

1281. [1121, Apr.–May?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. [of Exeter], Ralph Dean of St. Stephen's [Launceston] and the canons there, and all of the diocese of Exeter, French and English and Welsh: Confirming Bp. William's placing of regular canons at St. Stephen's, Launceston. The prebends of deceased canons and the goods of the church in the bp.'s hands are to be applied to the commons of the canons regular, and any existing canons who do not accept the new rule may retain their prebends for life.

Witnesses: [William] Bp. of Winchester; B[ernard] Bp. of St. David's; [Ranulf] (B.) the chancellor; W[illiam] de Tancarville; Nigel de Albin. [1115–22.]

[Lambeth MS. 719, fo. 7 (iii) v° (copy).]

Launceston was handed over to Canons Regular in 1127 (Dickinson, Austin Canons, p. 113, n. 7), and the charter may be of the same date as No. 1486, but the B. of the MS. is more likely to be a blunder for R. than for G., and it seems possible that the transfer from secular to regular canons may have begun six years earlier and been gradually completed.

1282. [1121, Apr.–May?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to Pons Abbot of Cluny and his successors and the monks of Cluny the monastery of the Holy Trinity, Lenton, which William Peverel gave to them, and the lands (named) given them by various donors. The King himself gives to the church of Lenton a fair for eight days at the feast of St. Martin; and two cart-loads of dead wood and the underwood in Bestwood [in Bulwell]; and the royal liberties and customs, to wit, sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief and latrocinium and freedom from shires and hundreds, and wapentakes and thrithings and pontage, murder, and danegeld &c. The monks of Lenton are to hold all their tenements as freely as William Peverel held in the days of King William I.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton; Aubrey de Vere; William de Albini.

1283. [1121, Apr.–May?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Canterbury and the Bp. of Rochester and the sheriff and barons of Kent: That the plea between the Bp. of Lincoln and the Abbot of St. Augustine respecting the land of Royton (Raitun') [in Lenham] has been decided in the King's Court; a jury decided (recognitum est) that this land belongs to St. Augustine and the bp. ought to hold it from the abbot rendering the services which pertain to the land except ward and host-service in the bp.'s lifetime; if, after his death, it passes to his heir, the latter shall do the full services without these exceptions. But if the King give the acquisitions of the bp. to some one other than his heir, the abbot shall do right in his own court to the recipient. The said land with its customs belongs to the abbot's manor of Lenham.¹

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Richard Bp. of London; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Robert the King's son; Roger fitz Richard; Walter and Robert his brothers; Richard and Baldwin his two nephews; William of Thanet; Nigel de Albini; William de Montfichet; Robert de Crèvecœur; Fulbert of Dover; Rualon of Avranches. [1115–16 or 1120–1.]

1284. [1121, Apr.–May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to all of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has settled the claim by Avelina de Hesding against Everard Bp. of Norwich for dower from the land of Eaton (Etona) on the terms that she is to have 100s. worth of land for life which is to revert on her death to Holy Trinity, Norwich.

[Norwich Cath. Arch. Reg. 2^{dum}, fo. 25; Reg. 3^{ium}, fo. 54 (copies).]

Avelina was apparently the widow of the donor of Eaton, Alan fitz Flaald. (Eyton, Antiquities of Shropshire, vii. 222.) She and her sons gave Wolston [Warw.] to Burton Abbey during the abbacy of Nigel (d. 1114 [recte 1113; see Farrer, Itin. 333]). The correspondence between the witnesses of this charter and No. 1283 seems to place both in 1121, since Everard was elected about March or April and consecrated in June, and Robert of Gloucester is not yet described as earl.

1285. [1121, Apr.–May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has given leave to the Canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell] to build their church above the fishpond (vivarium) where they have begun to build it, and to live there. He also confirms to God and St. Oswald all other alms, past and future, by whomsoever given; this for the souls of his father and mother, his predecessors and successors, and for his salvation and the weal of his realm; to be held with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief, and all other free customs.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Ranulf Earl of Chester; Earl David; Walter Giffard; Nigel de Albini; William Peverel of Nottingham; Humphrey de Bohun; William Maltravers; Peverel de Beauchamp. [1121–2.]

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 7 (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., 1427.] Farrer, Itin. 426.

The earlier limit of date is given by the appearance of Ranulf Earl of Chester.

1286. [1121, Apr.–May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Thurstan Abp. of York and A[nschetill] de Bulemer the sheriff and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to God and the canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell] the wood called St. Oswald's Wood, as given by Robert de Lacy, with the right to make essarts and to take thence all that is necessary for them and their men.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini. [1120–2.]

1287. [1121, Apr.–May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and Anschetill de Bulmer and all of Yorkshire: That he has given freely to St. Oswald [of Nostell] and his canons the wood which Robert de Lacy had in his demesne, round the church, to hold as freely as Robert held it. No man is to take anything thence without the leave of the canons on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1120–2.]

1288. [1121, Apr.–May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter and Richard fitz Baldwin and Baldwin de Redvers and all of Devonshire: That he has confirmed the Bp. of Exeter's foundation of the house of St. Peter of Plympton for Regular Canons. The two hides of land pertaining to that church are to be free of all pleas and complaints, gelds and danegelds, as in the time of William I and William II. The addressees are to maintain the canons in their rights.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Tancarville; Nigel de Albini. [1115–22.]

[Copies in P.R.O. Placita in Cancellaria 10/2; Coram Rege R. Hil. 2 Ric. II, ro. 20, m. 3; Bodl. James MS. 23, p. 152 (transcript from Plympton Reg. (penes Sir John Eliot, 1627)); ibid. Engl. Hist. MS. c. 241, fo. 53. Dickinson, Austin Canons, p. 282 (from last named incomplete).]

1289. [1121, 10 Apr.–29 May.] Winchester

Geoffrey to the use of the canons the manor of Kingsclere (Clara) free of gelds, &c., with the market and hundred and forfeiture and justice of their own men, in alms for the souls of his father and mother.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Warennia (sic); Robert the King's son; Nigel de Albini; William de Albini; William de Tancarville; Geoffrey de Clinton; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Ralph Basset.

1290. [1121, 10 Apr.–29 May.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Granting to the monks of St. Mary du Pré by Rouen, of the gift of Queen Matilda his mother Mesnil[-Panneville], Bedane, the mill of Carville (Carevilla) [in Darnetal], and the church of Ambourville with the tithes; of his own gift, the manor of Bur-le-Roi, and the meadows of 'Vallis Fenilis' with the servant (famulus) keeping them, tithes of hay in the park of Rouen, 100s. yearly in the forest of Roumare, the tenements of Ralf Pentecost in 'Renelmi Villa' and Lamberville and 'Foumuchon', estovers in the forest of Rouvray, the fair of Saint-Sever [Rouen] (Hermentrivilla), 40 muids of wine yearly from his cellar in Rouen, 6 muids of the alms of William I and Matilda from the tithes of St. Ouen, Rouen, and, in England, Steventon [Berks.]. The attestation of Robert Count of Meulan is inconsistent with the date, and the alleged original has A. bp. of Salisbury (which seems impossible) while the Charter Roll, which gives R. bp. of Salisbury, has A. de Vere, which may also be right.

1291. [1121, Apr.–May?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to William Sheriff of Wiltshire and the barons of that shire: Of a grant to the church of St. Mary of Salisbury and to Bp. Roger of the churches of Westbury, Figheldean, and Alderbury with their appendages (specified).

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Ranulf the chancellor; Herbert the chamberlain; Humphrey de Bohun. [1107–22.]

The limits of date are given by the appearance of Ranulf the chancellor.

1292. 1121 [May 29?] Westminster

Charter by Henry I, addressed to William Bp. of Exeter, the Sheriff of Devonshire, and all the barons and lieges of Devonshire: Quit-claiming the priory of St. Martin-des-Champs [Paris] and the monks of Barnstaple of all geld, danegeld, hidage, &c., on certain land at Pilton [co. 1293. [1121, May 29?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Hugh of Wirec[estre] and Roger La Velie (Vetula): To give up the land of the Abbot of Ramsey as it was adjudged (consideratum) in the King's presence, and to remove their property, leaving the land as they found it. 1295. [1121.] Bridgnorth

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln, Robert Bp. of Coventry, Richard Bp. of London, Gilbert the sheriff, and the barons of Huntingdonshire and Shropshire: That he has confirmed the grant made by William Peverel of Dover, brother of Hamo Peverel, to Thurstan his dapifer of Gidding [co. 1296. [1121, Summer?] Bridgnorth

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Coventry and Richard Bp. of London: That he has given to Shrewsbury Abbey the mill-right (moltam) of the whole city and no one shall make a mill or fishery at either bridge except the monks or their grantees.

Witnesses: Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Grimbald (Cunberto) the physician; Hamo Peverel. [1115–26.]

All three witnesses appear in No. 1245.

1297. [1121, Summer.] Condover

Precept by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and all sheriffs in whose shires the Abbot of Shrewsbury has lands: That Godfrey Abbot of Shrewsbury hold his lands and goods in peace and quiet, and be not impleaded for any land or church or prebend or other property which Abbot Fulchered his predecessor held on the day when he was alive and dead; and that Godfrey answer to no man, except in the King's presence.

Presumably it is of even date with the other charters issued at Condover.

1298. [1121, Summer?] Condover

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Chester and Payn fitz John and the sheriffs, barons, and lieges of Shropshire: Confirming an exchange of lands made by Shrewsbury Abbey with Henry de Sai of Cheney Longville (Langefeld) for Brampton (Brantona) [in Clunbury].

Witnesses: Miles of Gloucester; William de Albini Brito.

The B.M. MS. and Farrer's transcript are imperfect and have no place-date or witnesses.

On the date see Eyton (loc. cit.). He places it by Henry's visit to Worcester in Dec. 1129. But this visit is not accepted by Farrer in his Itinerary, and depends on a dubious reading in Henry of Huntingdon (p. 252). Henry was at Woodstock in Mar. 1130. But there seems no reason for refusing to put the charter in 1121 with No. 1297. Pain fitz John, who succeeded Richard Bp. of London as governor of Shropshire (B.M. Add. MS. 30311, fo. 284 [No. 353]), must on this hypothesis have done so in 1121. He was in Normandy with the King till Nov. 1120.

1299. [1121, Summer.] Shrewsbury

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Coventry and Richard Bp. of London and all the barons of Shropshire: That he has granted to the Abbot and monks of Shrewsbury all the mill-right (moltam) of Shrewsbury. No one is henceforth to make a mill there, either on the one bridge or on the other, except the monks or the man to whom they give leave.

Witnesses: Richard Bp. of London; Grimbald the physician; William the almoner, chaplain of the King; Hamo Peverel; Fulco the sheriff.

1300. [1121?] Norton [co. Salop?.]

Precept by Henry I to Richard Bp. of Hereford and all the bps. in whose dioceses the Abbot of Shrewsbury has lands and churches and tithes: To cause the Abbot of Shrewsbury to hold his churches and lands and tithes and all his property as well and honourably as any of his predecessors, in the times of William I, and of the King himself, and in the time of Earl Roger; and not to let the King hear any complaint of lack of right and justice.

1301. 1121 [after Aug. 5]

Charter of Henry I to the Canons Regular of St. Mary's Merton: Giving them for the welfare of himself and his wife Adeliza, and for the souls of his father and mother, Queen Matilda, and his son William, the crown vill of Merton, co. Round (G. de M. 433) considers the charter spurious from its style and from the inclusion of a year-date, though the names of the witnesses are consistent. Compare the dating clause and witnesses of No. 1290.

The writ is subsequent to the judgement (29 June 1121). Warin seems to have remained sheriff till Mich. 1130 (P.R. 13) at least.

1304. [1121?] Hertford

Notification by Henry I to Everard (Ebr.) Bp. of Norwich and Robert fitz Walter and all the lieges of Norfolk: That the monks of Binham have leave to make their own roads through their own demesne lands wherever they will.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1121-9.]

By 1130 Robert fitz Walter had ceased to be sheriff.

1305. [1120-1]

Notification by Henry I to Theold Bp. of Worcester, and Walter of Gloucester, and all the barons of Gloucestershire, French and English: That he has granted to the Abbot and monks of Gloucester the right to hold all the land which Roger of Bayeux held from Abp. Thomas of York in the manor of [St. Peter of] Standish.

Witnesses: Ralph Abp. of Canterbury; Bernard Bp. of St. David's and others.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 151. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 108.] Farrer Itin. 413.

The calendar of donations, i. 100, gives the date of this as 1120-1. Cf. ibid. ii. 97 (confirmation).

1306. [1114–21.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Robert fitz Walter and Ralph Passelewe: To let the land, &c., of the brothers of Holme St. Benet and especially their land at Heigham (Hecham) [next Norwich] be exempt from castle-ward at Norwich.

Witness: Everard fitz Count.

1307. [1121?]

Notification by Ranulf the physician of Henry I, addressed generally: That, with the King's leave, and that of Robert Delahay (de Haia), lord of Wentloog, he has given to St. Mary [of Egypt?] (Triace) and the monks of Montacute at Malpas [co. Monm.] all his land in the marsh of Mendalgif [in Newport and St. Woollos, co. Monm.] and his free chapel [particulars given], with wreck and fisheries in the Ebbw and the Usk, free of gelds and customs. He himself becomes a monk of Montacute.

Witnesses: King Henry; Robert de la Hay; Ranulf the chancellor; Winebald de Balun; William Sheriff of Cardiff; Robert Sor'; Roger de Sumeri; Robert fitz Joice; Herbert de St. Quentin; Laudomar Ace; Alfred (Aldred) of Lincoln; Robert his son. [1107–22.]

[Trin. Coll. Oxford, Montacute Cart. fo. 97 (copy). Montacute Cart. 182, No. 164 (calendared).] Farrer, Iin. 434.

Farrer conjectures 1121 as the date. But Robert Sor and Herbert de St. Quentin are mentioned in No. 813 (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 106) which is not later than 1107 (they were sub-tenants of Robert fitz Hamo), and all the witnesses, from William Sheriff of Cardiff to Laudomar Ace inclusive, attest a charter of Robert Delahay to Glastonbury, relating to Bassaleg, which is confirmed by Robert fitz Hamo (Hearne, Adam of Domerham, ii. 605; Clark, Cart. et Mun. de Glamorgan (1910), i. 44). It seems possible that the charter as given in the cartulary has been conflated from Ranulf's original grant (c. 1102) and a confirmation by Henry I (1107–23). Robert son of Alfred of Lincoln and Alfred himself were alive in 1130 (P.R. 15 sq.) It may be significant that they were the successors in Dorset of Grimbald the physician (see No. 1369).

1308. [1109–21.] Waltham

Notification by Henry I to T. Abp. of York and Nigel de Albini and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to St. Oswald and the Canons of Nostell, in perpetual alms, the two bovates of land in Tockwith given to them by Geoffrey fitz Payn, in the King's presence, to hold with all the liberties enjoyed by Geoffrey, and as freely as they hold anything given them in alms.

Witness: Walter of Gloucester.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 127; Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 9, fo. 283 (corrupt and interpolated); Manchester, John Rylands MS. Lat. 225 (No. 14). 'The Scokirk Chartulary' in Miscellanea (Yorks. Arch. Soc. Rec. Ser. lxxx. 173); Monast. vi. 102.]

This charter is confirmed by No. 1312.

1309. [1107–21]

Precept by Henry I: That the monks of Tewkesbury are to hold their lands &c. as freely as in the time of Robert fitz Hamon, and that their land at 'Boxcota' is to be free from gelds, even when the demesne of Robert the King's son is liable, and from pleas.

[Tewkesbury Cart. Cotton MS. Cleopatra A. VII, fo. 70 (abstract).]

Robert was created Earl of Gloucester in 1121. This grant is probably soon after the death of Robert fitz Hamo in 1107.

1310. [c. 1107–21.] Waltham.

Notitia of the confirmation by Henry I of the gift by William de Albini pincerna to St. Mary's of Wymondham, for the health of the King and his offspring and for the souls of his father and mother and of his brother, William II, of a wood in Wymondham manor called 'Suitwde' and the fish-pond of Tipford, and a meadow with land adjoining the church, and his men whom he held under the Earl of Warenne. The King has diverted the highway which passed close by the church, in order that the monks may not be disturbed by travellers.

Witness: Walter of Gloucester.

[Cotton MS. Titus C. VIII, fo. 16 (olim xxvii). Monast. iii. 331 (V).]

This is probably of the same date as the charter to Nostell.

1311. [1112–21.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Stephen of Aumale (Alba Marla) and Robert his sewer and all his ministers of Holderness: That Richard Abbot of York shall hold Hornsea Mere as freely as Count Odo [of Champagne] gave it to the Abbot of York and as William II confirmed it; and prohibiting Geoffrey de Spineto or others from fishing there without licence.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

1312. [1122, Jan. 10]

Charter (in diploma form) by Henry I ‘dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum’, to St. Oswald of Nostell and the Canons Regular of Nostell: Confirming, for the souls of William I and Matilda, his wife Matilda and son William, the foundation by Turstin Abp. of York, and the possessions of the house (enumerated). He grants also the liberties enjoyed by St. Peter’s, York (except those affecting the archbishop) with Abp. Thurstan’s consent, who has exempted them from all episcopal exactions.

Signa: King Henry; Turstin Abp. of York; Richard Bp. of Hereford; William Bp. of Winchester; Everard Bp. of Norwich; Eustace fitz John; Payn fitz John; Walter Espec. [1121–7.]

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 150 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 9, fo. 272v^o (transcript). Monast. vi. 92 (ii); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1428.] Farrer, Itin. 462.

Farrer (Itin.) describes this as ‘A doubtful charter’. Burton (Mon. Ebor. 300) quoting a chronicle penes Sir Rowland Wynne, Bt., dates this charter 10 Jan. 1121, and the same year is assigned to it in Placitorum Abbreviatio 207b in a suit of 1285. If this is correct the real date must be 10 Jan. 1122 since Everard became Bp. of Norwich 12 June 1121 (see Farrer, E.Y.C., loc. cit.).

1313. [1122, Mar. 26.] Northampton

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That the monks of St. Martin’s, Battle, shall hold their lands of Wye, &c. (including Appledram, exchanged for Reading).

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 30; Pat. R. 10 Hen. VI, pt. 1, mm. 22–21; 2 Ed. IV, pt. 3, n. 15; Chart. R. 6 Ed. II, No. 56(7). Cal. Pat. R. 1429–36, 174 (noted); Monast. iii. 247 (xvi) with variants here noted.] Farrer, Itin. 451.

The charter in Monast. (from Pat. R. 2 Ed. IV, which follows Chart. R. 6 Ed. II) is witnessed by Roger Bp. of Salisbury at Winchester. Henry spent Easter 1122 at Northampton (A.S.C.).

1314. [1122, Mar. 26?] Northampton

Precept by Henry I to Absolon of Sandwich: To do full right to the Abbot of St. Augustine’s, in the abbot’s court and according to the judgement of the court, respecting the fee which he holds of St. Augustine and the abbot; namely, the church which he claims to hold in fee and inheritance. Unless Absolon does this the abbot may recover his fee (recognoscat se ad feodum suum).

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1102–33.]

‘Et prohibeo ne super hoc quisquam eum inde iniuste disturbet. T. eodem.’

1315. [1122, Mar. 26?] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and Aubrey de Vere the sheriff, and all his barons and lieges of London: That he has granted for the souls of his father, mother, and successors to the Holy Trinity and Prior Norman and the Canons of the Holy Trinity, London, the right to enclose with a wall the road which ran between their church and offices and the wall of the city of London. They may enclose it at either end up to the wall of the city, and the new road shall pass on the other side of the church.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton; Ralph Basset. [1120–2.]

Hugh de Bocland seems to have been sheriff up to 1115.

1316*. [1122, Mar. 26?] Northampton

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he confirms the canonry of Canons Regular of Holy Trinity, London, founded by the late Queen Matilda, free from any ecclesiastical subjection. The canons may enclose a road between their house and the city wall. Also the gift of Queen Matilda of £25 bl. yearly from her rents in Exeter. He gives further Aldgate with its soke, and confirms the gift of the Cnihtengild and its soke [Portsoken Ward]. The canons are to hold all their possessions with soc and sac, toll and team, and infangthief. They and their men are to be quit of gelds, scots, wites, assizes, aids of sheriffs and their ministers; of all suits, of shires, hundreds, leets, and hustings, of pleas and complaints; of hidages, tallages, military service on foot or horseback, charges of expeditions and wards; works of castles, parks, bridges, stews, walls, and enclosures; of cart-, packhorse-, or ship-service; building of palaces and other works. They shall be quit of tolls in all markets and fairs, roads, bridges, ferries and on the sea. Their tenants in London and elsewhere shall only plead in the court of the canons. They shall not be impleaded concerning any tenement except before the King or his chief justice. No one is to infringe this charter, since the canons are under the King's special protection.

Witnesses: Ran[ulf] the chancellor; G[eoffrey] de Clinton; Ralph Basset. [1121-2.]

Fourth Seal of Henry I (frag.) pendant from double tag.

[P.R.O. Ancient Deeds A.S. [E. 42] 317 (pretended original); Cart. of Holy Trinity, Hunterian MS. (Glasgow); Guildhall, London, Letter-book C, fo. 48*b*; Memoranda R. (K.R.) 7 Ed. II, m. 97*d*; Chart. R. 3 Ric. II, No. 2 (copies). Monast. vi. 157 (n. 11) (from Stevens's trans.); Maitland, London, 780; Cal. Chart. R. v. 265; Foedera i. 12.] Farrer, Itin. 453.

This charter is unusually comprehensive in its grant of liberties. Its handwriting suggests Henry II rather than Henry I, and its genuineness (despite the seal, which seems authentic) is inconsistent with the statement in the cartulary (see Monast. vi. 153) that the gift of the Cnihtengild was made in 1126, which is supported by a charter of confirmation attested by Geoffrey the chancellor (No. 1467).

1317. [1122, Mar. 26.] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Earl David, and all his barons and lieges: That he has given to the monks of La Charité serving God in the church of St. Andrew of Northampton, the church of St. Giles¹ in that vill together with 4 acres of his demesne, for the salvation of his parents and predecessors. And confirms all the gifts of Earl Simon, his wife Matilda, and other barons and royal tenants; particularly the annual pension of 40*s.* in Bedford which the Countess Matilda gave; the carucate and mill in Scalford (Scaldeforde) [co. Leic.] given by Robert son of Vitalis; 10½ virgates in the same vill, purchased from the said Robert; 2 virgates in Moulton purchased from Grimbald; the tithe of the mill called Caucheshelne, given by the said Grimbald; 30 acres and pasture for 100 swine in Great Oakley (Acheleia) and rights of common of pasture given by Robert son of Lancelin in Wellingborough (Wendliburgo), the gift of Ilbert de Cogenhoo; the land of Foxley given by Adelulf; the land and church of Newton given by Amfrey (Auscheri) de Chanci; tithes given by Roger of Isham, Hardewin de Hargedon [i.e. Harrowden], Walter of Preston (in Wyton), Ingelramn (in Harrowden), William fitz Burchard (in Floore), Walter de Liner' [in Kislingbury], Robert de Armentar[iis] (in Harlestone). Also in Northampton, the house of Werric in the market-place and those of Robert Huuel and Walcher (or Walter). The men of the monks who live on their land, between the ditches of the borough and the ditch of the monks, are to be free from every custom of the said vill. All these rights the monks are to hold with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief.

Parchment turned up at foot, with a tongue for seal.

1318. [1122, Mar. 26.] Northampton

granted to the monks of La Charité at Northampton the church of St. Sepulchre there with 4 acres of his demesne, and the mill at Hardingstone called 'Cotesmelne'. They are to hold the gifts of Earl Simon and Countess Maud and other benefactors with sac, soc, &c. and no man is to do them wrong.

Thurstan did not return to England till 31 Jan. 1121, and Henry was in the north in the autumn and winter of 1122 (Simeon of Durham (R.S.) ii. 267).

1321. [1122, c. May 14.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and Robert fitz Walter the sheriff, and the barons and lieges of Suffolk: That he has confirmed to God and St. Edmund and the Abbot and monks of St. Edmund's Bury the lands restored to them by Berard, which the King had given to Berard from the demesne of the church, both the demesne-land and the tenants, knights and sokemen.

1322. [1122, May 14], Whitsuntide. Windsor

Notification by Henry I to justices, sheriffs, &c., in England: That he has granted to St. Mary, St. Alban, St. Oswin, and the monks of Tynemouth to hold all their possessions with sac, soc, &c., and wreck as freely as the King himself. They are to defend the church, monks, and their men and goods as the King's own alms. Any one wronging them incurs the King's forfeiture.

[Cotton MS. Tib. E. VI, fo. 117v° (copy); Lansd. MS. 860A, fo. 141v° (transcript). Hist. of Northumberland, viii. 55(6) (abstract).]

Henry spent Whitsuntide at Windsor in 1110 and 1122. But the new priory church at Tynemouth, dedicated to St. Mary, was consecrated 20 Aug. 1110, the old church having been dedicated to St. Oswin (Northumberland County Hist. viii. 56). This and the following charter are probably connected with the abortive claim to Tynemouth by the monks of Durham in 1120 (see No. 1264 and Farrer, Itin. 418).

1323. [1122, May 14] Whitsuntide. Windsor

Precept by Henry I to his justiciars, barons, and sheriffs of Northumberland: To maintain the church of St. Oswin of Tynemouth and its men and property as they love the King, since that church is his own alms. St. Mary and St. Oswin and the monks of Tynemouth are to have their court as freely and fully as the King has his, with sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief and wreck and all other customs. They are to defend the monks, that no man may wrong the monks in defiance of this precept, on pain of the royal forfeiture.

Also the church of St. Mary Magdalene in the island on which the castle stands [i.e. Castleton], together with rights of fishing on certain occasions in the stewponds, and the mill adjoining St. Andrew's church as compensation for two mills swamped (prefocata) by the said stewponds. He has also given a piece of land with a mill near the old palace to make up for the portion of the monks' graveyard taken to make a road.

Witnesses: clerks: Azo Dean of Salisbury; Roger, Arnald, and Athelhelm, archdeacons; Ralf, Theobald, and Roger, the bishop's chaplains; barons: Robert de Arundel, Robert of Lincoln, William fitz Walter, Richard de Montacute, Ralf Luvel; knights: Osmund Dapifer, Nicholas son of Harding, Arnald the butler (pincerna), Richard of Devizes, Jordan de Lestre, Richard Foliot and others.

1325. [1122, May 17–20.] London

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has, by the advice of his council, united his abbey of Horton, owing to the inconvenience of its situation and the fewness of its lands, with Sherborne Priory, with the consent of Roger Bishop of Salisbury. The confirmation of the election of the abbots remains with the Crown.

Abp. Ralf died 20 Oct. 1122. Henry was at Westminster after Whitsuntide. The date given in Cotton MS. Faust. A. II for the union of Horton and Sherborne as one abbey is 1122.

1326. [1122, Autumn?] Nottingham

1331. [1122, after Sept. 29.¹] Durham

Notification by Henry I to the sheriff and ministers of Northumberland: That he holds in his own hand the priory of Tynemouth. That the Abbot of St. Albans and the Prior of Durham are not to interfere with them, but the monks of Tynemouth are to choose their own prior.

1332. [1122, Autumn?] York

Notification by Thurstan Abp. of York generally addressed: That, with the counsel of the chapters of Beverley and York and his barons, he has confirmed to the men of Beverley all their liberties, with the same laws which the citizens of York enjoy. King Henry has given his licence for this, and by his charter has confirmed the grant of the abp., saving the dignity and honour of God and St. John and the abp. and the canons. In addition to these free customs the abp. wills that the burgesses have their hans-hus, and there make their statutes, with the same liberty which the men of York have in their hans-hus. And he grants to them the tolls for a rent of 18 marks annually, excepting three feasts on which the toll belongs to the abp. and the canons; viz. the feast of St. John the Confessor in May, and the feasts of the Translation and the Nativity of St. John. On these three feast-days, the abp. quits the burgesses from every toll. The burgesses are to have free ingress and egress; and to be free of toll throughout Yorkshire, like the citizens of York.

Witnesses: Geoffrey Murdoc; Nigel Fossard; Alan de Perci; Walter Espec; Eustace fitz John; Thomas the provost (prepositus) [of Beverley]; Turstin the archdeacon [of Richmond]; Herbert the canon; William son of Tole; William of Bayeux, 'coram tota familia Archiepiscopi, clericis et laicis, in Eboraco'. [1114-29.]

The mention of Eustace fitz John and Walter Espec, who visited the county as justices in 1128-9, seems to make 1128-9 the probable date, but Espec attests a charter of 1122 at York, and it is possible that he and fitz John may have acted together before 1128 (cf. Nos. 1279 and 1312). Abp. Thurstan was abroad from the summer of 1116 to Feb. 1118; from Nov. 1118 to Feb. 1121; from Sept. 1125 to 29 June 1126; and in 1127-8. Farrer thought that Nigel Fossard must have died c. 1120 (E.Y.C. ii, p. 326). It seems, therefore, possible to suggest 1122 as a date which would give time for the succession of Robert Fossard and for the forfeiture of his lands and their partial recovery before Michaelmas 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I pp. 24, 25).

1333. [1122, Autumn.] York

Notification by Henry I to Abp. Thurstan [of York] and his barons and lieges of Yorkshire: That he grants to the canons of St. Mary's of Bridlington a carucate of land [in Bridlington] which Gertrude wife of Jordan [Paynel] and Stephen [de Meinill] her son gave, and Stephen of Albemarle confirmed.

Witnesses: William de Tancarville; Walter Espec. [1114-29.]

1334. [1122, Oct.-Dec.] York

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has taken into his own protection the Prior and convent of Kirkham and their men and possessions; and gives them freedom from toll and passage through all his dominions; also from lastage and stallage and hidages and carriage and wards and castle-works and repairing of walls and bridges and from taxes (vectigalibus et tributis) and from host-service and knight-service (equitatu).

Emmanuel Coll., Camb. MS. 65, fo. 2 gives 1122 as the year of the foundation of Kirkham (Dickinson, Austin Canons, p. 123, n. 3).

1335. [1122, Oct.-Dec.] York

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to the church of SS. Peter and Hilda of Whitby, and to the abbot and monks there serving God, and to all the men pertaining to the same church, the liberties and customs enjoyed by St. John of Beverley and St. Wilfrid of Ripon. The King grants them their burgage in Whitby and their fair at the feast of St. Hilda, and sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief. All resorting to that fair are to have the King's firm peace. He grants them also their sea-port, and toll and team and all liberties pertaining to a sea-port. And, in York, the church of All Saints, Fishergate, and all the lands and men in the same city pertaining to the church of SS. Peter and Hilda, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief. All the forests and pastures on their lands he commands that they possess in demesne. He confirms to them also two carucates of land in Hackness (Hachanes), four in Northfield [in Hackness], two in Burniston [in Scalby], free from geld. All these things they are to hold with all the liberties which they ever enjoyed under William I and William II.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; William Earl Warenne; Nigel de Albini; Robert de Brus; Walter de Espec. [1107-27.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 27 (7) (copy).]

The charter is confirmed in almost identical terms by Henry II (Whitby Cartulary, i. 147).

1336. [1122, Oct.–Dec.] York

Precept by Henry I to Anschetil the sheriff and all his reeves and officials of Driffeld and Pocklington and Kilham and Pickering and Aldborough (Burch): To cause Hugh the dean [of St. Peter's, York] and his clerks to have all their right (rectas)¹ tithes from the royal demesne in the aforesaid manors, and from all the parishioners of the churches belonging to the said manors. Similarly, they are to have all the rights of the said churches in lands and in chapels, because the King has given the said churches as alms to St. Peter.

1337. 1122, Dec. 6. York

Notification by Henry 'rex Anglorum' to John Bp. of Lisieux, Stephen Count of Mortain, Robert Delahay, 'et omnibus baronibus et fidelibus suis Normanniae': That he has granted to Warin [des Essarts] the abbey of Saint Evroul-en-Ouche.

1338. [1122, Dec. 6?] York

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has confirmed to the monks of Charleval (Noion) all that William Count of Évreux (Ebr') gave them in England; viz. the church of [East] Hendred (Henreth) [co. Berks.] with the tithe and the chapel of [Marsh?] Baldon (Baldinton) [co. Oxon.] and one villein (hospitem) at Southampton (Suhanton) and all the land which William I gave him; and tithe of all the land the King himself gave him, to be held with all the liberties with which the earl possessed them.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. of York; John Bp. of Lisieux; Stephen Count of Mortain; Robert Delahay; William de Tancarville; William de Albini; Hamo de Falaise.

[Pat. R. 6 Ed. III, pt. 2, m. 9 (copy). Cal. Pat. R. 1330–4, 333 (transl.).] Farrer, Itin. 477.

The phrases in the charter 'ut super hiis nemo eis calumpniam incuciat', and 'Hanc igitur cartam . . . experiatur' look like improvements introduced by the recipients. The attestations of John Bp. of Lisieux, Stephen Count of Mortain, and Robert Delahay, suggest that they were at York on 6 Dec., the date of the charter to St. Evroul, of which Charleval was a dependency (see Round, C.D.F., No. 628).

1339. [1122, Christmas?] Dunstable

Writ by Henry I to Odard the sheriff and the King's justiciars of Northumberland: Ordering (concedo) that the Abbot of St. Albans and the monks of Tynemouth have the right of warren in all their lands in Northumberland.

Witnesses: William de Pirou; Henry de la Pommeraye (Pomer'). [c. 1116–c. 1126.]

Henry I spent Christmas 1122 at Dunstable (Hen. of Huntingdon, 244).

1340. [1122?] Winchester

Letter from Henry I to Anselm Abbot of St. Edmund's, Bury: Begging him not to go abroad, because the monks and the knights of the abbey object, and the King cannot consent to it. If ill health be the ground, his friends will do what they can for his recovery.

[New York, Pierpont Morgan Lib., MS. 736, fo. 2 (copy); Memorials of St. Edmund's Abbey, iii, p. xxxvi (analysed).]

Mr. Williamson suggests 1122 as a probable date and supposes Anselm's intended pilgrimage to Santiago de Compostela was the occasion (E. W. Williamson, Letters of Osbert of Clare, 195).

1341. 1122

Notitia of an inquest ordered by Henry I, in the year 1122, respecting the claim of the monks of St. Stephen's at Caen to land pertaining to Burton Bradstock (Brideton) [co.

Dorset] which had been seized by the King's tenants in Bridport and detained with the aid of the King's officials. The King ordered that the question should be settled by the testimony of the neighbours. Many delays were interposed, but at last the King sent a peremptory command. On the appointed day the claim of the monks was heard before seven hundreds, assembled on the aforesaid land, in the presence of Warin, the sheriff of Somerset and Dorset. Sixteen men, three from Bridport, three from Burton, and ten from the neighbourhood swore that they would make a true affirmation; and they affirmed that the land in question belonged from of old to Burton, and ought to belong to the tenant of Burton. It was therefore adjudged to the monks of St. Stephen at Caen. The names of the jurors follow.

1342. 1122. Oxford¹

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Granting to the Prior and Canons Regular of St. Frideswide's, of Oxford, the monastery of St. Frideswide with all its appurtenances; the chapels of Headington, Marston, Elsfield, Binsey; in Oxford, the churches of All Saints, St. Mildred, St. Michael at the North Gate, St. Peter at the Castle, and half of St. Aldate's; the chapel of Holy Trinity, the chapel of St. Clement outside the city; in Wallingford, the church of St. Lucian and St. Leonard; the vill of [Upper] Winchendon, the whole place which is called Binsey, and other lands and churches. 'Habeant et teneant inperpetuum predictam Ecclesiam S.F. ad Capellam meam spectantem . . . liberam et ab omni servicio seculari quietam et solutam inperpetuum.'

Witness: R[anulf] the chancellor.

The reference to St. Aldate's is suspicious. See Parker, Early Hist. of Oxford, 292: contra Spencer Wigram, Cart. of St. Frideswide's, i. 10. The date is that given by the cartulary, but has been questioned.

1343. [1122.] Oxford¹

Notification by Henry I to the sheriff and all citizens of Oxford, and to his subjects French and English: Of a grant 'in perpetuum elemosinam' to God and St. Frideswide and the Canons Regular in the church of St. Frideswide, of the monastery of St. Frideswide's with all appurtenances (including Bishopsmore [in Cutslow]); of a road near the wall of the city, so far as it touches their land; right of closing or blocking up all the gates of the priory at will. 1346. [1122?] Oxford

Precept by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich, Robert fitz Walter, Richard fitz Walter, and R. Passel[ewe]: To cause the monks of Battle to have their churches (enumerated) given them by William II at the dedication with the liberties pertaining. All wrongly taken are to be restored.

1347. [1122.] 'Edlingas' [Eling or Hayling Island?]

Notification by Henry 'dei gracia Rex anglorum Duxque Normannorum', generally addressed: That he has granted and restored to the church of St. Mary and St. Edward at Shaftesbury all those lands to which Emma the abbess established her claim in the presence of the King and barons 'apud Edlingas'; and has confirmed various other gifts.

Signa: King Henry; Ranulf (Radulfus) the chancellor; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Humphrey de Bohun (Bun); Alfred of Lincoln; Robert de Arundel.

[Shaftesbury Cart. MS. Harl. 61, fo. 23 (copy); ibid., fo. 30 (imperfect).]

Confirmed Chart. R. 7 John, No. 115 (Rot. Cart. i. 150b; Monast. ii. 483). The appearance of Robert as Earl of Gloucester together with Ranulf as chancellor would seem to limit this to 1121–2. It may, however, be (though less likely) that the claim was made before Henry I at Eling in 1127 and 'Radulphus' is a mistake for 'Galfridus' in the name of the chancellor. The 'placita Regis de Eilling' are mentioned on the Pipe Roll of 1130 (P.R., p. 38).

1348. [1114–22.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to all justices, ministers, &c., in England: That the church of Battle is to have all its liberties. The King confirms the market at Battle on Sundays granted by William I and grants a fair of three days at the feast of St. Martin in the Summer (4 July).

1350. [1107–22.] Waltham

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester and Gilbert Sheriff and all of Surrey: That the King has granted to St. Saviour's of Bermondsey the manor of Waddon free from all gelds and customs as the King had it in his own demesne.

By award of the court he made oath to Geoffrey de Sablé (Sublis) that he would not again molest the monks, and the abbot gave him of his grace, 40s. and a horse.

Farrer's assumption that this charter was addressed to Abp. Thomas is the sole ground for his placing the appointment of Robert de Heriz as early as 1114. The witnesses and the seal suggest a date near the end of the limit. Robert de Heriz was apparently sheriff Michaelmas 1127–8 in succession to Serlo de Burg (C. H. Walker in E.H.R. xxxvii. 70–71), but must clearly have held office earlier as well.

1356. [1113–22.] Westminster

Robert may be either Robert de Limesi (d. 1 Sept. 1117) or Robert Pecche (7 Jan. 1121–22 Aug. 1127). Henry seems to have been north in 1109 and 1122.

1362. [1108–22.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and his justiciar and sheriff, and to all the faithful of Holy Church, and to all his officials and lieges of Essex: That he has confirmed to the church and Canons of St. Martin le Grand, London, at the petition of Bp. Roger of Salisbury, the church of Newport [co. Essex] with its lands and chapels and tithes and all other appurtenances. The said church and canons are to hold these things freely for ever, after the death of Bp. Roger.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Nigel de Albini; G[eoffrey] de Clinton.

Notitia of the confirmation by Henry I to Bernard the scribe and his heirs of the lands which Bernard held in Cornwall of the King or others: viz. the land and goods which were Gisulf's, the land of Theodulf, Bernard's grandfather, Brictric his uncle, and Ailsa his father, the land which was Dodo's and that which Ranulf the chancellor held in the castle of Launceston, and other lands and churches (specified).

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Geoffrey his chaplain; Robert de Sigillo; Nigel de Albini; Geoffrey de Clinton; Edward of Salisbury; William de St. Clair (Sancto Claro); Grimbald the leech.

Gisulf the scribe was lost in the 'White Ship' (Orderic. iv. 419).

1364. [1121-2?]

Notitia of the livery (reddidit) by John of Bayeux to Bernard the scribe of the land and houses in London which were of Gisulf, and the soke which he had of the Abp. of Canterbury, to hold quit of all service, so long as Bernard should be in the King's court. And if he should depart from it, to hold to him and his heirs for one mancus of gold or 2s. yearly. Bernard paid him 9 marks of silver.

Witnesses: John the archdeacon, nephew of the Bp. of Lisieux; Robert keeper of the King's seal; Mark the physician (medicus); Robert scribe of the court; Elias son of the Bp. of Durham; Ralph of Whitchurch; Roger Brun; Eustace, John's clerk; Ralph fitz William; William Mauduit; Robert de Vere; Warin Sheriff of Somerset; David and Roger, Bernard's esquires. [1121-4.]

[Cotton MS. Cleop. C. VII, fo. 77 (olim 100). E.H.R. xiv. 428.]

John the archdeacon became Bp. of Sées in 1124. Robert presumably succeeded Richard (Bp. of Hereford 7 Jan. 1121) as keeper of the seal. Probably of the same date as the preceding.

1365. [c. 1121-2]

List of witnesses to a gift (particulars illegible) by Ranulf the chancellor (?) to Bernard the scribe of a tenement in Fleshmonger Street (?), Winchester, viz: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William de Albini, pincerna; Geoffrey [Rufus], chaplain of the chancellor; Richard de Brus; William the almoner; Robert de Sigillo; Ralph de Bosevil; Riker chaplain of the chancellor; Robert his son; Roger de Mealtuiz; Botsardus; Richard the chamberlain; William Cumin; Atso of Winchester; Buistard and Curteis, serjeants of the King's chapel.

[Cotton MS. Cleop. C. VII, fo. 77 (olim 100) (copy). E.H.R. xiv. 423.]

A reference to a rent of 12*d.* seems to identify this property with that mentioned in the grant of Stephen Count of Mortain (No. 1676). Note the conjunction of Geoffrey Rufus and his protégé William Cumin among the witnesses (see Simeon of Durham, i. 143), as also of two lay members of the 'chapel' staff.

1366. [c. 1121-2?]

Notitia of the gift by Henry I to Bernard the scribe of void ground in Launceston Castle between the well and the chapel for his lodging.

Witnesses: William de Tancarville; William de Albini, pincerna; William de Albini Brito; Payn fitz John; Drew de Moncei. [1121-9.]

1367*. [1100-22]

Notification by Henry I to John Bp. [of Bath] and Aiulf the Sheriff [of Somerset] and all his lieges: That, for the souls of his father and his mother and other predecessors and his successors, he has confirmed the gift which William Count of Mortain and his men made to SS. Peter and Paul of Cluny; to wit, the church of St. Peter near his castle of Montacute, with the orchards and vineyards; and the land given by the same persons in the manor of Bishopstone; also the borough and the market of the said vill; also the manor of Closworth; and that of Creech with Ham and Atsborough (Etenberga), with the church; Tintinhull with all its appurtenances; the church of Yarlinton and whatever Osbert the priest held there in lands and tithes; the church of St. Neot (?) (Sennet) with its appurtenances; the churches of Altonon and Crantock [co. Cornw.] with their appurtenances; the church of Gussage and twenty solidates of land in Gussage, 'Huncroft', and Loverlay [co. Dors.]; and the estates called 'Baresfeld', Melbury, Widcombe, Monkleigh (Lega) [co. Devon], Nynhead; the tithe of [East] Chinnock; half the tithes of Chiselborough, Cloford, Norton [Fitzwarren], Vryan; the tithes of Marston Magna, Caundle, Thorpe, the three Cernels [in Charminster,

Dorset], Toller, Hooke; two thirds of the tithes of Bickenhall, Durweston, Poyntington, Lodors. 'Hec omnia sicut ipsi dederunt vel daturi sunt, ego concedo.'

'Sigilli mei appositione confirmo et signo Sancti Crucis manu proprie consigno.'

An extremely dubious document, of irregular form.

Aiulf had ceased to be sheriff before the death of Ranulf the chancellor, Jan. 1123 (No. 1341). W. A. Morris's date of 1118 for the succession of Warin as sheriff (E.H.R. xxxvii. 167) rests on No. 734* above, which is clearly a forgery.

1368. [1107–22]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter, John Bp. of Bath, and Richard fitz Baldwin the sheriff: That he has confirmed to the monks of Montacute the church of St. Peter near the castle of Montacute, &c.

[MS. Trin. Coll. Oxford (copy); Montacute Cart. 121 (calendared).]

Imperfect but appears to be earlier in date than the other charter of confirmation which mentions some possessions not here included.

Richard fitz Baldwin was Sheriff of Devon from 1107.

1369. [1107–22] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Warin the sheriff and all the barons of Dorset: That he has granted to Alfred of Lincoln to hold in fee the land of Holme (Holne) as Grimbald the physician sold it to him.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; William de Tancarville; John of Bayeux.

[MS. Trin. Coll. Oxford, fo. 71v° (copy). Montacute Cart. 167 (calendared).]

1370. [1107–22.] Brigstock¹

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Gilbert the Sheriff [of Huntingdon]: That no man and no man's house remain in the isle of the Abbot of Ramsey without his leave.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Chart. R. 8 Ed. III, No. 29 (copy of Inspeximus); P.R.O. Ramsey Cart., fo. 141v°; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copies). Ramsey Cart. ii. 81; Ramsey Chron. 278.] Farrer, Itin. 447.

Gilbert the knight became sheriff about 1107–10 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 164) and died 1125 (ibid. 167). Henry was abroad in 1124–5.

1371. [1107–22.] Brampton (Brantona)

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to the Prior and monks of St. Neot of Eynesbury (Einolvesberia) a three-days fair, on the eve, feast, [and morrow] of St. Neot, with customs as in the King's fairs, and safe-conduct for persons going and returning.

Witnesses¹: Ranulf the chancellor; Payn Pev[erel] (Pevn).

[Copies in Pat. R. 16 Hen. VI, pt. 2, m. 23; Cotton MS. Faust. A. IV, fo. 45v°. Monast. iii. 473 (x); Gorham, Hist. and Antiq. of Eynesbury and St. Neots, ii. 310 (Y.) (both from Cotton MS.).]

1372. [1121–2.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter and the archdeacons of Devon: That he has confirmed a covenant between Roger Bp. of Salisbury and Serlo 'collectorem meum Devon', assigning certain churches as a prebend to be held by Serlo's next of kin.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Robert Earl of Leicester.

[Reg. of St. Osmund, i. 381.] Farrer, Itin. 474.

Robert of Gloucester received his earldom after Mar. 1121 (No. 1255). Robert Bloet died 10 Jan. 1123. Mr. W. H. Rich Jones dates 'circa 1109'.

and barons and all the King's officials in Yorkshire: That the King has confirmed the grant by Osbert the sheriff, of Acaster [co. Yorks.] to St. German of Selby.

Witnesses: Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Earl Robert, the King's son.

Farrer, Itin. 446.

Robert was not earl before Apr. 1121. Robert Bp. of Lincoln died Jan. 1123.

1374. [1115–22]

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Wigot, the sheriff and all the barons of Lincolnshire: That the Prior of Spalding shall not answer nor plead concerning the men who were on his land when the King's father was alive and dead, until the King hears what is the claim against the prior.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296, fo. 87v^o (Spalding Cart.) (copy).]

Wigot was sheriff from 1115 (E.H.R. xxx. 280 sq.).

1375. [1116–22?]

Precept by Henry I to justiciars, sheriffs, and officials, in whose bailiwicks the Prior and monks of SS. Mary and Nicholas of Spalding have lands and men: That the monks are not to be impleaded respecting any man of theirs who was resident on their land on the day of the King's accession; for this is a breach of the protection (stabilimentum) which he gave the monks against those who claimed their men as fugitives. This order applies particularly to the case of Sadebert and Edward and their sons, men of the monks.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296, fo. 87v^o (copy).]

The date is uncertain, but the writ evidently refers to the same claims as the preceding.

1376. [1115–22.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln and Wigot the sheriff: That the monks of Spalding are to hold the wood which pertains to their manor as freely and honourably as in the days of William I and William II and of Ivo [Taillebois] and Turolde; and their marsh as well.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Chart. R. 4 Ed. III, No. 95 (enrolment of Inspeximus); B.M. Add. MS. 35296 (Cart. of Spalding), fo. 87v^o (without witnesses) and fo. 99v^o; B.M. Add. MS. 5844, p. 220; Harl. MS. 792, fo. 9. Cal. Chart. R. iv. 162.] Farrer, Itin. 360.

Spalding was founded by Ivo Taillebois and his wife the 'Countess Lucy' 'for their souls and for those of their ancestors Thorold and his wife'. Thorold or Turolde was Sheriff of Lincolnshire under William I, and may probably have been Lucy's father (see Complete Peerage, vii, App. J).

1377. [1120–2.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] the chamberlain and Aubrey de Ver and all their successors, chamberlains, and sheriffs of London: To pay from the farm of London to the sacristan of St. Peter's, Westminster, $\frac{1}{2}d.$ a day for a light to burn before the tomb of Queen Matilda from Michaelmas last past for ever.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Lincoln; Ranulf the chancellor; Ralf Basset.

1378. [1107–22]

Notification by Henry I to William de Pont de l'Arche and the barons of Hants and Winchester: Confirming the gift to the monks of St. Swithun's by William Potter (Poccarius), his sergeant, of a house outside the gates of Winchester, in front of (coram) St. Valery's.¹

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 16 (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 393.]

1379. [1107–22]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester, William [de Pont de l'Arche] the sheriff, Herbert the chamberlain, and all the burgesses of Winchester: Confirming the gift to the Prior and monks of Winchester by Bernard of St. Valery, for the soul of his son, of a rent of 10s. in a place of their choice in Winchester.

Witness: Ranulf the chancellor.

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 16 (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 393.]

1380. [1107–22.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Herbert the chamberlain, Henry de Port, W[illiam] de Pont de l'Arche, Ger[ald] the reeve, and all his barons of Hampshire and Winchester: Of a grant to the Prior and monks of St. Swithun's, Winchester, of soc and sac, toll and team, infang-thief and all customs granted by Edward [the Confessor], William I and William II, particularly toll of all their lordships (dominiis) whether at farm or in demesne, viz. of crops (segete) &c. whether sold or consumed.

Witnesses: Ranulf the chancellor; Per W¹, chaplain of Oxford.

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 14 (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 393.]

The mention of Henry de Port and William de Pont de l'Arche, his successor as sheriff, suggests an early date. Gerald was reeve in 1105 (No. 687).

1381. [1114–22.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to T. Abp. of York and all the lieges of Yorkshire: Of a grant to St. Mary of York and the monks of eight carucates of land in Rudston (Rudestein) with the advowson of the church of Rudston which William Peverel [of Dover] gave them in alms.

Witnesses: R. Bp. of Lincoln; Nigel de Albini.

1382. [1115–22.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Nigel de Albini and Ansch[etel] de Bulemer and all the barons of Yorkshire: That all the lands of the Canons of St. Peter [of York] and St. John of Beverley, of St. Mary of Southwell, and of St. Wilfrid of Ripon and Hexham are to be free of fyrd-service and castle-work, as in the time of the King's father and brother. 1383. [1121–Jan. 1123.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Lincoln: To fulfil his agreement with Abbot Herbert and the monks of Westminster concerning their manor of Lessness [co. Kent], which he holds from them, as it was agreed between the bp. and Abbot Gilbert and the said monks in the time of William II; that the King may hear no further complaint.

Witnesses: Roger fitz Richard and many others.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 67v^o (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 157.] Farrer, Iitin. 473. Herbert became abbot 7 Jan. 1121 (John of Worcester, Chron. p. 15). Robert Bp. of Lincoln died at Woodstock 10 Jan. 1123 (A.S.C.).

1384. [1123, c. Feb. 2.] Gloucester

1389. [1123, Jan.–Apr.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and Earl David and [Robert] Earl of Leicester and Ranulf Earl of Chester, and all the barons and lords of whom Geoffrey Ridel held lands, and the sheriffs of the counties (ministeria) where he held them: That he has given Richard Basset the daughter of Geoffrey Ridel to wife and the wardship of the land of the said Geoffrey until Robert Ridel can be knighted and marry a daughter of a daughter of Ralph Basset. Richard then to have 20 librates of land in marriage of the King's fee in demesne and four knights enfeoffed. If Robert die without an heir by his wife [aforesaid], the whole of his land, of whomsoever held, is to go to Richard. If Geoffrey's daughters are not married in their brother's lifetime or during Richard's wardship, their marriage shall be made by Richard with the King's approval.

'Requisicione et consilio' of the following: Ranulf Earl of Chester; William his brother; Nigel de Albini and other kinsfolk; Geva, mother [of Robert]; Geoffrey the chancellor of Earl Ranulf; Simon Dean of Lincoln; William fitz Ranulf; Thomas de Sancto Johanne; G[eo]ffrey de Clinton; Payn fitz John; William de Albini; Humfrey de Bohun; Robert Musard; Robert Basset; Osmund Basset; Turstin Basset; William constable of Earl Ranulf; Ralph fitz Norman; Hugh Maubaunc. [Nov. 1120–3.]

[B.M. Sloane Roll xxxi, 4, m. 5 (No. 47) (copy). Stenton, English Feudalism 258–9.] Farrer, Itin. 494. Since the name of the Bp. of Lincoln is left blank, this may have been issued during the vacancy of the see after the death of Robert Bloet (died 9 Jan. 1123). David became King of Scotland in 1124 and Henry had left England in June 1123, while Alexander received the see of Lincoln on 15 Apr. 1123. The list of witnesses should be compared with that of No. 10 in the same roll (Round, Feudal England, 213, n. 63).

1390*. [1123 Feb.–Apr.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to William Abp. of Canterbury, Alexander Bp. of Lincoln and earls, barons, &c.: That he has confirmed the gifts which Richard Basset and his wife Matilda Ridel made to the Canons of the church of St. John the Baptist at Laund [co. Leicester] which they founded for the soul of King William I. These lands (enumerated) are to be held in free alms, free of all secular services and custom; with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all the liberties which Richard Basset or any of his predecessors enjoyed.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Ranulf the chancellor; Earl Simon; Gilbert de l'Aigle; Hugh the Sheriff of Leicester.

'Datum apud Westm. anno regni nostri xxvi°.'

Farrer, Itin. 610, dismisses this charter as a fabrication, following Round (Feudal Aids, 485). William of Corbeil was nominated in Feb. 1123; Ranulf died early in 1123; Gilbert de l'Aigle before 1118. Alexander was appointed Bp. of Lincoln in Apr. 1123. Who then can be Earl Simon? Northampton was still in the hands of Earl David. The regnal year is impossible and seems to have been added by Dugdale to the Chart. R. version. Mr. J. C. Dickinson (Austin Canons, 121) places the foundation of Laund about 1119.

Seffrid was Abbot of Glastonbury 1121-5; but the King was abroad for the whole of 1124-5.

1394. [1123, c. June 1?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose shires St. Martin of Battle has lands: That the monks of Battle are to hold peaceably their lands of Wye, Alciston, Limpsfield, Hutton, Brightwalton, Bromham, and Crowmarsh, and also Appledram which the King gave them in exchange for Reading.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury (Battle Cart. 'Ebor'). [1121-3.]

[B.M. Campbell Chart. xvi. 13 (original); copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 30v^o; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 12; Chart. R. 6 Ed. II, m. 24, No. 55. Monast. iii. 247 (xvi) from Pat. R. 2 Ed. IV, pt. 3, m. 16; Hurry, Reading Abbey, 156 (calendared).] See No. 1313.

Reading was given to the new abbey there before 29 Mar. 1125, and probably acquired for that purpose.

Reading Abbey was founded in 1121 (Annals of Waverley, Ann. Monast. ii. 218). Henry went abroad in June 1123 and did not return until 1126.

1395. [1123, June 3-10] 'in transfretatione'. Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to T[heulf] Bp. of Worcester and R[obert] Earl of Gloucester: That the King has granted to Walter of Gloucester all the land of Eadric son of Chetel.

Witnesses: Payn fitz John; William de Pirou; Hugh Bigod; Walter de Beauchamp.

[Royal Chart. Duchy of Lanc., No. 5 (original). Round, A.C., 18.] Farrer, Itin. 497.

The earldom of Robert was not conferred before spring 1121; between this date and Theulf's death the King only once crossed from Portsmouth.

1396. [1123, June 3-10?] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich and the sheriff and all his barons and lieges: That he has granted the monks of St. Albans who dwell at Binham two carucates of land which Roger de Valognes gave them in Walsingham and half the church of the said vill, and, moreover, the chantry (*cantacionem*¹) of the said church to hold as freely as their predecessors held it and as Roger gave it.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1108-29.]

[Binham Cart. Cotton MS. Claud. D. XIII, fo. 40v^o (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 500.

Roger succeeded his father Peter I who died not earlier than 1108. Roger's grant was made after the death of his father, and this charter must be earlier than No. 1671.

1397. [1123, June 3-10.] Portsmouth

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and officials in whose bailiwicks the Canons of Lincoln have their prebends: That the canons hold their prebends as well and honourably as they did in the time of Bp. Robert. If anyone do them wrong, they are to have full right.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1123-33.]

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Arch. Reg. A. i. 4, fo. 6 (No. xl.); Reg. No. 19; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 40.] Lincoln was vacant in 1123 and Henry sailed from Portsmouth on June 11.

1398. [1123, June 3-10.] Portsmouth

Mandate (mando tibi et precor mei amore) by Henry I to W[illiam] Abp. of Canterbury: To maintain and protect the land and men of the Abbess of Malling, that no one do them wrong, ut tibi inde grates sciam maximas.

Witness: Earl David.

1399. [1123?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Bath and sheriffs and all the barons and lieges of Somerset: That the King has granted to St. Peter and the monks of Montacute the manor of Tintinhull (Tinetella) for the soul of his father and mother and of Queen Matilda, and for the good estate of the realm, as Ranulf the chancellor gave it; but on condition that the church of Cluny shall have thence 100s. annually for the anniversary of the chancellor.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Geoffrey the chancellor; William de Tancarville; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini. [1123–9.]

[P.R.O. Chart. R. 54 Hen. III, m. 9 (copy). Monast. v. 167.] Farrer, Itin. 493.

Probably soon after Ranulf's death.

1400. [1123]

Charter by Hugh Delaval to the monastery of Ste Marie de la Charité for the use of the Benedictine monks of Kirkby [i.e. Pontefract]: Confirming whatever Robert de Lacy gave them in the time of William II and what Hugh has given since (details specified). This with the assent of Abp. Thurstan.

Signa: King Henry; Richard de Brus; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Chester; Geoffrey the chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton; Robert d' Oilli; Thomas de Sancto Johanne; Robert de Sigillo; Hugh Bigod, Dapifer; Baldwin fitz Gilbert; William de Munfichet; Earl David; Helyas Abbot [of Holy Trinity Rouen] (de Monte); Hugh de Bréteuil (Briotel); Richard Bp. of Hereford. [1123–4.]

[Cart. of St. John of Pontefract (at Woolley Park), No. iii, fo. 1. 6 (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 158, fo. 28 (transcript). Holmes, Cart. of St. John of Pontefract, i. 21; Monast. v. 121 (iii); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1486.] Farrer, Itin. 495.

Henry went abroad at Pentecost 1123 and remained in Normandy all 1124. Earl David became King of Scotland on 23 Apr. 1124 (see Farrer, Itin. 431, n. 4). Kirkby is the ancient name of Pontefract. The charter is suspect in form, but may have been expanded from a shorter document (see Farrer's note in E.Y.C.). Richard de Brus attests the Merton charter (No. 1365), but the position of his name suggests that Richard Bp. of Bayeux (1107–33) may be the person meant. It seems, however, more probable that the name has accidentally changed places with that of Richard Bp. of Hereford.

1401. [1123]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed (for his own salvation and that of Queen Matilda and his son William, &c.) to God and St. Mary and St. John of Pontefract, and the monks there serving God, the vill of Dodworth, as Robert de Lacy gave it in the King's presence in pure and perpetual alms; also the church of Silkstone, and six bovates in the said vill, as given by Swain son of Ailric; also the chapel of Cawthorn, with two-thirds of the tithe of the demesne, and two bovates in the said vill. To be held with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other customs. The monks and their tenants are to be exempted from the suit of shire and trithing and wapentake, and from scutage and geld and every kind of toll, and from every secular service and work and custom. The boundaries of Dodworth are described.

Witnesses: The Abp. of York; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Chester; Richard Bp. of Hereford; Richard de Brus; Geoffrey the chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton; Robert d' Oilli; Thomas de Sancto Johanne; Hugh Bigod; William de Munfichet; Hugh de Bréteuil; Robert de Sigillo.

[Cart. of St. John of Pontefract (at Woolley Park), No. 72 (copy). Holmes, Cart. of St. John of Pontefract, i. 104.] Farrer, Itin. 496.

Mr. Holmes dates this 1122; but this is inconsistent with the appearance of Geoffrey the chancellor. It is evidently of even date with the charter of Hugh Delaval. Farrer (E.Y.C. iii. 152) regards the charter as spurious, on the ground of the anachronism in the title 'St. John's, Pontefract' and the wording of the quittance of toll, &c., which is identical with that in the confirmation by Henry II.

1402. [1120–3.] Wallingford

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] de Montfichet: Commanding that he allow the land of Langley [Marish] (Langeleia) [co. Bucks.] which Matilda the Queen, the King's wife, gave in alms to St. Mary of Abingdon, to be in peace as in the time of his predecessor (antecessoris)

tui) and that he return whatever he has taken. Otherwise William de Bocland is to cause this to be done that the King hear no further complaint for default of right and justice.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 140v^o; C. IX, fo. 148 (copies). Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 77; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 91.]

William de Bocland seems to have been Sheriff of Berks. in 1119 (Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 160) and may very well have succeeded his father in Bucks. also. Richard of Winchester must have succeeded him at least as early as Michaelmas 1124 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 68–69). Robert Gernon seems to have been alive in 1118, since Nicholas, Bp. of Llandaff (cons. 1148), stated that Robert visited Abingdon in Nicholas's first year as a monk, 30 years before he became Bp. (Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 173). The date at which Montfichet obtained Gernon's lands is not certain. Henry was in Normandy 1116–20 and 1123–4.

1403. [1115–23.] Rochester

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and Wales: That all the men of St. Martin's, Battle, are to be quit of toll and customs, and if driven ashore by stress of weather are not to be molested.

Witnesses: Arnulf Bp. of Rochester; William de Einesford.

[Copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 32v^o; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 13 (omitting witnesses).]

1404. [1119–23.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Ralph Bp. of Chichester and Richer de l'Aigle and all the Kings sheriffs and justiciars and officials of Sussex: That the manor of St. Martin of Battle called Alciston [co. Sussex] be free from every custom of earthly servitude, i.e. geld, scot, bridge-work, castle-work, parks, hidage, pleas, shires, hundreds, murdrum, war-penny, danegeld, host-service (exercitu), and all customs and works and aids and essarts. The monks are to have their customs and laws in Alciston in pleas and justice and all other matters; and the hundred of the whole tenement (hundredum et[iam] totius tenementi) of Alciston.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; Hamo Dapifer.

[Copies in Pat. R. 10 Hen. VI, pt. 1, mm. 22–21; Huntington Lib. Battle Cart., fo. 28; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 12v^o (imperfect). Cal. Pat. R. 10 Hen. VI, 173.]

Richer de l'Aigle was in rebellion in Normandy in 1118 (Farrer, Itin. 384). He appears to have been restored in September 1119 (Ord. Vit. iv. 371). His father Gilbert was apparently living in 1114 (Nos. 1048–50) and probably died about 1118 as Richer claimed his English property in that year (Ord. Vit. iv. 324).

1405. [1100–23.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to all the barons of Sussex: That he has granted Ralph Bp. of Chichester the right of warren at Aldingbourn and Amberley and Houghton. No one is to hunt there without the bp.'s licence under penalty of £10.

Witness: William de Tancarville.

1406. [c. 1113–23.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to [Stephen] Count of Mortain and all his officials: That the Prior and monks of St. Peter's of Eye hold their lands and churches and all their property, especially at Fressingfeld, as they held it on the days when William I and Robert Malet were alive and dead; and that they be not impleaded on account of it. This the King commands by another writ.

Witness: William Maltravers.

[B.M. Add. MS. 8177, fos. 114 and 133 (transcript).]

Stephen would be styled Count of Boulogne after 1125. He obtained the honour of Eye about 1113.

Henry was abroad in 1124–5. The earliest attestation by William Maltravers is in 1121 (No. 1285).

1407. [1115–23]

Notification by Henry I to T[heowulf] Bp. of Worcester and Walter of Gloucester and all the barons, French and English, of Gloucestershire: That he has granted to the monks of Gloucester the land of Ridge (Rugge) [in Standish], which Thomas de Sancto Johanne gave them.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 1417. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 97.]

The chronicle (Monast. i. 550) places Thomas's gift in 1112.

1408. [1114–23.] Woodstock

Witness: Payn fitz John.

[Cotton MS. Galba E. II, fo. 30b (copy). Monast. iii. 86 (No. vii); West, St. Benet of Holme, i, No. 5.]

Abbot Richer died in 1125 (Flores Historiarum, ii. 52). Henry was abroad 1124–5. Robert fitz Walter seems to have become sheriff about 1114–16 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 166 n. 8).

1409. [c. 1113–23.] Waltham

Precept by Henry I to Hugh of Leicester: That the monks of [St. Andrew of] Northampton are to hold their land at Stuchbury [co. Northampton], which has been usurped against them, so that the King may hear no further complaints. The King wills that Earl David and his monks are to hold their lands as freely as the earl's predecessor held them.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury.¹

[Copies in B.M. Royal MS. 11 B. ix, fo. 19v^o; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVII, fo. 17v^o.] Farrer, Itin. 311. David received the earldom of Northampton about 1113; he became King of Scotland in 1124.

The abbot who built the new church at Ramsey was Reginald (Ramsey Chron. 347). He began the church in 1116 and finished it in 1123 (ibid. 341).

1411*. [1109–11 or 1115–23.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That he has confirmed to St. Benedict of Ramsey and Abbot Aldwin and the monks, their liberties of soc and sac, toll and team, and infangthief and hamsocne and grithbreach, and forestal and bloodwite and murdrum, wreck, and all pleas of the Crown at Brancaster and Ringstead and in Clackclose hundred and a half, with 64 socmen within 'Bichamdic', and in the market of Downham (Dunham) which pertains to Wimbotsham (Winebodesham), as the charters of the King's predecessors testify. The abbot and his church are to have soc in all causes over all men who are in the aforesaid hundred, no matter whose men they are. None of the King's justices or sheriffs or officials is to interfere with the exercise of the aforesaid liberties.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; W[illiam] Bp. of Exeter; R[einhelm or Richard] Bp. of Hereford; H[ervey] Bp. of Ely; R[obert] Bp. of Lincoln; B[ernard] Bp. of St. David's; R[anulf] the chancellor; W[illiam] de Tancarville; R[alph] Basset; M[ilo] of Gloucester; R. de Oilli; G[oeffrey] de Clinton; Urso de Abetot; R. [of Chester] and N[icholas] Sheriff of Staffordshire: That St. Remi (and his monk Fule) is to hold his lands with every custom which his predecessors had; and that he has confirmed to the saint one hide at Marston (Merstona) [in Church Eaton], to be held as well as the saint held it in the time of King Edward and of King William II. 'Quod si negligas et clamorem inde audiam x libras michi persolvas.'

Witnesses: R[anulf] Bp. of Durham; R[alph] Bp. of Chichester; H[ugh of Leicester?], Sheriff of War[wick].

[Pat. R. 6 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 8 (enrolment of inspeximus); Monast. vii. 1043 (iv), 1099.]

Nicholas may have been sheriff as late as 1123, see E.H.R. xxxvii. 76. The Bp. of Chester may be either Robert de Limesi (1086–1117) or Robert Peche (1121–27).

1413. [1110–23]

1416. [1123?] Waltham

Precept by Henry I to Gilbert Sheriff [of Surrey]: That Abbot Herbert of Westminster is to be seised of Battersea as honourably as Ranulf the chancellor ever was; and in particular of the land which Gilbert has unjustly delivered to Lag' son of Hedric.

Witness: Geoffrey the chancellor. [1123–6.]

[Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 168 (161) (copy).]

Gilbert had ceased to be Sheriff of Surrey by 1126 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 70). Henry was in Normandy from June 1123 to Aug. 1126 and the earlier year is more probable.

1417. [1123, Oct. ?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Salisbury, and generally for England and Kent: That he grants to William Abp. of Canterbury that he may take seisin in his demesne of all the lands pertaining to the archbishopric (whoever holds them), as Anselm had them, unless he elects not to do so. 'Hoc autem factum est anno M^o, c^o. xxi^o, indictione secunda, concurrente vi. regnante piissimo rege Henrico I.'

None of these dates fits. The indiction requires 24 Sept. 1123 to 23 Sept. 1124 (or 1117–18); the concurrent 24 Mar. 1122–23 Mar. 1123. Thomas may have been captured during the disturbances in Normandy in 1123. In any case the renewal of the agreement is probably very soon after the accession of Abbot Richard in 1123. It is not clear to which of the three transactions the dating-clause applies, but it is assumed that that at Argentan is intended. The Signa are partly in the margin, partly interlined above the names of the witnesses.

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Salisbury and Earl David: If the sheriffs of Berks. and the reeves of Cholsey (Chels') have given any of the inland of Cholsey and put it out of the Commanding also that he hold the same peaceably and honourably and quietly within borough and without, in wood and plain, in water and without, and in all places, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and with all the customs with which Stigand or any other of his predecessors best held at any time.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; G[eoffrey] Abp. of Rouen¹; William Bp. of Winchester.

[Chichester Cath. Liber B, fo. 24; D–C, p. 1168, No. 27. Monast. viii. 1168 (xxvii) [from D–C].]

Seffrid was nominated in 1125 (John of Worcester, Chron., p. 18) and consecrated on 12 Apr.

1425. [1125, Jan.–Mar. ?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted to Abbot Osbert the abbey of St. Peter of Winchester, with the lands and other things thereto pertaining. To be held with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief, and flymenafermth and hamsocne and and grithbryce and forsteal and all other customs belonging to the abbacy.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Thurstan Abp. of York; William Bp. of Winchester; William Bp. of Exeter; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Seffrid Bp. of Chichester; Warner Abbot of Battle; William Earl Warenne; Brian fitz Count; William fitz Odo.

Copies in Cotton MS. Dom. xiv, fo. 30; MS. Harl. 1761, fo. 26v^o. Monast. ii. 445 (xiii).] Farrer, Itin. 521.

Osbert succeeded in 1124. This is probably of about the same date as the preceding. Warner was elected Abbot of Battle early in Mar. 1125.

1426. [1125 Oct. ?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That he has given to Ralph Mauduit the abbey of Athelney with all its possessions.

[Cheltenham, Philipps MS. 4810 (?) (transcript, now missing). Bates, Chartulary of Athelney (Somerset Rec. Soc. No. 14), 133 (translation).] Farrer, Itin. 511.

John of Crema landed in England before Easter (29 Mar.) 1125.

1427. [1125 Oct. ?] [Rouen ?]

Charter by Henry I to Reading Abbey: Announcing that he has built and endowed the abbey of Reading for the salvation of his soul and those of his father and brother and his son William, and Matilda his mother, and Matilda his wife, and confirming its possessions and liberties (specified). The abbot and his monks are to have the privilege of a hundred-court and of all pleas in respect of their own tenants and their possessions or of strangers transgressing therein or taken transgressing.

Signa: Henry King of the English and Duke of the Normans; Adeleidis the Queen; John Cardinal-priest, and papal legate; William Abp. of Canterbury; Thurstan Abp. of York; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; William Bp. of Winchester; William Bp. of Exeter; Bernard Bp.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Vesp. E. V, fo. 17; P.R.O. Cartae Antiq. [C. 52], 22 [X], No. 9; Cotton MS. Domit. A. III, fo. 4v^o; Harl. MS. 1708, fo. 16 (omitting witnesses); Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 13. Hurry, Reading Abbey, 151 (translation); Monast. iv. 40 (ii).] Farrer, Itin. 512.

'Actum anno verbi incarnati 1125, papa Romano Honorio (Cotton MS. Henrico) ii^o, Romanorum imperatore Augusto Henrico iii^o' (sic).

The occurrence of 'utfangthef' among the liberties makes it certain that the text has been tampered with, but the list of witnesses is credible, and there seems no reason to doubt that a charter of this nature was granted. John of Crema was twice in Normandy (Farrer, Itin. s.a. 1125), in Lent on his way to England, and in October on his way to Rome accompanied by the two archbishops. His commission as legate had expired on the death of Calixtus II (Dec. 1124) and was not revived till 12 April. This, and the incongruity of styling Simon Bishop of Worcester before his formal election make October the most probable date for this charter and the others similarly witnessed.

1428. [1125, Oct. ?]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has permitted Geoffrey de Clinton, his treasurer and chamberlain, to found the church of St. Mary in the land of Kenilworth which he gave Geoffrey in fee and inheritance; and confirms to the canons all the lands churches, &c., which they have acquired or may hereafter acquire; viz. the land of Kenilworth given by Geoffrey to Bernard the prior; the manor of Salford Priors [co. Warwick]; the land of Idlicote [co. Warwick] and two meadows in Tysoe [co. Warwick]; the manor of Newnham Regis [co. Warwick] and half a hide in Lillington [co. Warwick]. Moreover, the King grants from his own demesne the church of Wootton Leek [co. Warwick] with one hide in Wootton and two in Lillington; and the churches of Kington [co. Warwick], Stoneleigh [co. Warwick], Bidford [co. Warwick], also the churches of Brailes [co. Warwick] and Wellesbourne [co. Warwick], given by Roger Earl of Warwick; the church of Kington from the fee of Ralph Pincerna of Leicester; and the church of Barton (Segrave) [co. Northants.] given by William de Furneaux.

These things to be held quit of every secular service; namely, of all military service within and without England, and all aids and secular exactions. No lord or sheriff or royal official may demand anything in the aforesaid possessions except the King's common gelds which run through the whole shire. The lands are to have the privileges of sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Adeliza; William Abp. of Canterbury; Turstin Abp. of York; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; William Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Robert Bp. of Chester; Richard Bp. of Hereford; Hervey Bp. of Ely; Audin Bp. of Évreux; John Bp. of Lisieux; John Bp. of Sées; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Roger Earl of Warwick; Ranulf Earl of Chester; William Earl Warenne; Robert Earl of Leicester; William de Tancarville, the chamberlain; Geoffrey de Clinton; Robert de Warwick; Nicholas de Stafort; Hugh fitz Richard. [1124-6.]

[Chart. R. 8 Ed. II, m. 3, No. 4 (copy); Harl. MS. 3650, fo. 72 (incomplete); Bodl. Dugd. MS. 12, fo. 303 (transcript). Cal. Chart. R. iii. 275; Monast. vi. 223 (incomplete) from Harl. MS.] Farrer, Itin. 513.

This charter, if genuine, is probably of about the same date as that to Reading. Roger Bp. of Salisbury was probably regent in England during Henry's absence and neither he, nor the bps. of Hereford and Ely, nor the three last witnesses, seem very likely to have been in Normandy.

1429. [1125, Oct. ?] Évreux

Precept by Henry I to the Abp. of York and the justices, sheriffs, barons, &c., of York-shire and all England: That the church of Bridlington (Brellyntona) and the canons regular there serving God are to have toll and team, sac and soc and infangthief and exemption from tolls and all customs on their goods through all the King's lands and all liberties and customs which other churches of the religious have in Yorkshire.

Witness: Audin Bp. of Évreux. [1113–35.]

[Copies in P.R.O. Assize R. Yorks. 21 Ed. I [K.B. 138/110], m. 9; Chart. R. 5 Ed. II, m. 7, No. 19; B.M. Add. MS. 40008, fos. 1 and 159; Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 9, fo. 140; 158, fo. 170v^o (transcripts from Bridlington Cart.). Cal. Chart. R. iii. 187; Farrer, E.Y.C., 1143.]

1430. [1125, Oct. ?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Everard¹ Bp. of Norwich and R[obert] fitz Walter and the barons and lieges of Suffolk: That the Abbot of St. Edmunds is to have in the vill of St. Edmund his mint and his moneyer and his right of changing money (monetam et monetarium et cambium), as heretofore, after justice has been done upon his moneyer, as it has been done upon the other moneyers of England.

The date at which justice was done on the moneyers is given by John of Worcester and the Peterborough Chron.

1431. [1125, Oct. ?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and the Bp. of Durham and the sheriff, &c., of Northumberland: That he has granted to St. Mary of Carlisle and the canons of that place the churches of Newcastle on Tyne and Newburn; and those churches which Richard de Orivall holds from him, after Richard's death. Richard and the clerks who serve those churches are to acknowledge the canons as their lords, and do to the canons the service which they used to do to the King; and when they die, the churches are to pass into the hands of the canons; in such wise that the clerks who serve them are to have a maintenance, and the canons are to have the rest.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Robert de Sigillo. [1123–8.]

[Chart. R. 18 Ed. I, No. 54; 6 Ed. III, No. 30. Nicholson and Burn, Hist. of Westmoreland and Cumberland, ii. 540; Monast. vi. 144; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 458.]

From 1128 to 1133 the see of Durham was vacant. William Bp. of Winchester died 25 Jan. 1129. For the grant to Richard see No. 572. All three witnesses were in Normandy in 1125.

1432. [1125, Oct. ?] Évreux

Precept by Henry I to Eustace fitz John: To cause the Prior and Canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell] to hold the church of Knaresborough which the King gave them in alms, with all the customs thereto pertaining, after causing them to be ascertained by jury of inquest (sicut fuerint recognite).

Witness: The Bp. of Évreux. [c. 1120–35.]

1433. [1125, Oct. ?] Évreux

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Bayeux and all of the Bessin: Confirming the gift to Holy Trinity, Savigny, by Robert de Tôtes with the consent of Richard Bp. of Bayeux of land in Escures [Calvados].

Witnesses: Turstin Abp. of York; his brother Audoin Bp. of Évreux; John of Bayeux. Seal of brown wax attached by tongue.

[Original in Archives of the Manche. Copy ibid. in cartulary of Savigny, fo. 51, No. 197. Haskins, Norm. Inst., p. 296.] Farrer, Iitin. 518.

The grant by Robert is dated 1124.

1434. 1125

Notitia of a charter (diploma) confirming the liberty of the town and parish of Bec, in order to repress the insolence of the people of Bec towards their lords, the abbot and monks. No man of the parish is to enter the town armed, unless on a journey to a distance, on pain of 18s. amercement. The parishioners are to be quit of work on castles, bridges, ditches or cuttings (trancheiarum). The monks are to have the same liberties as the King in buying or selling, and civil and criminal jurisdiction (in iudicandis omnibus factis et criminibus) within the parish, except for rape which is more decently tried by laymen.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MSS. lat. 12884, fo. 172v°; 13905, fo. 9v° (copy). Porée, Hist. de l'Abbaye du Bec, i. 657.]

This may possibly be a misdated version of the charters of 1134 (Nos. 1900–1).

1435. [1121–5]

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Winchester, Gilbert the sheriff, and others of Surrey: Of a grant to Chertsey Abbey and Abbot Hugh, of the manor of Ham.

Witnesses: Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Everard Bp. of Norwich; Maurice of Windsor.

[Cotton MS. Vitell. A. XIII, fo. 55 (copy). Monast. i. 432 (xv).] Farrer, Itin. 460.

Gilbert died 26 July 1125 (Round, Commune of London, 121, Farrer, Itin., s.a. 1125).

1436*. [1123–5]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has confirmed, in free and perpetual alms, to the monks of St. Peter of Eye, whatever reasonable gifts have been made to them. Namely, the church of St. Peter outside the vill, and another church within the vill with the appurtenances; the tithes of the demesne of Eye Castle, twelve shillings from the market, a fair of four days at the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula; the vills of Stoke [Ash] Thornham Magna (Pilecock), Fressingfield, Bedfield (Bedefeud); the land of Osbert de Conteville in Occold (Acolt); the land which Benedict the chaplain held from Robert Malet, with the tithes and churches; the tithes of the manors of Eye (enumerated); those of Dunwich, Laxfield, Barrowby (Bergebi), Welbourne, Sedgbrook (Seckebroc), Colne [Wakes] (Colung), [South] Cove (Caua); the churches of Bawsey (Beuseya), Barrowby, Sedgbrook, Welbourne, with the appurtenances; the churches of St. Leonard, and St. John of Dunwich, with all churches built or to be built in the said vill, and all the land which they hold in lay fee in the vill; the churches of St. Margaret of 'Haleghstowe',¹ Mellis, Thornham, Yaxley; the pannage of the woods of Eye, both in money and in swine; the fisheries of 'Welles'; and various tithes, &c. (enumerated); and all other tenements reasonably given by Robert Malet and other persons.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Herbert Bp. of Norwich; Stephen Count of Mortain.

Stephen would be Count of Boulogne after 1125, but the charter can only be genuine if 'Herbert' Bp. of Norwich is a mistake for 'Everard' which is improbable. The form of the address is also somewhat suspicious at this early date.

¹ In the Domesday Hundred of Wilford. It is probably another name for Shottisham which was held by Walter the arblaster, who gave St. Margaret's to Eye. Shottisham is also the only church in the hundred now dedicated to St. Margaret. The Domesday 'Halgestou' held by Robert Malet's mother is presumably another estate in the same vill.

1437. [1107–25.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Gilbert the sheriff [of Cambridgeshire]: That the Abbot of Ramsey should have the shore of Reach (Rethere) [in Burwell, co. Camb.].

Witness: Nigel d'Aubigny.

[Copies in P.R.O. Ramsey Cart., fo. 145; Chart. R. 8 Ed. III, No. 6; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 13; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Cart. ii. 102 (from Inspeximus of 1334); Ramsey Chron. 281.]

The inferior limit is given by Gilbert the sheriff.

1438. [1107–25.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Gilbert the sheriff and all his barons and lieges of Huntingdonshire: That Gilbert son of Wido, has conceded to Ramsey Abbey in the King's presence and with his consent all the land which belonged to his father except [Long] Stow (Estou) [co. 1438a. [1106–25.] Waltham

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 278.]

1438b. [1107–25.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to Gilbert the sheriff and all of Huntingdonshire: That Gilbert son of Guy (Widonis), in his presence and by his leave, has quit-claimed to the abbot and monks of Ramsey Ringstead and Holme [next the Sea, Norf.] and all other lands which his father held except Stowe and Bluntisham [Hunts.].

Witness: R[obert] Testard.

[P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163] i. 28, fo. lvii. Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copies). Ramsey Cart. 246; Ramsey Chron. 279.]

This is clearly another version of No. 1438 which reads Estou (misread Eston) for Stowe. Gilbert was the son of Guy of Eu, the dapifer. (This correction applies to Vol. I, No. 321.)

1439. 1126. Ste. Vaubourg [near Rouen]

Notitia of a suit between the monks of Marmoutier and John Bp. of Sées respecting two churches in the territory of Bellême, settled by the mediation of King Henry I, who commanded that the bp. should desist from his claim, so long as the monks made proper provision for the serving of the two churches in question.

Witnesses: Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; Audoin (Eudo) Bp. of Évreux; Bernard Bp. [of St. David's]; Geoffrey the chancellor; Waleran the archdeacon; Robert de Sigillo; Robert de la Haie; Grimbald the physician; Robert de Dangu; Robert de Chandos; Roger his brother; Hugh de Bréteuil (Braitello), Abbot Odo; Prior Geoffrey; William Prior of Bellême; William Prior of Perrières and 17 other persons connected with the monastery.

[Archives of La Manche (original now destroyed). Round, C.D.F. 330 (No. 924).] Farrer, Itin. 522.
Apparently of the same date as the more general charter of confirmation to Lessay.

1443. [1126, Sept. ?] Dieppe (Deped')

Precept by Henry I to the Abp. of Canterbury and the Bp. of Norwich, the barons, sheriffs, and justiciars of Norfolk and Suffolk: That Abbot Anselm and the monks of St. Edmunds are to hold their church of Beccles as well and honourably as Abbot Robert held it on the day when he was alive and dead, and as the church of St. Edmund held it on the day when the King advised Abbot Anselm not to plead respecting it against Brumman the priest.

Henry returned to England 11 Sept. 1126.

1444. [1126, Sept. ?] Dieppe (Deope)

Precept by Henry I to the sheriffs, justiciars, barons, and lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That St. Edmund [of Bury] is to have all his customs and liberties in Thetford and especially the right of 'Fagref' with sac and soc, toll and team and all the liberties enjoyed in the times of William I, William II, and the King himself. No one is to take any of these rights, except by leave of the King and the abbot and convent.

Notification by Henry I to Robert Bp. of Chester and the Earl of Warwick and all of Warwickshire: That he has confirmed in alms to the Canons of Kenilworth the church of Stoneleigh (Stanleia) with the lands, tithes, &c., thereto pertaining. This at the request of Thurstan Abp. of York, who held that church from the King, and had given it to the said canons in alms.

Witnesses: Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert de la Haie; Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Harl. MS. 3650, fo. 72v^o (copy); Stowe MS. 795, fo. 128 (transcript from the lost original, incomplete); Bodl. Dugd. MS. 12, p. 304 (transcript).] Farrer, Itin. 514.

1446. [1123–6.] Rouen

1447. [1123–6.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to G[eoffrey] Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: Confirming at the request of Robert Earl of Leicester and Gohier de Morville, the gift by Ralf de Witot to St. Mary's, Lire, of the mills and forge of La-Neuve-Lire [Eure] in alms.

Witnesses: Audoin (Oino) Bp. of Évreux; John Bp. of Lisieux; Ralf de Toeni; Ralf pincerna; Robert de Neufbourg; Ernald de Bosco.

[Transcript from a lost cartulary (13th c.) in the Jesuit College at Paris, at Semilly: Coll. Lenoir, xxiii. 453; lxxii. 329. Haskins, Norm. Inst. 297.] Farrer, Itin. 405.

Ralf de Toeni was dead by 1126 (Ord. Vit. ii. 404). The charter cannot be before 1123, because the land given is part of the honour of Bréteuil, which came to Robert with his wife Amicia, daughter of Ralf de Gael, who was previously betrothed to Richard son of King Henry, drowned in the 'White Ship' in 1120 (see Complete Peerage, vii. 529–30, and Loyd, Anglo-Norman Families, 16).

1448. [1126, Sept. 11?] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to the Abbot and convent of Reading: That he is sending and gives to them at the request of the Empress Maud, his daughter, the hand of St. James the Apostle which she has brought from Germany and given to him. They are to preserve it with fitting reverence.

Witnesses: W[illiam] Abp. of Canterbury; Maud the Empress, the King's daughter; Simon Bp. of Worcester; Ranulf (sic) the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; Brian fitz Count; Roger (sic) Bigod, Dapifer; William de Crevecœur (Creuquer).

[Copies in Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 14; Harl. MS. 1708, fo. 17 (olim 15) (without witnesses). Monast. iv. 41 (iii).] See Farrer, Itin. 521.

If the charter is genuine, the chancellor must be Geoffrey and the dapifer, Hugh Bigod.

1449. [1126?] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and all his barons, justiciars, sheriffs, &c., of Bedford: That he confirms to the Canons Regular of St. Mary of Huntingdon those two hides of Dean (Dena) which he gave to William son of Ranulf [de Meschines] on account of his service, and which the said William gave as alms to the said canons; to be held with the same liberties as when in the King's hand; that is with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief. And the men living on those hides are to be quit of shires and hundreds and all geld and custom, and especially of the murdrum-fine and of danegeld.

Witnesses: Alexander Bp. of Lincoln; Earl Ranulf; William son of Ranulf; Matthew his son; Robert de Brohi; William de Lisur'. [1123–9.]

[Cotton MS. Faust. C. 1 (Reg. of St. Mary of Huntingdon), fo. 52 (copy). Clay, E.Y.C. vii. 51.]

William de Lisures died about Christmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 82). Henry was in Normandy from June 1123 to Sept. 1126, and from Aug. 1127 to July 1129.

1450. [1126?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I generally addressed: That the lands of St. Oswald and his canons [at Nostell] are to have their customs and exemptions at York and elsewhere, with sac and soc, toll and team, and infangthief, they and their men, no matter where those lands are situated.

Witness: The Bp. of Évreux. [1126 or 1130.]

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 8 (olim 13) (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1437.]

The Bishop of Évreux was in England in 1126 and 1130.

1451. [1126?] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriff, &c., of Bedfordshire: That Reginald Abbot of Ramsey has proved in the King's Court his claim to the wood and land at Crawley [co. Beds.] against Simon de Beauchamp, but has granted the latter 20 marks of silver and two palfreys.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Alexander Bp. of Lincoln; David King of Scotland; Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert Earl of Leicester; Adam de Port; Hugh Bigod; William de Albini, butler (pincerna); Geoffrey de Clinton; William de Albini, Brito; William Peverel; Walter Espec; Robert de Brus; William de Pont de l'Arche; Hervey the monk; Henry fitz William; Berenger fitz Reiner. [1126 or 1130.]

[Copies in P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163], 28 (Ramsey Cart.), fo. 56v^o; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 11; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Cart. i. 244; Ramsey Chron. 225.] Farrer, Itin. 615.

David came to England, for the first time after his accession, in 1126, and again in 1130.

1452. [1126?] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Fulk (Fulquo) Sheriff of Huntingdon: Not to trouble the Abbot of Thorney about the work on the enclosure (haia) of Brampton, to which he is not bound, nor did his predecessors do the service.

Witness: [Robert] (MS. P.) de Sigillo.

1453. [1126, Autumn?] King's Cliffe (Cliva)

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs, reeves, and officials in whose bailiwicks the Abbess of Barking has lands: That Adelicia (sic) the Abbess of Barking hold all her lands and men free of pleas and complaints, shires and hundreds and warpenny and all other incidents except murdrum and latrocinium as well and honourably as any of her predecessors held, and as her church has the right from of old to have these customs and exemptions.

Witness: W[illiam] de Albini, Brito. [1114–33.]

[Pat. R. 4 Ed. IV, pt. 3, m. 22; Confirm. R. 4 Hen. VII, pt. 3, No. 3; Chart. R. 7 & 8 Ric. II, 33 (11) (enrolments of Inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. v. 285.] Farrer, Itin. 449.

No Abbess Adelicia is known to have held the abbey of Barking under Henry I. This is probably an incorrect expansion of A[gnès]; and the date above is given on that assumption.

1454. [1126?] King's Cliffe (Cliva)

Precept by Henry I to the Abp. of York, justices, sheriff, reeves, and ministers of Yorkshire: That the church of St. John of Beverley have its thraves and all its customs in the King's demesne manors in East Riding.

Witness: Nigel.

[Harl. MS. 560, fo. 24v°. Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 97.]

A charter to Binham (No. 1455) is attested by Nigel de Albini at King's Cliffe; and this may be the same occasion. Farrer assigns the Binham charter to 1122. Nigel may be the nephew of Bp. Roger of Salisbury, though, in a Yorkshire charter, Nigel de Albini seems a more likely witness.

1455. [1126, Autumn?] King's Cliffe (apud Clivem)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich and all of Norfolk: That he has granted leave to the monks of St. Albans who dwell at Binham to hold in their demesne after the death of Robert [Godchild], the land which he holds in the town of Wells [co. Norf.] as Peter de Valognes gave it to the church of St. Mary and as Roger his son and the aforesaid Robert gave it.

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1108–29.]

[Binham Cart. Cotton MS. Claud. D. XIII, fo. 40v° (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 448.

Roger's grant (Monast., No. ii) is posterior to the death of his father Peter I who was alive in 1108. Nigel de Albini died 21 Nov. 1129.

1456. [1126?] King's Cliffe

Precept by Henry I to Fulk (Fulc') sheriff [of Huntingdon] and his ministers: To allow the Abbot of Thorney to be exempt from work on the King's deer-hedge of Brampton [co. Huntingdon] as ordered by another writ.

Witness: G[eoffrey] de Clinton. [1125–9.]

[Burghley House Charters (original); C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 24 (xiii). Stenton, Northamptonshire Charters (Facs.), 16.]

Fulk was Sheriff of Cambridge, Huntingdon, and Surrey, 1125–9 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 167).

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriff and barons of Huntingdonshire: That he has confirmed to the church and monks of Thorney, the restitution of two hides of land in Sibson (Silkeston'), as Robert de Gaieslea restored them in the presence of Fulk the sheriff and the men of four shires at Huntingdon.

Witness: William de Albini, Brito. [c. 1125–9.]

[C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii) v° (copy); Bodl. Dugd. MS. 21, fo. 146v°; Harl. MS. 258, fo. 138 (transcripts).]

1458. [1126, Autumn?] Rockingham

Precept by Henry I to Alice wife of Roger Bigod: To cause the monks of Belvoir to have their lands and tithes and all their substance, especially at Bradley [co. Suffolk] as her father Robert de Tosni (Todeneio), gave them and the King confirmed them. Unless she does this, Robert fitz Walter shall do it.

Witness: Richard Basset. [1126–7.]

[Belvoir Cart. (Belvoir Castle), fo. 87v° (copy). Hist. MSS. Comm., MSS. of the Duke of Rutland, iv. 158.] Farrer, Itin. 527.

This is presumably earlier than No. 1495, which is before the end of Ralf Basset's career.

1459. [1126, Autumn?] Rockingham

Notification by Henry I generally addressed, and to all of Yorkshire and Northumberland: That he confirms the gifts of Walter Espec to the church of Kirkham; namely, the church &c. of Kirkham, the manor of Whitwell [on the Hill] (Witewella), the minsters (monasteria) of Garton [on the Wolds] and Kirby Grindalythe, the church of Helmsley [co. Yorks.]; the church of Carham, the church of Kirknewton (Niwetona in Glendala), the church of Ilderton, the vill of Titlington [in Eglingham], the houses of Ulchill the clerk in Carham and all his land, with the service which he rendered to Walter de Espec [co. [1123-7.]

This charter is summarized in the Kirkham Cartulary [Oxford, Bodl. Fairfax MS. 7, fo. 5]. For the grants of Walter de Espec cf. Monast. vi. 208-9. This confirmation is earlier than either of Walter Espec's foundation charters. The witnesses suggest the autumn of 1126 when Abp. Thurstan came south on his way to Rome (see Hugh the chanter in Raines, Hist. Ch. York, ii. 219). John de Sancto Johanne had succeeded to his brother Thomas shortly before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 3) and probably between Michaelmas 1126 and Aug. 1127 (Salter, Oxford Charters, No. 57).

1460. [1126, Autumn?] Rockingham

Notification by Henry I to Thurstan Abp. of York and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed the exchange which Abp. Thurstan and Hugh de Laval effected between the monks of St. John of Pontefract and the Canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell]; the monks giving to the canons the church of All Saints at Featherstone in exchange for half the church of St. Mary's, Pontefract Castle and half the parish thereto pertaining; and also confirms the gift which Hugh de Laval made to the monks, viz. 45s. of rent from land (viz. the church of Ledsham and other rents), in consideration of the above exchange; and also confirms to the canons the church of Ackworth (Lacwrda) and the manor of Hessle and the service of Olard (Oilerius) which Hugh gives to them by way of alms.

1461. [1126, Autumn?] Rockingham

Notification by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and Robert fitz Walter the sheriff, and all of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he grants to St. Oswald and the brethren of Nostell, Godric of Norwich and his land and the rent of 3½*d.* which he used to pay annually to the King; to hold as well and freely as the King held them when they were in his demesne.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. of York; Everard Bp. of Norwich; Nigel de Albini; Roger fitz Richard; Payn fitz John. [1121-7.]

The earl here addressed may be either Ranulf I or Ranulf II. Ranulf I succeeded in or after 1120. Pinceon Dapifer was holding of the Bp. of Durham at the time of the Lindsey Survey (1115-18), though Hugh is also named as holding 4 bovates in Friskney.

1480.* [1127, May 13–16?] London

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to the monks of Saint-Valery their lands (enumerated) in England and their privileges, including criminal jurisdiction (omnem justiciam de assaltu et sanguinis effusione et pacis infractioe) and exemption from shires and hundreds. They are not to answer for their lands and tenements before anyone except the King. The alienations of unwise abbots are to be null and void unless confirmed and sealed by the Convent.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Alexander Bp. of Lincoln; Geoffrey the chancellor; Miles of Gloucester. [1123–33.]

Seal attached by cords (fragment).

[New College, Oxford, Tackley Deeds, No. 23 (? original). Salter, Oxford Charters, No. 29 (Facs.); Bibl. de l'École des Chartes, lxi. 576–7.] Farrer, Itin. 533A.

Mr. Salter was prepared to accept this charter as genuine, in spite of its resemblance to one of Henry II (Oxford Charters, No. 32), but the mention of utfangthief seems decisive to condemn it.

1481. [1127, May 13–16?] London

Notification by Henry I to [Everard] Bp. of Norwich and the sheriff and barons of Norfolk: That he has confirmed to St. Mary of Wymondham the manor of Happisburgh and 10 librates of land in Wymondham, as William de Albini Pincerna gave them.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Alexander Bp. of London (sic); Geoffrey the chancellor; Miles of Gloucester. [1123–7.]

[Cotton MS. Titus C. VIII, fo. 32*b* (copy). Monast. iii. 331 (vi).]

1482*. [1127, May 13–16?] London

Charter by Henry I to the Prior and monks of Wymondham: Confirming, for the souls of his father, mother, brother, and ancestors, and his own, his wife Matilda's and their children's the gifts (specified) made them by William [de Albini], his butler. With sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief and utfangthief, fleminafermthe, blodwyrt, forestal, danegeld, wreck, murder, and the money pertaining to murder. Their men are to be toll-free in all cities. The King's ministers are not to interfere in their lands, but they are to appoint their own.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Alexander Bp. of Lincoln (MS. London'); Geoffrey the chancellor; Miles of Gloucester. [1123–33.]

[Copies in Pat. R. 16 Hen. VI, pt. 1, m. 8; Cotton MS. Titus C. VIII, fo. 145*b*. Monast. iii. 331 (iv).]

The form of the charter and the mention of utfangthief as well as that of Matilda without any indication that she had predeceased Henry mark this charter as spurious.

1483. [1127, May 13–16?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to Hugh, a monk of Rochester, the abbey of St. Augustine's, Canterbury.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Robert E. of Gloucester; William de Tancarville; G. de Clinton; Brian fitz Count; William de Pont de l'Arche (Penteacre). [1126–7.]

[Trin. Hall, Camb. MS., fo. 69 (copy). Hist Mon. St. Aug. Cant. 363, also 410.]

Abbot Hugh I died on Passion Sunday 1126 (Farrer, Itin. 520). His successor Hugh II was instituted at Chichester 12 June 1127 by Abp. William (John of Worcester, Chron. 25). Henry's charter may have been issued at the Council of Westminster, 13–16 May 1127 (ibid. 23).

1484. [1127, May 13–16.] [Westminster]

Notification by William Abp. of Canterbury to B[ernard] Bp. of St. David's and all sons of the church: That the King at the council held at Westminster confirmed the gift by Earl Arnulf of the churches and tithes of his land in Wales to the monks of St. Martin's, Sées, in favour of those of them now dwelling at Pembroke. The archbishop likewise confirms the gift.

Witnesses: William Bp. of Winchester; Seffrid Bp. of Chichester; John Bp. of Rochester.

1485. 1127 [May 22.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That he has heard the suit between Gilbert de Miners and the monks of Gloucester respecting the manor of Colne (Chulna), and is satisfied by Adam de Port and William Fitz Odo (who were present at the time) that Roger of Gloucester gave the manor to the monks, and that the King himself confirmed it.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William Bp. of Winchester; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; William Bp. of Exeter; Urban Bp. of Glamorgan; Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; Miles of Gloucester; Henry de Port; Walter de Amfreville; William de la Folie (Folia); Roger and William sons of Adam de Port.

[Gloucester Cath. Lib. Deeds and Seals, vii. 2 (original, seal missing); copies in P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 42*v*^o; C.U.L. Henry was at Winchester at Whitsuntide 1127. The family of La Folie were sub-tenants of Adam de Port (Loyd, Anglo-Norman Families, 43).

1486. [1127, May 22?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Richard fitz Baldwin [Sheriff of Devon and Cornwall] and his ministers: That he has given to the Canons Regular of St. Stephen's, Launceston, the portion and alms of his chapel in the castle there which Bernard the priest [and] Hamelin held. The canons shall serve the chapel by one priest as Hamelin did.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Robert de Vere, Constable.

[Lambeth MS. 719, fo. 17 (xiii) (copy).]

Bernard may be Bernard the scribe, who appears to have held a prebend in Launceston before the introduction of canons regular in 1127. If so, we should probably read 'Bernard's priest, Hamelin' and assume that tenuerunt is a mistake for tenuit. Richard fitz Baldwin ceased to account as sheriff at Michaelmas 1128. This charter is probably of the same date as the transfer of Launceston, since Henry was in Normandy from Aug. 1127 to July 1129. If so, this is the first appearance of Robert de Vere as constable. See also No. 1281, which may be of the same date as this charter.

1487. [1127, c. May 22?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Aubrey de Vere [Sheriff of London]: That he cause a recognition to be made by the men of the shire whether the Canons of St. Paul's hold the land on which they are required to pay geld for four hides and one virgate. If they have the land, they are to discharge this liability.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury. [1114–30.]

1488. [1127, May 22?] Winchester

Precept by Roger, Bp. of Salisbury to Richard fitz Baldwin: To acquit the land of the Canons of Plympton of the sum due for gelds and assizes of Ralph Basset, since it is not in the hidage (compoto hidarum) of the charter of King William (R.G.), nor does the bp. make any demand from it. [1121–9.]

1489. 1127. [May 22?] Winchester

Charter by Henry I 'Dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum': Taking under his protection the church of St. Mary of Malvern [Great Malvern Priory, Worc.] and confirming certain gifts made by the King and others (including Osbert fitz Pons who gave Longney [co. Glos.] at Winchester in the King's presence) quit of all custom, geld, danegeld, or scot, all pleas and complaints, shires, hundreds and sheriff's aid, all work on castles or other servile work or secular service.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Adeliza; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Geoffrey the chancellor; William de Tancarville; Payn fitz John; Miles of Gloucester.

[Chart. R. 14 Ed. II, No. 12; Pat. R. 50 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 15. (Inspeximus). Monast. iii. 448.] Farrer, Itin. 543.

'Facta est autem anno verbi incarnati m.c.xxvij. Indictione v. Wintoniæ.'

The style of the charter suggests that it was drafted by the grantees.

1490. [1127, May–Aug.] Hereford

Charter by Henry I generally addressed for England and Wales: Granting the church of St. Mary at Malvern a virgate of land in Baldenhall¹ and other lands and churches of the gift of Gilbert Abbot and the Convent of Westminster, Richard fitz Pons, his wife Maud and his son Simon, Osbert fitz Pons and others. The monks are to be quit of the rent of 4s. for Baldenhall, paid by their predecessors, and the sum is to be put to their credit at the Exchequer (quatuor solidi . . . ponantur in tallia mea, et ipsi inde sint quieti) as ordered by William I.

Witnesses: Richard Bp. of Hereford; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Simon Bp. of Worcester; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; Brian fitz Count; William de Albini, Pincerna; Miles of Gloucester; Adam de Port; Payn fitz John; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Roger de Candos; Walter de Beauchamp. [Sept. 1126 to Aug. 1127.]

Hereford died 15 Aug. 1127. Simon Bp. of Worcester was abroad visiting relatives in 1127 and did not return till after 16 May (John of Worcester, 23). The reference to Longney in this charter makes it probable that it is later than that dated at Winchester and therefore after Bp. Simon's return.

1491. [1127, May–Aug. ?] Worcester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all his barons and officials and lieges of Cumberland and Westmoreland: Of a grant to God and St. Mary and the Canons of Carlisle of all the land which belonged to Walter the priest. They are to hold it in alms, free of cornage (geldo vaccarum) and all other customs.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Walter Espec; Payn fitz John. [1121–9.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 35 Ed. I, m. 17, No. 44; 6 Ed. III, pt. i, No. 30. Cal. Chart. R. iii. 81; V.C.H., Cumberland, ii. 10, n.] Farrer, Itin. 525.

Presumably in the same year as the charter to Malvern dated at Hereford (No. 1490).

1492. [1127, c. Aug. 26.] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Chester and all of Shropshire: That he has confirmed to Richard de Belmeis, nephew of Richard Bp. of London, the churches and lands, &c., which the bp. held from the King, which formerly belonged to Godebald and his son Robert; to be held as freely as Bp. Richard and Godebald and Robert ever held them.

1493. [1127, c. Aug. 26 ?] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter and Richard fitz Baldwin the sheriff, and the reeve of Exeter, the barons, &c., of Devonshire and the burgesses of Exeter: That he has granted to the church of Holy Trinity, London, and the canons there for the soul of Queen Matilda £25 'ad scalam' from the revenues of the Queen in Exeter which Matilda gave them in her lifetime, to be paid by the sheriff.

Witnesses: Geoffrey the chancellor; Nigel de Albini; Geoffrey de Clinton. [1123–8.]

On the meaning of ad scalam see Round, Commune of London, 85. Henry was probably at Portsmouth in 1123, 1126, and 1127. Richard fitz Baldwin was no longer sheriff after Michaelmas 1128 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 71), and it seems probable that payment ad scalam was replaced by payment ad pensum in connexion with the coinage reforms of 1125. It does not occur in the Pipe Roll of 1130, but the Exeter payment is still £26. 12s. 6d. numero.

1494. [1127, c. Aug. 26 ?] Portsmouth 'in transfretatione'

Notification by Henry I to T[hurstan] Abp. of York and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed as alms to St. Oswald [of Nostell] the churches of South Kirkby (Sukirbia), Batley (Bateleia), Huddersfield, and other lands and churches, with their lands and appurtenances as given by Hugh de Laval; also the gifts of Swein son of Ailric.

Precept by Henry I to Alice Bigod: To allow the monks of Belvoir to hold their tithe of Bradley [co. Suffolk] and all the other tithes and possessions they hold of her as they held in her father's time by his gift and charter. 1496. [1127, c. Aug. 26?] Eling [Hants] (Apud Elingas)

Notification by Henry I to S[imon] Bp. of Worcester and [Miles] (N.) of Gloucester and all the barons of Gloucestershire: That the King has granted to Roger de Berkeley that he may give 'Acheolt'¹ in perpetual alms to monks or canons for the souls of the King and his ancestors. [Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 141; C. IX, fo. 149 (copies). Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 80.]

Salter (Oxford Charters, 57) places Thomas's death in 1126–7. He was dead in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 3).

1511. 1127

In the year 1127, by the command of King Henry, were elected twenty-four wise and senior men from the men of the King and barons. The names of the twelve (sic) of the King, chosen from Dover, are W[ul]f Wine son of Henry Wlfyne Dod, Edwin, Canute, Keneward, &c. They took an oath upon the text of the gospels before the King's precept was read. Abp.

William adjured them to weigh the matter in hand most carefully, and to declare the truth without fear or favour; and the King's representative (regia potestas) did the same. They then affirmed on oath that the port and tolls and maritime customs of Sandwich belonged to the monks of Christ Church, Canterbury, and that no other man had any right in the port, from the place called Edburgetate to Merkesfleet on each side of the river. To these statements a great multitude bore witness and that the ferry-boat (naviculam ad transfretandum) belonged exclusively to the monks. William [de Eynesford], the Sheriff of Kent, held this plea; and there were also present Abp. William, legate of the Holy Roman Church, John Bp. of Rochester, and Hugh [II] Abbot of St. Augustine's.

1512. [1127?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all his justiciars, sheriffs, &c., of all England: That the Abbot and monks of Colchester have their customs and liberties as freely as they were confirmed by the King's charter (of 1119).

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Hamo of St. Clare. [1120–9.]

[Cart. of St. John's, Colchester, i. 25.]

Hamo was Sheriff of Essex in 1127.

1513. [1127?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to justiciars, sheriffs, &c., of all England: That the Abbot and monks of Colchester have free warren in their lands of Brightlingsea, [East] Donyland, Mundon, Pitsea [Essex], Higham, Menston [Suffolk]. No one to hunt there without their licence on penalty of £10.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Hamo of St. Clare. [1120–9.]

[P.R.O. Forest Proc. (Exch. T.R.) [E. 32], 16, m. 7 (copy). Cart. of St. John's, Colchester, i. 27.]

1514. [1127?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and the Barons of the Exchequer: That the King has ratified the gift which Queen Matilda, the King's wife, gave to the Canons of Holy Trinity, London, of £25 blanch from the ferm of the city of Exeter.

Witness: Geoffrey de Clinton. [1123–9.]

Fragment of Great Seal.

[P.R.O. Ancient Deeds, A. 231 (original); Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] 13 [N] (16) (copy); Lansd. MS. 114, No. 15, iii (transcript). Madox, History of the Exchequer (1711), 188 n.; 2nd. Edn. i. 276 n.; Stapleton, Magni Rotuli Scaccarii Normanniae, i, p. xix; Maitland's History of London (1775), 779.]

This is probably of nearly the same date as the companion writ addressed to the bp. of Exeter (No. 1493).

It implies that the allowance of 6d. in the £ for wear was still regarded as adequate.

1515. [1127?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Richard fitz Baldwin and G. de Furnellis: To leave in peace the land of the Canons of Plympton in respect of demands for gelds and levies (assisis). Because the Bp. of Salisbury has recognized by a charter from the royal treasury (per cartam de Thesauro meo) that that church is free of such dues. The land of Wembury (Wenbiri) and Colebrooke is not hidated (non in numero hidarum mearum est) as the said bp. testifies by his writ.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury. [1121–7.]

[Copies in Chart. R. 2 Ed. III, m. 13; Plympton Reg. (penes Sir John Eliot, 1627); Bodl MS. 3860 [James MS. 23], p. 152 (transcript). Monast. vi. 53; Oliver, Monast. Dioc. Exon. 134.]

In the Plympton Register the writ of the Bp. of Salisbury (No. 1488) follows. The gelds and levies there in question are to be levied by Ralph Basset (dead in 1129). The priory was founded in 1121. See Round, Commune of London, 88. Richard fitz Baldwin seems to have been replaced as sheriff by Geoffrey de Furnellis about Michaelmas 1128 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 71). The king was in Normandy all that year and it seems probable that Richard and Geoffrey were joint sheriffs in 1127, as Geoffrey was held liable for three years' farm, of the land of Juhel de Mayenne (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 152).

1516. [1121–7.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Ralph Basset: That he cause Vincent Abbot of Abingdon to have his court in Oxford as well and fully as the church of Abingdon ever had it. ‘Et homines sui non placent extra curiam suam, nisi abbas prius defecerit de recto in curia sua, et sicut poteris inquirere per legales homines de Oxeneford quod habere debeat curiam suam.’

Witness: The chancellor.

[Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 160v^o; C. IX, fo. 163v^o (copies). Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 165; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 121.]

1517. [1113–27.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Roger Bp. of Salisbury and William [de Pont de l’Arche] the sheriff and all of Wilts.: That he has confirmed to Henry de Albini, the manor of [Great] Wishford (Wichford) which Patrick de Chaources gave to him with his daughter; to be held with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other customs which the King had in that manor when he gave it to Patrick.

Witnesses: William de Albini; Nigel de Albini.

[Chart. R. 52 Hen. III, m. 8 (Inspeximus); B.M. Add. Chart. 15125 (transcript of 1672 from the Chart. R. of 52 Hen. III). Cal. Chart. R. ii. 94.] Farrer, Itin. 350.

The dates given above are the limits within which the King was in England and William was Sheriff of Wilts. The charter of 1110 (No. 948) in which he is so described is of doubtful authenticity, and Walter Husatus may have remained in office till 1113.

1518. [1121–7.] London

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of London and Aubrey de Vere the sheriff, and all the barons of Essex: Of his grant to Eustace of Barenton, his serjeant, of the land which belonged to Geoffrey the forester in Hatfield [Broad Oak], for the keepership of his forest; together with the land of Adam who incurred forfeiture of the forest, to be held for 12s. a year as Adam held it.

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; William de Montfichet; Aubrey de Vere; Robert de Vere; Robert de Essex.

[B.M. Add. Chart. 28313 (Barrington Hall Charter) (original); Lansd. MS. 269, fo. 254v^o (transcript A.D. 1629). Hist. MSS. Comm. Rep. vii. 587; Warner and Ellis, Facsimiles, i. (8); Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. xxxi. 163.] Farrer, Itin. 670.

Aubrey de Vere had ceased to be Sheriff of Essex by 1128. Robert de Sigillo probably succeeded Richard as Keeper on the latter’s appointment as Bp. of Hereford, 7 Jan. 1121.

1519. [1100–27.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to all his barons and servants: ‘Ne aliquis disturbet ministros monachorum de Batha si quid emerint ad opus eorum. Sed sint quieti de theloneo et omni consuetudine et habeant firmam pacem per totam terram meam.’

Witnesses: The Bp. of Salisbury; Per Walter of Gloucester.

[C.C.C.C. MS. 111, fo. 108. Hunt, Cart. of Bath Priory, 48; Madox, Hist. of the Exchequer, 2 n.] Walter of Gloucester died c. 1128.

1520. [1114–27.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich, Robert fitz Walter, &c.: To cause the Abbot and monks of St. Martin’s, Battle, to have their churches and tithes and lands, particularly Mildenhall, as well as they were given by William II at the dedication of the church. No one is to reduce or unjustly detain their tithes or goods under penalty of £10. And their priests are not to be impleaded, &c., as the King’s charter (No. 348) testifies. Anything kept back is to be restored. If the bp. and Robert fail, Ralf Basset is to do it.

[Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 15v^o (copy, without witnesses).]

Ralph Basset does not attest after Henry’s departure to Normandy in 1127 (see Farrer, Itin. 541 n.).

1521. [1123–7.] Brampton

Precept by Henry I to Hugh of Ropsley: To allow the monks of Belvoir to collect their Ropsley tithes at the door of his grange in peace, as Robert his brother gave them and he himself confirmed them. Unless he does this, the Bp. of Lincoln and Ralph Basset are to see to it.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Belvoir Cart. (Belvoir Castle), fo. 74 (copy). Hist. MSS. Comm., MSS. of the Duke of Rutland, iv. 149.]
This dispute arose in the time of Alexander Bp. of Lincoln, as is shown by the charter which follows the above in the cartulary.

1522. [1123–7.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he confirms to the monks of the Holy Trinity [Canterbury] all their lands and property with the power of giving and taking away their land as seems good to them, no matter who holds it. The men of the said church are to obey the monks as William I granted by his charter.

Witnesses: G[eo]ffrey the chancellor; William de Tancarville.

[Copies in D. and C. Canterbury, Reg. A, fo. 155v^o; Reg. E, fo. 18; Reg. I, fo. 63; B.M. Add. MS. 6159, fo. 7 (Cart. of Ch. Ch. Canterbury); Pat. R. 12 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 9–1; Confirm. R. 4 Hen. VII, pt. 1, No. 4; Hen. VIII, pt. 3, No. 6. Cal. Pat. R. 1429–36, 417.]

1523. [c. 1121–Aug. 1127.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Richard fitz Baldwin and all of Devon: That he has confirmed the gift of Algar Paiardus to the monks of St. Nicholas, Exeter, of his land and houses.

Witness: William fitz Odo.

[Cotton MS. Vitell. D. IX, fo. 75v^o (copy). Coll. Top. et Gen. i. 250 (noticed).] Farrer, Itin. 532.
Richard fitz Baldwin was succeeded by Geoffrey de Furnellis at Michaelmas 1128 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 71).

1524. [1116–27]

Notification by Henry I to Richard Bp. of London and Aubrey de Vere: That he has confirmed to William fitz Otho, the goldsmith, all the land which belonged to his father in Benfleet and ‘Chaluesang’ and Childerditch (Chilidit) [Essex] and Lisson Green (Lillestona) [Middx.], all his offices (including ‘The Dies’), and all his lands and tenements within and without London; to be held by the same service (ministeria) which Otho his father used to render. He is to hold the aforesaid possessions as freely as his father used to hold them, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all liberties and customs.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 23 (20) and 23 (16) (copies). Douglas, Feudal Docs., cxl, n. 6.]
Richard died 16 Jan. 1127. Aubrey probably succeeded Hugh de Bocland about 1116.

1525. [1102–27.] Whitsuntide. Westminster

Notification of a grant by Henry I to the abbey of Glastonbury: Of exemption from toll on its food, clothing, and chattels (pecunia) throughout all England.

Witnesses: The Bp. of Lincoln; A[iulf?], chamberlain.

[Bodl. Laud MS. Misc. 750 [olim D. 145] (copy). Monast. i. 44.]

Whitsuntide was kept at Westminster in 1102, 1104, 1107–9, and 1121. Aiulf the chamberlain (who is a likely witness to a Glastonbury charter) was apparently still living in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 14).

1526. [1121–7.] Brampton

Notification by Henry I to the justiciars, sheriff, &c., of Berkshire: That he has granted in perpetual alms, to the monks of Hurley, ten acres of essarts in his manor of Hurley, for the souls of his father and mother. No sheriff or other official is to interfere with this grant, or implead the monks concerning it.

Witnesses: Ralph Basset; Miles of Gloucester.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 29 [E.E.] (11) (copy).]
Miles of Gloucester does not appear to witness before 1120.

1527. [1123–7.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln and all of Buckinghamshire: That he has granted, by way of alms, to St. Mary of Kenilworth, the land of Hughenden (Hichedena), which Geoffrey de Sancto Roerio held of the King; this with the assent of the said Geoffrey. The prior of the said church is to hold that land free of all burdens, except the common gelds which run (erunt) through the whole shire. For this grant Geoffrey de Clinton, the founder of the said church, to whom the king had given Hughenden in fee, paid the king sixty ounces of gold and forty marks of silver.

Witnesses: Geoffrey the chancellor; Ralph Basset; Payn fitz John.

[Harl. MS. 3650, fo. 75v^o (copy). Bodl. Dugdale MS. 12, fo. 306 (transcript).] Farrer, Itin. 541.

1528. [1118–27.] ‘Roburga’ [? Redbridge near Southampton]

Precept by Henry I to Restold¹ the sheriff and his ministers of Oxford: That the men of Robert Earl of Leicester are to be quit at Oxford for such customs as they rendered in the time of Robert Count of Meulan.

Witness: Nigel (Nicla) de Albini.

[Leicester, Borough Muniments, Vellum Book, No. 73 (copy of 15th c.). Records of the Borough of Leicester (Bateson), i. 1.]

If Restold ceased to be sheriff at Michaelmas 1128 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 75), this charter cannot be later than 1127.

1529. [1108–27.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to R[ichard] Bp. of London and the sheriff and the reeve (preposito) and all his barons of London: That whatsoever the Canons of Holy Trinity, London, hold of the alms of the King and his wife, Queen Matilda, in London shall be free from all gelds, scots, aids, customs, and complaints as in the past. No man is to do any injury to the men or property of the said church, on pain of the royal forfeiture. They shall not plead or be impleaded except in the court of their church.

Witness: Roger Bp. [of Salisbury].

1530. [1116?–27.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to all his sheriffs and barons: That he has granted to God and St. Paul and Bp. Richard of London the whole of the great fish caught on their land, except the tongue, which he reserves for himself.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Ralph Basset; Aubrey de Vere; Roger, the nephew of Hubert.

This writ falls in the period when Aubrey de Vere and Roger nephew of Hubert were joint sheriffs, i.e. after the death of Hugh de Bocland, e.g. 1125 (Round, G. de M. 309).

1531. [1107–27.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to all barons, sheriffs, &c., in whose shires the church of St. Paul of London has lands: That the church is to hold its lands and men, rights and customs, in borough and out of borough, as the King and his father commanded by their charters, and as well and freely as they held in the time of any former King.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Nigel de Albini.

Issued during a vacancy of the see of London, i.e. either in 1107–8 or in 1127. The writing suggests the later date, as does the seal.

1532. [1123–7.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Walter Espec and Ansch[etill] the sheriff and his officials of Yorkshire: To permit the Prior and Canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell] to hold their land in Burton [Fleming] and all their property as well and honourably as they held it at any time in the past, and as the King granted it to them by his other writs.

Witness: G[eo]ffrey the chancellor.

1533. [1100–27.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Walter of Bolebech: ‘Tene cito plenum rectum abbati de Ramesia de terra de Crancfelda [Cranfield, co. 1534. [1114–27.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriff and barons of Bedfordshire: That Reginald Abbot of Ramsey has granted land at Holywell [now Hunts] to Simon de Beauchamp for one knight’s service.

Witnesses: Ralph Basset; G[oeffrey] de Clinton.

1535. [1121–7.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I King of England and Duke of Normandy, generally addressed: That, for the souls of William I and William II, his mother Matilda, and his wife Matilda, and Robert fitz Hamon, he has confirmed to St. Mary and the Abbot and monks of Tewkesbury all their possessions and such liberties as these had in the time of their founder, Robert fitz Hamon, or when they were in the royal demesne.

A shorter version, attested only by Bp. Roger, and without either the unlikely dei gracia which both of the preceding contain or the list of commemorations, is found in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52] 19 [= T.] (23), No. 1978. The list of witnesses in the second version is, of course, incompatible with the commemorations and inconsistent in itself. It may be suggested that it has been combined from two charters, with the first four and the second four witnesses respectively, and it is even possible that both versions are expansions of that in Cartae Antiquae in which dei gracia and the list of commemorations have been interpolated, and witnesses added from other charters. The charter is discussed by J. H. Round in Geoffrey de Mandeville, pp. 420–36 and Genealogist (N.S.), vii. 92.

1536. [1126–7.] Reading

And if their men commit any trespass they are not to plead except in the court of St. Mary and the soke of the monks. If the accepted date of the foundation of Aunay, 1131, is correct, the date in the Vidimus must be emended to read M.C.XXXII. See No. 1747.

1545. 1127 [Sept. 1–23.] [Rouen]

Charter by Stephen Count of Boulogne and Mortain to the Holy Trinity of Savigny: Granting for himself and his wife Matilda, and his uncle Henry I, the forest of Furness and Walney with the hunting-rights, and Dalton and his whole demesne in Furness, except the land of Michael Flameng.

Signa: Stephen, Count of Boulogne and Mortain; Hugh Champdavoine (Campuavene); Robert Gresley (Greslati); Oismalin d'Argentan (Argentomaco); Geoffrey Buchel; Roger fitz Richard; Robert de Secqueville (Saccavile); Robert d'Arques (Archis).

[Finch-Hatton MS. 170 ('Book of Seals'), fo. 90 (No. 423) (facsimile of original); copies in Pat. R. 21 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 35; Chart. R. 13–14 Hen. IV, m. 8 (No. 8). Monast. v. 247 (iv) (incorrectly); Atkinson, Coucher Book of Furness, ii. 731; Book of Seals, No. 423; Beck, Annals of Furness, App. xlviii (from Pat. R.).] Farrer, Itin. 567 (incorrectly).

Dated A.D. 1127, Epact 17, Indiction 5 in the original formerly in Cotton Library (c. 1640), now lost. The witnesses suggest that the charter was granted in Normandy during the King's stay. The monastery is said to have been founded at Furness on 7 July 1127. The year date 1127 (incorrectly given in Monast. as 1126) taken with the Epact and Indiction numbers limits this charter to 1–23 Sept. 1127.

1546. [1127, Sept.]

Charter by Henry I to St. Mary of Furness and the abbot of that house: Confirming the foundation charter of Stephen Count of Boulogne and Mortain (No. 1545) by which the count grants the whole forest of Furness and Walney, &c.

Signa: Henry King of England and Duke of Normandy; Turstin Abp. of York; Audin Bp. [of Évreux]; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Robert de Sigillo; Robert Earl of Gloucester.

[Copies in Coucher Bk. of Furness Abbey (P.R.O. Duchy of Lanc.); Lansd. MS. 599, fo. 108 (without witnesses); Pat. R. 21 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 35. Atkinson, Coucher Bk. of Furness Abbey, i. 123, 186; W. Farrer, Lancashire Pipe Rolls and Early Lancashire Charters, 303.] Farrer, Itin. 568.

Stephen's charter (Farrer, Itin. 567) is wrongly printed by Dugdale with the witnesses of the King's confirmation (Furness Coucher, i. 123).

1547. [1127, Sept. ?] Rouen

Notification by Stephen Count of Mortain to G[eo]ffrey Abp. of Rouen, T[ur]gis Bp. of Avranches, and all of Normandy: That he has confirmed the gifts made to the Abbot and monks of St. Mary's, Bec, by William Peverel of Dover with the consent of his brothers Hamo and Payn, viz. the church of Le Buat [Manche] and the vill of Lire.

The grant was made in King Henry's presence.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. of York; Audoen Bp. of Évreux; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Geoffrey the chancellor; Earl Walter Giffard; Robert Earl of Leicester; William de Tancarville; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini; William fitz Odo; Geoffrey de Clinton; Ranulf de Bayeux; Payn fitz John.

1548. 1127 [after Sept. 24.] Sées

Notification by John Bp. of Sées to Odo Abbot of Marmoutier: That by advice of Henry I and Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen he has settled his long dispute with the priory of Bellême concerning the churches belonging to it.

Signa: John Bp. of Sées, &c.; Henry King of the English.

[Original in Arch. of the Orne, H. 2159; Notice (in French) by D'Anisy with copy of witnessing clause, P.R.O. Transcripts 8/140 B, p. 85. Round, C.D.F. 430 (No. 1192) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 560.

[The transcript has a drawing of a cross within a circle with the words] 'Signum Henrici Regis Anglorum'. 'Quando dedit filiam suam Gaufrido comiti Andegavensi juniore.'

'Data Sagii anno ab incarnatione Domini M^oC^oxxvii^o Indictione vi. regnante Ludovico rege Francorum, duce autem Normannorum Henrico rege Anglorum, praesidente Rothomagensi ecclesie Gaufrido archiepiscopo.' This Indiction is for Sept. 1127–Sept. 1128.

1549. [1127?]

Letter from Henry I, King of the English and Duke of the Normans, to Pope Honorius II: Desiring him not to insist on summoning Hugh Abbot of Reading to Rome at or before the octaves of Martinmas, since his absence would seriously injure the abbey. If Hugh is removed, the King will take back the gifts which he made to the abbey at Hugh's request, and will not appoint any successor. [1126-8.]

[Edinburgh, University Lib. MS. 104, fo. 184v^o.]¹

The letter of Honorius II which provoked this is dated from the Lateran, 2 Kal. May, and cannot therefore be earlier than 1125. The abbot's reply mentions the legation of Matthew Cardinal-bishop of Albano, who seems to have succeeded John of Crema who left England in Oct. 1125 (Sim. of Durham, 281). Matthew, as legate, held a council at Rouen in Oct. 1127 (Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. iv. 495), and this seems therefore the most probable year. Hugh appears to have become Abp. of Rouen about June 1129. He is supposed to have been the brother of Matthew the legate (Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. iv. 500 and M. Le Prévost's note).

¹ We are indebted to Dr. Walther Holtzmann for communicating this letter.

1550. [1128?] Vaudreuil (Rodolium)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Worcester and the sheriff, &c. of Worcestershire: That he has granted to Walter de Beauchamp the land which belonged to Adeliza the wife of Urse d'Abetôt, as Adeliza granted it to him; to be held with all the liberties which Urse enjoyed, sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other customs.

Witnesses: Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; William Peverel of Dover; William fitz Odo; William de Pont de l'Arche; Peverel de Beauchamp; Payn de Beauchamp; Robert son of William de Stochis; William Maltravers; Robert de Monteviron; Geoffrey d'Abetot; Robert son of Ralph de Hastings; Robert de Gournai; Robert fitz Fulcher; Roger son-in-law of Albert; John the usher (Hostiarius); Henry del Broc. [1123-9.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 127 (copy); Bodl. Dugdale MS. 18 (olim L.), fo. 41 (transcript); Lansd. MS. 203, fo. 18 (transcript from original by E. Ashmole). Dugdale, Baronage, i. 225 (abstract); Haskins, Norman Inst. 298.] Farrer, Itin. 574.

Mr. Eyton (B.M. Add. MS. 31943) inclined to date this c. Oct. 1128. But this is a mere conjecture, based on the fact that William de Pont de l'Arche was in Normandy in that year. Roger 'gener Alberti' was dead in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 39) and Hugh de Montviron seems to have recently succeeded to Robert (ibid. 54). Robert fitz Fulcher accounts in 1130 for the land and office of his father (ibid., p. 122).

1551. [1128?] Vaudreuil¹

Precept (sciatis quod volo et precipio) by Henry I to the Bp. of London and [Everard] Bp. of Norwich and Aubrey de Vere and Robert fitz Walter and all the barons and lieges of Essex and Norfolk and Suffolk and of the honour of the Abbey of St. Edmunds [Bury]: That Anselm Abbot of St. Edmunds take into the demesne of his church the manor of Wrabness [co. Essex] formerly held by Richard son of Walch[elin] if the manor belonged to the demesne at the death of William I, and in the time of William II and of the present King and when Abbot Anselm came to the abbey. But Richard son of Walch[elin] made the King believe that the manor did not belong to the demesne of the church. If the son of Richard denies these facts, let the abbot do him right.

Witness: William de Tanc[arville]. [1123-9.]

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847 ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'), fo. 39; C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28v^o. Douglas, Feudal Docs. 78.] Farrer, Itin. 575.

William de Eynesford seems to have been Sheriff of Essex from Michaelmas 1128 to Easter 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 52-53).

1552. [1128?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and Wales: That he has restored to Miles of Gloucester, son of Walter, the lands of his father and the constableness of his court which his father held.

Witnesses: A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln; John Bp. of Lisieux; G[offrey] the chancellor; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; [William de Albini], pincerna; William fitz Odo

(Othonis); Geoffrey de Clinton; Robert d'Oilli; David [?]; [Osbert] de Pont de l'Arche; William de Pont de l'Arche; Humphrey de Bohun. [1127-9.]

Miles of Gloucester accounts for two years as sheriff in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 76-77) and his payment for this grant does not appear among Nova Oblata. So Miles probably succeeded at Michaelmas 1128 (see E.H.R. xxxvii. 76, 168). Only Tancarville, fitz Odo, Pont de l'Arche, and Bohun appear in Camden's transcript as witnesses.

1553. 1128, Nov. Rouen

Notification generally addressed for England and Normandy by Henry I (dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normanniae): That he confirms to Abbot Warin and the monks of Saint-Évroult at the request of Robert de Grantmesnil and Robert Giroie de Saint-Céneri (Roberti de Sancto Serenico dicto Geroiani) the possessions given them by the ancestors of both, Hugh and Robert de Grantmesnil and William Giroie de Saint-Céneri, and other benefactors.

Witnesses: G[eo]ffrey] Abp. of Rouen and all his suffragans; W[illiam] Count of Ponthieu; Nigel de Albini; Robert de Grantmesnil; Robert Giroie (Geroianus) de Saint-Céneri; Patrick de Chaworth (Chahorcis); Goel d'Ivry; W[illiam] de Say (Sacio).

[Copy in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 11055, fo. 21 (Cartulary of Saint-Évroult, No. 18). Gallia Christiana, xi, Instrumenta, col. 204; Ord. Vit., v. p. 202; Round, C.D.F. 507 (calendared imperfectly).] Farrer, Itin. 507.

'In generali colloquio meo quod habui apud Rothomagum . . . quod fuit in anno domini millesimo centesimo vigesimo octavo, mense Novembris.'

The version in Gallia Christiana (from a pretended original) adds as witnesses William Bigod, Walter de Vernon, Robert the King's son, and others. This is impossible, as William Bigod perished in the 'White Ship' (1120), and Robert had been Earl of Gloucester since 1121. The council did, however, take place at this time. On the value of the charter in its present form, see Haskins, Norman Inst., pp. 11-14 (= E.H.R. xxii. 639-42). The attestation of Goel d'Ivry, however, throws doubt even on this version, since both the persons who might be so described were dead in 1123 (Complete Peerage, viii. 209-11).

1554. [1128, Dec. ?] Touques (apud Toucamp, alias Choneam)

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: That he has granted to the church of Évreux and Audin its bp. the churches and tithes of Nonancourt and of Verneuill and of the port of Vernon, &c.

Witnesses: [Thurstan] Abp. of York; R[obert] de Sigillo; N[igel] the nephew of the bp.; G[eo]ffrey] fitz Payn. [1123-31.]

[Arch. of the Eure, G. 6, fo. 110; G. 12, fo. 41 (copies). Round, C.D.F. 97 (No. 283) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 585.

Round's limit may be reduced. Henry was not in Normandy before Nigel's consecration and after Aug. 1131. For place, cf. Round, C.D.F., No. 286. The presence of Thurstan suggests 1127-9. As the Archbishop of Rouen is not named, the see may have been vacant [28 Nov. 1128-July 1129].

1555. [1128?] Touques

Precept by Henry I addressed generally for England and Normandy: The baggage (corredium) and other goods belonging to the Bp. of Évreux which his men can testify to be his own is to be free of toll and all dues.

Witness: Robert de Sigillo.

[Arch. of the Eure, G. 122, fo. 40; G. 6, fo. 12 (from vidimus). Round, C.D.F., 98 (No. 286).] Evidently of even date with the previous charter.

1556. [1128?] Dec. 25, Argentan (Archentem)

Notification by Henry I addressed generally and to all officials in whose bailiwicks (ministeriis) Robert son of Walter of Windsor held land on the day whereon he was alive and dead: That the King has granted to William son of the said Robert, all the land whereof his father was seised at death, to hold in burh and out, in wood and plain, in water and without and in all other places, with sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief and all other customs as fully as his father or any other ancestor ever held it.

Witnesses: Robert de la Haie; Drogo de Moncei (Monte); William Peverel of Dover;

Payn Peverel; Geoffrey fitz Payn; William Maltravers; Maurice of Windsor; Peverel de Beauchamp; William fitz John. [1106–35.]

[Pat. R. 10 Ed. III, pt. 1, m. 25; Chart. R. 54 Hen. III, m. 10 (copies); Corpus Christi, Oxford, MS. 280, fo. 41 (transcript). Cal. Pat. R. 10 Ed. III, 249; Cal. Chart. R. ii. 137.] Farrer, Itin. 579.

‘In Natali domini.’

Payn Peverel appears on the Pipe Roll of 1130 and attests a charter with Hugh Abp. of Rouen elected in the same year. He was probably dead in 1132 (Farrer, Itin. 674).

1557. [1128, Dec. 25?] Argentan

Notification by Henry I to Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John, Forne [son of Sigulf] and the sheriff and all the barons, &c., of Yorkshire: That he has granted to St. Mary of York and Abbot Geoffrey and his monks three carucates of land in Nunnington (Nomintona) [co. Yorks.] which Turgis of Radeham gave the same church in alms.

Witness: Thurstan Abp. of York. [1125–6 or 1129.]

Archbishop Thurstan was in Normandy on his way to Rome in 1125 and on his way back in the early summer of 1126. He was again in Normandy in 1129.

1558. 1128, Reading

Charter by Hugh Abbot of Reading: At the prayer of Robert Earl of Leicester and Albold his knight, Henry I confirmed to the church of Reading the land of How End (Hou) [in Houghton Conquest, co. Beds.] and the rights of Albold in Shelton (Sceltuna) [in Marston Morteyne, co. Beds.], held by Norman and Sexi. The land of Shelton, as apart from the superiority given to Reading, Albold had long before ceded to St. Pancras of Lewes. The abbot now gives to the brethren of Lewes the same liberties which they enjoyed when Albold was their lord.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. F. XV, fo. 176 (copy).]

‘Hec concessio sive confirmacio facta est apud Radingas ipso Alboldo postulante et conventu fratrum annuente, anno Verbi Incarnati millesimo centesimo vicesimo octavo.’

1559. [1128]

Charter by Rabel de Tancarville son of William the chamberlain to St. Martin of Écajeul (Sainte-Barbe): Confirming the gifts of Odo Stigand.

Witnesses: King Henry; Queen [Adeliza]; [Robert] Earl of Gloucester; William of Warenne; Robert Earl of Leicester; John Bp. of Lisieux; Thurstan Abp. of York; William [de Tancarville] the chamberlain; Rabel his son.

[Original in Archives of Calvados. D’Anisy, Cat. des Archives du Calvados, i. 92 (Mém. de la Soc. des Antiquaires de Normandie, 1834).] Farrer, Itin. 592.

The priory of Sainte-Barbe-en-Auge was founded in 1128.

1560. [1128]

Notification by Henry I, ‘rex Anglie’, to Walter Espec, Eustace fitz John, and Odard the sheriff and all the King’s lieges, French and English, of Cumberland: That the King has given and granted to Hildred of Carlisle and Odard his son the land late of Gamel son of Bern, and the land of Glassan son of Brictric, the King’s drengs.

[P.R.O. Curia Regis R. Hil. 2 John [formerly Easter 11 John], m. 9 (copy). Placitorum Abbreviatio (1811), 67; Curia Regis R. i. 388; Journ. Brit. Arch. Ass. ix. 176 (noticed).]

The address to Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John makes it difficult to put the grant earlier than 1128. Hildred and Odard his son appear to account jointly from Michaelmas 1128 to Michaelmas 1130, Hildred answering for the farm and Odard for the profits of the county-court during the eyre of Espec and Fitz-John (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 140–2).

1561. [1128]

Notitia of a sworn inquest concerning the fishery of the Tyne, made by the elder men of Aliwarkfolk [Durham] and Northumberland in the time of Henry I and Bp. Ranulf, in the presence of Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John, justiciars.

[P.R.O. Bp. Kellawe’s Reg. (Durham 3/1). Reg. Pal. Dunelm. i, 8.]

Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John were in Durham in 1129–30 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 130) and must have begun their eyre before the death of Bp. Ranulf, 5 Sept. 1128.

1562. [1128?]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and Normandy: That by his permission and consent Roger Abbot of Fécamp and his chapter have made an exchange with Nigel son of William, nephew (nepos) of Robert Earl of Gloucester, of property in Laleham for lands and rents in Fécamp.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Geoffrey the chancellor; Nigel nephew of the Bp. of Salisbury; Roger the King's chaplain, nephew of the Abbot of Fécamp; Robert Earl of Gloucester, the King's son; Robert de Vere, constable; Brian fitz Count; William de Pont de l'Arche; William Martel; Richard fitz Urse; Robert Ghernet; Geoffrey de Maisnil; Ingram (Engelrammus), dapifer of the abbot; Simon de Curci; William Palefridus; Osbert Huitdeniers (Octodenar); Robert Lamartra. [c. 1128–33.]

[Arch. Dép. Seine Inf. (original); Rouen, Public Lib. Y. 51, fo. 20v^o (copy). Round, C.D.F. 42 (No. 124) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 625.

Robert de Vere became constable by his marriage with Adela de Montfort widow of Simon de Moulins, not later than Michaelmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 64). William Martel does not appear earlier than 1128. The correspondence of some of the witnesses with those to the dated agreement between the same parties on another subject (Round, C.D.F. 521 (No. 1410)) makes 1128 a probable date. Osbert Huitdeniers, afterwards Justiciar of London, was already a man of importance there at this date (Round, Commune of London, 121).

1563. [1118–28]

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Durham and the justiciar, sheriff, and barons of Northumberland: That he has granted and restored to William son of Aluric of Corbridge, the land of his brother Richard at Dilston, which Richard held from the King in chief on the day when he was alive and dead; to hold as freely as Richard held it, and for the same service.

Witnesses: Aubrey de Vere; Odard Sheriff of Northumberland.

[Durham Treasury, Misc. Charters, 1478 (original). Hodgson, Hist. of Northumberland, pt. ii, vol. iii, 16.]

Odard was sheriff 1118–32. The see of Durham was vacant from 1128 to 1133. See Craster in Hist. of Northumberland, x, 41.

1564. [1114–28]

Letter by R[anulf] Bp. of Durham to Thurstan Abp. of York and all the barons of Yorkshire, and to the Chapter of St. Cuthbert and to all his barons and men of Haliwerfolc, and to all the barons of Northumberland: That he has granted to William fitz Ranulf the lands of Houghall (Hochale), Harraton (Hervertuna), Herrington, and the other Herrington which Amalric the smith held; to be held by hereditary right by the service of one knight; also Hawthorn (Hagathorne) with the appurtenances and all that Richard holds, for the service of one knight. This he has done by the leave of King Henry and with the consent of the whole chapter of Durham. He beseeches the persons addressed not to impair his grant but to give their protection to William fitz Ranulf.

[Durham Cath. Treasury, G. i, ii^{nda} i^{mae} Pontif. (original). Surtees, Durham, i, pt. ii, 181.]

This shows that the bp., in spite of his palatine rights, did not venture to alienate the lands of his see without the royal licence. William fitz Ranulf was probably a son of the bishop (see Surtees, loc. cit.).

1565. [1100–28]

Notification by Henry I to Walter of Gloucester and all the barons of Gloucestershire, French and English: That he has confirmed the agreement which the monks of Gloucester made with Roger of Berkeley (in 1091) concerning the land of 'Sotteshovere' [Scottsquarry Hill in Harescomb, Glos.] which Roger held of them.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 154v^o. Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii, 119.]

Roger de Berkeley senior is said to have restored this land to Gloucester Abbey when he became a monk there in 1091. Walter of Gloucester appears to have been succeeded as sheriff by his son at Michaelmas 1128 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 76).

1566. [1113–28]

Precept by Henry I to William the constable [of Chester?]: To give back Coleby [in West Halton, Lincs.] to the monks of Gloucester if he has disseised them without a judgement ‘Et nisi feceris iusticia mea et vicecomes faciant’.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 44v^o (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 242; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 130.]

Coleby is said in this writ to have been given to Gloucester by Roger Helle, father of William the constable, and confirmed by Henry I in the time of Abbot William (1113–30) (ibid. i. 72). But William, the constable of the first three earls, was the son of Nigel, and ‘Roger Helle’ was the nickname of Roger ‘de Lacy’ (d. 1211). The dating of the confirmation may, nevertheless, be correct. The connexion between the families is shown in Farrer’s E.Y.C. iii. 199 and Honours and Knights’ Fees, ii. 201–4.

1567. [1100–28]

Notification by Henry I to Walter the sheriff and the barons of Gloucestershire: That he has confirmed to the monks of Gloucester the three mills at Kempsford given them by Patrick de Chaources.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 91 (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 347.]

The gift is said to have been made in the time of Abbot Serlo (d. 3 Mar. 1104) (ibid. i. 548).

1568*. [1123–8]

Charter (in diploma form) by Henry I to the church of Guisborough (Gyseburne) [co. Yorks.]: Confirming to them Guisborough as granted by Robert de Brus and the mills of the said vill with the soc and multure. No one is to make mills in that parish without the leave of the canons. Also Kirkleatham (Lynn) and the churches of Marske (Mersc), Up-leatham, Danby, Stainton, Hartness (Herternes), Kirkburn, and the lands pertaining to them.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. of York; Ranulf Bp. of Durham; Bernard Bp. of St. David’s; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Brian of Wallingford; Alexander Bp. of Lincoln; Roger Bp. of Salisbury, and others.

[Cotton MS. Cleopatra, D. II, fo. 113 (copy). Cartularium Prioratus de Gyseburne (Surtees Soc.), 13, No. xiv.]

The form of this is highly suspicious. So also is the order of the witnesses. It is followed in the cartulary by an almost identical charter of the same king (No. 1582), with a different set of witnesses. Guisborough was not founded till 1129 (Hemingburgh (ed. Hamilton), i. 52). See Farrer, E.Y.C. 671, n. 3.

1569. [1123–8]

Charter by Henry I to the Abbot of the house of St. Mary at Saint-Pierre-sur-Dive: Confirming the grants which the Countess Lescelina made after the death of her husband, William Count of Mortain; and the privileges which the King had granted by his previous charter; and the other grants which the abbey has received.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Adeliza; Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen; John Bp. of Lisieux; Bernard Bp. of St. David’s; Humphrey de Bohun; Robert Earl of Leicester; Nigel de Albini; Juhel de Mayenne (Meduana); Robert de la Haie; Roger the Vicomte [of Saint-Sauveur]; Geoffrey fitz Payn.

1570. 1129, Pentecost (June 2). Falaise

Record by William Count of Ponthieu: Of a judgement given by Henry I at Falaise, Pentecost, 1129, in a suit between St. Martin of Troarn and Roger de Gratapanchia, the father and son, respecting the marsh [i.e. Le Marais-sur-Dive] which the latter claimed; concerning which the count gave evidence before the King. The King and his Curia gave judgement for the monks of Troarn, in accordance with the count’s evidence. The count commands his heirs to respect this agreement for ever. To the agreement were witnesses, on the count’s side: Hugh the Vicomte; Robert his brother; Payn son of Hugh de Mesdavid; William de Courseulles (Corcella); Ascelin and Serlo, chaplains.

1571. [1129, June 2?] Falaise

Precept by Henry I to the sheriff and earls, barons and faithful officials of Kent: That the Abbot of St. Augustine's [Canterbury] have warren in his land of Thanet, and no one is to hunt without his licence on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witness: The chancellor. [1106–35.]

1572. [1129, June 2?] Falaise

Notification by Henry I 'dei gratia rex Anglie et dux Normannie', generally addressed: That he has confirmed to Saint-Évrout-en-Ouche a house 'in magno vico Falesie', at the petition of William de Magneto and his wife 'in liberam et quietam elemosinam'; that the monks may have it 'ad opus prioratus sui de Noron' (i.e. Charleval).

Witnesses: John Bp. of Sées; Nigel de Albini. [1124–9.]

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 11056 (Cart. S. Ebrulfi, ii), No. 679 (copy). Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl., ed. Prévost, v. 206; Round, C.D.F. 219 (No. 626) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 561.

1573. [1129, Apr.–July.] Oissel

Precept by Henry I to Bp. Roger and his justices and barons and officials of the ports of the sea of England and Normandy and to William de Eynesford (Einesfoit): That the ships and men and goods of St. Ouen of Rouen be quit of all toll and custom wheresoever they come. No one is to disturb them or do them injury on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: William de Albini; Geoffrey fitz Payn.

[Pat. R. 4 Hen. V, m. 19 (Inspeximus); Colchester, Red Paper Bk., fo. 75 (copy from Inspeximus). Foedera, (O) ix. 350; W. G. Benham, Red Paper Book of Colchester (1902), 48 (transl.).]

This is presumably while William de Eynesford was Sheriff of Essex, i.e. after Easter 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 52, 53) and before Henry's return from Normandy. It seems probable that (like Hugh de Bocland before him) he was also one of the Sheriffs of London (Ramsey Chron., p. 249 (No. 268)).

1574. [1128, Sept.–1129, 15 July.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he receives into his peace and protection Algar the Prior of St. Cuthbert's of Durham, and all his successors, whom the convent shall freely elect, and the monks and lands and their possessions. This the King does because of the wrongs and acts of violence that Bp. Ranulf committed against them in his lifetime. And he confirms in perpetual alms all the honours and dignities and liberties which the prior and convent possessed on the day when Bp. William was alive and dead. Namely, that the said prior shall be first after the bp. in the church of Durham; and shall have the power of ordering, with the consent of the chapter, all the property of the church for the benefit of the house; and of appointing the monks to offices and removing them, without the interference of the bp.; and that the prior and monks may hold a court as the bp. does; and have sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and wreck and all the customs that belong to them; and be quit of forest-dues (forestagio) and pannage in all their manors; and clerks who hold churches from them shall have the like privileges. And he confirms to them the lands which Bp. Ranulf took away and afterwards restored by his ring and charter, when he repented; viz. Blakeston, Staindrop, Staindropshire, the wood of Heworth from the east bank of the Mareburne towards the sea. Moreover, the King confirms the law of St. Cuthbert; that all his lands shall be free from all customs pertaining to the Crown. The prior and monks of St. Cuthbert are not to be impleaded respecting these rights that the King has given them. They are in his special peace.

Witnesses: Robert the King's son; William Earl Warenne; Robert de Sigillo; William de Pont de l'Arche.

[Durham Cath. ii^{nda} i^{mae} Regalium, No. 4 (original (?) in duplicate); Chart. R. 28 Ed. I, m. 5 (enrolment of Inspeximus); Cartae Antiquae No. 2 [B] (5); Bodl. MS. Canon Greenwell considers this of doubtful authenticity. In any case the list of privileges granted to the prior and convent looks like an interpolation. Robert the King's son is probably Robert fitz Edith, not the Earl of Gloucester.

Charter by Henry I addressed generally for England and Normandy: Confirming to St. Stephen of Caen the manors of Frampton and Bincombe in Dorset; the manor of Northam in Devon; seven hides of land at [East] Hendred (Heinreth) in Berkshire; in Essex, the little manor (maneriolum) of Panfield, given by Waleran son of Ranulf, together with a house in Wood street, London; and the church of Moreton, given by William de Scohies (Escoeis); in Norfolk, Well [Hall] (Welles) [in Gayton], given by the said William; in Gayton (Gartona) the church and tithe. Also the King's own gift of the manor of Burton Bradstock (Bridetona) in Dorset. All the aforesaid manors are to be quit of wreck, shires and hundreds, with soc and sac, toll and team and infangthief and danegeld. These the King grants in exchange for the crown and other regalia which William I left to St. Stephen, and the monks restored to King Henry at Caen.

Nigel de Albini died 21 Nov. 1129. Geoffrey Abp. of Rouen died 28 Nov. 1128 and Hugh's election was confirmed by Honorius II who died 13 Feb. 1130 and must therefore have taken place in 1129, and, as this charter shows, before Henry left Normandy on 15 July (see Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. iv. 500 and Le Prévost's note).

1576. [1129.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That, for the souls of his father and mother and the redemption of his own sins, he has granted, at the prayer of Hervey, first Bp. of Ely, a weekly market to be held in the vill of Hadstock [Essex]; and has confirmed the fair held there on St. Botulf's day, as it was in the time of William I and at the day of King Edward's death. All who resort to the said fair and market are to have the King's firm peace. The rights of the market and the fair and all emendable offences are to belong to Bp. Hervey and the church of Ely.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; William de Tancarville; Ralph Basset; Geoffrey de Clinton; William de Pont de l'Arche.

[Copies in Ely Liber M, p. 80b; Chart. R. 11 Ed. III, No. 3 (enrolment of Inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. iv. 434.] Farrer, Itin. 564.

Farrer suggests 1123-4, but Ralf Basset was in England in 1124 (A.S.C.) and Roger of Salisbury in Normandy in 1129 (No. 1575). Vincent Abbot of Abingdon, who received Ralf Basset's body, died in the spring of 1130. Ralf Basset may therefore have returned with the King in July 1129 and died at Northampton shortly after.

1577. [1129?] Rouen

Charter by Henry I to the priory of St. Lawrence of Envermeu: Confirming his own previous charter (partly quoted) granting to the priory all it possesses in England, namely what Baldwin fitz Gilbert granted it of the land which had belonged to Hugh of Envermeu, &c. The King also grants them the fishery of Arques and a fair at Envermeu.

1579. [1129?] Rouen

Notification by Henry I, addressed generally: That his court has recognized the right of Roger Abbot of Fécamp, in accordance with his charter, to £21 (Cartulary £20) from each plea of arson, and £20 from each plea of homicide arising in the lands of the abbey and tried in his court.

Round calendars (No. 1053) a charter to the same effect and with the same witnesses, also bearing a fragment of a seal, in the archives of Maine-et-Loire.

1581. [1129.] [Rouen?]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and Normandy: That he has given to St. Mary of Fontevrault and its nuns, for their food in Lent, for the weal of his father and mother and wife and of his son William, £100 in money of Rouen every year at Michaelmas, and 50 marks of silver in England at the same term, namely 30 marks from the farm of London and 20 marks from the farm of Winchester.

This grant labours under the same suspicions as No. xiv in the same cartulary (No. 1568*). Farrer regards this (xv) as genuine and xiv as a forgery. Hemingburgh places the foundation of Guisborough in 1129 (Chron. (ed. Hamilton), i. 52), but says it was confirmed by 'Pope Calixtus' (d. 1124), as does the longer foundation charter. Hemingburgh accordingly attributes the pontificate of Calixtus II to the actual period of that of Honorius II. Farrer's suggested date of 1131 (assuming W. de Tancarville to be a mistake) overlooks the agreement of the witnesses with the undated Fontevrault charter (No. 1581) which he places in 1129.

1583. [1129.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York, the Bp. of Chester, and the Bp. of Lincoln and all of Derbyshire, Notts., Leicestershire, and the honour of Blyth: That he has granted to Gilbert de Meinil (Maniuill)¹ all the land of his father, which Ralph his brother held at the day of his death from any lord, as Edward of Salisbury the lord of those lands granted to them; to be held with the same liberties and for the same services as by his father and brother.

Witnesses: The chancellor; G[eo]ffrey de Clinton.

1584. [c. 1129?] [Rouen?]

Record of a judgement in the Exchequer of Normandy by which Bernard the scribe recovered from Serlo the deaf [Serlo de Maton] a copse (virgultum) with land adjoining in Mathieu (Maton) [Calvados] of which Bernard had previously recovered seisin by a judgement of the Bp. of Lisieux, Robert de la Hay, and others at the Exchequer. Robert and the bp. being sick and unable to be present certified the previous judgement by letter.

[Cotton MS. Cleopatra C. VII, fo. 76v^o (olim 99v^o) (copy). E.H.R. xiv. 426; Haskins, Norm. Inst. 88, n. 18.]

This is the earliest document establishing the existence of the Norman Exchequer eo nomine (Haskins, loc. cit.). William of Glastonbury had only recently succeeded his uncle as chamberlain (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 137). Robert d'Évreux was apparently a Cornish neighbour of Bernard (ibid. 159) and was dead in 1130. Serlo 'de Matuen' was a benefactor of St. John's, Colchester, not later than 1104 (Loyd, Anglo-Norman Families, 62). His brother Richard is named as present with him.

1585. [1129.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That he has confirmed to Rainald Abbot of Ramsey and his monks all their lands and churches, &c.; and especially their fair at St. Ives; their hundred and a half of Clacklose [co. Norfolk], their market at Downham, their soc of Huntingdon, and their lands in London. And their other liberties (specified), especially those belonging to the lowy (leugata) of the Abbey.

This cannot be later than Sept. 1130, by which time Hamo Dapifer was dead (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 66). The annals of St. Wandrille place the death of William de Tancarville in 1129.

1586. [1129.] Lyons-la Forêt (apud Sanctum Dionisium in Leonibus)

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York, the Bp. of Durham, the sheriff and all barons and men of the see of Durham: That he has granted the Prior and monks of St. Cuthbert 38 solidates of land beyond Durham bridge and 4 librates of land which Dolfin holds at Staindrop and Blakeston (Bleichestona) which is worth 40s. and the cornage of Bortona [? Burdon] which Unspac holds, to wit of each animal 2d, and the church of Sigston (Sigestona) and one carucate of land in Wolviston (Whueston) which Clibert holds. All these as Ranulf the Bp. restored them in his life.

William de Tancarville died 1129. This was issued after the death of Ranulf Flambard. His charter of restitution, here confirmed, is mentioned by Symeon of Durham as having been granted within a month of his death on 5 Sept. 1128 (Sym. Dunelm. i. 141). Cf. Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 934 note.

1587. [1129.] [Normandy]

Charter by Henry I addressed to Hugh Abp. of Rouen, John Bp. of Lisieux and all the other bps. of Normandy and all his barons: Confirming the gifts of Odo Stigandus, William the chamberlain, of Tancarville and Rabel his son to the church of St. Martin of Écajeul (i.e. the priory of Sainte-Barbe-en-Auge); and the arrangement by which in the 28th year of the King's reign the Canons of Sainte-Barbe were placed under the Augustinian rule.

1588. [1129?]

Diploma by Henry I 'Dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum' to the abbey of Savigny: Confirming the gifts made by Ranulf de Virey and his brothers William and Roger, of the churches of Virey, Brecey, Montmartin[-sur-Mer], Mesnil Tôve [Manche], &c., and in England, 20s. of the fee of the Count of Mortain. These things the aforesaid brothers, with their mothers and wives, gave by the consent of their lords; viz. Stephen Count of Mortain and Henry de Fougères (Filgeriis). Bp. Turgis and the Canons of Avranches approved of the grant on the understanding that the house of Savigny would establish a convent at Virey.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Adeliza; John Bp. of Lisieux; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; John Bp. of Sées; William de Albini; Henry de Fougères (Filgeris); John of Bayeux; Ranulf de Virey; Geoffrey the chancellor; Stephen Count of Mortain; Richard fitz Gilbert; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Geoffrey de Clinton; Turgis Bp. [of Avranches]; Fulcher the archdeacon; Hervey the treasurer. [1124-31.]

Book-hand and clearly not drawn up in the chancery. The Signa are irregularly arranged and the names added in a different hand from the text. Cf. the charter to Cluny (Lenton) (No. 920). 1589. [1126-9.] Arganchy (Archenc . . .)

Precept by Henry I to John Bp. of Lisieux and the Earl of Gloucester and Earl Ranulf of Chester and Robert de la Haie and all vicomtes, &c., in whose bailiwicks (ministeriis) the Canons of Bayeux hold lands: That the canons are to have their lands and prebends, &c., as well and honourably as in the time of William I and William II 'et sicut aliae elemosinae meae de Anglia et Normannia melius quietae et liberae sunt'.

1590. [1126-9.] Arganchy (?) (apud Archid)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Bath, the barons, sheriffs, &c., of Somerset: That he grants to Henry his nephew, the Abbot of Glastonbury, that the church of St. Mary of Glastonbury may have a fair at the Nativity of St. Mary, to last for seven days. All who resort to that fair are to have the King's firm peace in going and returning.

The witnesses are almost the same as those of No. 1687; but the death of William de Tancarville in 1129 makes it impossible to assign this charter to a later date, unless 'William' is a mistake for 'Rabel'.

1591. [1114–29.] [Bayeux?]

Charter by Henry I, King of the English and Duke of the Normans: Granting that the church of St. Stephen in the castle of the Bp. of Bayeux called Plessis shall by the gift of Samson the priest to whom it belongs be transferred to the use and possession of Canons regular; and confirming to it the fee of the said Samson which he holds of the Bp. of Bayeux.

Signa: Henry King of the English; Thurstan Abp. of York; Audin (Oin) Bp. of Évreux; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Richard the Archdeacon of Bayeux; Geoffrey the precentor of the church of Bayeux; William the sub-deacon (Subdiaconi) of the church of Bayeux; Master Ranulf; William, Herbert, John, Hugh, canons.

This is presumably earlier than the gift by Richard de Rollos (No. 1592) and it seems probable therefore that Geoffrey the precentor succeeded Richard as archdeacon (see No. 1601) and that this charter belongs to the earlier years of the limited period.

1592. [1126–9.] Arganchy (Archenci)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Bayeux and the barons and lieges of Normandy: That he confirms conditionally the grant of Richard de Rollos to St. Stephen of Plessis-Grimoult, if the church of Roullours (Rollos) be of the fee which Richard holds of the King, and free from claims; and it is to be held by St. Stephen as freely as the other alms of the King.

Richard de Rollos was recently dead in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 110, 143).

1593. [1107–29.] The Castle at Caen

Record: Of a suit as to the church of Secqueville between St. Étienne de Caen and Herbert the clerk, heard in the presence of the King, Henry I, and all his justiciars (tocius iusticie) and barons. Herbert did not appear, and lost the case.

Roger Marmion was dead before Michaelmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 111), as Robert's relief is not reckoned among 'Nova Oblata'. Henry I returned from Normandy in that year. Robert de la Haie, Ralf Tasson, and Roger Marmion all appear in the Lindsey Survey of 1115–18.

1594*. [1124–9.] Caen

Charter by Henry I, King of England and Duke of Normandy, to the monks of St. Évroul: Granting to them, at the prayer of William de Moulins (Molendinis) and Albereda his wife, free from all earthly service the church of St. Lawrence, Moulins [-la-Marche] (de Molendinis) and its lands; the church of St. Mary, Bonsmoulins (de Bonis Molendinis) and the tithes, &c.; the church of Saint-Denis-de-Mahéru with other gifts, &c.

Witnesses: Richard Bp. of Bayeux; John Bp. of Lisieux; John Bp. of Sées; Nigel de Albini; William de Molendinis.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 11055 (Cart. S. Ebrulfi, i), No. 17; MS. lat. 11056 (ii), No. 678 (copies). Round, C.D.F. 220 (calendared); Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. (ed. Prévost), v. 204.] Farrer, Itin. 570.

This charter cannot be genuine, since Albereda was divorced and William subsequently married Duda daughter of Waleran Count of Meulan (died 1069), a half-sister or sister of the mother of Robert Count of Meulan (died 1118). Albereda was William's wife in 1077 (Cart. de Saint-Père de Chartres, 147).

William himself died in 1100 (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. ii. 408 sqq., v. 2, 189). It is, however, conceivable that Simon de Moulins may have confirmed his father's gift at this time.

1595. [1124–9.] Caen

Notification by Henry I 'dei gratia rex Anglie et dux Normannie', to abps., bps., &c.: That he, at the petition of Nigel de Albini, has confirmed a grant made by Nigel to St. Évrout; and an agreement between Nigel and the monks of the said place.

Witnesses: King Henry; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; John Bp. of Lisieux; Nigel de Albini.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 11055 (Cart. of St. Évrout, i), No. 19 (copy). Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. (ed. Prévost), v. 200; Round, C.D.F. 219 (No. 627) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 569.

A shorter writ with the same witnesses confirming only the tithe granted by Nigel from MS. lat. 11056, No. 680. Ibid. v. 202.

Of the same date as No. 1594, to judge from the witnesses.

1596. [1116–29.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I, King of the English and Duke of the Normans: Of his grant to the new abbey of St. Georges de Boscherville of his port of Bénouville (Berneval) in the further part of his forest of Fécamp and quittance for one ship at Étretat and full jurisdiction over its men in that port, &c.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Drew de Monci; William de Tancarville, chamberlain; Geoffrey fitz Payn. [1116–29.]

[Rouen, Publ. Lib. Y. 52, Cart. de S. Georges de Boscherville, fo. 64. Round, C.D.F. 67 (No. 200) (calendared).]

1597. [1123–9.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Robert [fitz Walter] the sheriff and all the barons of Norfolk and Suffolk: That Abbot Anselm of St. Edmunds [Bury] hold his abbacy and hundreds and lands and men, and all customs pertaining to the abbacy with sac and soc and wardpenny as the King has granted by his charter, and as the charters of King Edward and William I testify.

Witness: [Geoffrey] the chancellor.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847 ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'), fo. 39; C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28v°. Douglas, Feudal Docs. 77.]

The terminus ad quem is 1129, since Robert fitz Walter appears as sheriff. Anselm was appointed 1121; but the King was not abroad before June 1123.

1598. [1123–9.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and R[obert] fitz Walter the sheriff and the lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That Abbot Anselm [of Bury St. Edmunds] and his monks have all their customs in sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief and hamsokne and wardpenny, &c., as Kings Edward, William I, and William II and he himself granted by their writs, and as the charter of the church testifies. No one is to take any of these customs except by leave of the saint and the abbot. For the King is not aware that he has given any one rights in the 8½ hundreds of St. Edmund contrary to the liberties of that church.

Witness: Humphrey de Bohun.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847 ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'), ff. 34 and 39; C.U.L. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 97; Ff. ii. 33, ff. 25 and 28v°; Gg. iv. 4, fo. 166; Cartae Antiquae, 15 [P.] (7). Douglas, Feudal Docs. 71.] Farrer, Itin. 593.

1599. [1124–9.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and the sheriffs, &c., of Norfolk and Suffolk: That he has granted Anselm Abbot of St. Edmunds a sevendays' fair annually at St. Edmunds, at the feast of St. James the Apostle, 3 days before and 2 days after. All who resort to the fair are to have the King's firm peace.

Witness: Thurstan Abp. of York.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847 ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi') fo. 33 ; C.U.L. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 95; Ff. ii. 33, fo. 24v^o; Gg. iv. 4, fo. 165. Battely, Antiquitates, 69 (from the Registrum Sacristae (F.), fo. 24b and Registrum Nigrum (M.), fo. 95); E.H.R. xxiv. 428; Douglas, Feudal Docs. 73.]

Thurstan was in Normandy in Oct. 1125, on his way to Rome, and returned about Mar. 1126, reaching York in June, and again 1128–9. He does not seem to have been abroad 1133–5.

1599a. [1126–9.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England: That he has granted to the nuns of Marcigny [Saône-et-Loire], where his sister [Adela] is a nun, that all their land and men be quit of pleas and complaints, shires and hundreds, danegeld [murder],¹ &c., and that they have soc and sac, toll and team, and infangthief, and all customs as the King's demesne manors; no sheriff or sheriff's serjeant is to interfere except at their request, and any plea affecting them is to be adjourned till the King can be present and declare his pleasure.

Witnesses: G[eo]ffrey] the chancellor; Walter (G.) of Gloucester; Henry [the King's nephew],¹ Abbot of Glastonbury; Andrew de Baudemont (Baldymont).

[Wiltshire Record Office 194/54 (Farleigh charter roll), third and last entries (copies).]

The limits of date are Henry's election as Abbot of Glastonbury and his appointment as Bishop of Winchester. Farleigh Priory was the successor in title of the nunnery of Marcigny at Slaughterford [Wilts.]. Adela became a nun at Marcigny in 1122.

1600. [1124–9]

Notification by Henry I, addressed generally for Normandy: That William Paynel has given the tithe of Fontenay[-le-Pesnel] to St. Stephen's, Caen, in his presence and that of his barons, with confirmation of the gifts by William de Audrieu of the advowson of Loucelles [Calvados], and of the confirmation by Geoffrey de Mandeville of gifts by Geoffrey de Tilly and his brother Ralf of the land of 'Govilla' and Saint-Germain, and a field in Vérolles [in Tilly-sur-Seulles], which have been proved by the witness of Robert Bertram and the men of Tilly.

Signa: King Henry; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Richard Bp. of Coutances; Earl Robert the King's son; William de Albini; Ralph Tayson; William de Tancarville; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Robert de Sigillo; Humphrey de Bohun; William de Brus.

No seal.

Geoffrey de Mandeville is presumably 'of Marshwood' (see Pipe Roll 10 John, p. 113 n.)

1601. [1124–9]

Notification by Henry I as above: That Symon son of Geoffrey de Bosvilla has granted certain tithes in his presence and that of his barons to St. Stephen's, Caen.

Signa: King Henry; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Richard Bp. of Coutances; Earl Robert the King's son; William de Albini; Geoffrey Archdeacon of Bayeux; Ralph Taiso; Symon de Bosvilla; William Crassus; Robert fitz Bernard; Hugh Bigod; Robert de Agnis; Geoffrey fitz Payn; William de Brus; Humphrey de Bohun; Robert de Sigillo.

1602. [1123–9.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to Alexander Bp. of Lincoln and all the faithful of Holy Church and all his bailiffs: That he has confirmed to Abbot John and the monks of St. Nicholas of Angers, the church of Surfleet (Sutfleta).

Witness: Ranulf Earl of Chester.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296, fo. 360v^o (Spalding Cart.) (copy).]

Presumably this is Ranulf I of Chester, who was as the husband of Lucia de Taillebois (the 'Countess Lucy') closely connected with Spalding Priory and St. Nicholas of Angers. The use of baillivus for the usual minister throws some doubt on the authenticity of the charter. See Stapleton, Magni Rotuli, i, pp. xxxiii sq. But compare No. 1167.

1603. [1129, July 15?] Portsmouth

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all his barons and lieges of Yorkshire and Northumberland and of the see of Durham: That he has confirmed to Richard the nephew of Ranulf Bp. of Durham the land of Eighton (Ectun) [in Lamesley] and of Ravensworth and of Blakeston with their appurtenances as given by Ranulf; to hold them by hereditary right.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Nigel (Hug'.) de Albini; Walter Espec; Geoffrey fitz Payn. [1107-29.]

Fourth Seal of Henry I (fragment).

[Soc. of Antiq. of Newcastle-on-Tyne, Ravensworth Deeds, No. 2 (original); Surtees, Hist. Durham, ii, 210 (from a copy).]

As no Bp. of Durham is mentioned in the address it seems probable that this charter is between the death of Ranulf, 5 Sept. 1128, and the accession of Geoffrey in 1133. If so, it must be July 1129.

1604. [1129, after July 15.] Windsor

Mandate by Henry I to Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John and Geoffrey Escolland: That the monks of Durham hold all their lands and goods, in particular, their vill of Blakeston well and in peace. If Richard the nephew of Bp. Ranulf make any claim thereon the addressees shall do justice.

Witnesses: [G] the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; Geoffrey de Clinton; William de Pont de l'Arche.

[Durham Cath. Treasury, iinda i^{mae}, Regalium, No. 10 (original); also i^{ma} 5^{iae}, Specialium (? copy or duplicate). Feodarium Prioratus Dunelm. (Surtees Soc. 1872), 145 n.; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 935.] Farrer, Itin. 595b.

Geoffrey Escolland was one of the custodians of the see after the death of Bp. Ranulf (died 5 Sept. 1128). William de Pont de l'Arche visited Durham (Sept.-Nov. 1128) to take the temporalities into the King's hands immediately after hearing of Ranulf's death. Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John were on the King's business in co. Durham in the years before and after Michaelmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 131).

1605. [1129, before Sept. 29.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to [Everard] Bp. of Norwich and Robert fitz Walter and all the barons and lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That the Abbot of St. Edmunds [Bury] enjoy all the customs and rights and immunities of his 8½ hundreds as he had them in the time of William I and William II and of the King himself. No one is to usurp the rights of St. Edmund.

Witness: John the marshal.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847 ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'), fo. 38v°; C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28v°. Douglas, Feudal Docs. 76.] Farrer, Itin. 597.

Robert fitz Walter ceased to be sheriff at Michaelmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 90). John Marshal was still accounting for his father's office at Michaelmas, 1130 (ibid. 18).]

1606. [c. 1129?] London

Notification by Henry I to the men of the Abp. of Canterbury: That he grants that those of them whom the abp. shall choose shall do ward in Rochester Castle. The abp. is to compel (justificet) the others who are not his men to do their ward at the accustomed times. He grants to the abp. the lodgings (hospicia) in the bailey of Rochester which were Geoffrey Talbot's.

Witness: The chancellor.

[Lambeth MS. 1212, pp. 23, 188 (copy).]

Geoffrey Talbot, who gave Wrotham (No. 647), seems to have died about 1129, since another Geoffrey Talbot pays relief among the Nova Placita of 1130 (P.R. 67). The castle was given in 1127 (No. 1475).

1607. [1129.] Havering [atte Bower]

Notification by Henry I 'dei gratia rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum', addressed generally: That Ranulf Earl of Chester has demised and granted to him Charley (Cerneleya), Charnwood (Cernewoda) and 'Aldremanehaga'; and that the King has granted them to Robert Earl of Leicester.

Witnesses: Theobald Count of Blois; Waleran Count of Meulan; William de Tanc[arville];

Nigel de Albini; William de Luriaco; Adam de Port; Payn fitz John; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Andrew de Baudemont (Baldement); Robert de Dunstanville.

[Copies in P.R.O., D. of L., 'Great Couchers', vol. 2 (D.L. 42/2), fo. 62, No. 66; Harley MS. 2044, fo. 2b (from a Dodsworth transcript; 'In the Great Coucher Book in the Duchy Office at Gray's Inn, London, Tome i Com. Leicestria, i, no. 66'). Nichols, Hist. of County of Leicester, i. 25; Ormerod, Hist. of Cheshire, i. 25; T. R. Potter, Charnwood Forest, 97 n.]

Known to Dugdale (Baronage, i. 39) from the Lire Cart. (penes du Chesne). Waleran Count of Meulan rebelled in 1123 and was captured and kept in prison till 1129 (G. H. White in Trans. Royal Hist. Soc. 4th Ser. xvii. 23–25).

1608. [1129?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to his justiciars, R[ichard] Basset and A[ubrey] de Vere, and his burgesses and officials of Norwich: That he has granted to the hospital of St. Paul, at Norwich, the livery which Odlent used to receive, namely three pence a day; and the Sheriff of Norfolk shall pay it out of the farm.

Witnesses: William de Warenne; Hugh Bigod; Roger de Fécamp; R[obert] de Vere; A[ubrey] de Vere.

[Copies in Cotton Roll ii. 19 (from an Inspeximus, of John Bp. of Norwich (1301); D. and C. Norwich, Reg. ii, fo. 26 bis; Chart. R. 34 Ed. I, No. 10; Cotton MS. Jul. VII. 7, No. 8 (transcript). Monast. vii. 700; Cal. Chart. R. iii. 71.] Farrer, Itin. 673.

Robert fitz Walter ceased to be sheriff at Michaelmas 1129, and was succeeded by Richard and Aubrey. As the address to them is as 'justices' the writ is probably prior to Robert's forfeiture (see P.R. 31 Hen. I, 90). There is no evidence on the roll of 1130 as to the recipients of the 'fixed payments' from the farm.

1609. [c. 1129.] Waltham

Notification by Henry I to R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury and all of Berks.: That he has permitted Payn Peverel to give his daughter Matilda in marriage to Hugh son of Fulbert of Dover, with the manor of East Shefford (Siffort), [co. Berks.] and its appurtenances in frank-marriage. When Matilda receives the manor she is to hold it with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all the customs which Payn ever enjoyed there.

Witnesses: William de Montfichet; Robert de Ferrars; William fitz Odo; Rotrod de Doli; William le Sor'; Robert Peverel, brother of Matilda; William Peverel; Hamo Peverel; Hamelin de Asnevilla; Walter de Beauchamp; Peverel de Beauchamp; William de Lusors; Payn de Beauchamp.

William de Lisures appears to have died about Christmas 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. II, 82) and Fulbert of Dover had not been long dead in 1130 (ibid. 158).

1610. [c. 1129?] Waltham

Precept (prohibeo) by Henry I to R[obert] fitz Walter and all barons and ministers of Norfolk and Suffolk: That Everard Bp. of Norwich be not impleaded concerning any land, men, or thing which Bp. Herbert was seised of at his death, unless the King order it by word of mouth (nisi precipiam ore meo), and be resealed of anything of which he has been disseised.

Witness: William fitz Odo. [1121–9.]

[D. and C., Norwich, Reg. iii, fo. 227 (copy).]

This is presumably before Robert fitz Walter ceased to be sheriff.

1610a. [1129.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Fulk Fitzwalter and Eustace the sheriff and all the barons of London: That Reginald (Reinaldus) Abbot of Ramsey hold his land in London, which he recovered (dirationavit) before the King's justiciar against Gilbert Prudfot, and that his men there have the King's peace, and that Gilbert answer for the offence he has done them (disturbavit) before the King when he shall come to London.

Witness: G[offrey] de Clinton (Glintone).

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 280.]

Fulk FitzWalter was Sheriff of London 1128–9 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 74). Gilbert Prudfot is mentioned as a sheriff in Hist. MSS. Comm., 9th Report, i. 60a, and in another connexion ibid. 63b. See also Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, 350, 351.

1611. [1129?]

Precept by Henry I to Odo Sheriff of Pembroke: To permit the abbot and monks of [St. Martin's] Sées to hold their churches and other possessions as freely as in the times of Arnulf [de Montgomeri, lord of Pembroke] and Wilfrid Bp. [of St. David's] and of Walter of Gloucester. [1128–35.]

[Transcript in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. Fr. 18953, p. 45. Haskins, Norm. Inst. 305.] Farrer, Itin. 624.

This is presumably not much earlier than 1129, before which date Miles of Gloucester had succeeded his father. The Sheriff of Pembroke in 1130 was 'Hait' (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 136). It is possible that his predecessor may have been Odo de Barri, whose son accounts for his relief at the same time (ibid., p. 137).

1612. [1100–29.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Warin the reeve of Southampton and his servants: Commanding that the food and clothing (victus et vestitus) of the Abbot of Abingdon, and whatever his men can affirm to be his property be quit from all toll and landing-due (lestagio) and custom and transport-due (passagio). Whatever has been taken on this account is to be restored immediately.

Witnesses: W[illiam] de Tanc[arville]; Per William de Calna.

[Cotton MSS. Claud. B. VI, fo. 141; C. IX, fo. 149 (copies). Hist. Mon. de Abingdon, ii. 79.]

Compare No. 1625.

1613. [1114–29.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I (prohibeo) to R[obert] Fitz Walter and all sheriffs and their ministers in the counties where the Abbot of St. Edmunds has lands: That the men of St. Edmund are not to go out of their soke to renew their frankpledge (pro plegiis suis et friborgis et teingis renovandis) otherwise than they were wont.

Witness: the chancellor.

[Copies in C.U.L., MSS. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 95; Ff. ii. 33, fo. 24v^o; Gg. iv. 4, fo. 165v^o; B.M. Add. MS. 14847, fo. 33. E.H.R. xxiv, 427; Douglas, Feudal Docs. 70.]

1614. [1119–29.] Wilton

Precept by Roger Bp. of Salisbury to Robert fitz Walter: That the Abbot and monks of St. Edmunds are to have wardpenny from the 8½ hundreds, as in the time of William I and William II, and if anything of it has been held back since the King's last crossing, it is to be restored, particularly from Glemsford, Hartest, and Nedging (Nedding) [co. Suff.].

By the King's writ.

[Copies in Harl. MS. 743, fo. 148 (where the writ purports to be from the King and addressed to the bishop and Robert) and C.U.L. Mm. iv. 19, fo. 106. Both versions printed by Douglas, Feudal Docs. 75.] Farrer, Itin. 545.

The 'Black Book' (Cambridge) version is more likely to be correct, in spite of the clause postquam novissime mare transiit which cannot properly apply to the bp. The clause per breue regis seems to indicate that the Harleian version is a composition of the original breve de ultra mare and the justiciar's consequent writ. The possible dates are thus 1119–20, 1123–6, 1127–9.

1615. [1123–9.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I addressed to all his lieges wherever the monks of Christ Church, Canterbury, have lands: Confirming the possessions of Christ Church, Canterbury. They are to have power to give or resume their lands (terras suas dandi et tollendi) at pleasure, and their men are to be obedient as William I ordered.

Witnesses: G[oeffrey] the chancellor; William de Tancarville.

[Copies in Pat. R. 12 Hen. VI, pt. 2, mm. 9–1; Canterbury, D. and C. Reg. E, fo. 18; Reg. I, fo. 63; B.M. Add. MS. 6159, fo. 8vo. Cal. Pat. R. 1429–36, 47 (8).] Farrer, Itin. 548.

The form of the charter suggests that the see of Canterbury was vacant, but this is barely possible since William of Corbeil was elected 4 Feb. 1123 and Henry does not appear to have visited Winchester during January in that year.

1616. [1100–29.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to all the barons of Kent: That he has granted the Abbot of St. Augustine's warren in his manor of Lenham and in the lands which he holds in the hundred of Eyehorne (Aihorna) and no one is to hunt there without his licence on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Hamo Dapifer; Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Cart. of St. Austin's, Canterbury, Exch. (K.R.) Misc. Bk. xxvii, fo. 151b; Cotton MSS. Jul. D. II, fo. 89v^o (152); Claud. D. X, fo. 59v^o. Monast. i. 140 (xli).]

Inferior limit fixed by occurrence of Nigel de Albini.

1617. [1123–9.] Waltham

Precept by Henry I to justices, sheriffs, barons, foresters, officials, and lieges of Cumberland: That the Canons of St. Mary of Carlisle have and hold their bounds (divisas) of the forest as the King gave and conceded in free alms (in elemosinam) and as the King caused them to be perambulated and pointed out, and all their easements in wood and pastures and all else as in their own demesne.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Copies in Chart R. 35 Ed. I, m. 17, No. 44; 6 Ed. III, pt. I, No. 30. Cal. Chart. R. iii. 82; V.C.H., Cumberland, ii. 17 n.] Farrer, Itin. 458.

Farrer suggests that this charter was a result of Henry I's journey to the North in 1121. Carlisle is said to have been founded in 1123.

1618. [1123–9]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to St. Peter and the monks of Cluny, all of Tixover [co. Rutland] with the church and the chapel which is in the royal manor house (curia) for 12 marks of silver, and half of Manton [co. Rutland] for 8 marks. To be held free of shires, wapentakes and hundreds, and all pleas of justice, murdrum, latrocinium, danegeld and gelds, &c., with sac and soc, toll and team and infang-thief, &c. This for the souls of William I, Queen Matilda the King's mother, Queen Matilda the King's wife, William the King's son, &c.

Witness: William Bp. of Winchester.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 19 (37) (copy).]

This document is in parts very illegible. For a later confirmation by Henry I of these possessions to Cluny, see No. 1721. Tixover had been granted to Robert Bloet, Bp. of Lincoln (Nos. 743–4), who died in 1123. The church and chapel remained as a prebend of Lincoln.

1619. [1120–9.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to justiciars, sheriffs, &c., of the shires in which the Abbot of Colchester has property: That the abbot hold his property as freely as on the day when Eudo Dapifer was alive and dead.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Cart. of St. John's, Colchester, i. 25.]

1620. [1121–9.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I, generally addressed: That he has granted to the church of Ely and Bp. Hervey a fair in Ely on the feast of St. Etheldreda (23 June), and three days before and after. No one is to interfere with it under forfeiture of £10.

Witnesses: Robert Earl of Gloucester; William de Albini; Nigel de Albini; John of Bayeux.

[Copy in Ely, Bp. Mun. Lib. M, fo. 84v^o. Transcripts (imperfect) in B.M. Add. MSS. 5809, fo. 92v^o; 5825, fo. 213v^o (Cole's transcripts). Bentham, Hist. of Ely, App. 18 (No. 13); Monast. i. 484.]

1621. [1115–29.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to Anschetil de Bulemer, Sheriff of York: That Ralph son of Ulviet hold his land and houses in York as fully as his grandfather Forno held them at his death.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 126, fo. 86v^o (transcript from Gascoigne, 'Liber F, St. K., fo. 138'); Harl. MS. 5805, fo. 134 (p. 369) (transcript). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 206.]

Anschetil was sheriff, c. 1115–29 (E.H.R. xxx. 285). Ulviet's son Thomas fined to be alderman of the merchant gild in 1130 [P.R. 31 Hen. I, 34]. Forne was probably Forne of Skirpenbeck. (Farrer, E.Y.C., loc. cit.)

1622. [c. 1114–29.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to his barons and officials of Gloucestershire: That he grants to Walter of Gloucester rights of warren over the whole of the royal demesne in Gloucestershire and over his [Walter's] own land. Penalty for infringement, £10.

Witness: Payn fitz John.

[D. of L., Royal Charters, No. 4 (original).]

The omission of the sheriff in the address is presumably because Walter himself held that office.

1623. [1126–9.] Woodstock (Odestoca)

Notification by Henry I to Ranulf Earl [of Chester]: That he grants to Robert de Grainvilla, the land of Asgarby which the earl has recovered (disrationasti) against Walter of Ghent, and given in alms to Robert.

Witnesses: Geoffrey the chancellor; Nigel nephew of the Bp. [of Salisbury]; William de Tancarville.

[Copies in Lincoln, 'Reg. Antiquiss.' F. 8d (No. 59); Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 11. Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 59.] Farrer, Itin. 537.

Ranulf Meschin (who married Roger Fitz Gerald's widow) died 1129. Nigel the bp.'s nephew does not attest before 1126.

1624. [1100–29.] Winchester

Grant by Henry I to the monastery of Malmesbury: Of exemption from toll throughout England, with a general confirmation of lands.

Witness: William Bp. of Winchester.

Thurstan, and the church of Rothwell (Rowell), given by Hugh de Laval and the church of Weaverthorpe (Wivertorp), given by Herbert fitz Herbert and William the treasurer [of the church of York] his brother, and the church of Bolton Percy (Bowoltona), given by Picot de Percy.

Witnesses: T[hurstan] Abp. of [York]; W[illiam] de Tanc[arville].

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 6v° (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1439.]

The later limit of date is given by the appearance of William de Tancarville.

1627. [c. 1126–9]

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to St. Oswald and the Canons of Nostell the gift which Robert Fossard made to them by the hand of Abp. Thurstan in the presence of his (Robert's) Dapifer, Anschetill de Bulemer, and his other men; namely, the churches of Bramham (Brameham) and Wharram[-le-Street] (Warrum) and St. Oswald in Eskdale (Eschedela) [i.e. Lythe]; with all the liberties which at any time pertained to those churches as the said abp. and Robert Fossard and his wife Osercia conferred them.

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 7v° (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1013.]

1628. [1120–9.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and the sheriff and William Foliot and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to God and St. Oswald and the Canons of Nostell, six bovates of land [in Hardwick] given them by Robert de Lacy and Ralph Grammaticus;

Witness: Nigel de Albini.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 8 (Nostell Cart.) (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 116, fo. 55 (transcript). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1434.]

1629. [1109–29.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Ely and the barons, justiciars, sheriffs, and officials of Cambridgeshire: That in the King's presence the barons of Ramsey have testified and recognized that William Pecche [Peccatum] and Elfwen, his wife, ought not to hold the land of Over [co. Cambs.] from the Abbot of Ramsey except as life-tenants. Therefore, the church of Ramsey is to have that land free from any claim on the part of the heirs of William and Elfwen.

Witnesses: The chancellor; [William] de Tancarville, chamberlain; Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 14v^o; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Chron. (R.S.), 228.]

1630. [c. 1126–9.] Wind[sor]

Precept by Henry I to Robert Fossard: To do right to the Abbot of Ramsey respecting the church of Bramham (Burnham) [Yorks. W.R.]. 'Et nisi feceris Turstinus Eboracensis episcopus et Nigel de Albini faciant fieri ne audiam inde clamorem pro penuria recti.'

Witness: Nigel de Albini. [1114–29.]

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. (R.S.), 231.]

This must be later than No. 1332. Bramham was given to Ramsey by Nigel Fossard (see E.Y.C., No. 1002) and this 'Writ of Right' directed to Robert Fossard as lord of the property in question is almost certainly the consequence of Robert's gift to Nostell of the three churches mentioned in No. 1627.

1631. [1115–29.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Reginald Abbot of Ramsey: That Roger Feoillet is to hold one hide in Broughton [co. Hunts.]; and if at present he holds more than this let it be in the Abbot's demesne.

1633. [1114–29.] Woodstock

Abp. of York, to be held at the feast of St. Wilfrid in April, on the two days before the feast, the feast itself and the morrow of the feast. All who resort to the fair, they and their merchandise, are to have the King's firm peace, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 160, fo. 250v^o (copy). Dugdale, Hist. Account (in St. Paul's, edn. 1716), 39; Memorials of Ripon (ed. Fowler), i, 94; Yorkshire Arch. Soc., Second Ser., No. xxxiv, 211; Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 115.]

Witnesses: William de Tancarville; Geoffrey fitz Payn.

[Chart. R. 52 Hen. III, m. 4 (enrolment of Inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. ii. 102.]

William de Pont de l'Arche seems to have become sheriff about 1110.

1635. [1120–9]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That by the present charter he confirms to the monks of the church of SS. Mary and Nicholas of Spalding, at the request of Ranulf Earl of Chester, and the Countess Lucia, the churches of Belchford (Beltisford), Scamblesby (Scamelybi) and Minting [co. Lincs.] with all their appurtenances.

[B.M. Add. MS. 35296, fo. 87v^o, also fo. 386v^o (Spalding Cart.) (copies).]

The Countess Lucia was the widow of the founder, Ivo Taillebois and the churches part of her property.

See Monast. iii. 217 for confirmations made by her and by Earl Ranulf, who died c. 1129. See also Complete Peerage, vii, App. J (pp. 743–6).

Precept by Henry I to Geoffrey de Clinton and his ministers in Warwickshire: That all the land and men of the Abbot of Thorney are to be quit and free from all pleas, complaints, shires, hundreds, and all other matters save murdrum and latrocinium, until the King orders otherwise by his writ.

Witness: Nigel¹ de Albini.

[B.M. Add. MS. 29436, fo. 17 (copy). E.H.R. xxxv. 394.]

1638. [1115–29.] Woodstock

Charter by Henry I addressed to the Abp. and all the barons and lieges of Yorkshire: Granting to the monks of Marmoutier by Tours, serving God at [Holy Trinity], York, all that Ralph Paynel and other benefactors have given them, especially Sturton [in Aberford, co. Yorks.] and the church of Leeds [co. Yorks.]. Noone is to wrong them therein under penalty of £10.

Witnesses: Nigel de Albini; Robert de Brus.

Sturton and Leeds were held of Ilbert de Lacy in 1086. It is probable that this special confirmation is subsequent to the forfeiture of Robert de Lacy (c. 1115).¹

¹ We are indebted to Mr. C. T. Clay for this suggestion.

1639. [1130, Mar. 30?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all his barons of Yorkshire, Cumberland, Northumberland, and Westmoreland: That he has given to Ivo son of Forne all the land which his father held from the King in chief.

Henry was at Woodstock at Easter 1130, and David was in England in the same year (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iii. 403).

1640. [1130, c. May 8.] Rochester

Precept by Henry I to Rainer the Sheriff [of Lincolnshire] and the officials and reeves of Torksey: That the household-stuff and all the goods of the monks of Blyth which their men can affirm to be their private property are to be free from toll and passage-money and every custom as they can show that this always has been the rule, and as it ought to be.

Witness: H. de Lam' [? Hugh de Laval].

[Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 152, fo. 131 (transcript from roll of Blyth Priory).]

Rainer of Bath appears in the P.R. 31 Hen. I, 109 as sheriff between 1128 and 1130. In 1133 William fitz Hacon was sheriff (No. 1784). The King was at Rochester on 8 May 1130 (Farrer, Itin. 615). Hugh de Laval was dead at Michaelmas 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 34) and the witness may be Henry de la Mare (ibid. 3).

1642. [1130, Mar.–Sept.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Richard Basset and A[ubrey] de Vere: That the church of St. Edmund [of Bury] and Abbot Anselm have their sac and soc, and liberties in all respects and especially in their 8½ hundreds as in the time of William I and William II and as the King's own charter attests. If anyone has infringed these liberties, the addressees are to do full right; and they are to defend the property of St. Edmund until the King's return from Normandy.

Witnesses: [Geoffrey] the chancellor;¹ [Bernard], Bp. of St. David's.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 14847, fo. 38v^o ('Album Registrum S. Edmundi'); Harl. MS. 743, fo. 60v^o; C.U.L. Ff. ii. 33, fo. 28. E.H.R. xxiv, 428; Douglas, Feudal Docs., 75.] Farrer, Itin. 614.

R. Basset and A. de Vere were sheriffs after Michaelmas 1129. Henry went to Normandy in the autumn of 1130.

The author of the Historia gives the date 1128 in his chronological table; but this is out of the question.

1644. [1130?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I 'dei gratia rex Anglorum', addressed generally: That no one henceforth is to claim anything in Stonor (Estanores) [near Sandwich]; but Hugh Abbot of St. Augustine and the brethren of that place are to have that land and the shore as far as the middle of the stream freely and quietly; 'quoniam ita diracionatum est inter homines de Lundonia et homines abbatis Widonis tempore Willielmi regis fratris mei coram justicia sua apud Estanores sicut testatur carta ejusdem fratris¹ mei quam ego bene confirmo'.

1645. [1130, Mar. to Sept. ?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I addressed to the Abp. of Canterbury and generally: That he has granted to the citizens of London various liberties, and the County of Middlesex at a yearly farm of £300.

Witnesses: The Bp. of Winchester; Robert fitz Richer [? Richard]; Hugh Bigod; Alfred of Totnes; William de Albini; Hubert the King's chamberlain; William de Montfichet; Hasculf de Tani; John Belet; Robert son of Siward. [1130-2.]

On the date and on the text of the charter, see Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, 366-73. He places it after the first Pipe Roll. The question is reviewed by J. S. P. Tatlock (Speculum xi. 461), who suggests shortly after Easter 1132 as a probable date. Alfred of Totnes ['Alur' fil' Johel] was paying relief for his father's land in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, p. 153). If Hubert the chamberlain is a mistake for Herbert, the charter cannot be later than 1130, when Herbert was dead (ibid., p. 37). Tatlock's suggestion that 'Hubert' is the person who was chamberlain to Stephen's queen seems less likely than such a mistake. Robert fitz Richard [de Clare] died in 1132 (Dunmow Chronicle, Cotton MS. Vesp. A. IX, fo. 99).

Professor J. C. Russell¹ argues from a possible allusion in Geoffrey of Monmouth to the 'laws' of London that the Historia Britonum was written shortly after the granting of the charter, and that the reduction of the farm to £300 was consequent on the fire assigned by John of Worcester (Flor. of Worc. Chron. ed. Thorpe, ii. 93) to in hebdomada Pentecostes, quod est ii. Idus Maii; and that the charter was issued in 1133. But if the day of the month is correct, it is more likely that the fire took place in 1130, when 14 May was 'in Whitsun week', than in 1133 when it was actually Whit-Sunday. The silence of the Pipe Roll is not conclusive, though it is more likely that the charter was issued in 1131 or 1132, than that it was granted too late to appear in the Michaelmas account of 1130.

1646. [1130?] Gloucester

Witnesses: Miles the constable; Robert d'Oilli. [1129-33.]

[Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 27v^o (copy).]

Possibly of the same year as Nos. 1647-8.

1647. [1130?] Keynsham (Chainesham)

Precept by Henry I to his justices, sheriffs, &c.: That all the property of the monks of Bath be quit of tolls, &c.

Witness: Robert de Vere.

Henry seems to have been in Somerset in 1121 and 1130.

1648. [1130.] Cheddar (Cedrehola)

Order by Henry to the Prior of St. Albans: That the Abbot of Ramsey is to have the stream between Shillington [co. Beds.] and Hexton [co. Herts.] as in the time of William I and William II, otherwise the sheriffs Aubrey de Vere and Richard are to do right.

Witness; Edward of Salisbury.

[Copies in P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163] I. 28 (Ramsey Cart.), fo. 57; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Cart. i. 247; Ramsey Chron. 280.] Farrer, Itin. 605.

Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere were joint-sheriffs of both counties from Easter 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 52, 100). Edward of Salisbury was dead at Michaelmas 1130 (ibid. 81).

1649. [1130.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Henry Bp. of Winchester, William de Pont de l'Arche, the sheriff and all of Hampshire: That he has given to the Abbot and monks of St. Martin's, Battle, the land of 'Langeherst' in his manor of Meon, valued 70s. per annum, in part exchange for the land of Carmarthen given to Bp. Bernard and the church of St. David's.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; G[eo]ffrey the chancellor; W[illiam] de Pont de l'Arche; Robert de Vere. [1129-33.]

[Copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart., fo. 27v^o; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 14 (omitting witnesses).]

Bp. Bernard seems to have held the honour of Carmarthen in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 90).

1650. [1130?] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to S[effrid] Bp. of Chichester, Anselm of Rouen, and the sheriff and all of Sussex: That he has given to the Abbot and monks of St. Martin's, Battle 40s. which he has kept back in the manor of Appledram with the farm of Bosham in part exchange for the land of Carmarthen given to Bp. Bernard and the church of St. David's.

Witnesses: William Abp. [of Canterbury]; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Geoffrey the chancellor; Robert de Vere; W[illiam] de Pont de l'Arche. [1129–33.]

This must be of the same date as No. 1649. Anselm was the farmer of Bosham and no allowance for this 40s. appears in the Pipe Roll of 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 72). The cartulary gives the King's style as 'dei gracia', though the original does not.

1651. [1130?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs in whose counties the monks of Battle hold lands: That the lands and men of the Abbot of Battle be quit of all pleas and complaints, and of the pleas of R. Basset and all else, as the charters of the King and his father order. [1100–33.]

[Linc. Inn. Hale MS. 87, fo. 15 (copy).]

Richard Basset occurs on the P.R. of 1130 (p. 70) as holding pleas in Sussex.

1652. [1130?] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Rainer of Bath, the Sheriff [of Lincolnshire]: To cause the monks of Burwell [co. Lincoln] to hold their churches of Burwell and the land, &c., belonging to those churches as well as they held them in the time of Ansgot of Burwell and of Humphrey de Albini.

The limits of date are fixed by the mention of Rainer. Humphrey de Albini was only lately dead in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 111).

1653. [c. 1130.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to the Sheriff of London and all barons and sheriffs in whose bailiwicks Gervase [of Cornhill] son of Roger [nephew of Hubert] has lands: That Gervase is to be seised of all the lands and property which Roger held on the day when he started for Jerusalem. He and his land are to be in the wardship and seisin of John and Robert, the sons of Ralph [fitz Ebrard].

Witness: [Robert] Earl of Gloucester. [1121–30.]

[D. of L., Royal Charters [D. L. 10], No. 8. Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, 305.]

On the family history of Gervase, see Round, op. cit. The lands were still in the hands of John and Robert in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 147).

1654. [1130.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to the church of St. Mary of Elstow (Helenestow) and the nuns there the churches of St. Andrew, Hitchin (Hicche) [co. Herts.] and Westoning (Westuna) [co. Beds.], the towns of Elstow and Wils-hampstead, and other lands named; quit of aids, gelds, hidages, danegeld, assizes, murders, pleas and complaints, scutage, wardpenny and all customs; with soc, sac, &c., and all liberties held by any free churches in his land.

Witnesses: David King [of Scots]; T[hurstan] Abp. [of York]; R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; Eustace (Fu') fitz John; R[obert] de Brus. [1124–33.]

David was in England in 1126 and 1130, but the presence of Robert de Brus makes 1130 the more likely date. Farrer considers the charter 'of doubtful character'.

1655. [1130?] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere and the sheriff and all the King's burgesses of Guildford [co. Surrey]: That the men of Geoffrey Purcell, the King's usher, of Catshill [co. Surrey] and Chiddingfold [co. Surrey] shall be as free from all toll and custom as they were in his father's time.

Witness: Miles of Gloucester. [1129-33.]

Bentham's text collated with Cotton Titus A. I.

Oin or Audin was in England in May 1130 (Flor. of Worc. Chron. ii. 92). Hervey died at the end of August 1131 and Henry was only back in England in that month.

1657. [1130]

Notification by Henry I to Simon Bp. of Worcester and Robert Earl of Gloucester and Miles the constable and all the barons of Gloucestershire, French and English: That he has confirmed to the monks of Gloucester the land of Scott's Quarry (Sotteshovere) [in Harescombe] which Roger of Berkeley gave them in his lifetime, to be held as freely as the manor of Standish, to which it belongs.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 154v^o (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 119.]

Precept by Henry I to Miles of Gloucester and G[eoffrey] d' Abetôt and Hugh the villein, and the forester of Malvern: Not to meddle with the wood of Woolridge (Wyvilrugge) [in Maisemore] and of 'Corswell', because the King has given it to the monks of Gloucester 'in elemosinam'. [1128-35.]

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], ff. 55v^o and 165v^o (copies). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 268; ii. 148.]

Hugh the villein was in the King's service in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 79).

1659. [1130?]

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the Earl of Huntingdon and W. de Luvetot, &c.: That he has confirmed all their possessions (specified) to the church and Canons of St. Mary at Huntingdon; including the chapel of Huntingdon Castle and the school of the town.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; David King of Scotland; cetera desunt. [1126-35.]

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae, [C. 52] 8 [H] (8). Monast. vi. 79; Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 240.]

David came to England in 1126 after Michaelmas. This was the first visit after his coronation. He was in England in 1130 and William de Luvetot entertained him at Blyth (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 9). David was himself Earl of Huntingdon.

1660. [1130?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere and the Sheriff and barons of Nottinghamshire: That he permits [Alexander] Bp. of Lincoln to divert the royal highway (regiam stratam), which used to pass through Newark, in whatever way he pleases; and to make a causeway for his fish-pond.

Witnesses: G[eoffrey] the chancellor; William de Albin, Brito. [1129–33.]

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 4, fo. 4d, No. 26 and fo. 11d, No. 71A; Reg. Superant. No. 5; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 7; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 3. Monast. viii. 1273 (xxiv); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 26.] Farrer, Itin. 665.

The bp.'s steward fined in 1130 for making a causeway in the high-road. Though he accounts in Lincolnshire the trespass may have been at Newark. (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 117).

1661. [1130?] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to the barons, sheriff, officials, and lieges of Notts.: That Alexander Bp. of Lincoln may make the ditch and the causeway (calcedam) of his fish-pond at Newark on the Fosse Way (chimum fossae) and divert the road through the said township as he pleases.

Witness: William de Albin Brito.

[Copies in Lincoln Cath. Reg. A. i. 4, fo. 7, No. 46; Reg. Superant., No. 17; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 9; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 51. Monast. viii. 1274 (xli); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 46.]

1662. [1130.] Trentham [co. Staffs.] (Trenham)

Precept by Henry I to W[alter] Espec and Eustace fitz John: To cause the Prior and Canons of St. Oswald of Nostell to have and hold their twelve bovates in Bramham, as given by Anschetill de Bulemer and confirmed by the King's charter, and as they held them on the day when Anschetill was alive and dead. Whatever Robert Fossard or Bertrand de Bulemer have unjustly seized since the death of Anschetill is to be entirely restored.

Witness: Geoffrey de Clinton. [1129–33.]

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX (Nostell Cart.), fo. 7v° (olim 12) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1016.]

Anschetel de Bulmer died in 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 28, 146). Robert Fossard fined for recovering his land in 1130, and the address to Espec and fitz John suggests that date.

1663. [c. 1129–30.] Farnham (Fernham)

Notification by Henry I to William Bp. of Exeter, W[illiam] fitz John, and G[eoffrey] de Furneaux, and all of Devon and Cornwall: That he wills, grants, and orders that the monks of Tavistock take back into the demesne of the church all lands alienated without the King's leave since the death of William I, more especially Cary (Cari) and Panson (Pannestane) [in St. Giles's on the Heath, co. Devon].

Witness: John the marshal.

[Copy in Tavistock Cartulary (Woburn Abbey), fo. 6v°. E.H.R. lxii. 356.]

For date compare No. 1667.

1664. [1130.] London

Notification by Henry I to A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln, R[ichard] Basset, and Aubrey de Vere and all of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted to St. Mary's, Thorney, a market at the abbey's manor of Yaxley, with soc, sac, toll, and all other customs, every Thursday, as granted by charter of William II.

Witnesses: William de Albin Brito; Richard Basset; Baldwin fitz Gilbert.

[C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii) (copy); Bodl. Dodsworth MS. 85, fo. 32; Dugdale MS. 21, fo. 146v° Harl. MS. 258, fo. 138 (transcripts).]

The abbot fined for this charter in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 49). This charter is probably an abridgement of No. 1666, or the latter an expansion of this, in spite of the differing place-dates.

1665. [1130?] Brampton [co. Hunts.]

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, the sheriff, barons and lieges of Lincolnshire, and his officials of Stamford: That he has granted to St. Mary of Thorney and Abbot Robert and his convent the rights of sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief and all other liberties and customs pertaining to their lands and men in Stamford.

Witnesses: G[eoffrey] the chancellor; W[illiam] de Albin Brito. [1127–33.]

[Copies in C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (olim viii) v°; Harl. MS. 3658, fo. 53 (Cart. of St. James's Priory, Deeping).]

1666. [1130.] Brampton [co. Hunts.]

Notification by Henry I to A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln and R[ichard] Basset and A[ubrey] de Vere and all his lieges of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted to the church of St. Mary of Thorney a market in the manor of Yaxley, with sac and soc, and toll and all customs, to be held on Thursday in each week, as William II granted and confirmed by his charter and as the King orders by his own. No one is to molest those resorting to the market, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: G[oeffrey] the chancellor; William de Albini, Brito; R. Basset; B[aldwin] fitz Gilbert.

[Copies in Chart. R. 12 Hen. III, m. 11; 8 Ed. II, No. 36 (enrolment of Inspeximus); C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, fo. 19 (viii) (omitting place-date and the last two witnesses); Cotton MS. Aug. II, fo. 12 (Inspeximus of 1484). Cal. Chart. R. i. 65; Monast. ii. 608 (xxxviii).] Farrer, Itin. 659.

Dated by the entry on the P.R. (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 49). The charter of William II referred to is R. 477, consequently pater meus must be for frater meus as in the Cambridge MS. and in No. 1664.

1667. [1129–30.] Dilton? [Wilts.] (Dulton)

Precept by Henry I to Robert Arundel, William fitz John, Geoffrey de Fornellis, and all his ministers of Devonshire: That the monks of St. Martin des Champs and (et) Barnstaple are to hold their land at Pilton and Churchill in East Down [co. Devon] as freely as was granted by his charter.

Witness: Robert de Vere.

[Original in Trésor des Chartes, Archives Nat., L. 1440 (now K. 22, No. 55); Chart. R. 10 Ed. II, m. 15, No. 39 (Inspeximus). Round, C.D.F. 460 (No. 1270) (calendared); Cal. Chart. R. iii. 331; Watkin, Hist. of Totnes, 676 (transl.).] Farrer, Itin. 604.

Geoffrey de Furneaux was sheriff in the two years ending Michaelmas 1130, and Robert Arundel and William fitz John appear to have been justices in eyre in the west in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 13, 152, 155).

1668. [1130.] Waltham

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That Nicholas Basset has quit-claimed to the King the lands which he held in chief, viz. Mixbury [co. Oxon.] and Willaston [in Mixbury] and what he had in Newton Purcell [co. Oxon.] and Wilcot [co. Oxon.]. These lands the King has given to Richard Basset and his heirs to be held as well and honourably as Ralph Basset his father held them on the day he was alive and dead.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln; G[oeffrey] the chancellor; W[illiam] Earl Warenne; B[rian] fitz Count; the Earl of Gloucester; Payn fitz John; Aubrey de Vere; Robert de Vere; Eustace fitz John; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Robert Harundel; W[illiam] fitz John. [1129–33.]

[B.M. Sloane Roll xxxi. 4, m. 4, No. 49 (copy, c. 1250).] Farrer, Itin. 599.

This seems to be the transaction mentioned in P.R. 31 Hen. I, 82.

1669. [1100–30]

Precept by Henry I to William son of Ralf and A. the clerk: That the men of St. Martin's, Battle, of Dunge Marsh (Dingemareis) be quit of all custom, and particularly of the coinage-tax (cuneus) of Romney. If they fail to act Hamo Dapifer is to do so.

[Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 15 (copy).]

Hamo was Sheriff of Kent until about 1116. William and A. may be William de Eynesford and Ansfrid 'the clerk' or 'dapifer'. William was sheriff for a long period after Hamo. Ansfrid held Boxley at some time before it was given to Rochester and was Sheriff in 1131 or later. If they are the persons addressed the date may be about 1116. Cuneus is presumably a local payment for the privilege of having a moneyer (see Brit. Mus. Cat. of English Coins, Norman Kings, i, p. lxx). A moneyer named Godric was coining at Romney within the last ten years of Henry I's reign (op. cit., ii. 299).

1670. [1100–30.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to R[obert] son of R[alf] de Hastings, D[rew] de Pevenesel, and all justiciars, &c., of Sussex: That he confirms to the monks of St. Martin's, Battle, and their men, all their roads throughout his lands, particularly that from Battle to Hastings, the roads round Battle, the crossings over (ultra) Winchelsea, and their road over (super) Ashdown (Essestdone), as in the reigns of William I, William II, and in his own. No one is to injure their men or goods within the borough of Hastings or without. The justiciars are not to interfere within the lowy any more than in the King's demesne.

[Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 14 (copy, omitting witnesses).]

This differs from No. 859 in omitting Henry Count of Eu, and in mentioning the men of the abbey and the borough of Hastings. It also omits any reference to hunting. Drew of Pevensey seems to have died shortly before Michaelmas 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 69).

1671. [1121–30.] Silverstone (Siluestr')

Mandate by Henry I to Ever[ard] Bp. of Norwich: That Roger of Valognes and his monks at Binham hold their portion of the church of Walsingham, which Warin the priest detained from them, as well and peaceably as Robert their predecessor held it, as R[oger] proved his right against G[eoffrey] de Fauarch'. The bp. is not to let any one do them wrong.

Witness: the chancellor.

[Cotton MS. Claud. D. XIII (Binham Cart.), fo. 41 (copy).] Farrer, Itin. 529.

Geoffrey de Favarches died in 1129–30 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 94). This charter is apparently later than No. 1396.

1672. [1107–30]

Precept by Henry I to John Bp. of Lisieux and Roger de Mandeville: To do full right to the Abbot of [St. Stephen's,] Caen, respecting the water of Vie (Vei[m]).

[Paris, Bibl. Ste Geneviève, MS. 1656, fo. 20 (copy). E.H.R. xxiv. 218; Haskins, Norman Inst. 98; Deville, Analyse, 18 (incorrectly).]

Roger de Mandeville was succeeded by his son Stephen before 1130 (Stapleton, Rott. Scacc. Normann. ii, p. clxxxix).

Following this charter in the MS. is a note of one of Roger de Neufbourg as dapifer totius Normannie at Avranches in plena assisa giving quittance to the Abbot of Caen's men 'of all things sold or bought except on market-day'. If Roger (as seems likely) is the Earl of Warwick of that name, the charter is probably before 1119.

1673. [1123–30.] London

Charter by Henry I addressed to the Bps. of Norwich and Ely, the Sheriffs and all of Suffolk: Granting to Oin Bp. of Évreux the manor of Bramford, &c., to hold as the King held, with freedom from shire, hundred, geld, danegeld, pleas, and aids.

Witnesses: G[eoffrey] the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; G[eoffrey] de Clinton.

[Copies in Arch. of the Eure, G. 122, fo. 40; Ely Bp. Mun. Lib. M, 80b–81a. Round C.D.F. 97 (No. 285) (calendared).]

The Bp. of Évreux is allowed danegeld in Suffolk on the P.R. of 1130.

1674. [1100–30.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and bailiffs of all England and the sea-ports: That all the household-stuff and other property of Michael de Hamslope, which his men can certify to be for his own use, is to be free of toll and passage-money and all custom.

No one is to disturb him contrary to this writ, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witness: W[illiam] Peverel of Dover.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 21v^o (copy).]

Michael was dead in 1131, when his daughter married William Mauduit (No. 1719).

1675. [c. 1121–30]

Notitia of the gift in alms by Hugh de Laval to Bernard the scribe of the church of Cudington [co. Surrey (now Nonsuch Park)].

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; William Cumin; Patrick de Chaources; William the almoner; Nicholas brother of Bernard; Morel of the King's chapel.

[Cotton MS. Cleop. C. VII, fo. 76v^o (olim 99v^o) (copy). E.H.R. xiv. 429.]

Hugh de Laval died shortly before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 34). Morel of the chapel had quittance of danc-geld in Middlesex in that year (ibid. 152). Robert de Sigillo does not attest before 1121.

1676. [c. 1130]

Notitia of the quit-claim by Stephen Count of Mortain to Bernard the scribe for life of a rent of 12*d.* yearly due from his land in Fleshmonger Street, Winchester.

Witnesses: Robert de la Hay; Richard his son; William of Glastonbury; Eudo of Bayeux; Anselm Vicomte of Rouen; Robert de Secquille, dapifer of the count.

[Cotton MS. Cleop. C. VII, fo. 76v^o (olim 99v^o) (copy). E.H.R. xiv. 424.]

1677. [c. 1130]

Notitia of the gift in alms by Robert de Ferrers to Bernard the scribe of the church of Potterspury (Piri) [co. Northants.].

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; William the almoner; Henry de Albini.

1678. [c. 1118–30]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has confirmed to God and the Canons of St. Oswald [of Nostell] the gift of Adeliza, who was the wife of Ralph Chesneduit, and of her sons Simon and Hugh, given by them in the King's presence; namely, the church of Cheddington (Chetendona) [co. Bucks.] with 1½ hides of land which Adeliza gave there; and in Salden (Saldena) [co. Bucks.] two hides of land, which Simon had given his mother in lieu of her marriage-portion in Cheddington; three virgates of land in Middleton Cheney (Mideltona) [co. Northants.]; and the church of [King's] Langley (Langel') [co. Herts.] which Simon Chesneduit gave with a hundred acres of land quit of all service.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 112 (Nostell Cart.) (copy).]

Simon Chenduut probably died c. 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 81, 140). He appears in the Northamptonshire Survey (V.C.H. Northants. i. 368) as holding Middleton Cheney, which is consistent with this date (see G. H. Fowler, Dunstable Cartulary, n. 171).

1679. [c. 1128–30.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Eustace fitz John and W[alter] Espec, Bertram de Bulmer and all of Yorkshire: That he has confirmed to the monks of SS. Peter and Hilda of Whitby the church of Ayton in Cleveland with its appurtenances in perpetual alms; this for the souls of his father, King William, of himself, and of his heirs. Also the church of Middlesborough, that they may hold it as a free cell of their house.

Witness: G[eoffrey] the chancellor.

Bertram de Bulmer became sheriff at Michaelmas 1128 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 78).

1680. 1130 [Autumn]

'Apud Rothomagum anno incarnationis Domini Millesimo centesimo tricesimo.'

1681. [1130?] Croix-Saint-Leufroy

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Worcester, the sheriff and all of Gloucestershire: That he has confirmed the gift to the Canons of Llanthony by Richard fitz Pons, with the leave of Hugh fitz Osbert, of whose fee it is, in free alms of Turkdean [co. Glos.].

Witnesses: Brian fitz Count; Hugh Bigod; Miles of Gloucester; William fitz Odo. [1123–30.]

[Copy in P.R.O. Llanthony Cartulary, K. 6683, fo. xxvi B.]

[Richard fitz Pons was presumably dead in 1130 as his name does not appear in the P.R.]

1682. [1123–30.] Croix-Saint-Leufroy

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Salisbury and the justiciars and all his sheriffs, &c., of England, Normandy, and the sea-ports: The household-stuff (corrodium) and clothing and all other goods of the monks of Montebourg are to be free from toll and passage-money and every custom. No one is to infringe this precept, on pain of £10 forfeiture. Whatever has been taken from them in the way of toll is to be restored.

1683. [1123–30.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Richard Bp. of Coutances and William de Albini: That Humphrey de Albini is to hold in peace his land and tithe of Morsalines [Manche] and the mill and whatever he has in the said vill. The King confirms Humphrey's grant of the land, after his death, to the church of Montebourg.

Witness: Robert de la Haie.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 12 (copy). E.H.R. xxiv. 221; Haskins, Norman Inst. 102.] Farrer, Itin. 510.

Humphrey de Albini seems to have died soon before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 111).

1684. [1121–30.] 'Alg' [Argentan ?]

Precept by Henry I to William de Albini: That the church of Montebourg hold the land of Morsalines which Humphrey de Adevilla gave with the consent of William's father. Unless William obeys the writ, the King's justiciar is to execute it.

Witnesses: Robert Earl of Gloucester; Per W. Filiast'.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 13 (copy). E.H.R. xxiv. 221; Haskins, Norman Inst. 102.] Farrer, Itin. 618.

This seems probably of the same date as Farrer, Itin. 583 (No. 1949). A comparison of this writ with No. 1683 suggests that Humphrey de Albini and Humphrey de Adevilla are the same person and that W. Filiast' stands for W. de Glaston'.

1685. [c. 1130.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Walter Espec and Eustace fitz John: To let Hugh son of Eudo [of Morwick] have the land of West Chevington (Blacha Chiuentona) [Northumb.] which the King has given him.

Witness: William Maltravers.

[Harl. MS. 1985, fo. 81v^o (copy). Arch. Ael., 4th Ser. xii. 274.]

The date is probably determined by the entry in P.R. 31 Hen. I, 35 which may refer to this. In any case it is of the later part of the reign.

1685a. [1100–30.] Gloucester

Precept by Henry I to the Abbot of Ramsey: That he fail not to do right to Hugh Oilard for any writ (pro aliquo brevi).

Witness: the chancellor.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 232.]

Hugh Oilard had been succeeded by his son William before 1130 [P.R. 31 Hen. I, 50.]

1686. [1123–30.] Bonneville [Normandy]

Notification of a grant by Henry to Rainald Abbot of Ramsey: Confirming all lands acquired since he became abbot, viz. Stukeley [co. Hunts.], Barford [co. Hunts.], mill at Ickleford [co. Herts.], wood and assart at Crawley [co. Beds.], Holywell [co. Hunts.], Burnham, Ringstead, Hilgay, Walsoken [co. Norfolk], Elton [co. Hunts.], Warboys [co. Abbot Rainald died 20 Dec. 1130 (Farrer, Itin. 633). Burnham may be Bramham (Yorks., W.R.), given to Ramsey by Nigel Fossard.

1687. 1131, Jan. 13. Chartres

Notification by Henry I addressed to the Abps. of Canterbury and York and the Bps. of London and Winchester and generally for England: Giving to the abbey of Fontevrault, for the weal of the souls of his father and mother and of his relatives and for the redemption of his sins and for the prosperity of his whole realm a hundred marks yearly for their livelihood in Lent viz., sixty marks from the ferm of London and forty from the ferm of Winchester. This gift was made in 1130, confirmed at his entreaty by Pope Innocent, approved by the bps., barons, and people (personis) of his kingdom and of Normandy and formally ratified by himself. It is to be inviolable for ever.

Witnesses: Hugh Abp. of Rouen; John Bp. of Lisieux; John Bp. of Sées; Audin Bp. of Évreux; Richard Bp. of Bayeux; Robert de Sigillo; Count Theobald [of Blois]; Robert Earl of Gloucester; William Earl Warenne; Rabel de Tancarville; Hugh Bigod; Brian fitz Count; Geoffrey de Clinton; Andrew de Baudemont (Baldimento).

This charter should be before Nigel's nomination to Ely, since the chancery does not usually wait till the consecration of a bp. to give him his title. The presence of both archbishops suggests Aug. 1131, when both attested a charter at 'Waltham', on Henry's return from Normandy.

1711. 1131 [Aug. ?] [Bishop's] Waltham

Notification by Henry I 'rex Anglie', addressed generally: That he has given to the church of SS. Precept by Henry I to Richard Basset, &c.: That they cause the Abbot and monks of Battle to have the tithe of Mildenhall, with the church and its appurtenances, as well as at the dedication of the abbey church, when the tithe was given, or ever since. If they fail to do so, the Bp. of Norwich is to do it. [1129–33.]

The place-date suggests the council of Northampton as the occasion.

1713. [1131, Sept. 8 ?] Northampton

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That he has granted to the church of St. Peter of Cluny 100 marcates of rent annually, viz. 60 in the farm and rents of London and 40 in the rents of Lincoln.

1714. [1131, Sept. 8 ?] Northampton

Precept by Henry I to the Sheriff of Norfolk: That A[nselm] Abbot of St. Benet's Holme have custody of the land of Adam Dapifer until the claims of Robert and William, Adam's brothers, be decided, and also hold his land of Antringham [co. Norfolk] as quit-claimed by Adam before the justices of Norfolk, sc. A[ubrey] de Vere and Robert fitz Walter.

Witness: Robert Avenel. [1131-3.]

[Cotton MS. Galba E. II, fo. 33v^o (copy). West, St. Benet Holme, i. 28, No. 51.] Farrer, Itin. 658.

Dr. West (St. Benet, p. 27) dates this 1134-5 because Anselm succeeded William Basset in 1134. But Henry was not in England after Aug. 1133. Therefore, either A. is an interpolation or Oxnedes gives the wrong year for William's death. The mention of Robert FitzWalter as Aubrey's colleague as justice seems to indicate that Richard Basset was not appointed simultaneously with Aubrey de Vere. Robert seems to have surrendered the sheriffdom after Michaelmas 1129 as he remains liable in 1130 for 22 marks from the profits of the county- and hundred-courts (P.R. 31 Hen. I, pp. 90, 97).

[1129–33.]

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 21 (copy). Dugdale, Baronage, i. 398 (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 661.

The earlier limit is given by the appearance of Rabel de Tancarville. His father died 1129. The witnesses are largely the same as those of No. 1715. As there is no trace of this transaction on the P.R. of 1130, Michael was probably then still alive.

1720. [1131?] Woodstock

For the Cistercian mission to England see E.H.R. viii. 640. John the marshal does not appear as a witness before 1129. Rievaulx is said to have been founded 5 Mar. 1132.

[Pat. R. 5 Ric. II, pt. 2, m. 10 (copy); Lansd. MS. 317, fo. 91 (transcript).]

The mention of Rabel as chamberlain gives 1129 as the earlier limit of date.

1723. [1131?] Cambridge

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Hereford and the justiciar, sheriff, &c., of Gloucestershire and Herefordshire: Of a grant to Miles of Gloucester, constable, of the land of Bicknor (Bichenovero), [co. Glos.] which belonged to Uluric de Dena.

Bp. Robert was nominated in 1129 and consecrated 28 June 1131. The correspondence of the witnesses with those at Northampton (No. 1715) suggests that the temporalities were not restored till after the consecration.

1725. [1131.] Woodstock

The dedication of the new church at Rochester took place on 8 May 1130. Ansfrid Dapifer was not sheriff till after Michaelmas 1130, when Rualon of Avranches accounted, and Henry was abroad from harvest 1130 to July 1131. Compare No. 1669.

¹ Ballard (British Borough Charters, 1042-1214, 168) translates 'barges', but it seems more natural to suppose that the prohibition is on loading (except from the wharf) for land transport.

1730. [1129-31?] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York, justiciars, barons, the Sheriff of Yorks., &c.: That he has granted to Eustace fitz John certain liberties in his manor of Brompton (Brum-ton) [in Pickering Lyth] which he holds of the fee of Roger de Mowbray (Molbrai) and Robert de l'Isle and Roger de Clere (Clera).

Hugh de Waltervilla appears on the P.R. of 1130, 83 as answering 'pro pecunia Abbati de Burgo'. He was perhaps bailiff or keeper of the abbey during the vacancy in 1132. Farrer suggests a visit by Henry to East Anglia in the spring of that year.

1745. [1132?] Cirencester

Precept by Henry I to justices and generally for England and the sea-ports: That all the gear (corredium) and goods of the Abbot and Canons of Cirencester which their men will affirm to be their own be quit of toll, passage, and all custom; on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: G[eoffrey] the chancellor; John the marshal (mar). [1131–3.]

[Longleat, Marq. of Bath's Cirencester cartulary. Baddeley, Hist. of Cirencester, 115.]

Serlo, the first abbot, is said to have been appointed in 1131 (John of Worcester, Chron. 31 [= Florence of Worcester, ii. 92]), though Henry I began the 'new work' in 1117 (Florence of Worcester, Chron. ii. 70).

1746. 1132. Gillingham

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Rendering and granting to God and the church of the Blessed Mary of Lincoln and Alexander Bp. of Lincoln and all his successors for ever the manor of Biggleswade [co. Beds.] with all the appurtenances (specified) and privileges which belonged to it when it was in the King's hand.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; G[eoffrey] the chancellor; Nigel nephew of the bp.; Robert de Sigillo; Robert de Vere, constable; Humphrey de Bohun, Dapifer; William de Pont de l'Arche, chamberlain.

Seal (missing) on tongue in left margin.

[Lincoln Cath. Charter A. i. 1, 2 (? original); 'Reg. Antiquiss.', fo. 7d, No. 53; 'Reg. Superant.', No. 24; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI, fo. 10; Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 51 (copies). Monast. viii. 1271; Bibl. de l'École des Chartes, lxi. 575; E.H.R. xxiii. 726; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 53 (facs.).] Farrer, Itin. 678.

'Anno ab incarnatione Domini millesimo centesimo tricesimo secundo.' The addition of the date is unusual in a charter issuing from the chancery, and the method of attaching the seal is exceptional, though used for bilingual Canterbury charters. The writing also looks late. But the witnesses are possible (though William de Pont de l'Arche is very rarely spoken of as chamberlain, cf. No. 1872), and the other peculiarities might be accounted for if the document was drawn up by the recipients.

1747. [1132?]

Charter by Henry King of England and Duke of Normandy to the abbey of Aunay: Confirming all gifts made to it, and taking it under his protection.

[Arch. Dep. Calvados, No. 56 (D'Anisy). D'Anisy, Cal. des Archives du Calvados, i. 46 (abstract).]

This may be the same as No. 1544. The original has not been identified. Aunay is said to have been founded in 1131.

1748. [1132?]

Notification by Henry I (rex Anglie et dux Normannorum) addressed generally: That he confirms to St. John Baptist's, Llanthony, and the brethren there, for himself and his wife and the souls of Matilda his wife and William his son, the gifts in alms of Hugh de Lacy and Payn fitz John, viz. Conuuon [Cowarne?], Rethresanc [Llantrissant?], Rethwernan [Llanwarne?], Vetus Villa, and Frome minor [Bishop's Frome], half a hide at Ocle Pychard (Acla), sundry parcels of land in Archenfield, a fishery and 3 acres of land in Holme Lacy (Hamma), and the share which Orc and his ancestors had of the fisheries of Tidenham and the weir (gort) of Hodnet, and 2 marks a year added by Pain. Also the gift of Nigel son of Herfast in Henlow [co. Beds.] of the fee of Henry de Albini, 3 hides and three-eighths of a virgate.

Witnesses: Turstin Abp. of York; Geoffrey the chancellor; Adel[ulf, prior of Nostell?] [1123–33.]

1749. [1132?] Shaftesbury (apud Sanctum Edwardum)

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for Yorkshire: That he has granted to Thomas Malesoures (Mala Opera) in fee the ministry held by his father William of keeping the King's house at York with the livery of 5d. a day, as the King granted it to his father by charter.

Witnesses: Ingram de Say; William Martel; Roger Trussebut. [c. 1130–3.]

[P.R.O., Assize Roll (York), 1041 (schedule attached to m. 3). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 525.]

Farrer attributes this charter to Henry II, possibly on the ground that William held land at Swinton (near Wath-upon-Deane) in Stephen's reign (ibid., p. 406). But this may have been Thomas's son, as the names seem to occur alternately. Ingram de Say and William Martel both witness charters of the later years of Henry I as well as of Stephen. Henry was at Gillingham in 1132 (No. 1746).

1750. [1132?] Gillingham

Precept by Henry I addressed generally: That the household-goods (corredium) of the Abbot of Peterborough are to be free from toll.

1751. [1109–32.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Ely and his barons, justiciars, sheriffs, and lieges, French and English, of Cambridgeshire: That Bernard Abbot of Ramsey proved a title against Payn Peverel, in Bernard's court at St. Ives before the King's justice, to the lands of [Long] Stow and Girtton (Gretton) [co. Cambs.] which Payn claimed to hold of the church of Ramsey. The King warrants and confirms the abbot's title.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Payn fitz John; William de Houghton. [1109–32.]

[Copies in P.R.O. Ramsey Cart, ff. 55v^o and 137v^o; Chart. R. 8 Ed. III, No. 28; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333. Monast. ii. 570 (xxxvii); Ramsey Chron. 221; Ramsey Cart. i. 239; ii. 59.] Farrer, Itin. 674.

1752. [1131–2.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all of Yorkshire and Carlisle: That he has given in alms to St. Mary's, York, and Abbot Godfrey (Gaufrido) the sluice and fishing and mill-pond of Wetheral which is in the land of Corby, Cumberland as it was when Ranulf Earl of Chester held the honour of Carlisle; and has confirmed to them the land in York which Wigod of Lincoln and Alan his son gave them; and the church of Hornby, [in Richmondshire], given by Ralf and Wigan sons of Landri.

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; Payn fitz John; Eustace fitz John; Payn Peverel.

[Carlisle Cath., Reg. of Wetheral Priory (transcript). Monast. iii. 585 (xviii); Prescott, Reg. Wetheral Priory (1897), No. 8, pp. 25–26; Clay, E.Y.C. v. 285 (No. 348).]

Hornby was given to St. Mary's by Wigan son of Landri (see P.R. 31 Hen. I. 27) and the gift confirmed by Count Stephen of Brittany (E.Y.C. iv. 9 (No. 8)) [1125–35]. Clay suggests 1133, comparing No. 1740. But Payn Peverel presumably died in or about 1132 (the date of his death, 1122 in the Barnwell chronicle, having been put ten years too soon). He was still alive in 1130. Abbot Godfrey is stated to have been elected in 1131 and to have died 17 July 1132 (Chron. of St. Mary's, p. 1).

1753. [1131–2.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all of Yorkshire and Carlisle: That he confirms to St. Mary's, York, the cell of St. Constantine, with the manor of Wetheral and the chapel of Warwick (Warthwic) [co. Cumb.], and the sluice and the fishing and mill-pond of Wetheral which is situated in the land of Corby; and all the pasture between the river Eden and the King's highway from Carlisle to Appleby, and from Wetheral to Drybeck. And the King's forest [of Carlisle] for their swine.

1754. [1133, Mar. 26?] Oxford

Precept by Henry I to Walter son of Wisceo [lord of Wiston, co. Pemb.]: To restore the lands, churches, and tithes, which his father gave to the monks of Gloucester and of which he has disseised them without a judgement. 'Et nisi feceris episcopus Sancti David faciat.'

Witness: P[ayn] fitz John. [c. 1129–33.]

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 54 (copy). Cart. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 264; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 128.]

Wisceo or Witzo, the Fleming, the father of Walter, died shortly before Sept. 1130 (P.R. 36). Henry I was at Oxford at this date (Hen. of Huntingdon, Hist. Angl. 253).

Odard was alive at Michaelmas 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 35). The see of Durham was vacant from 1128 to May 1133. The King left England in August.

[Copies in P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163] I. 28 (Ramsey Cart.), ff. 36 and 91; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 10b; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copies). Ramsey Cart. i. 157; ii. 292; Ramsey Chron. 276 and 320; Monast. ii. 563 (xiv).] Farrer, Itin. 692.

Albreda's grant made in the King's presence (No. 1906), is dated 1134 (35 Hen. I) when Henry was in Normandy (Ramsey Chron. 318). It cannot therefore be genuine in its present form, since the witnesses do not suggest that it was made out of England and it must precede the confirmation.

1774. [1133, July?] Fareham (Ferham)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of London and the Dean and Canons of St. Paul's, London: That it is the custom of his realm for his chief barons (capitales barones mei) and the citizens of London to cause themselves to be buried in whatever church they will: provided that the priest of the parish in which such a person dies shall conduct the corpse to the selected church or cemetery. The persons addressed are not to hinder the priests of London from conducting the corpses of deceased citizens to such cemeteries and churches; especially to Christ Church.

1775. [1133, July?] Fareham

Mandate by Henry I to R[oger] Bp. of Chester [i.e. Lichfield]: Directing him to cause right and justice to be done to the Prior and canons of Nostell respecting the dues of which the clerks of their church of Winwick in Makerfield (Machesfeld) were disseising them.

Witness: The chancellor.

The church is obviously Winwick [co. Lancs.], which belonged to Nostell.

1776*. [1133, June–July.] Fareham (Fekeham)¹

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c.: That the King at the prayer of Roger fitz Richard has granted and confirmed to Ralph Peché the manor of Cheveley (Chevelai), [co. Camb.].

Witnesses: Nigel Bp. of Ely; Robert² Bp. of Chester; Roger de Meulan (Muelent); Aubrey de Vere; William Martel; Ralph³ Basset; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Payn fitz John; Hugh Bigot; Payn Peverel; William Peverel of Dover.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 23 [Y] (31) (copy). Foedera, i. 10.]

Payn Peverel was dead in 1131. Nigel was given the bishopric of Ely on 28 May 1133 and consecrated on 1 Oct. The King sailed for Normandy in Aug. 1133. The mistakes in the witnesses suggest that the charter is spurious, but it is also possible that 'Nigel Bp. of Ely' has been substituted for Nigel 'nepos episcopi' in the original, and that the charter should be dated 1127 and be the earliest witnessed by William Martel.

¹ The MS. probably reads 'Fereham' with a capital 'R', but the parchment is cracked and 'K' is at least a possible reading.

² This must be a mistake for Roger. But his predecessor was Robert Pecche (d. 1127).

³ An error for Richard. Ralph Basset was dead by 1130.

1777. [1133, July.] Fareham (Ferneham)

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England: That he has given to Aubrey de Ver and his heirs his master-chamberlainship of all England, to hold as freely as Robert Malet or any other held it, with the liveries and lodgings at court attached to it.

1779. [1133, July?] Westbourne

Precept by Henry I to the Abp. [of Canterbury] and Helewisus the archdeacon: That the Abbot of St. Augustine's is to hold his churches of Rainham and Newington and his parishes of Faversham and Northbourne and all his churches, chapels, lands, tithes, parishes, and rights as freely as any of his predecessors held them in the time of Abp. Anselm and Abp. Ralph.

The abbot here benefited is Hugh II (elected 1126). The King was at Westbourne in Aug. 1133. The author of the Historia assigns this charter to 1130 in his chronological table.

1780. [1133, July?] Westbourne (Burna)

1781. [1133, July?] Westbourne, co. Sussex

Precept by Henry I to Richard Basset, Aubrey de Vere, and the sheriffs and officials of London: That the Abbot of Chertsey is to have his soc in London on strand and on land, as well as any of his predecessors ever held it. No one is to molest the abbot or his men, contrary to this privilege.

1782*. 1133, [July.] Westbourne (Burnam) 'in transfretatione'

Notification by Henry I generally addressed for England: That he has granted to God and the church of the Virgin at Cirencester founded by himself and to Serlo the first abbot and his successors with the consent of the late Pope Innocent and the magnates of England all the holding of Reimbald the priest in perpetual alms. Details follow.

Vere; Miles of Gloucester; Robert d' Oilli; Hugh Bigot; Robert de Curci; Payn fitz John; Eustace fitz John; William fitz John; William de Albini Brito.

[Copies in Chart. R. 10 Ed. III, No. 28; Harl. MS. 4714 (Biddlesdon Cart., 15th–16th c.), fo. 295v^o (imperfect). Monast. vi. 177 (i); Baddeley, Hist. of Cirencester, 96 (translation).] Farrer, Itin. 704.

'Apud Burnam in transfretatione mea anno Incarnationis Domini M.C.XXXIII, regni vero mei XXXIII.'

This charter is suspicious in form and cannot be accepted as it stands since Innocent did not die till 1143.

Geoffrey the chancellor is described as Bp. of Durham. He probably remained chancellor until his consecration shortly before 15 Aug. (John of Hexham in Symeon of Durham (R.S.), ii. 285. Stubbs's date, 6 Aug., is that of the solar eclipse which took place during the King's crossing to Normandy.) He attests the grant to William de Beauchamp (No. 1710) in his proper rank, following the bps. Nigel Bp. of Ely, too, is still 'nepos episcopi' in the Beauchamp charter. Though it is not unusual for bishops-designate to be described as bishops, the discrepancy suggests that this charter has been improved after the death of Innocent II.

1783. [1133, July?] Westbourne [co. Sussex]

Precept by Henry I to [Everard] Bp. of Norwich and Richard the archdeacon and Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere and their officers: That the canons of the King's alms at Ipswich are to have and to hold their churches and all their lands and tithes, &c., from whomsoever they hold well and honourably and in peace. Let no one commit injury or insult against them contrary to this writ. If any one claims against them anything that has been given to their church in alms let them not plead about it except before the Bp. of Norwich and Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere, since the canons are the King's men and claim to hold of him.

Witness: Richard Basset.

[Pat. R. 11 Ed. III, pt. 2, m. 17 (copy). Cal. Pat. R. 1334–8, 476.] Farrer, Itin. 709.

According to Le Neve, who gives no authority, Richard the archdeacon became a bishop 'in France' before 1127. But Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere were joint Sheriffs of Suffolk in 1129–30. And Richard the archdeacon is therefore probably Richard de Bella Fago who became Bp. of Avranches in 1135 and had previously been a royal chaplain.

1784. [1133, July?] Westbourne [Sussex.] (Burnam)

Notification by Henry I to William de Albini and William the son of Hacon, the sheriff and all his barons and lieges, French and English, of Lincolnshire: That he grants to Alexander Bp. of Lincoln the east gate of the city (portam de Estgata) with the tower which is over it (quae supra ipsam est) 'ad se hospitandum'.

1785. [1133, July?] Westbourne [co. Sussex] (Burnam)

Precept by Henry I to all sheriffs and officers in whose jurisdictions the Canons of the Holy Trinity of London have lands: That the land and men of the canons be quit and free of pleas and plaints and shires and hundreds and hustings and all other things except murdrum and treasure-trove.

1786. [1133, July?] Westbourne (Apud Burnam)

'Apud Burnam in transfretatione mea.'

The pretended original differs from the enrolment on the Chart. R. by adding 'utfangthef' to the catalogue of liberties.

The seal (formerly attached by a skein of yellow silk) appears to be a genuine fourth seal of Henry I subsequently attached to the forged charter.

1788. [1133, July?] Westbourne [co. Sussex]

Notification by Henry I to justiciars, barons, sheriffs, &c. of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted the Abbot of Ramsey warren in all his land of Hurstingstone Hundred, and in his other land in wood and plain; and let no one hunt there without his licence on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Also timber from the said woods for their houses, firing, and fences, provided that they do not waste the woods. All these grants the King confirms.

Witnesses: W[illiam] Abp. of Canterbury; T[hurstan] Abp. of York; R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; H[enry] Bp. of Winchester; A[lexander] Bp. of Lincoln; G[eoffrey] the chancellor.

The abbey of Garendon was founded 28 Oct. 1133.

1791. [1133?] Blackmore, co. Essex (?) (Blachemora)

Notification by Henry I to his justiciars, barons, sheriffs, and all his lieges in England: Granting to Alexander Bp. of Lincoln the entire third part of the service of his knights belonging to the bishopric of Lincoln so that he may assign it to his castle of Newark and that thenceforward they may keep guard there and do the other services which they owe to the bp. as he has disposed.

Witnesses: R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury; G[eoffrey] the chancellor; W[illiam] de Pont de l'Arche. [1123-33.]

[Copies in Lincoln Cath., Reg. A. i. 4, fo. 7d, No. 51; Reg. Superant., No. 22; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XVI. fo. 9d. Monast. viii. 1274 (xliv); Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 51.] Farrer, Itin. 696.

The transfer of castle-ward from Lincoln to Newark makes 1133 a likely date.

1792. [1133?] Blackmore, co. Essex (?) (Blachemora)

Notification by Henry I to all his barons, and lieges of Lincolnshire and Rutland and Northamptonshire: That he has pardoned and quitclaimed to Alexander Bp. of Lincoln the sum of 300 marks which he had claimed on account of the pledge of Holme [Spinney, in Beekingham, co. Lincs.] (pro vadio de Holma).

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; G[eoffrey] the chancellor. [1123–33.]

1793. [1133?] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to the sheriff and barons of London: That the Prior and Canons of Holy Trinity are to hold their men and their lands granted by the English cnihtene-gild, as freely as their predecessors held in the time of William I and William II and of Leofstan; and they are to be free from ward-duty (warda) and forfeiture, as though the King's own alms.

This is probably of the same year as No. 1785.

Notification by Henry I addressed generally and to the citizens of London: That he frees from all ecclesiastical and lay subjection and servitude as the King's chapel the church of St. Bartholomew, Smithfield, which his faithful clerk Raher has founded for canons regular in the King's market-place at Smithfield. All the property that the canons may hereafter acquire in reasonable manner is to have the same privilege. After the death of the prior another is to be elected from the same congregation, &c.

Witnesses: Henry Bp. of Winchester; Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Geoffrey the chancellor; Stephen Count of Mortain; William de Albini Brito; Aubrey de Vere; Richard Basset; Miles of Gloucester; Payn fitz John; Robert de Curci; Hugh Bigod.

This appears to be a forgery. Cf. No. 1761, which has the same witnesses.

'Hanc autem cartam fieri et confirmari et sigillo meo signo dignitatis corroborari precepi apud Westmonasterium anno dominice incarnationis M C XXXIII regni mei XXXIII.'

1795. [1133, Westminster]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England and London: That he has granted that the church of St. Bartholomew, Smithfield, founded by his clerk, Prior Rahere, be free from all ecclesiastical and lay servitude as his own chapel, and all their property. On the death of the prior the canons shall choose his successor.

Witnesses: Henry Bp. of Winchester; Geoffrey the chancellor; Stephen Count of Mortain; Aubrey de Vere; Richard Basset; Miles of Gloucester.

This seems to be an abridged version of the preceding.

On these charters see Webb, Records of St. Bartholomew's, i. 428.

1796. [1133?]

Precept by Henry I to Baldwin de Redvers (River) and Payn the Reeve of Hampton: That the Abbot and monks of Reading hold the land which Robert the priest gave to their church as well and freely as Robert and Ketel, his predecessor, ever held it, and as the King has ordered by another writ. These two charters are probably concurrent.

1798. [1133.] Ditton

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. and monks of Ely and all of the Isle of Ely and of Cambridgeshire: That he has granted to St. Mary's, Thorney, all the customs and secular causes which the church of Ely had in its hundreds of Witchford (Wiccheford) of the land and men of Thorney in Whittlesea (Wytleseya) as Hervey first Bp. of Ely gave them when he dedicated the church of Thorney.

Witnesses: G[eoffrey] the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; G[eoffrey] de Clinton (Glint); William de Albin Brito.

[Copies in C.U.L. Add. MS. 3020, ff. 24A v^o, 167v^o.]

Hervey Bp. of Ely died in 1131. Nigel was appointed in 1133 and the mention of the 'bishop' seems to imply that he had received the see.

1799. [1100–33.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and servants in England in whose jurisdiction (baillia) the fugitives of the abbey of Abingdon may be found: Commanding that they cause the Abbot of Abingdon to have all his fugitives with all their money and chattels (pecunia et catallo) wherever they may be found, and forbidding that anyone keep them or their money in despite of this precept under penalty of £10.

Alan Belet was also known as Alan Buscel. He must have succeeded his father before 1136, which is Farrer's earliest date (E.Y.C. i, Nos. 371 and 377). Reginald was alive at least as late as 1109 (No. 1330). Eustace fitz John does not appear to attest before 1118.

1810. [1128–33.] Winchester

Miles became constable in succession to his father about 1128. Hugh, Baldwin's uncle, may have been a son of William de Vernon and (like Baldwin's father Richard) known as de Redevers (see G. W. Watson in the Complete Peerage (2nd ed.) iv. 310, n. (a)).

Cf. P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163] i. 27, fo. 152, in which the writ is issued by Roger (MS. Ralph) Bp. of Salisbury, as also in Cotton MS. Jul. D. II, fo. 89v^o (reading R.).

The note of warranty per breve regis marks this as a writ issued by the justiciar in the King's name under his own testimony. It is therefore probably later than the death of Queen Matilda in 1118.

1815. [1100–33]

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials of England: That all the household-stuff and property of the monks of St. Mary of [Castle] Acre, which their serjeants can testify to be their own property, shall be quit of all toll and custom and passage-money. No one is to hunt there, without the abbot's leave, on pain of £10 forfeiture. The abbots may have their own enclosed parks of Epsom (Ebbesham) and Cobham when they please, and all the beasts they can take in those parks. And they may have from their own wood all that is necessary for their own use, without leave of the royal foresters or hindrance from them. No justiciar or official or forester is to molest the abbot, or interfere with the four manors of Chertsey, Egham, Thorp, and Cobham. 1822. [c. 1130–3.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Hamo de St. Clare and the burgesses of Colchester: That the demesne servants of the Abbot of Colchester be free from all customs and gelds as heretofore.

Witnesses: William de Albini, Brito; Per William Martel.

'Pacis' may be an error for episcopatus, but 'keepers of the peace' were the police authority in the northern counties. The copy is in any case a bad one.

1826. [1129–33.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to all the lieges of Bedfordshire: That he has given to the Canons of St. Peter of Dunstable in free alms the church of St. Mary of Bedford; and has confirmed to them one hide of land in Chalton, given by Patrick de Cadurcis. This hide is to be quit of gelds, danegelds, and all customs and earthly services.

Fowler places the foundation of Dunstable Priory in 1132, following Henry's visit at Christmas 1131 (Dunstable Cartulary, p. 342).

1827. [1131–3.] Combe (Cumba)

They are to have sac and soc, toll and team, infangthief, grithbrith, hamsocne, blodewite, forstal, and flemeneferd, common in Houghton Wood, and common of Pasture in Houghton (Houton), Caddington (Cadendon), Kensworth (Kenesword) and Totternhoe &c. Notification (concedo) by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, the sheriff and the barons of Bedfordshire: That he has granted to the nuns of Elstow a fair at Elstow on the eve and feast of the Invention of the Cross (May 3) and two days after.

Witness: The Bp. of Salisbury.

[P.R.O. Ancient Deeds, C. [C. 146] 9846 (copy of 14th c.).]

The form is unusual and another Elstow charter (see No. 1654) is suspect.

1829. [c. 1123–33.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I: That he has granted the abbess of Elstow warren in all her lands of Bedfordshire. No one is to hunt there under penalty of £10.

Witness: Richard Basset.

1830. 1130–3. Winchester

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Confirming to St. Mary of Évreux the land of Bramford [co. Suffolk] which he had previously given to Bp. Audin and which Audin, with his consent and permission, had given in alms to that church.

1831. [1100–33.] Oxford

Precept by Henry I to the Earl of Warwick and his servants: That the private property of the Abbot of Eynsham which his men affirm to be his own shall be quit of toll and passage-money and all custom. Dr. Salter conjectures that the date is 1109; but the evidence hardly admits of a definite conclusion.

1832. [1129–33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he confirms the gifts to the monks of St. Mary Magdalen, [Monkton] Farley [Wilts.], by Humphrey de Bohun and Maud his mother, and the lands given by or purchased from others (specified). 1833. [1107–33.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to William de Pont de l'Arche: To deliver to William fitz Arnulf thirty solidates of land, by the oath of the men of the venue (vicinitas) of Bosham; this to be out of the fifty solidates which Robert used to hold in Walton; in exchange for the land belonging to him which the King gave to St. Mary de Pré [of Rouen]. He is to hold this as well and honourably as he ever held his land in Normandy.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 17 [R] (22) (copy). Haskins, Norman Inst. 303.]

There seems to be no direct evidence that William de Pont de l'Arche was bailiff of Bosham or Sheriff of Sussex, though he attests No. 1650 which concerns the farm of Bosham. He is addressed in No. 1780 which deals with land in Chichester.

1834. [1131–3.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York, justice, sheriff, and barons of Yorkshire: That he has granted to the monks of St. Mary of Fountains 200 acres in the wood of Herleshow (Erlleshou) by Ripon, and the arable of a villein (rustici) in Sutton, as given them by Abp. Turstin.

This is clearly the serjeanty in Felstead, held in 1219 by Adam son of Nicholas de Glanville (Book of Fees, 275), who thus appears as the successor of Roger Deus Salvet Dominas (Domesday Book, i, fo. 96b).

1836. [1123–33.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to A[lexander] Bp. [of Lincoln] and Walter the Archdeacon [of Oxford]: That Elwin son of Gedegos is to have his church of St. Giles [without Oxford] as well and peacefully as he ever had it, and may place there a clerk, whomsoever he will; and those who wish to hear service and make their alms [may do so]. Robert succeeded his father before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 111) and had not yet become a knight (ibid. 117) in that year.

1846. [c. 1121–33.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials of England and the sea-ports: That all the goods of William Mauduit which his men can vouch to be for his own use, shall be free from toll and passage-money and every other custom. No man is to violate this privilege on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witness: M[iles] of Gloucester.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 28v^o (copy).]

Miles of Gloucester does not appear as witness before 1121.

1847. [1131–3.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Hugh de Cahagnes (Chahannis): That William Mauduit is to have pasturage in the royal forests as fully as Michael of Hamslope had it in his lifetime. No one is to disturb William's cattle in contravention of this privilege.

Witness: [Miles of] Gloucester.

[B.M. Add. MS. 28024, fo. 31v^o (copy).]

Michael de Hamslope seems to have been lately dead in 1131 (No. 1719). Hugh de Cahagnes was keeper of the forests in Northamptonshire in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 83).

1848*. [c. 1121–33.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to his officials and barons of Northumberland: That he has given (in marriage) to Ranulf de Merlay Juliana the daughter of Earl Cospatric. The King and her father have given her, between them, in frank-marriage, Horsley, Stanton, W[itton], Ritton', Wingates, and a certain vill [Learchild] beyond the moors. The King's justiciars are to see that this gift takes complete effect. And if any resist it, the justiciars and sheriffs of Northumberland are to do right.

Witnesses: Patrick son of John [Payn fitz John?]; Peverel de Baelcamp'; William de Allunbrito [Albini Brito]; Henry [Eustace?] fitz John; William de Pont de l'Arche; William Maltravers; William Mauduit (Maldut).

[Spurious original in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge; Roll formerly (c. 1630) in possession of Lord William Howard, afterwards (1876) of Lord Lanerton (copy). Peverel de Beauchamp does not appear before 1121.

1849*. c. 1121–33. Woodstock (Wd')

Notification by Henry I (Rex Angl' et Dux Norm') generally addressed for Northumberland: That he has given to Ralph de M[erlai] Julia[na] daughter of Earl Gospatric [with the manors assigned to her by her father] with the usual liberties (sac, soc, &c.) and the right to hunt hart, hind, and boar.

Witnesses; William de Albini 'le butel'; William Mauduit.

[Scarborough Museum (pseudo-original). Northumberland County Hist. vii. 37 n.; Raine, Priory of Hexham, i (Ill. Doc.), ix.]

A mutilated pseudo-original probably of the 16th c.

1850. [c. 1121–33. Winchester?]

Notitia of the sale, in the presence of King Henry, by Thezo and Rohais his wife, daughter of Ailric de Cleindona, to Bernard the scribe of land and houses in Buck Street (Bukerestrete), [Winchester] to hold of the King in chief.

Witnesses: Geoffrey fitz Pain; Robert de Courcy; Robert d'Oilli; John the marshal.

[Cotton MS. Cleopatra C. VII, fo. 76v^o (olim 99v^o). E.H.R. xiv. 424.]

There is also a list of local witnesses to the payment of the purchase money 'on the ground'.

1851. [1123–33.]

Notitia of the gift by Ruald son of Wigan to Bernard the scribe in alms of all the churches in the land which was of Brictric 'Walensis'.

Witnesses: G[eo]ffrey the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; W[illiam] Cumin; William [son of Tole] Archdeacon of York; Nicholas brother of Bernard the scribe; Humphrey (Amfridus) son of Ruald; Roger and Ranulf, esquires of Bernard.

[Cotton MS. Cleopatra C. VII, fo. 76 (olim 99). E.H.R. xiv. 419.]

Ruald son of Wigan is exempted from danegeld in Cambridgeshire, Suffolk, Devon, and Cornwall in 1130. It is probable that Bricric's churches devolved on Bernard with the lands which came to him in 1121–2, though the confirmation by Ruald (as overlord) was clearly later.

1852. 1123–33. [Winchester?]

Notitia of the restoration by William de Pont-de-l'Arche to Bernard the scribe of the house in Winchester, over the water, which was Gisulf's, and had previously been of Anselm the clerk.

Witnesses: G[eo]ffrey the chancellor; Nigel nephew of the Bp. of Salisbury; Robert de Sigillo; Geoffrey de Clinton; Osbert de Pont-de-l'Arche.

[Cotton MS. Cleopatra C. VII, fo. 76v^o (olim 99v^o). E.H.R. xiv. 422.]

Bernard seems to have succeeded to Gisulf's property about 1121–2 (Nos. 1363–4), but Geoffrey was not chancellor till 1123, nor does Nigel the bp.'s nephew usually attest before 1126. Osbert de Pont-de-l'Arche obtained his place in the Camera Curie in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 37).

1853. [1129–33.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere and their officials of Norfolk: To cause Bp. Everard of Norwich to have at Lynn (Luna) all his customs and his exchange (bursa) and his market and port and toll as freely as any of his predecessors held them under William I and William II or in the King's own day. Whatever has been taken from his property contrary to the King's privilege and on account of these rights (super hoc et propter hoc) is to be immediately restored that the King may hear no further complaint on account of default of justice.

Witness: Miles of Gloucester.

[Copies in Chart. R. 12 Ed. III, No. 41 (enrolment of Inspeximus); D. and C. Norwich, Reg. ii, fo. 26; Cal. Chart. R. iv. 439.] Farrer, Itin. 611.

1854. [1131–3.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to Richard Basset and A[ubrey] de Vere and the sheriff, barons, &c., of Norfolk: That he has given to Everard Bp. of Norwich 100s. annually out of the rent of £10 which the King's hundreds of Walsham (Walsham) [co. Norfolk] and Blofield (Blafelda) [co. Norfolk] used to pay, in exchange for the bp.'s church of Steventon (Stiuentona) [co. Berks.]. The bp. is to have these hundreds for his life and to pay for them a rent of 100s.

Witnesses: [Geoffrey] the chancellor; Robert de Sigillo; Richard Basset; A[ubrey] de Vere.

[Cotton Charters, ii. 4 (original); copies in D. and C. Norwich, Regg. ii, fo. 26 bis; iii, fo. 226v^o.] Farrer, Itin. 684.

This remission does not appear in the Terre Date for Norfolk in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 90).

1855. [1123–33.] Westminster

Notification (concedo) by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and the sheriff: That, at the request of Richard the archdeacon he grants his alms of Ormesby to the hospital of Norwich, i.e. tithe of his hall and all the demesne lands and his churches within and without the town of the manor and the tithe of sheep. No one is to wrong the proctor of the hospital herein.

Witness: Geoffrey the chancellor.

[D. and C. Norwich, Reg. ii, fo. 26 (bis) (copy).]

1856. [c. 1122–33.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to all his sheriffs and officials of England: That the household-stuff and all the property of the canons of St. Oswald of Nostell, which their men can affirm to be for their private use, shall be quit of all toll and custom and passage-money. Witness: Eustace fitz John.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 7 (olim 11) (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1436.]

1857. [c. 1120–33.] Westminster

Precept by Henry I to his sheriffs and officials of Staffordshire (Stauf) and Warwickshire: That Salomon the clerk, the son of Humphrey Hasteng, and the churches of St. Oswald [of Nostell] which Salomon holds from the prior and canons shall be as free from gelds and pleas and all customs as they ever were in the past.

Witness: The Abp. of York.

[Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XIX, fo. 7 (Nostell Cart.) (copy). Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 1438.]

The churches in question were presumably Chebsey [co. Staffs.] and Leamington Hastings [co. War.].

1858. [1100–33.] Oxford

Precept by Henry I to W[illiam] de Albin Brito: That the Abbot of Peterborough be allowed to hold his land in Thorp for the customary rent of 8s.

Witness: R. Basset.

[Copies in B.M. Add. MS. 39758, fo. 201; Lansd. MS. 992, fo. 129v^o (from the Swaffham Reg., in Bp. Kennett's Collections); D. and C. of Peterborough 'Pythchley', fo. xxix; 'Swaffham', fo. xli. W. T. Mellows, Local Government of Peterborough, 94 (No. 23).]

1859. [1102–33.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to his officials of England and the sea-ports: That all goods belonging to the Abbot and monks of Peterborough are to be quit of all toll and custom and passage-money. No one is to molest them in this respect on pain of £10 forfeiture. Whatever has been taken from them on this account is to be restored.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

[B.M. Add. MS. 39758, fo. 201; Egerton MS. 2733, fo. 96v^o; D. and C., Peterborough, 'Pythchley', fo. xxix; 'Swaffham', fo. xli. W. T. Mellows, Local Government of Peterborough, 94 (No. 25).]

1860. [c. 1114–33.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to Earl William of Warenne: That the folds of the manor of Hilgay [co. Norfolk] are only to be where they have been in the past and ought to be.

Witness: Payn fitz John.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 230.]

1860a. [1100–33.] London

Precept by Henry I to Ruallon [of Avranches?]: To pay to his lord, the Abbot of Ramsey, the service and aid which is due for the land he holds of him. Otherwise the abbot is to distrahin (te justificet per pecuniam tuam donec facias).

Witness: William de Houghton.

1860b. [c. 1110–33.] London

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the barons, justiciars, and sheriff &c. of Huntingdonshire: That Roger de Lovetot (Luvetot) was amerced for a false claim to the land of Broughton (Hunts.) which is of the demesne of the Abbot of Ramsey (pro terra de Broctone de dominio abbathiae de Rameseie de qua mentitus est mihi). The King therefore orders that the abbot hold the land in demesne as his predecessor Abbot Ailsa did, without having to plead against future claimants.

Witnesses: The chamberlain of Tancarville; Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 277.]

The charter is likely to be of an early date, as Roger de Lovetot is probably the person mentioned in Nos. 807–8.

1860c. [1121–33.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to his justiciars, barons, and lieges of Huntingdonshire: That the Abbot of Ramsey is to hold all his woods as well as ever he did: nobody is to take or waste them without the abbot's leave; and all pannage due to the abbot shall be paid him. If anyone wrongs or insults him in this matter, he is to have full right.

Witness: Miles of Gloucester.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 278.]

1860d. [c. 1120–33.] Cambridge

Notification by Henry I to the justiciars, sheriff, barons, and officials of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted that the Abbot of Ramsey have warren in all his land in Hurstingstone (Hyrstingestan) Hundred, and no one is to take hares there without his licence on penalty of £10.

Witness: W[illiam] Maltravers. Per Hervey monachus.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copy). Ramsey Chron. 279.]

1861. [1129–33.] Woodstock

Order by Henry I to Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere [custodians of the shire of Huntingdon]: That the Abbot of Ramsey should have his sac and soc in Huntingdon as did his predecessors.

Witness: The chancellor.

[Copies in P.R.O. Ramsey Cart., fo. lvii; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 13. Ramsey Cart. i. 247; Ramsey Chron. 279.]

Fulco was Sheriff of Huntingdon till Michaelmas 1129 (E.H.R. xxxvii. 69).

1862. [1130–3.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Salisbury and the lieges of Wilts.: That he has granted to the church of Reading in perpetuity the land of Whitsbury (Wichebir) with the church of the said vill as Ingram apostolicus, monk of Reading, gave and granted them and as well and freely as he held them.

Witnesses: W[illiam] Earl of Warenne; G[eoffrey] fitz Payn; Drew de Moncei.

[Harl. MS. 1708 (Reading Cart.) fo. 18 (copy without witnesses); Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 15v^o.]

Ingram still held Whitsbury in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 23).

1863. [c. 1130–3.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriff, barons, and lieges of Oxfordshire: That he has granted the church of Reading his church of Handborough with its lands and houses and tithes and rights.

Witnesses: W[illiam] Earl Warenne; G[ervase] son of Roger (G. fil' Rogeri); Drew de Moncei.

[Reading Cart. Harl. MS. 1708, fo. 17b (copy without witnesses); Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 14v°. Monast. iv. 41 (v) (from Harl. MS.).]

'Duplex.'

Gervase son of Roger is the same as Gervase de Cornhill (cf. No. 1653). It is, however, just possible that the witness was Geoffrey fitz Payn, as Gervase does not appear to witness any other charters.

1864. [c. 1129–33.] Windsor

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has granted the Abbot and monks of St. Mary's, Reading, a fair at Reading on St. Laurence's day and three days following. No one is to interfere with those attending it on pain of forfeiture of £10.

Witnesses: G[oeffrey] the chancellor; R[obert] de Sigillo; Humphrey de Bohun; John the Marshal.

[Copies in Harl. MS. 1708, fo. 17v° (olim 15v°) (without witnesses); Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 14v°. Monast. iv. 41 (iv) (from Harl. MS.).]

1865. [1123–33.] Reading

Precept by Henry I to all who have lands in the hundred of Leominster: To attend the hundred-court at the summons of the Abbot of Reading and his ministers as fully as they attended when the hundred was in the King's demesne. If they do not attend the abbot may constrain them by the judgement of the hundred-court.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; the chancellor.

[Copies in Harl. MS. 1708, fo. 18b (without witnesses); Egerton MS. 3031, fo. 14.]

1866*. [1123–33.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich and the justiciar and sheriff and barons of Suffolk and Norfolk: That he has confirmed to God and the nuns of Redlingfield [co. Suffolk] the two marks of silver from the rent of the hundred of Samford, which William his brother gave them.

Witnesses: G. de Cancellis; R. de Sigillo; H. Bigod; Humphrey de Bohun; R. de Curci; R. de Vere; A. de Vere; R. Basset.

[Chart. R. 13 Ed. I, m. 16 (enrolment of Inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. ii. 309; Archaeologia, xxxi. 220.] Farrer, Itin. 540.

William brother of Henry II held Samford (P.R. 4 Hen. II, 125) and seems to have made this grant. The confirmation by Henry I must therefore be spurious. The witnesses suggest 1131 or 1133 as the date of the genuine charter from which they were borrowed. G. de Cancellis is obviously an expansion of G. Canc'.

1867. [1130–3.] London

Notification by Henry I to abps., bps., &c., in all the shires where the church of St. Andrew the Apostle, Rochester, has lands: That he has confirmed all the lands and possessions which the church had in the times of William I and William II, with sac and soc, &c. And in the city of Rochester the fourth penny of toll by land and water, and of passage-money when the bridge is broken, and of all the dues except gablum, pertaining to the reeve of the city; and the whole toll of the two days' fair at the feast of St. Paulinus (10 Oct.). The rights of warren in all the manors of the bp. and monks are in the King's protection; no one is to hunt there without the bp.'s licence, on pain of the full forfeiture of the King and the bp. The King confirms also to St. Andrew the church of Boxley which he gave at the dedication of the cathedral; also the churches of Aylesford, Sutton [at Hone], Chislehurst, Dartford, Woolwich, and the tithes of their parishes; also the tithe of the royal mills in Dartford and of whales taken in the diocese of Rochester; the whole tithe of Strood and Chalk (Chaelches).

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; William [de Eynesford] the sheriff; Hugh Bigod, Dapifer; Ansfrid Dapifer of the abp.; Humphrey de Bohun. [1130–3.]

[Rochester, D. and C. (original); copies in B.M. Add. MS. 29437, fo. 6 (ex libro de Roff.); Chart. R. 3 Ed. I, No. 2; 9 Ed. III, No. 36; 10 Ed. III, No. 51; Pat. R. 12 Ed. IV, pt. 2, m. 14; 2 Hen. VI, pt. 1, m. 27; Confirm. R. 1 Hen. VIII, pt. 8, No. 2; Cotton MS. Dom. A. X, 9, fo. 101a. Thorpe, Reg. Roffense (1769), 34–35 (ex autographo).]

The dedication took place in 1130 (Henry of Huntingdon, Chron. Angl. 252). This charter is probably later than No. 1728 which records the gift of Boxley alone, and cannot be of the same date as the sheriff is different. If Ansfrid succeeded Rualon of Avranches as sheriff, William [of Eynesford] may have in turn succeeded him.

1868. [c. 1120–33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, the sheriffs and the lieges of Lincolnshire, Leicestershire, and Northamptonshire: That the King has confirmed to the Abbot of Selby his custom, sac and soc, &c., in Stamford, Crowle (Crull), and Stallingborough, as freely as in his lands of Yorkshire.

Witness: Eustace fitz John.

1869. [1127–33?] Winchester

Writ by Henry I to Stephen Count of Mortain [as lord of the honour of Lancaster]: Commanding that the monks of Shrewsbury should hold their moiety of Bispham free and quit of all customs, pleas, and suits of hundred-courts (hundredis); that if anyone brought a claim against the men of the monks they should determine it in their own court (si aliquis calumpniaverit homines monachorum in Curia sua faciant rectum).

Witness: Payn fitz John.

Payn is said to have received the government of Salop in 1127 (Eyton, Antiq. of Shrop. i. 246; ii. 200).

1870. [1114–33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and his justiciars, sheriffs, &c.: That he has granted leave to Thurstan Abp. of York to assign to St. Mary of Southwell, as a prebend, the church of Dunham [co. Notts.] formerly given to him by the King.

Witnesses: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury; Eustace fitz John.

[Southwell Cath., 'Liber de Southwell', fo. 13 (copy). Monast. viii. 1314 (vi).]

1871. [1114–33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York and all of Notts.: That he has confirmed the gift which Thurstan Abp. of York made to St. Mary of Southwell for a prebend, namely the churches of his manors of [North] Leverton (Legreton) and Beckingham.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; Eustace fitz John.

[Southwell Cath., 'Liber de Southwell', fo. 13 (copy). Monast. viii. 1314 (vii).]

1872. [1129–33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to Henry Bp. of Winchester, justiciars, sheriffs, and all the barons and lieges of Hampshire and to all the barons of the honour of Bosham: That the King has granted to Thurstan (Turstinus), the clerk of William de Pont de l'Arche, the King's chamberlain, the land of Farringdon (Ferendon) [co. Hants] which he holds of the Bp. of Exeter and of the honour of the church of Bosham in fee and inheritance to him and his heirs by the service of the third part of one knight as William Bp. of Exeter gave (reddidit) it to him by his charter. To be held with all liberties and customs thereto pertaining.

Witnesses: G[oeffrey] the chancellor; Robert de Curci; William de Albini, Brito.

[Pat. R. 2 Hen. IV, pt. 2, m. 42 (copy); Lansd. MS. 317, fo. 87v^o (transcript). Cal. Pat. R. 1390-1401, 420.] Turstin is presumably the 'Turstinus clericus' who was excused 12s. of the aid of Winchester in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 41). William de Pont de l'Arche attests as 'chamberlain' in No. 1746. He owed 12 gold marks for the 'ministerium Camere Curie' in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 37.) Farrington belonged to the Popham family in 1346 and 1428 (Feudal Aids, ii. 333, 358).

1873. [1129-33.] Winchester

Notification by Henry I to the justiciars, sheriffs, barons, and officials of Hampshire: That he permits Thurstan the clerk and his heirs to have their greyhounds and braches (leporarios et brachetos) for chasing hares and foxes.

Witness: R. de Curci.

[Copies in Pat. R. 1 Ric. II, pt. 3, m. 28; 2 Hen. IV, pt. 2, m. 42 (enrolments of Inspeximus); Lansd. MS. 317, fo. 87v^o. Cal. Pat. R. 1377-81, 111.]

1874. [1121-33.]

Charter of Henry I (King of England and Duke of Normandy): Reciting and confirming a charter of Robert fitz Martin, dated iv. Id. Septembr., and attested by B[ernard] Bp. of St. David's, W[illiam] Abbot of Tiron, Richard fitz G[ilbert], Humphrey fitz Gosmer, Stephen Dapifer of Richard, and Alfred de Benneville, giving the church of St. Dogmael, and certain lands in Wales (specified) to the monks of Tiron.

Signa: King Henry; Queen Adeliza (Adelidis); Robert [fitz Martin]; Bernard Bp. [of St. David's]; Maud [wife of Robert]; Richard fitz G[ilbert]; Stephen; Alfred; Humphrey.

[Copies in Chart. R. 18 Ed. I, No. 47; 5 Ed. III, No. 80; Pat. R. 7 Hen. IV, pt. 2, m. 20. Monast. iv. 130 (ii).] Farrer, Itin. 435.

1875. [1121-33.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That he has confirmed to the Abbot and monks of Tiron, land worth £7. 14s. by the year in Up Nately (Nattelega), which he gave to Adam de Port out of the royal demesne in exchange for land in the valley called 'Arga', which Adam had given them. He also confirms the other gifts in Mapledurwell made by Adam de Port and confirmed by his wife and children.

Witnesses: Bernard Bp. of St. David's; John of Bayeux; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Robert fitz Martin.

[Winchester College Archives, Andwell. 6 (original). Archaeol. Journ. ix. 248 (imperfect).] Farrer, Itin. 664A.

If we assume that Adam de Port was dead, the limits of date can be reduced to 1131-3. Mapledurwell and Up Nately were possessions of Andwell Priory.

1876. [1128-33.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Ely, &c.: That he has granted to Aubrey de Vere and his heirs to hold from Roger son of Wimar (filius Guiomari) and his heirs, the manor of Landwade (Lanwella) [co. Camb.] and the land and service of Geoffrey [fitz Alan] at Burwell and Nosterfield (Nostrefeud) [co. Camb.] and the other rights of Geoffrey so far as they belong to Roger's fee. This in confirmation of Roger's grant, made by his charter.

Witness: Robert de Vere (Veer), constable.

[Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 319, fo. 113 (transcript of 16th c.).]

Roger son of Wimar (steward of Count Stephen) was living in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 27), and had succeeded his father as steward of the honour of Richmond (E.Y.C. v. 353-4).

In the grant of Roger fitz Wimar (Rawl. MS., l.c.) Geoffrey is called filius Alani. The appearance of Robert de Vere as constable points to the latter part of the reign of Henry I (after 1128). Landwade and Burwell were held by Wimar in D. B.; Nosterfield was probably included in Horseheath.

1877. [1102-33.] London

Precept by Henry I to the Sheriff of Warwickshire: To leave the church of Haselor (Haseloura) free and quit from all aids and customs pertaining to him there, as the King does for his own part; and to cause the church to hold all its men and tenements, &c. quietly.

Witness: Roger Bp. of Salisbury.

[P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Misc. Bk. [E. 163] i. 22, fo. cxxiv (Cart. of Warwick Coll.) (copy).]

1878. [1100–33.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to Hugh Mascherell: To restore to St. Peter of Westminster that part of the tithe of [White] Roding¹ (Roing) which Hugh's brother gave to the Saint.

1879. [c. 1130–3.] Woodstock

Notification by Henry I to his barons and lieges of Sussex and Middlesex: That in a suit before the Barons of the Exchequer, Herbert Abbot of Westminster has proved his title to the lands of Parham [co. Sussex] and Mapelford against Herbert fitz Herbert; namely, that Herbert can claim nothing there, and the abbot may have it in his demesne if he pleases.

Witness: [Roger] Bp. of Salisbury.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 597 (571) v^o; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 74v^o; P.R.O. Curia Regis R. 54, m. 18d. Abbreviatio Placitorum, 84b. Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 46 (excerpt). Curia Regis R. vi. 176.] Farrer, Itin. 666.

Herbert fitz Herbert had succeeded his father in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 37), since an allowance to 'Herbert the chamberlain' appears in the same roll (p. 104).

1880. [1121–33.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to the sheriff (vic) and barons of London. That Abbot Herbert and the monks of Westminster are to hold the church of St. Mary [Woolchurch] which Goslanus gave them. No one is to meddle with it, except by leave of the abbot.

Witness: R. Basset.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 529 (505) v^o; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 79. Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 159.]

Cotton MS. reads 'Goillanus'.

1881*. [1123–33.] Woodstock¹

Notification by Henry I to R[oger] Bp. of Salisbury and Geoffrey de Clinton and all his sheriffs and officials of Oxfordshire, Surrey, and Middlesex: That he has restored to Abbot Herbert and the whole convent of Westminster the lands which the chancellor used to hold of them, namely Battersea, Islip, Pyrford, and Shepperton.

Witness: Nigel d' Oilli.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 58 (44) v^o; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fos. 67 and 130b.; Harl. MS. 6148, fo. 139v^o (transcript from original).]

The original with seal was penes Oliver St. John of Battersea [1607–21] (Harl. MS.). Nigel d' Oilli attests no other known charters after 1116 and abbot Herbert was appointed in 1121. The charter must therefore be spurious.

1882. [c. 1130–3.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to William [II] Constable of Chester: That the Abbot and monks of Westminster are to hold their land in Pyrton [co. Oxon.] which William's father gave in alms, for the soul of his wife; and to hold it as freely, quit of scutage and all secular duties, as it was given to them, and as it was held in the time of Earl Hugh of Chester. No one is to do them wrong; and, if anything has been taken from them, it is to be restored. If the constable fails to execute this order, Richard Basset is to do so.

Witness: Richard Basset.

[D. and C., Westminster, Charter xxxii (15) (original). Madox, History of the Exchequer, i. 625 n. [ed. 1711, 435 n.]; Bigelow, Plac. Anglo-Norm. 127.]

Evidently Richard Basset is here acting as Chief Justiciar. William the first constable is contemporary with Ranulf Earl of Chester who died c. 1129. This precept is addressed to William the second constable, as Pyrton was given by his father William [fitz Nigel] (see No. 1838).

1883. [1128–33.] Woodstock

Precept by Henry I to G[ilbert] Bp. of London and the Archdeacon and the whole Chapter of St. Paul's: That the Abbot and church of St. Peter of Westminster and their priest shall hold the church of St. Magnus the Martyr in London, and the whole parish pertaining thereto as well and honourably as in the time of William I and William II and of Bps. Hugh, Maurice, and Richard. They are not to be impleaded therefor.

Witness: Richard Basset.

[Copies in Westminster Abbey 'Domesday', fo. 101v^o; Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 77.]
Possibly the original from which No. 1177 was fabricated.

1884. [1120–33]

Notification by Henry I to Robert de Bercherol' and all the barons of the honour which belonged to Othuer fitz Count: That he has given and granted the church of Sawbridgeworth (Sabricheswrd), [co. Herts.] to St. Peter and the monks of Westminster to hold with all the appurtenances. No one is to molest the monks therein, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: The chancellor; Geoffrey de Clinton.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 75 (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 156.] Farrer, Itin. 472.
Othuer fitz Count had obviously succeeded Eudo Dapifer as holder of the three manors pledged to the King by William de Mandeville (see No. 661). They were again in the King's hands in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 62).

1885. [1120–33]

Precept by Henry I to his justiciars, sheriffs, and barons of all England: That all the household-stuff (corredium) and property which the officials of the monks of Westminster, who are at Sawbridgeworth (Sabricheswrd) [co. Herts.], have certified to be the private property of the monks, shall be free from toll and passage-money and every custom.

Witnesses: The chancellor, &c.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 75 (copy). Armitage Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, 156.]

1886. [1114–33.] Windsor

Precept by Henry I to William de Pont de l'Arche and the collectors of Winchester: That the land of Hyde, and that taken in exchange by the abbey, be as free from gelds and other charges as the original site of the abbey, and as the King's own palace and the men who dwell in it. This applies particularly to the geld of 400 marks.

Witnesses: Roger Bp. of Salisbury; William de Albini.

[Copies in Cotton MS. Dom. XIV, fo. 34; Harl. MS. 1761, fo. 26v^o. Monast. ii. 445 (incorrectly).] Farrer, Itin. 680.

This must be later than No. 1070.

1887. [c. 1114–33.] Winchester

Precept by Henry I to Walter de Beauchamp and the collectors of Worcestershire: That henceforth the Bp. of Worcester is not to pay geld on more than 387½ hides, for his lands in Worcestershire.

Witness: The Bp. of Salisbury.

[Cotton MS. Tib. A. XIII, fo. 137 (copy). Hearne, Heming's Cart. i. 298.]
Compare No. 1045 which may be of even date with this.

1888. [1100–33.] Norwich

Notification by Henry (Rex Anglie) to the Bp. of Norwich and the justices, sheriffs, and barons of Norfolk: That he has granted the monks of Wymondham [co. Norfolk] a fair on the eve, the feast, and the morrow of the Nativity of the Virgin.

Witnesses: William de Chesney (Caisn); H[enry] d' Oilli. [–1133.]

[Cotton MS. Titus C. VIII, fo. 32b (copy). Monast. iii. 331 (vii).]

Henry d' Oilly and William de Chesney do not seem to attest before Stephen's reign. So this charter is probably of Henry II.

1889. [1123–33.] York

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. [of York], justiciars, sheriff, &c., of Yorkshire: That he has granted to the hospital of St. Peter of York for the souls of his father and mother, two carucates of land belonging to his fee in Acomb, free of all gelds and customs; and confirms the gifts of R[obert] Fossard, Heremannus Gigator, Nigel de Albini, William de Arches, Richard Mauleverer (Malus Leporarius); and whatever else his men may give to the brethren, in York or outside it.

Witnesses: Thurstan Abp. [of York]; Alexander Bp. of Lincoln; Robert d' Oilli.

[Chart. R. 22 Ed. I, No. 18 (copy). Monast. vii. 612 (xiv); Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 169.] Farrer, Itin. 517.

1890. [1123–33.] Westminster

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of York, the Bp. of Durham, and all of England: That he has confirmed to the monks of St. Mary, York, in alms, the churches of Stokesley, Stainton, Gainford, Barnard Castle and their appurtenances, to be held as the charters of Wido de Balliol and Bernard de Balliol testify.

Witness: H[ugh] Bigod.

[P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], No. 28 [DD.] (6) (copy).]

Hugh Bigod attests from 1123 on. Guy de Balliol's charter is for Richard Abbot of St. Mary's, York, 1112–22. The confirmation by Bernard is dated by Farrer (E.Y.C., No. 561) 1132–53. Bernard had, however, succeeded his uncle before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 28).

1891. [1123–33.] Oxford

Precept by Henry I to Eustace fitz John and Walter Espec: Commanding that the Canons of St. Peter of York have all their necessary easements (aisiamenta) and pasture in the demesne woods belonging to their prebends.

Witness: G[oeffrey] the chancellor.

1892. 1133 [after Aug. 2.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for England: That he confirms the gift made by Brian fitz Count and Maud his wife to St. Mary's, Bec, of the manor called Little Ogbourne [co. Wilts.] for the clothing of the monks.

Statement in a charter of Henry II by a jury of inquest appointed to inquire into the ducal demesnes at Bayeux: 'Quod rex Henricus [primus] post mortem Conani thesaurarii domum eius lapideam cum toto masnagio et virgultum extra murum Baiocis, in dominio suo habuit propter trecentas marcas argenti quas idem Conanus ei debebat in die qua fuit vivus et mortuus. . . . Predictam nostram pecuniam Ricardus Baiocensis episcopus postea reddidit, et rex concessit ei domum et virgultum cum pertinentiis tenenda donec predicta pecunia a justo Conani herede episcopo redderetur.' 1895. [1134, Sept.] Verneuil 'in expeditione'

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, abbots and sheriffs, barons and lieges and the sons of Holy Church in Lincolnshire: That he has granted to Ivo the monk, the abbey of Bardney with all the possessions with which Walter de Gant, in whose fee the abbey is, gave it to him. Ivo is to have the liberties with which his predecessor held the abbey and with which Walter conferred it.

1896. [1134?] Rouen

Precept (praecipio et confirmo) by Henry I to William Abp. of Canterbury, Roger Bp. of Salisbury, Seffrid Bp. of Chichester, and all barons and sheriffs where St. Martin's, Battle, has lands: Confirming the possessions and liberties of the abbey (enumerated) including Appledram (in exchange for Reading), Langhurst in Meons (in exchange for Carmarthen) and St. John's Brecknock.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Seffrid Bp. of Chichester; Bernard Bp. of St. David's; Robert Earl of Gloucester; William Earl of Warenne; Philip de Braiose. [1130-5.]

[Original (from Philipps MSS.) sold at Sotheby's, 11 Nov. 1946 (No. 56); copies in Huntington Lib. Battle Cart. fo. 24; Linc. Inn, Hale MS. 87, fo. 11.]

This must be subsequent to the grant of Langhurst (No. 1649). William Abp. of Canterbury went to Normandy in 1134 (Henry of Huntingdon, Hist. Angl. (R.S.), 224). Philip de Braiose must have been recalled from exile, as he appears in the P.R. of 31 Hen. I.

1897. [1134?] Caen

Precept by Henry I to his justices of Normandy and William of Glastonbury and Eudo of Bayeux and G[eoffrey] de Sablé: That the Canons of the church of St. Mary at Bayeux hold their prebends and lands and men and houses and tithes and alms and customs and liberties as well and freely as in the time of the King's father or brother; and have wood from the forests of St. Mary for repairing their houses and for firing.

Witness: Richard de la Haie. [c. 1129-35.]

[Black Book of Bayeux, fo. 4 (copy). Bourrienne, Antiq. Cart. Eccles. Baiocensis, i. 14; Round, C.D.F. 531 (No. 1437) (calendared).]

Presumably this is connected with the Inquests made respecting the see of Bayeux and its possessions in 1133.

1898. [1134?] Arch . . . [? Arganchy]

Precept by Henry I to his justices and the custodians of the see of Bayeux: To cause Reginald son of Robert Nep. to have his tithe which Ralph de Rais detains out of the fee of Hugh de Crevecœur (Crepacor) and of Robert de Vere. 'Et nisi feceritis justicia Normannica faciat fieri.'

1899. [1134?] Arganchy (Archenc)

Notification by Henry I to the sheriff, barons, and officials of Lincolnshire: That Bp. Alexander is to have free warren in all his land in Lincolnshire; and no one is to hunt there without the leave of the bp. or his officials on pain of £10 fine.

1900. 1134. Rouen

Notification (in aringa form) addressed to the Abp. of Rouen and generally for Normandy: As the town and parish of Bec have become disorderly owing to the gentle rule of the monks the King ordains: That any of the men of the abbey striking any person in a brawl, without malice, shall pay a fine to the abbey of 18s., if of malice 60s.; a stranger shall clear himself in the abbot's court, or else pay the penalty it awards, in the first case in the second, he shall pay 60s., and any of the abbot's men failing to report such an act committed outside the church or park, or unable to convince the court that he could not prevent it, shall pay 18s.: none of the abbot's men shall enter the town armed, unless for a journey, on pain of 18s.; and these ordinances are to have the force of law.

A longer version of the preceding charter, with the following additions: The men of Bec are not to go out of their town to serve as jurors (ad aliquod juramentum faciendum), but the King's ministers shall hear their oath, if necessary, in the abbot's court; buyers of food for the monks are not to be molested, nor their beasts unloaded, but shall have the same liberty as the King's; any man of the abbey taken or detained anywhere for any cause may be replevied by the monks or their ministers, and cannot be brought before any court unless that of Bec has failed in justice; the monks are to have the King's liberties in the parish of Bec, viz. murder, manslaughter, wounding, mayhem, drawing blood, water and fire, thieves taken within the parish, and all other royal liberties except rape, which is more decently tried by laymen; their men and those of the parish shall be quit of pleas and complaints, assizes, and works of castles, bridges, and ditches, and cuttings (trancheiarum), and all worldly service and exaction; any money arising from incidents (occasio) in the parish is to go to the monks.

1904. [1134, after Easter?] Aumale

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Thetford and the barons, sheriffs, officials, and lieges of Suffolk and Norfolk: That he has confirmed to the nuns of Redlingfield [co. Suff.] the gift which Emma Countess of Guisnes made them of the land of Redlingfield, and which Stephen Count of Mortain, to whose fief it belonged, confirmed.

Witnesses: William Earl Warenne; William de Tany (Tania).

On the pedigree of the Countess Emma, see Archaeologia, loc. cit. and Round, Geoffrey de Mandeville, App. v (p. 397). The foundation charter of Redlingfield, dated 1120, is printed in Monast. vi. 26. Henry went abroad in 1123. If Tania is (as is not unlikely) for Tanc' [i.e. Tancarville], the later limit will be 1129. Henry was at Mortemer in 1134 and may have visited Aumale about the same time.

1905. [1134?]

Notification by Henry I, King of England and Duke of Normandy, generally addressed: That he has confirmed to the Canons of Norton in perpetual alms, the whole manor of Norton which William the Younger, Constable of Chester, gave them in exchange. [1134–5.]

[Harl. MS. 2044, fo. 5b (transcript from 'loose pages among the evidences of Dutton of Dutton').]

The transcriber attributes this to Henry II. There is no need as William Junior was constable c. 1130–50 (Tait, Chartulary of St. Werburgh's, Chester, 233–5, No. 351). The canons are said to have been transferred from Runcorn to Norton in 1134 (Tait, 'Foundation Charter of Runcorn Priory', 2).

1906. 1134

Grant by Albreda daughter of Reinelm (filia Reinelmi) to St. Benedict and the Abbot and monks of Ramsey: Of the manor of Walton in frankalmoign.

[P.R.O. Ramsey Cart., fo. 35v^o; Bodl. Rawl. MS. B. 333 (copies). Ramsey Cart. i. 155; Ramsey Chron. 318.]

Dated 'Anno ab Incarnatione Domini nostri Jhesu Christi millesimo centesimo tricesimo quarto, regni vero ipsius Henrici regis tricesimo quinto'. This date seems inconsistent with No. 1766 (Farrer, Itin. 692), which is dated at Winchester and confirms this gift.

1909. 1135. Caen

The witnesses are mainly as in No. 1908.

1911. [Aug. 1133-5.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to all the clerks and laymen in the bishopric of Lincoln: That the King has made an agreement between the Abbot of Peterborough and the Bp. of Lincoln concerning the controversy (de placito controversiae) which was between them about the parish church of Peterborough; so that the abbot, in the presence of the King, his bps., and barons and his whole court, has fully recognized (recognovit) the customs which the bp. claimed in that church, and has pledged himself (vadiavit) to restore the same to him. Therefore, that church remains bound (consuetudinaria) to the Bp. of Lincoln for purposes of holding pleas and synods and chapters, as the other parish churches of the bishopric of Lincoln in which these matters are wont to be transacted. The King commands that the bp. appoint a day convenient for the abbot in the chapter of St. Mary of Lincoln and that the abbot come there and do full right to the bp. by the judgement of the chapter of St. Mary's and of the abbots, his peers (parium suorum abbatum), as the question between them has hitherto been treated.

Witnesses: A. Bp. of Carlisle; R. de Sigillo; R. Earl of Gloucester; William Earl Warenne; Brian fitz Count.

[Original Lincoln Cath., A1/1/3; copies in Lincoln Reg. A. i. 4, fo. 7d, No. 52; Reg. Superant. No. 23; Cotton MS. Vesp. E. XII, fo. 9d (1); Chart. R. 3 Ed. III, No. 3. Monast. viii. 1275, No. 50 (from the copy in the Cottonian Reg.); E.H.R. xxiii. 726; Foster, Reg. Antiq., No. 52.] Farrer, Itin. 721.

1912. [1135?] [Perrières, Calvados?] (apud Pirarios)

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Exeter and the sheriff and Alfred de Totnes and all the lieges of Devon: That the King has confirmed the church of St. Mary Magdalen of Barnstaple with various lands and rents to St. Peter of Cluny and St. Martin des Champs, as given by Joel and others, to hold free of gelds, danegelds, hidages, pleas, aids, and all customs.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; Robert de Sigillo; Robert Earl of Gloucester; [Henry] Count of Eu; Baldwin de Redvers; William fitz Odo; William de Vernon; Ilbert de Lacy; Robert de Lacy. [c. 1130-5.]

[Original in Archives Nationales, Paris (Cartons des Rois, K 22, No. 8⁶); Chart. R. 10 Ed. II, No. 39 (copy). Tardif, Archives de l'Empire, Mon. Hist. 230, No. 417; D. Alfred of Totnes succeeded his father Juel de Mayenne before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 153). The appearance of Robert and Ilbert de Lacy suggests that Robert was pardoned shortly before the King's death. If so, Farrer's objections to Robert's Charter to Pontefract (E.Y.C. 1485) are evaded. A likely date for this is 1129 when Waleran Count of Meulan was restored to favour.

1913. [1135.] Falaise

Notification by Henry I to the justiciars of Normandy and the Vicomte of Rouen and the barons and burgesses of Rouen and the lieges of all Normandy: That he has given and granted to St. Edmund and Abbot Anselm [of Bury St. Edmunds] and his successors, in perpetual alms, a piece (pecturam) of land at Rouen on the Seine for his hostelry, next the piece which the King has given to G[oeffrey] fitz Payn. To be held with freedom from toll and passage-money and every custom by land and water, except the King's mueison (modiatio). The Abbot gave this to Rainer, his chamberlain in the King's presence.

Witnesses: Adelulf Bp. of Carlisle; Richard of Beaufou; R[obert] de Curci; A[ubrey] de Vere. [1133–5.]

1914. [1135?] Falaise

Precept by Henry I to his justiciar, sheriff, barons, officials, and lieges of Norfolk and Suffolk: That the church of St. Edmund [at Bury] and Abbot Anselm are to hold their market, and their tolls from the market and vill of Bury St. Edmunds, with all the liberties which they ever enjoyed under William I and William II and in the King's own time, and as freely as Abbot Baldwin or any of his predecessors held them. No one may demand an exemption from toll, who did not have it and had no right to it in that time.

1915. [1135.] Falaise

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: That William of Houghton, the King's chamberlain, has restored to Walter Abbot of Ramsey and his successors his manor of 'Bradenache' [probably in Great Gidding, co. Hunts.] with a hide at Gidding, which he held for life, in return for 100 marks of silver. Henry confirms the grant with all privileges.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; [Adelulf] Bp. of Carlisle; Robert de Sigillo; Roger de Fécamp; R[obert] Earl of Gloucester; Aubrey de Vere; R[obert] de Vere; R[obert] de Courcy; Hugh Bigod; G[oeffrey] fitz Payn; G[oeffrey] de Mandeville; William de Glasto[n-bury]; Robert Arundel; G[oeffrey] de Furne[lli]s. Compare the witnesses of Nos. 1916–17. Ramsey Chron. makes the Bp. of Salisbury the second witness.

1916. [1135?] Argentan

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln, justiciars, sheriffs, and barons and lieges of Huntingdonshire: That he has granted to the abbot and monks of Ramsey and to St. Ives a fair at St. Ives beginning on Monday in Easter week and lasting till the next Monday; and that fair is to have liberties as good as any fair in England. All going to the fair and coming from it are to have the King's firm peace, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; Robert Earl of Gloucester; R[obert] de Vere; R[obert] de Curci; G[oeffrey] fitz Payn; Geoffrey de Mandeville; William de Houghton. [1121–35.]

[Copies in Pat. R. 4 Ed. IV, pt. 4, m. 6; Bodl., Rawl. MS. B. 333. Ramsey Chron. 226; Monast. ii. 564 (xv) (from Cotton MS. Vesp. E. II, fo. 12, imperfect).]

[Harl. MS. 782 (Brooke's Collections), fo. 145v° (translation).]

1917. 1135. Rouen

Notification by Henry I addressed generally for Normandy: That he has given to the leper hospital of Le Grand Beaulieu at Chartres £10 Rouennais at Michaelmas yearly from his treasury payable by the treasurers at Michaelmas, when his farms &c. are paid.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; Robert de Sigillo; Roger de Fécamp; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Richard son of the earl; Robert de Ver; Robert de Courcy; Geoffrey fitz Payn; Geoffrey de Mandeville; Robert de Neufbourg; William de Roumare.

[Vidimus of 1469 in Archives of Eure-et-Loir. Cartulaire de la léproserie du Grand-Beaulieu, ed. R. Merlet and M. Jusselin (Chartres, 1909), No. 1; Haskins, Norman Inst. 106.] Farrer, Itin. 627.

Dated 'Anno ab incarnatione Domini M^oC^oxxx^o quinto hec carta renovata fuit, quia prior igne combusta erat'. The original must have been granted between 1121 when Robert first attests as earl and 13 Sept. 1131, the date of the confirmation by Innocent II.

This Geoffrey de Mandeville is probably Geoffrey II, afterwards Earl of Essex. If so, it is his earliest appearance as a witness.

1918. [1135]

Charter by Henry I addressed to the Abp. of Rouen and all his lieges of Normandy: That at the prayer of Waleran (Galeranus) Count of Meulan, he grants to the church of St. Giles of Pont Audemer an annual fair of three days at Pont Audemer.

[Rouen Public Library, Y 200 (Cart. of Pont Audemer), fo. 17vo (copy). Round, C.D.F. 83 (No. 238) (calendared); A. Le Prévost, Mémoires . . . pour servir à l'histoire de l'Eure (Évreux, 1866), ii. 556.]

Pont Audemer hospital was founded in 1135 (G. H. White in R. Hist. Soc. Trans. (4) xvii. 26).

1919. [1135?] Falaise

Precept by Henry I to the justices, &c., of Normandy and the sea-ports: To permit the goods of the nuns of St. Mary of Villers [-Canivet] to pass free of toll, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: A[delulf] Bp. of Carlisle; R[obert] Earl of Gloucester; R[obert] de Ver. [1133-5.]

[Original in Archives of Calvados: H. Villers-Canivet, No. 47-66; Vidimus of G. Bp. of Sées, ibid., No. 48. Haskins, Norman Inst. 308.] Farrer, Itin. 728.

1920. [1100-35]

Edict of Henry I, modifying the law of wreck: 'Sciendum autem est hoc pro lege ab antiquitate per maris littora observatum ut, navi fluctibus contrita, si evadentes infra statutum terminum et tempus eam minime reparassent, navis et quaecumque appulsa forent absque calumpnia in dominium terrae illius, et in werec cederent. Sed supramemoratus rex Henricus hanc abhorrens consuetudinem, tempore suo, per imperii sui spatia, edictum proposuit, quatinus si vel unus e navi confracta vivus evasisset, haec omnia obtineret.'

[Cotton MS. Dom. II, fo. 54. Historia Foundationis Monasterii de Bello (1846), 66; Liebermann, Gesetze, ii. 639.]

1920a. [1133-5]

Record of a final concord between Geoffrey Count of Anjou and Ulger Bp. of Angers, by the counsel of Henry I, Geoffrey the legate, and Hugh Abp. of Tours. The count undertakes to obtain from the monks of Beaulieu [Indre-et-Loire] for the cathedral of Angers all their rights in Seronne and Cherré, in reparation for the losses caused to the bp. by the building of Châteauneuf-sur-Sarthe. The King undertakes to repay all the bishop's money losses from the count's aggressions.

[Transcript by Grandet, in possession of Canon Urseau, from a lost cartulary (18th c.). Cartulaire noir, p. 313 (No. ccxi).]

1921. [1121-35.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: Confirming the gift by William Peverel to the church of St. Mary, Bec, of land in Touffreville [Eure].

Witnesses: R[obert] de Sigillo; G[eo]ffrey fitz Payn; A[nselm], vicomte [of Rouen].

[Copy in Archives of the Eure, H. 91, fo. 35. Haskins, Norman Inst. 306.] Farrer, Itin. 647.

1922. [1123-35.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to his bailiffs, French and English: That he has granted to the monks of St. Mary of Bec all their liberties and free customs and immunity from pleas, amercements and toll. None of his officers is to trouble them as to this under penalty of £10.

Witness: Robert de Sigillo.

[P.R.O. Exch. K.R. Acc. [E. 101] bdle. 152, No. 2, m. 3 (copy); Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 13905, fo. 9 (transcript). Round, C.D.F. 126 (No. 375) (calendared) from vidimus of 1361 of a vidimus of 1285.]

See No. 1901.

The use of ballivi as well as ministri and the addition of dei gracia in the style suggest that this may be a charter of Henry II.

1923. [1107–35]

Statement that Henry I gave Sibyl de Falaise, his niece, in marriage to Baldwin de Boullers and their daughter Maud to Richard fitz Urse (part of a claim by Vitalis Engaine to the honour of Montgomery) on the death of William de Courtenay (c. 1219).

[Placita apud Westm. Oct. 9 Hen. III, r. 3 in dorso (K.B. 26/88 m. 3d). Genealogist, n.s. iii. 195; Dugdale, Baronage, i. 598 (analysed).]

See Eyton, Antiquities of Shropshire, xi. 127.

Sibyl of Falaise may possibly have been a daughter of William des Moulins, the son of Walter of Falaise (Ord. Vit. Hist. Eccl. ii. 408), though not mentioned by Orderic. If so, she was second cousin once removed of Henry I, and might perhaps be described as 'niece à la mode de Bretagne'. There seems to be no good ground for identifying her with Sibyl de Montgomery, wife of Robert fitz Hamo. But neither suggestion carries conviction. Joseph Bain (Genealogist, loc. cit.) thought she was probably an unidentified illegitimate daughter of Henry I.

1924. [1125–35.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Canterbury and the Bp. of Rochester and abbots and sheriffs and barons and lieges of Kent: That he has confirmed to the infirm of St. Mary Magdalene, at Boulogne, the manor of Boughton Aluph (Butona) in Kent, as Eustace Count of Boulogne gave it, and Count Stephen the King's nephew confirmed it.

Witnesses: Robert de Sigillo; William fitz Odo.

[Copies in Chart. R. 11 Ed. II, No. 30; Pat. R. 11 Ed. II, m. 12. Monast. vii. 1114; Cal. Pat. R. 11 Ed. II, 150.]

1925. [c. 1127–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to justiciars, sheriffs, reeves, officials of all England and Normandy and the sea-ports: That the food and raiment of the Prior and convent of Bruton (Briwton), [co. Somerset] and whatever their men can affirm to be their own in money and wine and cloth and all things be free from toll, pontage, and passage-money both within and without cities and boroughs, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

Witnesses: Robert de Vere; John the marshal.

[Chart. R. 8 Ed. II, m. 7, No. 22 (copy). Cal. Chart. R. iii. 270.] Farrer, Itin. 646.

John the marshal succeeded his father Gilbert shortly before 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 18).

1926. [1107–35]

Charter by Henry I to St. Stephen of Caen: Confirming the gift which Ralph of Grainville gave when he became a monk at St. Stephen's.

Witnesses: Richard (II or III) Bp. of Bayeux and others.

[Paris, Bibl. Ste Geneviève, MS. 1656, fo. 24 (abstract). Deville, Notices, iv. 20.]

1927. [1106–35]

Charter by Henry I, King of England and Duke of Normandy, to St. Stephen of Caen: Confirming the gifts made by Duke William and others, and the various acquisitions of the abbey; and giving to the abbey that part of the bourg on which it is built.

[Original in Archives of Calvados (seal broken). D'Anisy, Catalogue, i. 272 (calendared).]

1928. [1100–35]

Notification by Henry I addressed generally: Giving to the abbey of the Holy Trinity of Caen certain manors, viz. Minchinhampton, Avening, and Pinbury [co. Glos.] and Felsted, and the tithe of Tolleshunt [co. Essex] (which William de Plaisseio gave with his niece), and Horsted [co. Norfolk] and Tarrant [co. Dorset] and Tilshead [co. Wilts.]

with all dues and liberties with which the King's father or his brother William or he himself held them when they were in his demesne.

[Copies in Archives of Calvados (Inspeximus of 1358); Chart. R. 32 Ed. III, m. 1, No. 1; Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 5650, fo. 37; Cal. Chart. R. v. 158; Round, C.D.F. 143 (No. 427) (calendared).]

The final imprecation and the lack of witnesses are out of keeping with the formula of address to archbishops, bishops, &c.

1929. [1100–35]

Excerpt (in the record of a plea of 1323) from a charter by Henry I (?), in which he grants to Christ Church, Canterbury, free warren on its lands in Essex, namely, in Bocking, Stisted, Lawling [in Latchingdon], Milton (Middilton), and Southchurch. No one is to hunt or to take any beast, without the church's licence, on pain of £10 forfeiture.

[Copies in Canterbury, D. and C., Reg. A, fo. 168; P.R.O. Forest Proc. (Exch. T.R.) [E. 32], 16 m. 8d.]

As the record mentions Abp. Theobald as the grantee, and the King is described in the abridged charter as 'Rex Anglie etc.', this is presumably a charter of Henry II.

1930. [1130–5]

Notitia of a grant by Henry I to Herbert the chamberlain: Of Millicent, niece of William Turniant, with the land of William and Richard, his brother, and of Osbert the sheriff, their father, including Marston [co. Lincs.]

[Curia Regis R. 21 (Mich. 2 John), m. 6; 68 (Mich. 12 John), m. 10; Curia Regis R. i. 263; vi. 102; Abb. Plac. 65b.]

Osbert appears to have died before 1116. Herbert the elder (chamberlain of Henry I) was dead in 1130. He married the sister of Osbert the sheriff. Millicent must therefore have married Herbert II. William Turniant and Richard his brother were living in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 25, 109–10). The tenure of Marston by Osbert the priest and William Turniant successively, proved by comparing Domesday with the Lindsey survey, establishes the identity of the Domesday tenant with the sheriff. Mr. W. H. B. Bird, however, identified Millicent's husband with Herbert, chamberlain of David King of Scots and his successor (1130–60) [see Farrer, E.Y.C. iii, p. vi, n. 1.], and it is probably safe to accept his statement.

1931. [1107–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to the Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: Protection for the abbot and monks of Saint-Père, Chartres.

Witness: Bp. of Lisieux.

[Original in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 9221 (No. 7). Haskins, Norman Inst. 304.] Farrer, Itin. 641.

1932. [1129–35.] Sées

Charter by Henry I addressed to Hugh Abp. of Rouen, &c.: Giving to Saint-Père-de-Chartres the tithes of all additions to his revenue from Moulins-la-Marche [Orne] and Bons Moulins [Orne], whether in money or in kind.

Witnesses: Hugh Abp. of Rouen; John Bp. of Lisieux; Oin Bp. of Évreux; Stephen Count of Mortain; Robert Earl of Gloucester.

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 9221 (No. 8) (original); Chartres, Bibl. Publ. MS. 1136 (transcript by Dom Muley 1722). Cartulaire de St.-Père-de-Chartres, ii. 640; Round, C.D.F. 457.] Farrer, Itin. 719.

The castle of Bons Moulins is mentioned by William of Jumièges as one of those which Henry built about 1130 (Bouquet, xii. 580b). Compare the spurious charter to Saint-Évroul (No. 1594).

1933. [1130–5]

Precept by Henry I to W. de Clint[on]: That the King's men in Stoneleigh [co. Warwick] are to have their pasture in the wood (haia) which the King gave to G[eoffrey] de Clint[on] as they had it in Geoffrey's time, and as it was estimated when the King gave that wood.

[Stowe MS. 795, fo. 127 (transcript (18th c.) from one of the deeds of Kenilworth Priory).]

Geoffrey de Clinton was alive in 1130 and is not known to have been alive after 1133.

1934. [1130–5.] Argentan (Arg')

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Norwich and all barons and ministers of Suffolk: That he has restored to Aubrey de Dammartin his father's land of the manor of Norton, to hold of the King in chief, as his father held it.

Witnesses: R[obert] Earl of Gloucester; S[tephen] Count of Mortain; B[?]rian fitz Count; R[obert] de Ver; Humphrey de Bohun.

[B.M. Add. Chart. 11233 (2) (copy 13th c.).] Farrer, Itin. 730.

Odo de Dammartin succeeded his father Odo in 1130 (P.R. 31 Hen. I, 94, 98). Aubrey may have been either son or brother of the latter.

1935. [1129–35?]

Confirmation by Henry I (?) to Furness Abbey: Of a grant of Winterburn and wood and pasture in Flasby (Flasceby) [in Gargrave] given by William Graindorge (Granum Ordei) and confirmed by Roger de Mowbray.

[B.M. Add. MS. 33244, fo. 140 (copy of 1412). Atkinson, Furness Couches (Chetham Soc.), ii. 371.] Brownbill (in V.C.H.) puts Graindorge after 1155, and a William Graindorge attests a gift of Arthington to the Hospitallers in 1186 (E.Y.C. vi, No. 148). Roger de Mowbray was a minor at the death of his father Nigel de Albini, and was 'still a boy' (adhuc puerulus) at the battle of the Standard in 1138 (Complete Peerage, ix. 369, n. e, quoting Aelred of Rievaulx). The charter is thus more probably one of Henry II.

1936. [1106–35]

Notification by Henry [I] 'rex Anglorum et dux Normannorum', to all his lieges, French and English: 'Sciatis me confirmasse scholas tocius Gloucestrie ecclesie Sancti Oswaldi de Gloucestria, capelle mee, quas episcopi Wigorn' Sanson' et ceteri predictae ecclesie dederunt et carte sue testimonio confirmaverunt. Valete.'

[Pat. R. 12 Ric. II, pt. 1, m. 10 (copy). Cal. Pat. R. 1385–9, 525.]

1937. [1128–35]

Precept by Henry 'rex Angliae' (sic) to War[in] the sheriff and all the King's barons and officials in Wiltshire: That the monks of Gloucester have and hold the two 'breches' [essarts] in the King's manor of Chelworth, which William Rufus gave them.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 43v^o (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 239.] Warin was sheriff 1128–30; E.H.R. xxxvii. 77.

1938. c. 1127–35. Argentan

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of St. David's: That the monks of Gloucester have seisin of their church of Daugleddau (Dugledi) and all appurtenances; as they recovered it, before the King's transference, by his writ and by the judgement of his court.

Witness: Miles of Gloucester.

See Nos. 1754–5.

1939. [1100–35]

Notification by Henry 'rex Angliae' to the Bp. of Worcester and the sheriffs and all barons and faithful men, French and English, of Gloucester: Of a confirmation to the church of St. Peter of Gloucester of one mill and its lands and a tithe of meadows of the vill of Kempsford (Kynemereforde).

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 89 (copy). Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. i. 343.]

The Cartulary (ibid. i. 548) says the mill was given by Patrick de Cadurcis in the time of Abbot William (1113–30). Compare No. 1005.

1940. [1126–35]

Notification by Henry I to the Bp. of Lincoln and the sheriff and all of Oxfordshire: That he has confirmed the grant of Robert fitz Walter and Avelina [de Hesdin], his wife, to the monks of Gloucester, of their church at [Chipping] Norton. The monks are to build the church, and find and maintain the incumbent, retaining what is left of the issues for themselves.

[P.R.O. Gloucester Cartulary [C. 150], fo. 127v^o (copy); Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 45.]

The date of the confirmation of Robert fitz Walter and Avelina appears from Cart. Mon. S. Petri, Glouc. ii. 48 as 1126. The original gift was made by Avelina's mother, Emmeline.

1941. [1124–35.] Argentan

Precept by Henry I to barons, sheriffs, and ministers of England and Normandy and of the sea-ports: That the goods of the monks of Vignatz [Saint-André-en-Gouffern] are to be quit of toll.

Witnesses: J[ohn] Bp. of Sées: the Count of Mortain.

[Copy in Cartulary of Saint-André in Archives of Calvados, H. 6510, fo. 19, No. 72. Haskins, Norman Inst. 306.] Farrer, Itin. 582.

1942. [1123–35.] Fal[aise]

[Bodl. Middlesex Rolls, i. Webb, Records of St. Bartholomew's, i. 428.]

1944. [1111–35]

Precept by Henry I to William the Dean [of St. Paul's] and the Archdeacon of London and his officials: That the church of St. Mary Magdalene [Milk Street, London] shall have its parish and all its customs as fully as at any time in the past. And Geoffrey the canon, to whom it belongs, shall hold it peacefully.

See Newcourt's Repertorium Parochiale, i. 470 for this church and its connexion with St. Paul's. William became dean in 1111.

1945. [1100–35]

Notitia of a grant by Henry I (?) to Hugh de Longchamps: Of Wilton [in Bridstow, co. Hereford] to hold by the service of two mounted sergeants in the wars of Wales.

[Placita coram Rege apud Hereford 20 Ed. I, rot. 39 and 42' (= P.R.O. Assize Rolls, 303, mm. 39, 42).

Plac. de Quo Warranto, 266, 269. Dugdale, Baronage, i. 539 (abstract).]

The return of fees in Herefordshire for 1212 (Book of Fees, 100) says that Henry II gave Wilton to H. de Longo Campo. The Liber Feodorum reads Hugoni. But neither text is the original. Hugh de Longchamps holds land in Wilton in 1156 (Great Rolls of the Pipe, 2–4 Hen. II, 51). The record cited by Dugdale only speaks of grants by Richard I to Hugh de Longchamps, but the holder of Wilton in Richard's reign was Henry de Longchamps.

1946. [1130–5.] Argentan

Notification by Henry [I?] King of England to Normandy generally and to the Provost and burgesses of Argentan: That he gives in free inheritance to Robert and Hamelin his loricarii a mesuage of land in Argentan, in the ditch between the bourg and the causeway.

Witnesses: R[obert] de Curci; John the marshal; Wigan the marshal; Reginald fitz Count.

[Original in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10083, No. 4. D'Anisy, Catalogue, ii. 388; Haskins, Norman Inst. 306.] Farrer, Itin. 633.

See Matilda the Empress's grant of 1136–9 to Robert Loricarius (Round, C.D.F. 207 (No. 591)).

1947. [1123–35.] Montfort

Notification by Henry I (?) [with dei gratia style of Henry II] to the Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: That he has granted to Odoïn de Malpalu (Mala Palude), his serjeant, the office (ministerium) of his pantry (with livery and privileges described in detail) with full jurisdiction in the same, and to be one of the regarkers of the King's forests.

Witnesses: The Bp. of Lisieux; William de H[el]ion; R. de Veir; R. de Corci; John Martel.

[Copies in Paris, Arch. Nat. (Trésor des Chartes) JJ. 62, No. 368 (confirmation of 1323); Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 9067, fo. 141v^o (transcript). Delisle, Cart. Norm. 4 (No. 14); Actes de Henri II, ii. 328; Round, C.D.F. 465 (No. 1280) (abstract).] Farrer, Itin. 628.

Round (in Arch. Journ. lxiv. 73–76 and in The King's Serjeants, 199–201) relying on the correspondence with the Constitutio domus regis, dates this as of the last years of Henry I, identifying R. de Veir with Robert de Vere (the constable), and Farrer accepts this. MM. Delisle and Berger attribute the charter to Henry II. See Haskins (Norman Inst. 117), who accepts Round's view as probable.

1948. [c. 1130–5.] Rouen

Notification by Henry I (rex Anglie et dux Normannorum) to the Bp. of Coutances, justices, vicomtes, and barons: That he confirms the gifts and alms of his father to St. Martin's, Marmoutier, viz.: Héauville, [Manche], and other lands and churches [named] held by the monks of Marmoutier at Héauville. They are also to have 100 swine free of pannage in the forests of the Cotentin, and wood for fuel and for building and repair of the church and other buildings.

Witnesses: John Bp. of Lisieux; Audin Bp. of Évreux; Payn de Clara Valle. Signum: H. King of England.

[Archives of La Manche (transcript 16th c. on paper). Cartulaire des Îles Normandes, 386.]

It seems probable that ' + S. H. Regis Anglie' merely indicates the presence of a seal on the original. Payn de Clara Valle attests charters of Maud and of Geoffrey Duke of Normandy, as also a charter to Fontevrault confirmed by Henry I and also attested by Abp. Thurstan (Round, C.D.F. 373 (No. 1054) c. 1130.

1949. [1129–35.] Argentan

Precept by Henry I to the Vicomtes, &c., of the Cotentin: To arrest no man and take no distress (nempnum) in the market of Montebourg on market-days, if the men or the distress can be taken elsewhere and on another day in the King's land.

Witnesses: Robert Earl of Gloucester; Per William of Glastonbury.

[Copies in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 8; Arch. de la Manche, H. 8426, 8527; B.M. Add. MS. 15605, ff. 13v°, 14v°, 26 &c.; Grenoble, Bibl. MSS. 1395, ff. 9, 58; 1402, fo. 64v° (transcripts). E.H.R. xxiv. 220; Haskins, Norman Inst. 101.] Farrer, Itin. 583.

William of Glastonbury succeeded his uncle Walchelin about 1129 (P.R. 31 Hen. I. 13). This writ should be compared with No. 1684 and is possibly of even date with it.

1950. [1107–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to his justiciars and officials of Saint-Marcouf and Varreville and to all lords from whom the abbey of Montebourg holds: That the abbey of Montebourg hold all its property as freely as any abbey in Normandy, and especially the King's alms of land in Foucarville, free and quit of toll and wreck (verec) and all customs and plaints. No man is to lay hands in any way upon the King's alms. If anyone does the abbey wrong, the King's justiciar is to see that the King does not lose his right; for the abbey is his own chapel.

Witness: Robert de la Haie.

[Copies in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 7; Arch. Nat. JJ. 52, fo. 62; JJ. 118, fo. 258; Archives de la Manche, H. 8391, fo. 2, &c.; B.M. Add. MS. 15605, fo. 13v°; Grenoble, Bibl. MSS. 1395, fo. 28v°; 1402, fo. 35v°. E.H.R. xxiv. 220; Haskins, Norman Inst. 101.] Farrer, Itin. 589.

Another transcript (from Vidimus of 1315) in Grenoble MS. 1395, fo. 9 is addressed to the Bishop of Coutances and the justiciars, &c.

1951. 1121–35. Rouen

Precept by Henry I to the justiciars of the Cotentin¹ and William de Brix (Bruis) and his foresters: To permit the monks of Montebourg to have in Brix as many trees for their firewood as there are weeks in the year, and timber for their buildings and pannage and all their customs. And the foresters are to be quit in the King's pleas for so many trees as the monks acknowledge by their tallies.

Witnesses: R[obert] Earl of Gloucester; Per Robert de la Haie.

[Copies in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 11; Arch. Nat. JJ. 52, fo. 62; JJ. 118, fo. 258; Arch. de la Manche, H. 8426, 8427; B.M. Add. MS. 15605, fo. 13v°; Grenoble, Bibl. MSS. 1395, fo. 29; 1402, fo. 35v°; E.H.R. xxiv. 221; Haskins, Norman Inst. 102.] Farrer, Itin. 724.

1952. [1114–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to Richard de Ansgervilla and W. de Sancto Germano: To cause the Abbot of Montebourg to have his eighth part of the church of Helleville [Manche] as he has already the eighth part of the land of the said vill; since he has come to the royal Curia to prove his claim against the monks of Héauville (Haivilla) and they have made default.

Witnesses: R[obert] de la Haie; Per Thomas de Pont l'Évêque (Ponte Episcopi).

[Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 14 (copy). E.H.R. xxiv. 221; Haskins, Norman Inst. 102.] Farrer, Itin. 509.

1953. [1123–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I to the Bp. of Coutances and the justiciars of Normandy and all the lords of whom the abbey of Montebourg holds: That the Abbot and church of Montebourg hold their possessions as well and peacefully as the abbey of Fécamp; for the King has released to them in free alms all his rights.

Witness: R[obert] de Vere.

[Copies in Paris, Bibl. Nat. MS. lat. 10087, No. 15; Arch. Nat. JJ. 52, fo. 62; JJ. 118, fo. 258; Archives of La Manche H. 8931, fo. 1v^o; B.M. Add. MS. 15605, ff. 130v^o, 14v^o, 26, &c.; Grenoble, Bibl. MS. 1595, fo. 28v^o. E.H.R. xxiv. 221; Haskins, Norman Inst. 102.] Farrer, Itin. 629.

1954. [1121–35.] ‘Apud L.’ [London?]

Notification by Henry I to Everard Bp. of Norwich and his justiciars of Norfolk and his burgesses of Norwich: That he has granted to the hospital of the poor of St. Paul of Norwich the tithe of his hall (aula mea) at Ormesby [co. Norfolk] and of the sheep pertaining to the demesne of the hall, and his churches in the said vill with their endowments. The said hospital and all who dwell in the croft belonging to it shall be quit of all scots and gelds, land-gafol, and all other customs. All things pertaining to the said hospital are to have the King’s firm peace, with sac and soc, toll and team and infangthief.

Witnesses: The Bp. of Norwich; Richard Basset; Aubrey de Vere.

[Copies in P.R.O. Cartae Antiquae [C. 52], 4, No. 49 (MS. mutilated); Chart. R. 16 Hen. III, m. 11 (enrolment of Inspeximus); D. and C., Norwich, Regg. i, fo. 54; ii, fo. 261 (bis); iii, fo. 2v^o. Cal. Chart. R. i. 152. Calendared in Landon, Cartae Antiquae, No. 148.]

1955. [1107–35.] Rouen

Witness: The chancellor.

[Copies in D. and C., Norwich, Reg. ii, fo. 25 (bis); iii, fo. 52.]

1956. [1107–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry I (?) to the Sheriff of Berks. and the officials (ministris) of Bray: That Odo the King’s serjeant and his heirs hold their land of Bray free of pleas and complaints and payments for pasture of swine (pasnagiis) and all dues, except murdrum and latrocinium and 32*d.* to be paid annually at Michaelmas in the court of Bray.

Witnesses: Reginald de Pomeray; William armiger.

[Chart. R. 37 Hen. III, No. 21 (pt. 1, m. 8) (enrolment of Inspeximus). Cal. Chart. R. i. 408.]

The serjeanty is presumably that connected with Philberds on Cresswell in Bray (Round, King’s Serjeants, 177). Henry de Pomeray had a brother Roger (Round, C.D.F., No. 1455) living in 1125 who appears in the Pipe Roll of 1130 in Cornwall, and may possibly be the first witness to this charter.

1957. [1131–5]

Notification by Henry I generally addressed: That he has granted to the Canons Regular of St. Frideswide’s, Oxford, a seven days’ fair at the Translation of St. Benedict, and all the customs with which Roger Bp. of Salisbury ever held the fair.

Witness: Robert Bp. of Hereford.

[Oxford, Christ Church, Cart. of St. Frideswide’s, p. 17 (copy). Cart. of St. Frideswide’s, i. 15.]

1958. [1121–35]

Notification by Henry I or II (rex Angliae) to the Bp. of Exeter and the sheriff, &c., of Devon: That he has confirmed to the Canons Regular of Plympton, the lands given by Baldwin de Redvers, Guy de Nonant (Wido de Nunant), Robert fitz Martin, and Matilda Peverel his wife, and their vassals; and the manor of Plympton which Baldwin’s father Richard gave with the consent of Baldwin; and the land which Nigel of Plympton gave them.

[Plympton Reg. (penes Sir John Eliot, 1627), Bodl. James MS. 23 [Bodl. MS. 3860] (transcript), p. 152.] Richard de Redvers died in 1107 (Ord. Vit., Hist. Eccl. iv. 276). Round identifies Guy of Totnes who witnessed the charter of 1123 (No. 1376) with Wido de Nunant (Feudal England, 486, n. 4). This charter seems more likely to be of Henry I, as the address is not ‘to Archbishops, &c.’

1959. [1100–35]

Notitia of a grant by Henry I to the abbey of Préaux: Of a three days’ fair at Bosgouet [Eure] (Boscogoietti) for the souls of his father and mother.

The original (seal broken) is mentioned in the list of Ramsey Charters in Ramsey Cart. i. 84, No. 84.

1961. [1129–35]

Precept by Henry I to the justiciars, barons, &c., of all England: That the goods and men of Rievaulx Abbey be quit of toll, passage-money, and pontage and every other custom throughout the whole kingdom. £10 forfeiture for infraction of this privilege.

Precept by Henry I to his sheriffs and officials of all England: That the private property of St. Mary of Bec be quit of all toll and lestage.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. IV, fo. 46 (copy).]

Witnesses: R[obert] de Vere; W[illiam] fitz Odo.

[Arch. Dép. Seine Inf. (Cart. of St. Wandrille) H. ii, fo. 41. F. Lot, Études critiques sur l'abbaye de Saint-Wandrille, 119 (No. 65); Round, C.D.F. 59 (No. 169) (calendared).] Farrer, Itin. 638.

This must be later than No. 1697 and therefore after the King's return to Normandy in 1133.

Notification by Henry I to the Abp. of Rouen and bps., abbots, counts, &c., of Normandy: That he has confirmed to the church of the Holy Trinity of Savigny the gift of Vengeons, made by Robert fitz Martin and Matilda his wife, as it was confirmed in the King's presence by Stephen Count of Mortain, to whose fee that land belonged, and by Richard Earl of Chester from whom they held it.

The gift to Savigny must be before 1120 when Richard was drowned. Robert was not then Earl of Gloucester, so the confirmation must be subsequent.

1974. [1131–5.] Sées

Notification by Henry I to Hugh Abp. of Rouen and all of Normandy: Confirming the gift by Ingram Oison and Walter his son to the church of Sées of three messuages held of the Bp. which Ingram gave for the housing of the canons when his son Ingram became a canon receiving six oxen and a palfrey in return.

This is probably an early charter (compare No. 853 and note).

Also the land of Lambourne, namely forty acres which Bruning his father held; paying thence one sester of wine to the church of Holy Cross in lieu of all service and custom.

Witnesses: Hugh de Beauchamp, &c.

[Harl. MS. 391, fo. 152b (an insertion in a hand of c. 1250). Stubbs, The Foundation of Waltham Abbey, p. 55.]

1985. [1121–35]

Notification by Henry I to Everard (Ebrado) Bp. of Norwich that Alfric (Albericus) the priest and Theodore his son are to have the land and houses given to the church of Guist (Geiste), as in a former writ (No. 513).

Witnesses omitted.

[Copy in Cotton MS. Tib. C. IX, fo. 49v^o (Waltham Cartulary). W. Stubbs, The Foundation of Waltham Abbey, p. 51 (with date c. 1121).]

1986. 1121–35

Notification by Queen Adeliza, addressed generally, that she acquits the Canons of Holy Cross, Waltham, of all geld as in the time of Queen Maud.

Witnesses omitted.

[Copy in Cotton MS. Tib. C. IX, fo. 52. W. Stubbs, The Foundation of Waltham Abbey, p. 55 (with date c. 1140).]

1987. [1106–35.] Rouen

Precept by Henry [I] to his sheriffs and ministers of England: That the church of Westminster have its liberties as granted by himself and his predecessors.

Witness: The chancellor.

[Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 87v^o (copy).]

The use of balliva suggests that the writ is of Henry II.

1988. [1133–5]

Precept by Henry I to R[ichard] Basset and Aubrey de Ver: To cause the Abbot of Westminster to have his stalls (estallos) in the new work as he had in the old and as the King has ordered.

[Copy in Cotton MS. Faust. A. III, fo. 78v°. Robinson, Gilbert Crispin, p. 157.]

The association of Richard Basset and Aubrey de Vere as sheriffs in various counties begins at Mich. 1129, but they were not Sheriffs of London in that year, nor would they be likely to be so after the charter which gave the city the right to elect its sheriffs. They may, however, have been joint-justiciars. Compare No. 1608.

1989. [1114–35.] Westminster

Precept by Roger Bp. of Salisbury to the King's foresters of Yorkshire: To let Thurstan Abp. of York and his men have all their easements [and] necessities in the woods of the archbishopric, which the King has included in his forest (posuit in forestam suam). Per breve regis.

[Copies in York, Reg. Magn. Alb. iii, fo. 14; Cotton MS. Claud. B. III, fo. 95. Farrer, E.Y.C., No. 19.]

This is a writ of Roger as justiciar in the absence of the King ultra mare.

1990*.

Notification (Notum facio omnibus) by Henry I generally addressed: That he confirms for his own soul and those of his ancestors and of his wife Matilda, to the church of St. Saviour, Bermondsey, three tofts (mansiones terre) rented at 36s. 8d. given by Herbert son of Dude-man of the land which he bought of William son of Hugh de Bocland, to buy wine for mass. He gives the church of St. George, Southwark, and confirms those of St. Andrew, Holborn, [St. Mary's] Cole Church (Colemannechereche), St. George [Botolph Lane], and St. Magnus the Martyr. Also the land given by Herbert son of Alvered in Westcheap, tithe value 10s. in Eastington [co. Glos.] given by Hamelin de Baalun, 10s. in Greenwich mill, given by Hugh Maminot, Widford [co. Herts.] which Ivo de Grantmesnil exchanged for Enderby (Andredesberia) [co. Leics.] given by William Belmeis, and the church and tithe of Hardwick [co. Bucks.] with 3 hides of land and tithe of Upton [co. Berks.] given by Winibald de Baalun.

Signa: King Henry; William Abp. of Canterbury; Henry Bp. of Winchester; Robert Earl of Gloucester; Richard Bp. of London; Robert Count of Meulan; Hamo Dapifer; William de Albini. (Spurious.)

[Copies in Chart. R. 4 Ed. III, No. 57 (1) (Inspeximus); Cotton MS. Claud. A. VIII, fo. 110. Cal. Chart. R. iv. 181.]

The form of the charter is irregular and the witnesses inconsistent. It may possibly represent a fusion of two genuine documents of different dates, but is clearly impossible as it stands.

1991*.

Notification by Henry I (rex Anglie) generally addressed: That he confirms in free alms to the church of St. Peter, Eye, and the monks there all their possessions (specified) and any future gifts.

Witnesses: William Abp. of Canterbury; Herbert Bp. of Norwich; Stephen Count of Mortain. (Spurious.)

CHARTERS OF HENRY I

I [Calendar No. 489*]

Charter of Henry I to Westminster Abbey (Aug. 5, 1100?)

Henricus dei gracia rex Anglorum archiepiscopis, episcopis, abbatibus, comitibus, vicecomitibus, omnibusque baronibus et ministris suis, Francis et Anglis, per Angliam, salutem. Sciatis communiter me pro redemptione anime meae et patris et matris meae, necnon et beatae memoriae regis Eadwardi cognati mei, qui patrem meum liberosque illius in regnum suum adoptivos heredes instituerat, accepisse in manu mea et defensione totum honorem aecclesiae sancti Petri Westminsterii. In qua ecclesia ego oleo sanctae unctionis, sicut et ceteri ante me reges, perunctus, quia ille locus antiquitus regum consecrationis fuisse cognoscitur, et corona regni a deo per pontificales manus celebriter coronatus sum, et in cujus etiam praedictae aecclesiae materno utero corpus domini ac predecessoris nostri et praefati regis Eadwardi refotum sepulturae requie ut cernimus requiescit, per quem nempe me in regimen regni Angliae sublimatum fore cognosco. Inprimis itaque praedictam aecclesiam ita liberam et quietam et expeditam esse volo, tam ab omni exactione episcopali quam a seculari, sicut per summorum pontificum Johannis, Leonis, ac Nicholai auctoritatem et per cartam regis Eadwardi cognati mei, necnon et Willelmi patris mei aliorumque regum, constat fuisse confirmatum. Liberamque electionem ejusdem ecclesie monachis abbates idoneos ex sua vel ex alia congregatione eligendi, sicut illis antiquitus concessum est, concedo, et ne aliquis eis vim vel violentiam inferat vel inferre praesumat, potestate regia defendo. Cuncta siquidem que idem monasterium a sui principio usque ad praesens concessione atque oblatione fidelium optinuit vel in futurum optinebit, concedendo devotus constituo, necnon et omnes donationes terrarum vel aecclesiarum vel aliarum rerum, que ibi ab antecessoribus meis regibus seu a quibuscumque ante me donate sunt, seu et alias quas vel ego vel optimates mei vel quilibet de civibus Lundonie donaverant, tam terras quam consuetudines, et omnia jura qualiumcumque causarum in omnibus terris et possessionibus que sunt in Lundonia, vel in aliis quibuscumque locis praedicto monasterio adjacent vel adiciende sunt, concedo atque confirmo. Huic libertati eciam additamentum dono, scilicet mundbrice, miskenninge, sceawinge,¹ hlastinge, frydhsocne, flemenefymthe, wesgeltheof, uthleap, forpheang, wihpheang, ferdwite, fihtwite, blodwite, weardwite, heangwite, hamsocne, forsteall, infangenetheof, sace, socne, toll et theam, aliasque omnes leges et consuetudines que ad me pertinent. Privilegia itaque antiquorum regum aliorumque fidelium ibidem data ex nomine sancte Trinitatis et sanctorum omnium meaque regia potestate confirmo, atque concedo et firmiter precipio ut sanctus Petrus et monachi ejusdem aecclesiae bene et imperpetuum quiete et honorifice, in urbe et extra et in omnibus locis teneant omnes terras suas et omnia sua libera ab omni regia consuetudine et ab omni collectione census qui Geld vel Danegeld seu Scot Anglice nominatur. Insuper eciam eos quietos clamo ab omnibus placitis et querelis et sciris et hundredis et auxiliis vicecomitum et ab omnibus rebus et occasionibus, et ab omni castelli seu quocumque opere servili, et legibus et consuetudinibus que ad me pertinent. Si enim placitum de murthro vel latrocinio terre sue evenerit, sic placitet et in illis locis sicut carta praedicti regis Eadwardi testatur et praecipit. Similiter et de omnibus aliis placitis. Defendo etiam et pleniter prohibeo ne unquam graventur ullis oneribus neque ullus eis molestus sit; neque archiepiscopus vel episcopus sive comes neque vicecomes, nec aliquis alius in aliquo de omnibus que aecclesiae illius sunt, vel de ecclesiis terrarum prefati loci se penitus intromittet, nisi consensu omnium fratrum ad utilitatem aecclesiae; sitque haec sancta mater aecclesia peculiaris patroni nostri beati Petri libera et absoluta ab omni invasione et inquietudine omnium hominum, cujuscumque ordinis vel potestatis sint. Et ut breviter pleniusque omnia concludam, quicquid honoris, quicquid quietationis vel libertatis seu aetiam dignitatis prefate aecclesiae et monachis ab antiquis regibus et beatae memoriae rege Eadwardo atque patre meo ceterisque fidelibus est concessum, insuper et auctoritate apostolica Romanorum predictorumque pontificum est confirmatum, melius et firmitus mee confirmationis dono nunc habeant. Contestor autem omnes filios, heredes scilicet et omnes posteros meos, sicut et pater meus nos contestatus est, per tremendum iudicium dei ne ipsi faciant seu fieri sinant ullam infractionem huic nostre donationi, immo augeant, confirment, et stabiliant illam, ita ut deus stabiliat dies et regnum illorum in aeterna beatitudine, et habeant partem in hac elemosina nobiscum in aeterna requie. T. Mauricio

Henry I confirms the possessions of St. Martin's, Marmoutier (1100–4)

Cum ad hoc in ecclesiis Dei sublimantur personae, ut jura conservent ecclesiastica et bona servorum Dei usibus profutura pro officii sui debito teneantur et defendant, providendum est omnibus quibus est haec cura divinitus commissi ne per illorum incuriam servi Dei requiem suam amittant, quominus contemplationi insistere valeant, quatinus in districto examine pro commissis sibi talento bene et utiliter multiplicato Euge boni servi gratulabunda aure recipiantur, et ab auditione mala non timentes sententiam damnationis evadant. Cumque omnibus in eminentiori loco divina vocatione residentibus ista sit a Domino injuncta sollicitudo, nobis tamen qui reges appellamur non regio nomine indigni judicemur, caput nostrum summum videlicet et verum regem in quantum possumus imitantes, qui parvulos ad se venire jussit, dicens talium esse regnum coelorum, propensius ac sollicitius est assumenda correctio, et pauperes spiritu quorum beatitudo paterna voce pronuntiatur, quibus est datum nosse mysterium regni Dei, defendendo, et gladio quod (sic) sine causa non portamus in matutino interfectis peccatoribus terrae, orationum lacrymarumque ac elemosinarum illorum participes effecti, in aeterna beatitudine Deo donante eorum participari valeamus et praemii. His igitur consideratis moeroris et gaudii retributionibus, spiritu dilectionis afflatus ego Henricus Dei gratia Anglorum rex, parentum meorum exemplo provocatus, quorum me oportet sequi et honorare vestigia, praesente abbate suo domino Hilgote, monachis B. Martini monasterii quod Majus dicitur, pro animabus patris et matris meae et criminum meorum et uxoris meae Mathildis absolute concedo, laudo, et manu propria confirmo quicquid de donis patris mei bonae memoriae Willelmi Anglorum regis ceterorumque fidelium in Normannia seu in Anglia habent et deinceps concessione principum in elemosyna habere potuerint, ecclesias videlicet insulae Grenerodii cum omnibus appenditiis suis, Helvillam, Bohun, Petrarias, Vesliacum, cum omnibus his pertinentibus, et quod apud Eboracum civitatem Radulfus Paganellus illis dedit, ecclesiam scilicet S. Trinitatis cum omnibus ad eam pertinentibus, et quaecumque illis in perpetuum habenda concessit sigilli mei astipulatione corroboro. Sane si quis hanc nostrae auctoritatis paginam in posterum quassare tentaverit, iram Dei se incurrisse sentiat, et nisi satisfaciat a consortio sanctorum alienus fiat. Amen.

Certificate by Henry I that the Bp. of Norwich has recovered the body of Roger Bigod against the monks of Thetford (1107-8)

A. xx.

Item littera ejusdem qualiter Herbertus episcopus disracionavit corpus Rogeri Bigoti a monachis de Thetford in curia predicti regis, sine sigillo.

De sepultura Rogeri Bigoti. (In margin.)

H. rex Angl' omnibus fidelibus suis Francis et Anglis de Northfolc et Suthfolc salutem. Notum sit omnibus vobis et his qui vobis successuri sunt quod Herbertus episcopus Norwicensis disracionavit corpus Rogeri Bigoti et uxoris sue et filiorum suorum et baronum suorum contra monachos de Tedfort hoc modo. Monachi fecerunt clamorem de episcopo quod sepelivisset episcopus predictus corpus Rogeri Big' apud Norwicum, dicentes quod Rogerus Big' se dedisset et uxorem suam et filios suos in Teodfortensi monasterio. Contra episcopus respondit testimonio multorum suorum parochianorum quod priusquam monachi venissent Teodfort Rogerus Big' se dedisset cum uxore et filiis et baronibus suis in ecclesia Norwicensi. Inde factum iudicium est, set antequam redderetur judicium cognoverunt monachi injusticiam suam et quesiverunt veniam quod episcopum injuste fatigassent et clamaverunt Rogerum quietum et uxorem suam et filios et barones suos. Ipsi etenim monachi unum annale pro anima domini eius Hugonis comitis fecerunt, quia ipsius voluntate et consilio hoc eis tribuit, pariterque etiam omnium beneficiorum suorum partem ei comcesserunt, ea ratione, ut ipsi possiderent quiete quicquid in heredum illius haberetur potestate.

Deinde Alveredus de Combraio, nepos eiusdem Ranulfi, qui post mortem eius heres rerum suarum effectus est, hec omnia concessit et ipse super altare sancti Martini Troarni coram pluribus testibus deo obtulit.

Dedit etiam anno MCXV. in dedicacione sancte Marie celle, deo et sancto Martino perpetualiter decimam tocius precii de frumento suo, si venditum fuerit, et partem quam habet in ecclesia de Agrennio.

Radulfus vicecomes de castro Vire dedit ecclesiam de Campegnolis pro anima patris sui et matris sue et pro se ipso et uxore sua et parentibus sancto Martino Troarni et sancte Marie celle, et totam decimam, tali pacto, quod unus de filiis suis fieret monachus Troarni, quod et factum est. Deinde Guillelmus filius eiusdem Radulfi venit Troarnum, et concessit sancto Martino quicquid frater eius eidem sancto dederat, et super altare sancti Martini posuit.

Hec omnia ego Ricardus comes dedi et concessi apud Troarnum et per textum evangelii super altare sancti Martini illud ponens, hanc donationem confirmavi. Nunc quoque dono et confirmo ut habeant et possideant predicta omnia, que de feudo meo sunt, monachi sancti Martini Troarni et sancte Marie celle pro salute anime mee et pro anima patris mei et matris mee, et ut sim particeps omnium bonorum, que in locis supradictis fiunt, tam in orationibus quam in ceteris beneficiis, sicut unus ex ipsis.

Ranulfus filius Turstini de Praeriis dedit sancto Martino Troarni et sancte Marie celle xx. acras terre, ipse et homines eius.

Ego Henricus princeps Normannorum, rex autem Anglorum, ista omnia concedo et hoc + signo manus mee confirmo. Signum + Ricardi comitis Cestrensis.

De itinere tuo unde a me licentiam quaesisti, scias pro certo quoniam conventus monachorum tuorum et amici et barones terre tuae, maximo et studiosissimo affectu genibus meis provoluti supplicati sunt, ne iter istud fieri concedam, ne ecclesiam suam pastore et pio patre suo desolari permittam, ne hunc discessum tuum quem irrevertibilem existimant; ulla occasione consentiam. Mando ergo et intimo dilectioni tuae, et impero fidelitati illi quam mihi debes, ne hoc iter tuum amodo in aliquo praepares, nec animo tuo de retinentia mea aliquantulo perturberis. Pro certo namque scias, quoniam pro honore et necessitate aecclesiae tuae, et pro dilectione personae tuae hoc facio, qui nullo modo hoc iter fieri volo. Si vero in hujus itineris effectum, vitam tuam prolongari, sive salutem corporis tui in aliquo magis vigere cognoscerem, proculdubio scias, quoniam si necesse esset, a baronibus meis te illuc deferri facerem, ubi sanitatem illam te consecuturum comperissem et omnia tibi de meo necessaria invenirem; si sanitati tuae in aliquo prodesse putarem. Set quoniam infirmitas ista ad mortem non est; recessus vero tuus ad perniciem aecclesiae tuae est; nolo quod eas, volo omnibus modis quod remaneas, et deus providebit aecclesiae suae necessitati, quae in tua infirmitate condolet, et in sanitate tua convalebit. Teste Mauricio de Windeleshora, apud Wintoniam.

CLXXIV [Calendar No. 1422]

Henry I approves an agreement between the abbey of Mont-Saint-Michel and Thomas de Sancto Johanne (1124?)

Cirographum Thome de Sancto Johanne.

Notum sit tam presentibus quam futuris quod Thomas de Sancto Johanne, incepto castello suo apud Sanctum Johannem, cepit nemora de Nerun et de Crapalt omnino in edificatione sui castelli dissipare et destruere, quod et opere complevit: deinde insatiabili cupiditate succensus, transiit ad nemus Bivie et simili modo cepit devastare, et terras plurimorum vavassorum in honore sancti Paterni et in honore Genecii preoccupare et invadere. Hoc siquidem audientes, monachi ecclesie beati archangeli Michaelis toto voto cordium ad Dominum conversi sunt, ut Deus oculos sue misericordie super ecclesiam sui sanctissimi archangeli reduceret, et de tam injusto malefactore velocem vindictam citissime capere non desineret. Instituerunt etiam clamorem piissimum celebrare, nullo intermisso die coram altare sancti Michaelis, dum missa cantabatur ante sacratissimum et verissimum corpus domini nostri Jesu Christi, cantantes cum lacrimis 'Miserere mei Deus' et clamantes 'Kyrie Eleison', ne injusticia justicie et falsitas veritati prevaleret.

Hoc autem Thomas audito exhorruit. Festinus velut furibundus ad Montem Sancti Michaelis cum fratribus, Johanne videlicet et Rogerio, et maximo agmine comitum venit, interrogans et perquirens qua de causa super se et suos fratres monachi clamorem Deo faciebant. At monachi nihil percunctantes neque metuentes dixerunt: pro eo quod nemora illorum dissipaverat et terras ecclesie injuste invaserat. Ille vero, consilio fratrum suorum et procerum qui cum eo erant, pedibus abbatis domini Rogerii de Gemmetico et monachorum prostratus [est] cum omni comitatu suorum, petens misericorditer ut sui atque fratrum suorum misereri dignarentur, et cum eis justa consideratione amicorum ecclesie se suosque fratres reconciliari et pacificari permitterent. Abbas equidem utpote vir misericordie, cum consilio monachorum [respondit] interrogans quo pacto et qua conditione ipse et fratres ejus ecclesie vellent reconciliari; quoniam nullo modo illos absolvent neque clamorem intermitterent nisi res et possessiones quas preoccupaverant injuste omnino relinquerent. At Thomas respondens dixit: 'Concedo, domine, ut omnia dominia ecclesie in pace et cum amore dimittam. Sed tantummodo illorum hominum servitium mihi fratribusque meis concedite qui carnis propinquitatem nobis conjunguntur excepta Montis custodia; et de hominibus eorum habeatis moltam, theloneum, taillas, auxilia, et cetera servitia que juste majori domino debentur. Solummodo mihi servitia militum concedantur, et ego servitia vobis faciam, et cetera cuncta vobis remaneant. Nominatim autem et determinate supplex cum fratribus meis depono ut harum terrarum servitia mihi concedatis:—

'In honore Sancti Paterni volo ut mihi concedatis terram Rainaldi Coqui, eo tenore quod si heres ejus me requisierit, sine mora et contradictione illi reddam, retento illius proprio servitio. Radulfus Malregat terram suam dum Apuliam ivit cuidam nepoti nostro nomine Radulfo de Port propter xii^{cm}. marcas argenti invadimonaviit. Et nunc, amicis nostris inter nos colloquentibus, ad tantum convenimus quod accipit a me xii. libras Cenomannensium pro terra, tali pacto atque thenore quod dum filius Radulfi Malregardi illius etatis fuerit qua terram tenere et regere potuerit, fide mea fratrumque meorum legaliter et firmiter assecuro, quod nulla vi nec aliquo machinamento nequitie nec nos nec aliquis heredum meorum terram illam retinebit, sed sine dilatione et contradictione, redditus nobis xii. supradictis libris sive heredibus nostris, fine tenus terram illam illi restituemus. Et ut fidelius indubitanter nobis credatur, nostrique sequaces hec audiant et teneant, juro atque contestor, fratresque mei mecum, sponte nostra super sacrosancta evangelia quod hec et a nobis et a nostris heredibus tenebuntur. Terram Rogerii de Grandivilla hactenus in custodia mea habui, quia armiger meus erat; sed nunc miles factus in presentia vestri et horum omnium tam monachorum quam laicorum reddo eam sibi, quoniam verasciter scio quod abbatibus hujus ecclesie sicut alii barones abbacie servire debet; et pro hoc humillime imploro ut servitium Roberti filii Ivonis mihi concedatis, retentis vobis omnium suorum hominum consuetudinibus. Guillelmus de Pomeria et Stephanus de Tabula submiserunt se ut perfidi Rogerio fratri meo; cui consulo et laudo ut pro illorum servitio vobis hominum faciat et sit hujus ecclesie homo, tali pacto et conditione ut vavassores illorum ubicunque necesse fuerit vobiscum et monachis vestris eant, et deferant manticas et pannos monachorum, et reddant vobis decimas, moltam, telonia, auxilia; quia nolumus minuire debita et consuetudines hujusce ecclesie, cujus beneficio et nutrimento educati et procreati sumus.'

Tum Rogerius exurgens abbati hominum fecit, juravitque super sacrosancta evangelia fidelitatem ecclesie, et quod in nullo consuetudines et debita monachorum invaderet, neque terras eorum presumptuose usurparet.

‘In honore Genecii apud Poterel invadimonavi ego Thomas terram Gathonis tali conditione quod si abbas vel monachi mihi vel alicui heredum meorum quatuor libras Cenomannensium reddere voluerint, in pace eam habeant. Niellus presbiter vineam suam propter unam marcham argenti habiens Jerusalem invadimonavit, tali pacto ut si monachi hujus ecclesie a me vel ab aliquo heredum suorum (sic) eam redimere voluerit, in pace habeat; et dum in manu mea vel heredum meorum fuerit, precipio cum sacramento quod terragium plenissime et legaliter reddatur. Et de illa et de aliis vineis rusticorum que mee manui subjacent hoc idem concedo et precipio, ne unquam vinum moveatur donec terragium ad thorcular Sancti Michaelis deferatur. Theloneum de dunis, quod injuste mihi usurpaveram, vobis reddo; et di aliquid inde forisfeci, peto ut mihi indulgeatur. Terram Rainaldi de Monasterio vobis reddo, quoniam didici quod a quodam perfido persuasum est mihi ut eam reciperem.

‘Similiter terram Garenberti, que super villam Genecii est, vobis fine tenus reddo, quoniam verissime cognovi quod Robertus filius Hamonis, cum ad monachatum venit, illam pro anime sue salute huic ecclesie dedit. Terram Theboldi liberi quam Hugo de Inferno de me tenet, rogo ut mihi concedatis, quia decem solidos Cenomanensium habeo de illo, quos amittere nolo. Quedam prata que sunt sub vineis de Briun, que idem Hugo sub meo patrocinio injuste ponit, vobis relinquo, quoniam certissime scio quod de dominio Sancti Michaelis existunt.’

Rursum Thomas, quadam altera die, cum episcopo Abrinchatensi et multis aliis baronibus ad Montem venit, abbatemque et monachos adiens ut hominum illius benigno amore susciperent; quod et factum est. Deinde dixit:—

‘Confiteor, domini, quod xx^{li}. solidos Cenomanensium consuete reddere debeo ad nundinas de Monte Martini omni anno pro terra Lamberti Aurifabri et pro terra Rainaldi filii Serlonis huic ecclesie. Si autem vestre providentie placeret, ut hos mihi xx^{li}. solidos alternaretis, et patrem meum atque matrem meam, meque et fratres meos in beneficio hujus sacratissime ecclesie reciperetis in vestra voluntate, sine ullo clamore cujuslibet hereditatis neque mei neque meorum successorum, nemus vestrum quod omnino destruitur ad horam et ad tempus fideliter custodirem, et terram Doblelli que mihi reddit viii^{to}. quarteria frumenti vobis variando concederem, et omne frumentum quod in circuitu memoris est, sicut consuete fit, et de hominibus qui circa nemus morantur, et de landis, si unquam lucrare fuerint, et de molendino Haie ad horreum vestrum eat.’

Cui abbas monachique respondentes dixerunt:—

‘Quoniam, ut ait Dominus, filii hujus seculi prudentiores filiis lucis sunt, si non crederemus nos vestris fallacibus et fraudulentis verbis decipi, vos in primis consortes et comparticipes beneficiorum hujus ecclesie efficeremus, et deinde xx.^{li} solidos, ut petitis, alternaremus, et in morte et in vita vobis benigno amore hec omnia concederemus.’

Tunc Thomas exurgens, fratresque sui cum eo, coram episcopo et omni conventu monachorum, de manibus abbatis cum textu evangelii susceperunt beneficia monachorum, et eis osculatis hec omnia [per] se conservanda firmiter statuerunt. Quinetiam terram memoris omnino quietam clamavit, et dixit quod:—

‘Nullus heredum meorum neque fratrum meorum nullo modo eam repetat.’

Hoc testamentum factum est in capitulo Sancti Michaelis tempore Rogerii abbatis. Et postquam Thomas de captione rediit de Gorram, ante piissimum et gloriosissimum regem Henricum apud Argenteum, abbate Ricardo hanc ecclesiam tenente, istis coram rege presentibus:—Gaufrido archipresule Rothomagensi + Johanne Luxoviensi, Ricardo Baiocensi. Sig. Roberto + dapifero de Haia. Sig. + Willelmo de Tancardevilla. Sig. + Willelmo Pincerna de Albineio. Sig. + Willelmo Britone. cum multis aliis.

Post hec autem reversus est Thomas cum fratribus suis ad Montem Sancti Michaelis, et hoc quidem in capitulum ejusdem ecclesie reiteranter corroboravit, istis presentibus, videntibus, et audientibus:—Signum Turgisio presule Abrincensis ecclesie + S. + Ricardo abbate. Hoc autem factum est anno m^o. c^o. xxi^o, indictione secunda,² concurrente vi. regnante piissimo rege Henrico.

Inquisition in the County Court of Kent as to the customs of Sandwich (1127)

Inquisicio facta de Sandwico

Anno ab incarnatione domini m.c.xxvii. ex precepto Henrici regis Anglorum electi fuerunt de hominibus regis et baronum qui rem optime noverant xxiiii. maturi sapientes, senes, bonum testimonium habentes, quorum sunt nomina de xii. hominibus regis de Dovor' W. Wyne filius Henrici Vulfyne Dod Edwine Canut' Keneward, etc.¹ Allatus est igitur textus ewangeliorum et iuraverunt. Istis itaque iuratis, antequam edictum quod rex decreverat legeretur, Willelmus archiepiscopus condigna sibi admonicione breviter populum allocutus est, movens et contestans eos per fidem et Christianitatem suam ut omnes huic cause intentissime intenderent et sine ulla formidine vel parcium favore veritatem assererent. Regia quoque potestas hoc idem ipsis per fidem et sacramentum quibus illi fuerant obligati imperavit. Concorditer omnes dicta susceperunt [et] sese ita facturos promiserunt. Hii igitur a tota multitudine electi, nominati, et iurati, nihil hesitantes constanter affirmaverunt prefatum portum de Sandwico teloneum et omnes consuetudines maritimas esse monachorum ecclesie Christi Cantuar', nec quemquam hominum aliquid juris in portu habere nisi ipsi et eorum ministri a loco qui dicitur Edburgegate usque ad Merkesfleot ex utraque parte fluminis. Hiis magna multitudo testimonium perhibuit et naviculam ad transfretandum solummodo pertinere ad eosdem monachos, nec quemquam alium in dicta navicula aliquod jus habere, sicuti acceperunt ab antecessoribus suis et viderunt et audierunt ab adolescentia sua usque nunc, sic eos deus adjuvet et sancta ewangelia. Hujus placiti justiciam tenuit Willelmus vicecomes Kancie, cui interfuerunt Willelmus archiepiscopus, sancte Romane ecclesie legatus etc., Johannes episcopus Rofe, Hugo abbas Sancti Augustini.

Hugh Abbot of Reading in favour of Lewes Priory (1128)

Sciunt presentes et futuri quia dominus noster Henricus rex Anglorum precibus Roberti comitis Leocestrie et Alboldi militis sui, ipsis pariter donantibus, dedit ecclesie Radingensi terram de Hou que est in Bedefordescira et hoc quod prefatus Alboldus habebat in terra de Sceltuna quam Normannus et Sexi [tenuerunt?]. Ideo determinate dictum est 'quod in terra de Sceltuna habebat', quia illam diu jam antea monachis sancti Pancratii de Lewes dederat, cujus advocationem terre videlicet et protectionem tantum retinuerat. Quod ecclesia quoque Radingensis ibidem acceptum retinuit; quatinus prenominati monachi sancti Pancratii de Lewes sic teneant sepedictam terram de Scelt' de abbate et de fratribus ecclesie Radingensis sicut unquam melius tenuerunt solutam et quietam suo manu Alboldi. Quapropter ego frater Hugo, abbas Radingensis, in futurum providens, et que occasione advocationis terre de Sceltuna et protectionis, que illic nobis tantum relicta sunt, fieri posset exactionem a bonis et nobis dilectis fratribus de Lewes excludere volens, eandem libertatem in terra illa et quietationem quam ipsi habuerunt sub Alboldo de me et de ecclesia Radingensi concedo eisdem habere et confirmo.

Hec concessio sive confirmatio facta est apud Radingas ipso Alboldo postulante et conventu fratrum annuente anno verbi incarnati millesimo centesimo vicesimo octavo.

Henricus rex Anglorum archiepiscopis, episcopis, abbatibus, comitibus, baronibus, et omnibus fidelibus suis Anglie et Normannie, salutem. Sciunt omnes presentes et futuri quoniam licentia mea et consensu meo fecerunt escambium quoddam abbas de Fiscanno, Rogerius, et capitulum ejus cum Nigello filio Willelmi, nepote Roberti comitis Glocestrie, filii mei, scilicet:—

Nigellus concedit abbati et capitulo suo totam terram et domus et omnes redditus suos de Fiscanno quos ipse in villa Fiscanni habuit, et avus et pater ejus, et hec quieti dimisit abbati et capitulo ad propriam mensam eorum in perpetuum. Et ut nichil pretermittatur vel minus ponatur, sciunt universi quoniam Nigellus iste non solum terram suam quam in villa Fiscanni [habuit] quietam clamat ecclesie Fiscanni, sed etiam totam illam quam in Soleram seu infra Fiscanni leugam habet, et rectum quod inibi clamari potest ecclesie et monachis soluta et quietam concedit.

Ipse autem abbas et capitulum dederunt et concesserunt pro hiis rebus Nigello, et heredibus ejus post eum in perpetuum totam terram et homines et omnes redditus suos de Lelham cum rebus universis que illi terre melius pertinent; ita tamen quod Nigellus et heredes sui homines abbatis erunt et fideles ejus de illa terra de Lelham, sicut prius erant de terra de Fiscanno.

314b. [1087–9.] Notification by William [II] to Peter de Valognes [sheriff of Herts.], and Hugh de Beauchamp [sheriff of Bucks.], and all sheriffs: That he has granted that the church of St. Albans hold all its lands, churches, and tithes as it did on the day of his accession. Achard was abbot 1082–93.

The cartularies arrange the witnesses in order of precedence, and add: Wulstan Bp. of Worcester; Paul Abbot of St. Albans; Robert Count of Meulan; Earl Simon; Robert Earl of Northumberland; and Roger. The dates can be reconciled only on the assumption that the charter was issued on 24 Sept. 1090. But the document is clearly a conflation (see Prof. Stenton's note in Foster, l.c.), and it is almost safe to assert that the date is a fabrication.

Mr. G. H. White condemned No. 219 as spurious (N. & Q., 12th ser. v. 261) because some of the gifts confirmed by it were subsequent to 1086, and also on account of its unusual form. But the evidence of the alphabetical list of donations in the cartulary on which his judgement was based does not seem conclusive, and the list names 1095 as the date of the surrender of Abp. Thomas's lands and of Odo son of Gamelin's gift of Plymtree, and 1096 for Hugh de Port's gift of Littleton. There remain Roger de Busli's gift of Clifford in 1099 and Winebald de Ballon's of Amney in 1126, which may possibly be mistakes in the list. That there was an original or pseudo-original charter seems to be proved by the mention of the seal in the version on fo. 25 of Froucester's register and by the incorrect order of the signa due to transcription from an original in which the Signa (as often happens) were not carefully arranged in order of precedence. But he offers no evidence that Ralph was the Conqueror's son, apart from the chronological difficulties. It seems more likely that Henry I is meant, and the charter a forgery.
